PREPARING FOR FIGHT

Coal Operators Swearing In Many Policemen.

Are All Ready In Event of Conflict Monday.

Pottsville, Pa., May 29.—The coal companies in this section are gathering special policemen to protect their property, and in the event of a conflict on Monday they will have a large body of men in the field. The Reading company has had 125 policemen sworn in since Monday. These will supplement its regular force of fifty policemen. All have been ordered to report for duty at once. It is known that a strike of the pumpmen, engineers and firemen is inevitable. With these special policemen and the watchmen and special detectives who have been already employed, the Reading company expects to have a sufficient force to protect any non-union men who may be brought here to run the pumps.

The St. Clair Coal company and the Buckmountain Coal company also had commissions issued to a number of suffecial policemen. The Lehigh Valley Coal company and the Pennsylvania company will have sworn in fifty policemen before the end of the week, and a score of other companies will take similar action. Strike leaders are protesting against the action as unnecessary. They say there will be no violence on the part of strikers unless they are forced to protect themselves.

Hazleton, Pa., May 29.—Eleven non-union men, brought here last night from Philadelphia, were put to work today at the Cranberry colliery of A. Pardee & Co. to fill the places of striking firemen and pump runners. This is the first importation of non-union men into the district.

It was learned today, on what appeared to be reliable authority, that if necessary the coal companies will next week arrange for an interchange of engineers, firemen and pumpmen, who have signified their willingness to remain at work, but not in their own districts. That this information cannot be confirmed.

The Lehigh Valley Coal company today made provision for housing and boarding its firemen and pump runners at the No. 40 colliery, its largest operation in the district.

Here are the first pictures of Mme. Humbert, Frederic Humbert and Mlle. Marie d'Aurignac, alleged principals in one of the greatest bunko games ever successfully worked. In brief, the swindlers, who may now be on American soil, set up a very pretty story that Mme. Humbert had been left $20,000,000 by a grateful American, one Henry Robert Crawford. This was twenty-five years ago. Then, just as madame was about to secure the "Crawford millions," two alleged nephews of the American turned up to contest the will. Counsel for Mme. Humbert and the nephews figured numerously and were very real, which is more than can be said for the nephews or the "Crawford millions." By reason of the litigation it was necessary to seal up the millions, and so they were supposedly deposited in an enormous safe in Mme. Humbert's bondoir. The Humberts lived in princely style, and on the mere supposition that when all this litigation was over Mme. Humbert would get $20,000,000 out of the safe money lenders, banks and financiers in France lent the swindlers sums amounting in all to $12,000,000. Finally a humble creditor insisted on seeing the securities. And then came the crash when the enormous safe was opened and was found to contain a foreign coin, an empty pocketbook and a button!

KNOW ALL ON MONDAY

Britons to Hear Result of Peace Negotiations.

Boers Are Very Active In Cape Colony.

London, May 29.—The government leader, A. J. Balfour, announced in the house of commons today that he hoped to be able on Monday next to announce the result of the peace negotiations in South Africa.

Mr. Balfour added: "I cannot, however, be absolutely certain of being in a position to do so, and until the statement can be made I do not think it expedient to take up the budget."

The government leader also said: "A recent phrase, 'hung in the balance,' has absurdly misinterpreted as referring to divisions in the cabinet on the subject of the budget. That is not a fact, and the only point is whether the house can properly be asked to discuss the budget until they know precisely where they stand in regard to the negotiations."

In spite of Mr. Balfour's pretended uncertainty, there is no doubt whatever in the house of commons or elsewhere that a full peace settlement will be announced Monday next.

The capture of Commandant Malan, announced from Middleburg, Cape Colony, last night, renews attention to the activity of the rebellion in Cape Colony. Commandant Malan took the late Commandant Scheepers's command when the latter was captured by the British, and became chief Boer commandant in Cape Colony after Commandant Kritzinger's capture. Malan, who was mortally wounded when captured by Maj. Collett's mounted troops, was among the irreconcilables who refused to send delegates to the peace conference at Vereeniging, Transvaal.

According to the latest uncensored correspondence from Cape Town, the Boers are still in constant occupation of at least twenty-two different localities in Cape Colony, having more than a score of bands of raiders, mounted and armed, and of sufficient mobility to defy successful pursuit, although the British have often swept and "cleared" every mile of the colony's territory. A correspondent reports that the "invasion is more actively aggressive than ever, and rebellion is more rampant."

The campaign against the roving Boer commandoes in Cape Colony, which has been in active progress for sixteen months, has achieved nothing beyond keeping them moving. "Any occasional success," the correspondent adds, "obtained by the seventeen British columns operating in Cape Colony is more the result of luck than of their tactics, and these unpalpable facts will continue as long as so few columns co-operate in the hustling. The inadequacy of the supply of troops is at the root of the unsatisfactory operations."

The British cabinet was specially summoned last night and sat for a little over an hour. It is generally accepted, however, this morning, that the session, though brief, sufficed to put the final touches on the agreement which will terminate the war. The colonial secretary, Joseph Chamberlain, was sufficiently recovered from his indisposition to attend what is already designated as the "peace" cabinet.

A WELCOME FILIPINO

Gen. Buencamino, Formerly Aguinaldo's Secretary of War, Calls on President and Praises Taft and Army to the Skies.

Washington, May 29.—Gen. Filipe Buencamino, of Manila, formerly Aguinaldo's secretary of war, called on the president today in company with Secretary Root. Gen. Buencamino was taken prisoner by the United States troops at the time Aguinaldo's mother was captured, and since that time has been at the head of the Federal Filipino party. He told the president today that his mission to Washington was to correct some of the false rejorts that have been put in circulation with a view to discrediting the work of both the civil government under Taft and the army. The civil government, he told the president, was doing a really wonderful work for good in the islands, and it had been ably seconded by the army. The stories of cruelty perpetrated by our soldiers, he said, were either wholly untrue or greatly exaggerated. The army had conducted itself in a way to elicit praise from all thinking Filipinos, and this too, in the face of the greatest temptations and provocations. Judge Taft's commission had the entire confidence of all rightly disposed natives, he said, and it was Gen. Buencamino's hope that Gen. Taft might be induced to remain an indefinite time at the head of the civil government. The Filipinos, he said, love Judge Taft, for he has never once deceived them and they know him to be their friend. The general will appear before the Philippines committee of the senate in a few days.

WILL ALL GO TO TRUST

Congressmen Broussard Tells Committee That Ninety-Nine Per Cent of Rebate Granted to Cuba Would Go to Combine.

Washington, May 29.—Hon. R. F. Broussard, a member of congress from Louisiana, was before the senate committee on relations with Cuba today. He said he recently made a trip over the entire island of Cuba. His investigation showed that the American Sugar Refining company owned no very large proportion of the raw sugar that has been manufactured. With few executions all of the sugar manufactured this year has been hypothecated to men who loaned money to the planters, and it was his opinion that these men would eventually control the output. "The American Sugar Refinery," the witness said, "will get at least 99 per cent of all the percentage granted by congress to the Cuban planter." The committee adjourned until tomorrow.

D'ESSAEUR IS FOUND GUILTY

Chicago, May 29.—A jury in Judge Brentano's court today returned a verdict finding George d'Essaeur guilty of grand larceny. He was charged with stealing $40,000 belonging to Mrs. Harvey, his mother-in-law. The jury found that he was guilty of taking $15,000. D'Essaeur, according to testimony, got the money from Mrs. Harvey by fraudulently representing that he would invest it. He is alleged to have spent the greater portion of the money in pursuit of an actress.

BRITISH NAVY'S PROGRESS

London, May 29.—During a discussion of navy estimates in the commons today, the secretary of the admiralty, Arnold Forster, repudiated the suggestion of Sir Charles Dilke, advanced radical, that the government's ship building program was so small as to create a bad impression abroad. The secretary pointed out that during the last year thirty-five ships have been completed and that seventy-five vessels were now under construction, including twenty armored cruisers. In addition to this colossal increase of Great Britain's naval resources, the admiralty contemplated immediately proceeding with upwards of twenty-seven other ships. The vote for the construction of vessels alone, during the year, would amount to over £9,000,000.

KILL NO ONE UNNECESSARILY

Washington, May 29.—Col. A. L. Wagner, for two and a half years adjutant general of the army in the Philippines, was heard by the Philippines commission today. He described the retention camps in the provinces and said they could not be compared to the Weyler camps in Cuba. They were necessary in order to clear the country of the ladrones and guerrilas. The people were treated well, and while a dead line was necessarily established, the orders were to kill no one unnecessarily. He later discussed the various orders of Bell and other officers in the islands, saying he presumed that the officers all acted upon authority of Gen. Chaffee.

ENTERTAINED BY REID.

New York, May 29.—The members of the Rochambeau party went today to Whitelaw Reid's summer home at Rhinebeck, where they were entertained at luncheon. This evening the Sixty-ninth regiment will escort the members to Delmonico's where a dinner will be given them by the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick. At midnight the party will leave for Newport.

BUTTER.

Tests of Exhaustive Nature Being Made In Chicago.

Chicago, May 29.—The first exhaustive test ever made of creamery butter taken from all parts of the United States was finished in Chicago last night by examiners appointed by the department of agriculture and the National Creamery Buttermakers' association. Samples of butter from 500 buttermakers, representing nineteen states, were examined, and similar tests will be made from now on until October, when a report will be submitted.

The purpose of the tests is to secure an idea of the quality of butter put out by the makers and the method of manufacture. At the end of the test each buttermaker will hear the results of the examination, as well as suggestions that may assist him in making better quality.

W. D. Collyer, United States inspector of butter experts, and B. D. White, field instructor of the Minnesota Dairy commission, are in charge of the tests.

NEW STORY

As to Cause of Shooting of the Fords.

New York, May 29.—In connection with the Ford tragedy, which occurred recently in this city, a story hitherto unpublished, is in circulation regarding the cause of the shooting, which cost the lives of the author, Paul Leicester Ford, and his brother Malcolm, the famous athlete. It is to the effect that Malcolm, who was not provided for in his father's will notified Paul a week before the shooting that he must have $25,000, which he claimed was his due because he signed a waiver permitting the probating of the will. He is said to have declared he needed the money badly and to have become much incensed when Paul replied that he did not have the sum on hand adding that he should consult other members of the family. Malcolm is said to have replied that one of the heirs had kept the agreement, but that he would not consult the others and departed with the declaration that he would return a week hence for the money, failing to receive which, he should resort to desperate measures.

CORPUS CHRISTI DAY

Celebrated With Customary Magnificence at Vienna.

Vienna, May 29.—Corpus Christi day was celebrated today with the customary magnificent, ecclesiastical ceremony. Emperor Francis Joseph, the archdukes, the principal officers of state and municipal authorities were present at high mass in the cathedral at 7 in the morning. Subsequently the whole body paraded the principal streets, headed by the clergy and banners of every parish in the city. The emperor walked bareheaded, carrying a lighted candle behind the host.

A large party of Americans, including Robert H. McCormick, the United States ambassador; Chandler Hale, the secretary of the embassy; Capt. Floy W. Harris, the military attache, and Judge Frederick W. Holls of New York viewed the pageant from the windows of the United States consulate.

NO CASE AGAINST SON.

New York, May 29.—It was announced at the district attorney's office today that the grand jury which has been investigating the murder of Mrs. Voelpel at Christopher and Hudson streets in February, had dismissed the case against John Voelpel, the woman's 17-year-old son who was arrested after the crime. The boy probably will be released. He has been in the tombs since March 12.

JUDGE SCORED THE JURY

They Brought In a Verdict of Not Guilty Against William McFetridge, Accused of Murdering His Brother.

Chicago, May 29.—A verdict of not guilty in the case of William McFetridge, accused of murdering his brother, brought a reprimand to the jury from Judge Cavanaugh.

"I cannot understand how you ever arrived at such a conclusion," said the court. "If ever a man was guilty, McFetridge was that man. The evidence was direct and conclusive. I would not have been surprised if you had imposed the death penalty."

William McFetridge and his brother Robert had quarreled for years. Following a suit in a justice court last fall, which had gone against William, the latter met his brother carrying a little girl. After a few words William McFetridge opened fire and continued to fire as his brother ran away. The latter died after reaching home.

McFetridge attracted attention at the trial by taking up his own defense and continuing it for three days. At the end of that time he accepted the aid of an attorney. He pleaded that his shots were fired in self-defense. He said that Robert had often threatened to kill him, and that he was justified in taking no chances. Several witnesses at the trial, however, testified that Robert was unarmed and made absolutely no move of a threatening nature against William.

RENDEZVOUS FOR PRIVATES

Seattle, May 29.—Benjamin Ure, formerly the wealthiest man in Skagit county, was arrested by Sheriff Weeding and Deputy Reese of Island county last Thursday, and is now out on bonds, charged with receiving stolen property. The authorities of Island county, who have been watching Ure's Island, at the east end of Deception pass for months, claim that he has used the place as a rendezvous for water pirates and smugglers for years. They allege that some of the most notorious desperadoes on the sound, including Alfred Hamilton, who was recently hanged at Whatcom, have landed and concealed their goods at his place where a quantity of stolen cigars and whisky was found.

PROFITABLE FOR THE CITY

New York, May 29.—Negotiations between the rapid transit commission and representatives of the Pennsylvania Railroad company, with reference to compensation to the city for the use of the large surface area necessary to construction of the proposed vast system of tunnels under North and East rivers, and across Manhattan, are nearing completion. It is understood that the railroad representatives have acceded to the demand that the company shall pay to the city the sum of 50 cents annually for every lineal foot of single track railroad under Manhattan island for the first ten years of the 25-year franchise. For the remaining fifteen years the company is to pay $1 a track foot. This price will be charged for all side tracks as well as the main line.

On the basis of these figures, it is estimated the city will get nearly $500,000 each year for the streets alone.

CONSPIRATOR SEEKING AID

Guayaquil, Ecuador, May 29.—The newspapers here this morning denounce former President Alfaro, of Ecuador, who is residing here, for conspiring to overthrow President Plazz, his successor, who was inaugurated in August last, asserting that Alfaro has called on the Colombian rebels to suspend their operations in Colombia and come to Ecuador to help him. It is further asserted that the former has promised that after the Colombians have been victorious in overthrowing President Plaza, Alfaro will assist them to defeat the Colombian conservatives against whom they are now waging a war. The Guayaquil papers are asking Alfaro to furnish an explanation of his conduct.

EXCITEMENT OVER ASSAULT

La Porte, Ind., May 29.—Intense excitement prevails in the locality of Lake of the Woods, a small village in Marshall county, over the assault of Mrs. Peter Vetlock by an unknown man. The woman is lying at the point of death and her assailant is at large.

Mrs. Vetlock was attempting to drive some geese through a gate when a man stepped into the gateway. The woman told him to get out of the way but instead of doing so, he picked up a board, struck her over the head, beating her into unconsciousness and fracturing her skull.

CHILDREN DROWNED IN LAKE

Glenwood, Minn., May 29.—Ole and Annie Torguson, children of a farmer near here, were drowned yesterday in Grove lake. Details of the accident are not known, but it is supposed that the children were fishing and that their boat was upset.

REPUBLICANS HAVE ROW

Attempt at St. Croix, Wis., County Convention to Endorse Spooner and Not La Follette Brought on a Lively Time.

Hudson, Wis., May 29.—At the Republican county convention at Glenwood seventeen delegates were chosen to go to Chippewa Falls to the congressional convention for the Eleventh district. They were unanimous for Hon. John J. Jenkins' renomination.

Everything was harmonious until the committee on resolutions reported, when a lively row was precipitated because a resolution was offered endorsing the record and favoring the reelection of Col. John C. Spooner, and no resolution was offered relative to Governor Robert M. La Follette.

The result was that the resolution on Spooner was stricken out, and left the president and Congressman Jenkins the only persons to be mentioned. This was a victory for the La Follette men, without necessarily being a defeat for Spooner, as many of the delegates who favored both men did not understand why Mr. La Follette's name was left out. It seems it had been stipulated with James A. Freer, the leader of the La Follette forces in St. Croix county, that state issues should be left out of this convention entirely.

He claimed, however, to be an admirer of Senator Spooner, and said he would not object to a resolution in his behalf. On the forenoon of the convention the Spooner resolution was submitted to him and he said he would sanction it all except the clause favoring his re-election. Spooner's friends, counting this an evasion, pressed it in the convention, and Mr. Frear spoke against the resolution, and moved that it be stricken out unless one of like import be offered for Mr. La Follette. It was stricken out, and the balance passed just in time for the delegates to adjourn and rush to the train, which was then pulling into the depot. The delegates were instructed to request Congressman Jenkins to favor the passage of the state swamp land bill now pending in congresss.

CAUSE CANNOT BE FOUND

Mine Experts Have Thus Far Been Unable to Determine Reason For the Disastrous Explosions In Fernie Mines.

Victoria, B. C., May 29.—Hon. E. C. Prior, minister of mines, has received by wire the following report from W. F. Robertson, provincial minerologist, whom the government sent to Fernie to investigate the explosion in the Crow's Nest Pass mines:

"Seventy-eight bodies recovered to date, eight today. All parts of mines searched except Neaver deep district. Air turned in there, last shaft and three rooms in No. 2 district. Found difficult to dislodge gas, but being accomplished gradually. Probably six bodies there. Mine free from gas except as noted. No trace of fire. Since Monday I have been with relief party through every section and I have seen no indication as to origin of explosion. Certainly not from machine holes, as popularly reported, as they were found intact and had not been located. Mine dusty, but no sign of coked dust to indicate a dust explosion. All bodies probably out in next twenty-four hours except those buried under false roof through props being blown out, some places covering large areas. Search being made is systematic and persistent. General satisfaction is expressed at government grant."

TWO MEN IN THIS TRAGEDY

New York, May 29.—Policemen, attracted by the shouts of alarmed residents in an apartment building at 50 Second avenue early today, broke the door of one of the flats, and found J. S. Keldain, a dealer in cigarettes, lying on the floor with his skull crushed. In an adjoining room, lying on a bed, was N. Caraman, a tobacco merchant. Caraman was shot through the head. In one hand he held a pistol, and near him was a hammer. The police believe he attempted to kill Keldain with the hammer and then shot himself. The cause of the quarrel is not known. Both were taken to Bellevue hospital and will die, the doctors say.

PETER IS HARD ON THE MEN

Lexington, Ky., May 29.—"Before I would marry a man to reform him, I would sooner wed an ape and wait for him to develop," said Rev. Peter Ainslee, of Baltimore, a minister in the Christian church, in addressing the graduating class of Hamilton female college at the Lexington opera house last night.

The class consisted of young women from places throughout the South, daughters of wealthy stock raisers and planters. The preacher admonished them not to act hastily in selecting a husband. He declared there would be fewer tears shed after the union, if the step was taken after due deliberation.

PROTECTION.

Local Freight Agents Want It on Certain Shipments.

A conference between the jobbers and commission men on one side and the Duluth Local Freight Agents' association on the other was held at the Union station yesterday. The subject of discussion was the question of insuring the railroad agents with immunity from loss or trouble over the delivery of goods consigned to the order of the consignor.

It is said that this practice is engaged in very freely and frequently, and for varying reasons. If the consignment is made to a house here of large financial resources and spotless credit the practice is often employed to protect the shipper from the knowledge of competitors, or at other times to protect the consignee from knowledge of his operations by competitors. If the shipment is made to a smaller and perhaps newer concern, the bills of lading are often sent with draft, the terms being spot cash.

The difficulty arises from the frequent failure of the bill of lading to arrive as soon as the shipment comes by freight. The local agents in a spirit of accommodation have, it is said, allowed considerable latitude to consignees about the delivery of goods consigned to order of shipper and when the bill of lading has not arrived. In some instances, the goods have been delivered before it could be known to a certainty to whom they were actually intended. As a result, it is reported that the agents have been subjected to inconvenience and sometimes imposition.

The railroad men wanted the consignees to agree to a practice of furnishing a surety bond indemnifying them against loss. This proposition was received with varying views. The stronger jobbing and commission houses objected to paying fees for surety bonds, and declined to furnish anything but their personal bonds. Others offered to furnish their personal checks covering the value of the shipment, and in the end various plans were decided upon to guarantee the agents against trouble, varying as the condition or personal views of the consignees differed. The movement to obtain a unanimous agreement failed, but a new basis more satisfactory to the agents was effected.

ADDRESS PUPILS

Grand Army Veterans Speak to Students of High School.

Col. C. H. Graves Tells What Is Fair In Warfare.

J. D. Holmes Advises Them to Assist In Purifying Politics.

Memorial exercises were held in the High School Assembly hall this morning at 9 o'clock. Several members of the G. A. R. gave speeches appropriate to the occasion.

A choir made up of the members of the senior class furnished the music, which consisted mostly of hymns of a military and patriotic order. The exercises were impressive. Contrary to the usual custom only a few outside of the school attended.

The first number of the program was the "Soldiers' Chorus," by the choir. Principal Smith made the introductory remarks on the significance of the occasion and introduced Col Graves.

Col. Graves' speech found an eager audience in the students. He said he thought best not to talk of the heroism of the old soldiers, but rather to dwell on present conditions and the duties which would devolve upon the students in a few years. He warned both the young men and women—who, he said, would control the young men to a large extent—to use all their influence to prevent a war. He brought out well known facts proving how harmful war really is to the people, quoting Sherman on his march to Atlanta: "Do you think we're on a picnic? War is hell."

He said, however, that once war was begun it should be fought with all the vigor that can be commanded. Referring indirectly to the recent discussion of the methods of the army in the Philippines he said:

"There has been a great deal of discussion lately over the alleged horrors committed by both our own and the British armies. The cause of this criticism is to a large extent the newspapers, which stop at nothing to make a sensation.

"It is the duty of every general to end the war as soon as possible once having taken the position that you have the right to take another man's life, all other details may be neglected. When war as once started it is the duty of the commanders to depopulate, to devastate the lands of the enemy.

"Some people have on idea that you should go after an enemy with a bunch of bouquets. But this is entirely wrong. Nothing should be hesitated at which will bring the war to a speedy termination."

The choir sang "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," and J. D. Holmes was called upon to address the students.

Mr. Holmes said that he thought that the duty of the Grand Army was as much to labor for the amelioration of the American people today as it was to fight the Johnnies in '61. Drifting away from the subject of the Grand Army and its affairs he gave the students some very good advice as to how they should prepare themselves to be worthy members of this great republic. He particularly advised the young men to go into politics, and to go into them for the purpose not of pecuniary benefit or personal aggrandizement but rather to uplift and purify them.

A quartet composed of Arthur Ringsred, Rena Smith, Esther Searle and George Suffel sang "Just Before the Battle," and Dr. Wilson gave a short address in which he showed the students how much better chances they have than the students of forty years ago. He urged them to take advantage of their privileges that they might not be wasted.

The audience joined the choir in singing two verses of "America" and the exercises closed.

EXCURSION.

Northern Pacific to Give First to North Shore Next Week.

The Northern Pacific will give its first north shore excursion from the Twin Cities next Tuesday, June 3. Tickets are sold at Twin City offices, and the rate is not known locally. The tickets are sold through to Port Arthur, however, in connection with the Booth and White lines, and no special rate is made merely as far as Duluth No special train service is added for these excursions.

Superintendent G. W. Vanderslice inspected the Duluth transfer system yesterday afternoon and went to St. Paul last night to discuss the company's policy regarding transfer and switching charges.

Assistant General Freight Agent Miller of the Chicago & Northwestern road and A. C. Keyes, of Oshkosh, traveling agent for the freight department, are at the Spalding to look up traffic for their line. Mr. Miller was formerly located at Oshkosh, and had a large acquaintance here from his frequent trips to Duluth.

The White Line Transportation company has just gotten out a neatly printed card advertising its new limited service in connection with rail lines between the Twin Cities and Isle Royale and Port Arthur. The time advertised from St. Paul and Port Arthur is eighteen hours, which not long ago was consumed in going from Duluth to Port Arthur The card also advertises a 24-hour run from Chicago and Milwaukee and Port Arthur.

The Great Northern's change in time on its Mesaba range branch will become effective tomorrow instead of Sunday, as previously announced.

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

Bladder troubles most always result from a derangement of the kidneys and a cure is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. If you are feeling badly you can make no mistake by taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sized bottles. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful new discovery and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co. Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper.

RESULTED IN A DRAW.

Sophomores and Freshmen Each Score In Oratory.

Neither class won the event, as there were two prizes—one for the young ladies and one for the boys, and each class succeeded in carrying off one of these. Miss Bertha Schmied, of the sophomores, was the successful girl, while Stanley Strand, of the freshmen, won the young men's prize.

The addresses were the old standard orations and speeches. Miss Schmied's was "Helene Thamre;" Mr. Strand's "Not Guilty."

Both were exceedingly well given, as in fact were all the speeches of the evening.

The officiating judges were Dr. Long, Rev. H. W. Knowles, Clarence Miller, Mrs. Matter, Miss Harrington and Miss Phelps.

Tennis Club Formed.

The Epworth League Tennis club, of Lester Park, is now organized with the following officers: Superintendent of grounds, Arthur Barnes; secretary, Miss Nina Burbank; treasurer, Garfield Wood. The gounds of the club are directly back of the Methodist Episcopal church, at Fifty-fourth avenue east and Grand avenue, and are about ready for use. This promises to be a great year for tennis in Duluth and Lester Park will be right in line.

All members of Fidelity Lodge No. 105, A. O. U. W., are requested to meet at Hunter hall at 1:30 o'clock tomorrow for the purpose of going to the cemetery in a body to place flowers upon the graves of our departed brothers. Chartered car leaves Third avenue west and Superior street at 2 o'clock sharp. Hring badges. All members of the order are welcome to meet with us. C. G. FIROVED, Chairman Committee.

IT AGREED.

After Eighteen Hours Jury Agreed In Thirty Minutes.

The action of a jury in district court this morning showed that men never know what they really can do until they try real hard.

At 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon the case of the Clyde Iron works against Charles Stone, to recover $1800 alleged to be due as rent for a cement mixer, was given to the jury.

The jury found it a sticker, and it had to spend the night in wrestling w.... it. At 10:30 o'clock this morning, after eighteen hours of hard, sleepless work, the jury lined up before Judge Cant and hopelessly discussed the prospect of reaching an agreement.

"Don't think there is any use in trying any further," said the jury.

"How are you divided?" asked the judge.

"Six to six, and we have been that way ever since the first ballot," was the triumphant response, and it was given with an air of clinching the proposition.

"I think you had better try it a little while longer," said Judge Cant. The jury filed out, after having some of the testimony on which there seemed to be a dispute read over again, it left the room gloomily, apparently still firm in its belief that no agreement was possible.

Half an hour later the same jury filed in with a verdict. It awarded the plaintiff $443.

Judge Cant and a jury then took up the case of William Johnson and D. Z. York to recover a balance of $140 alleged to be due for work on a railroad construction contract.

In Judge Dibell's room the case of the estate of Thomas Hood against the Ohio Coal company was still on trial today.

Second Trial On.

John Wallace was again on trial in district court today for running a blind pig. He was acquitted on a similar charge a couple of days ago, but there were two indictments agaist him, and the second one was brought to trial this morning. T. J. McKeon is defending him.

John Murphy, charged with stealing some clothes at Hibbing, May 2, was acquitted yesterday afternoon by the jury.

Sheehy Claims Gambling Industry Is Flourishing In Duluth.

'Tis thrue, Irish Joe Sheehy wint t'roo
The place of Short-Card Bill;
An' the b'ys knew of the visit
For the place was lone an' still.

Sure Sheehy found what he sought for—
'Tis the truth we'll not be scorin';
'Twas what Pat found in the impty jug

Joe Sheehy, former champion paperweight pugilist, now Bowery reformer plenipotentiary and trouble promoter extraordinary, uncorked another small bottle of sizzling anguish last night when he went out on a still hunt for gambling joints.

It is claimed by those that think they know, he only found one small game of ping-pong and a lot of four flush sports talking of the latest pattern of open-work golf stockings.

The reformer appeared at the city hall this morning and went direct to the office of the associate city attorney, where he sought three warrants for the arrest of a trio of alleged gamblers.

Attorney Holmes was not prepared to issue the complaints. Whereupon lifting a pair of large, angelic blue eyes upward, till their limpid light seemed to meet and mix with the gold glint of his tangled curls, Mr. Sheehy murmured parenthetically:

As he left the city hall Mr. Sheehy said that he had the evidence of gambling even if he did not find it himself and proposed to have the complaints issued by his own attorney if the city's attorneys refused.

This morning Mr. Sheehy informed one of the aldermen that he was not at present looking for a renewal of the employment agency license, but would devote his spare time to the work of high moral endeavor and Bowery reform.

John Clancey went into a drug store last night and ordered a plain soda with a stick in it. The clerk had been reading funny papers and concluded wood alcohol was the nearest thing to a "stick" he had.

Later, while Clancey was chasing a pink and green monkey around the Marvin street dock he fell in the water. Friends with money went to the police station to get him, and they had to bail him out with a bucket.

A mysterious, unknown, one-legged poet gave his first recital in this city in jail this morning. His most effective number was a quaintly lilting jingle like this:

When there's fever in our corpuscles and in the atmosphere,
How we're overcome with languor and this belated touch of spring,
When we hear the drowsey patter of the rain, like bees a-wing!
How we satirize ambition and discount the joys of fame.
All we crave is peace and quiet in a town supremely tame.

"What a vernal, 'ternal, 'fernal, diurnal mood is this—
Out upon the thought of labor. Let us linger, let us lie
In a soporific langour underneath a smiling sky.
Let the serfs of mammon worry! Let the slaves of glory toil!
We will smile and sniff the fragrance of the juices of the soil."

Secretary E. B. Force, who knows everything that has happened in the police department during the past fifteen years, says the last man that got off anything like that in the city jail sniffed the fragrance of the juices of the rock pile for ninety consecutive days.

NURSE DIES.

Young Sister Victim of Disease She Was Ministering To.

It is said that she gave up her life to the cause for which she consecrated herself, having contracted the disease while nursing typhoid fever patients.

She was 22 years of age and came to the Sacred Heart convent about five years ago from Brockway, Minn. A few years ago she renounced the world and entered the order of the St. Benedictine sisters.

The funeral will be held from St. Mary's tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock and the interment will take place later at Calvary cemetery.

MANY ARE EXAMINED.

Twenty-Six Persons Seek Positions In Post Office.

Twenty-six persons, three of whom whom were young ladies, took the competitive examination held yesterday afternoon in the Postoffice building for applicants for grades of clerks and carriers in the classified mail service. The examination was held under the rules of the United States civil service commission and was in charge of A. Grabarklewicz, superintendent of delivery at the Duluth office, who is secretary of the board of examiners.

Of the twenty-six taking the examination fifteen were applicants for positions as carriers, and eleven applied for clerkships. The examination was a special one and was held for the purpose of making a list of eligibles from which appointments can be made for positions to be filled July 1, at which time the force of the Duluth postoffice is to be increased.

The local department is running short-handed at the present time and greatly needs four or five substitute carriers, but there is no list of eligibles from which to make the appointments.

It is expected that the papers will be examined speedily by the commission and the markings will be returned so that the appointments can be made before July 1.

BACKS OUT.

Brainerd Does Not Want High School There Saturday.

The High School Baseball team will not play at Brainerd next Saturday afternoon as had been planned. A communication was received today from the Brainerd manager stating that it will be impossible for him to arrange the game there for Saturday.

The excuse that is given for this breach in the agreement is a very poor one in the opinion. It is claimed by the Brainerd people that they are going to have examinations there Saturday afternoon and will be unable to play for that reason.

The local men are wondering why, if they were going to have examinations on that day they did not know it some time ago, at least last Saturday afternoon. Most schools have had their schedules for examinations made out for months knowing just when they are to come off.

The conclusion reached by the local players is that the Brainerd men are afraid that they will meet with another defeat as they did last week. This would be unpleasant for them and, perhaps, not very profitable as the Brainerd fans would hardly turn out in great numbers to see their team go down to certain defeat.

The Duluth men brought the Brainerd team here and played it at a loss financially and they are naturally not very much elated over having their proposed trip cut out.

... first it was hoped a game could be arranged with Altkin but this hope was speedily shattered. The team will not play at all saturday. The next and perhaps the last game will take place a week from Saturday with St. Paul Central or the Minneapolis North Side High school.

HAVE APPROVED

The Morgan Offer For Various Ocean Lines.

London, May 29.—The time limit for the White Star line shareholders to intimate their acceptance or otherwise fo the Morgan offer in connection with the shipping combine has expired. The shareholders have practically unanimously approved the proposals made. The shareholders of the Dominion line have reached a decision similar to that of the White Star line shareholders.

The Shipping Gazette today confirms the statement that the shareholders of the Holland-American line have ratified the agreement arrived at in April last, providing for the line entering the shipping combine.

WILL SUE ROSTAND

Gross Wishes to Prove the Authorship of "Cyrano."

The Chicago Was Poor When He Wrote the Play.

Having Won Case Here, Will Begin Suit In Paris.

Chicago, May 29.—"Slow rises worth by poverty oppressed," but S. E. Gross, now a millionaire, from whom a United States court decrees that Edmund Rostand stole "Cyrano," has arisen and is going to sue Rostand in Paris and London.

"I," said the millionaire, "brought the suit as Samuel Eberly Gross, the playwright who, for twenty-years ago, living on 30 cents a day, sleeping in an army blanket, was poorer than the poorest literary hack of today.

"I brought it as the man who thought that play was going to bring him a fortune and a name, but who was turned down and refused. I had no money, only hope. I saw what I had labored over refused, and I went into business to make a fortune great enough to force it to its rightful place.

Now I have spent a fortune to vindicate the Samuel Eberly Gross of twenty-five years ago.

There is an element of romance in it all.

"I spent $80,000 to get the decision and I am willing to spend $80,000 more to show this member of the Academy of Immortals just where he is.

"I am going to sue in London and Paris. I am going to build a theater in Grossville and produce my own play. I have plans for an $80,000 theater just to produce it.

"Yes, I was poor when I wrote 'The Merchant Prince of Cornville,' poor as a church mouse.

"At that time I was eager to follow a literary career and I had the daily, hourly struggle with poverty that seems to be common to young writers. My home was in a little room on the top floor of the old Major building, now the site of the Roanoke block. There I made my bed literally 'under the roof.' My couch was an old office lounge, and my covering was an old army blanket, well worn from much service.

"Being so poor I had few friends and was forced to spend nearly all my time in my lonely lodging, industriously scribbling away at stories, plays and verse. My head was full of bright ideas in those days, dreams of fame, of literary glory, the dreams that young men dream," and the millionaire sighed as he leaned back into the comfortable upholstered chair to look absentmindedly out of the window. Then, turning from the view of environing housetops, he again took up the thread of his reminiscent story.

"Although I worked hard," he said, "the world was not ready to recognize me as an author. The publishers would not accept my books and I found it impossible to get a hearing at the theaters. All this time I was living upon 30 cents a day and sometimes my daily outlay was necessarily even less.

"It was then I entered the real estate business. After relieving my immediate wants I intended to remain in the business only long enough to earn sufficient money to produce my play, 'The Merchant Prince.' Even though poverty had so persistently knocked at my door I had no intention of abandoning my original ambition to become a famous writer. Had I failed, had I spent my life up to this day in the poverty that marked the beginning, my claim to be the real author of the play which Rostand's work so brazenly patterned, I would have been laughed at and scoffed by the unthinking public.

"I know well how it would have been. It was fortunate that fortune smiled upon me in another line of effort. With the money earned on real estate I have been able to prove that I have been the victim of a conscienceless plagiarist. Current history affords numerous examples of cases in which men of ideas have been robbed and shouldered into the background by brisk commercial pirates, always on the lookout for good ideas and at the same time willing to steal them if they can.

"Yet the fact remains that although we all know very well that what I have said is a fact, there is no more pathetic figure in human life than a person asserting himself to be the author of an idea carried out to success by some other man or woman. Unthinking persons are quick to heap ridicule upon such characters and to hail as victors the crafty ones with the fattened purses. For this reason sensible men with grievances will not speak of them unless they can prove all they have to say. Had I not been sure that I could prove in court the theft of my early work I would have remained mute among the multitude showering praise upon the Parisian writer of plays.

"The cornfed critics of the corn belt seem disposed to treat me with levity as, perhaps, also cornfed. There they are mistaken. However much the real estate business has done for me, I was very far from being cornfed when my play was written. And now that I am speaking of facetious writers, I want to add that I cannot understand just why men of the corn belt are so prone to treat with ridicule the native product of the corn belt. Part of it, we know, is only a cheap imitation.

So-called witty writers abroad have since time immemorial treated American writers, and particularly Chicago writers, with an exaggerated air of amiable amusement. Wit goes by pattern in many places, and so it has come to pass that our own witty persons are witty after the pattern set in other marts.

"Until Rostand produced his version of my play his work as a writer of plays had uniformly proved a failure in Paris. In the French capital he has long been known as an audacious borrower from the works of other men. Count Tolstoi, in one of his books, says that Rostand is typical of the class of literary men who pilfer.

"His 'Cyrano De Bergerac' is an absolute absorption of 'The Merchant Prince of Cornville.' From the first scene in the first act to the last scene in the last act he has taken line after line, thought after thought, detail after detail from my work. It was the bold work of a literary pirate, executed with consummate art. While closely following the line of my work, he has transposed more than 1000 sentences, so as to express the thought without copying the exact words."

FUR SEALS

Will Be Killed If They Cannot Be Protected.

Washington, May 29.—The ways and means committee of the house today ordered a favorable report on the bill for a reopening of negotiations relative to the fur seal herds of Alaska, with a view to the preservation of the herds and authorizing the killing of the greater part of the seals unless the negotiations for the permanent preservation of the herd are successful.

Pending the negotiations the bill authorizes a modus vivendi prohibiting the killing of seals except for native food. In the event that the preservation of the herd is not secured at the opening of the pelagic season of 1902 authority is given to kill all the male and female seals on the Pribylof islands with the exception of 10,000 females and 1,000 males.

Representatives McClellan, of New York, and McCall, of Massachusetts, voted against reporting the fur seal bill. Mr. McClellan stating that it was a remarkable measure, proposing the killing of ninety thousand seals, apparently through spite.

TUG MAN POUNDED

First Act of Violence In Present Strike Occurs.

Trouble Not Premeditated But Result of An Altercation.

The first act of violence in the strike of the tugmen occurred this morning.

Capt. Joseph Jacobs, who had been engaged by the tug trust representatives to take out the Abbott, was desperately beaten by President John McCaffrey, of the Tug Firemen's union, and John Murphy, the latter a member of that union.

The assault on Capt. Jacobs was not premeditated, however. Early this morning the strikers learned that he had made arrangements with the tug company to take charge of the Abbott and that that tug would be put in commission during the latter part of the forenoon.

President McCaffrey and John Murphy set out to see Capt. Jacobs and endeavor to persuade him to change his mind. The three met on Fifth avenue west, near the Omaha tracks, just as Capt. Jacobs was on his way to the customs house to fix up the necessary navigation papers.

At first the conversation between the three seemed to be fairly friendly, though it quickly turned to accusations of bitterness. A moment later President McCaffrey and Capt. Jacobs were mixing fiercely, though it was difficult to tell which struck the first blow.

Although a small man Capt. Jacobs was more than holding his own with the president of the union, when Murphy jumped in, pinning his arms so that McCaffrey had an unobstructed swing for any part of the body that he cared to hit.

Capt. Jacobs went down to the ground, saying that he would not take the boat out if the strikers would quit beating him, but they kept up the hammering for some moments after he was on the ground.

Immediately after the fight McCaffrey and Murphy disappeared, but it was said that they would give themselves up to the police some time early this evening.

Capt. Jacobs was very badly battered up, but was able to take the tug Abbott out late this afternoon. During the past winter he has been captain of the ferryboat Estelle, plying between Park Point and Lake Avenue.

A member of the tugmen's union this afternoon said that there was not the slightest intention on the part of President McCaffrey to stir up trouble with Capt. Jacobs, and that the latter himself forced the fight by making a number of statements that left McCaffrey no other alternative.

The news of the fight caused quite a good deal of excitement in marine circles and along the water front. Since the beginning of the present strike McCaffrey has been very guarded in all his utterances and always counseled against violence. Hence it was difficult for many to comprehend why he should be the first to figure in a street fight over the question at issue.

INTERESTED.

Lumber Shippers and Vesselmen Anxious as to Chicago Meeting.

The local lumber shippers and vesselmen are interested today to learn the result of the special meeting of the board of directors of the Lumber Carriers' association, which is being held in Chicago today. Capt. Charles Weeks and Capt. Sinclair, who are members of the board left for Chicago yesterday. It is not definitely known here just what the meeting has been called for, but it is surmised that it will be an important one, and will have a bearing on the present lumber rate of $2.50 from Duluth to the Lake Erie ports.

For some weeks past there has been a rumor current that the shippers were not entirely satisfied with the rate and that they thought the conditions did not warrant the maintenance of the present rate, but the vesselmen were disposed to be firm and would indicate no abatement. Lately the lumber shipping business has been very quiet and the shippers claimed there were more boats to be had than there was lumber to be moved and they itimate that the conditions have brought the lumber carriers to a realization that there is no great rush to get lumber down the lakes and a drop in rates would be preferable. It is also claimed that there are more boats engaged in the lumber carrying trade than ever before and this is one point that the shippers hold out for a reason for a lower rate.

One prominent shipper said today that many of the purchasers of head of the lakes stock are disposed not to be in a hurry to get their lumber moved. At the opening of the season there was talk that the stocks must be hurried forward as fast as possible, but now the owners are not so anxious. It is also claimed that a large part of the new cut lumber is not yet ready for shipment.

There are, however, some dry stocks here that could be moved, right away, but the shippers say there is no haste.

INSPECTION.

Fire Department Will Be Reviewed on June 11.

The annual inspection of the fire department will occur on June 11. The date was fixed at a meeting of the board of fire commissioners last evening.

Invitations will be sent out to have members of the board of fire underwriters, members of the council and a committee from the Commercial club attend this inspection.

The board re-elected Harry Nesbitt secretary for the next year and also entertained a delegation of union labor men consisting of: J. W. Richardson and George Davis, of the Carpenters' union; Henry Perrault, of the Cigarmakers' union; Ole Largon, of the Steamfitters' union, and C. W. F. Hegg, of the Retail Clerks' union. They called on the fire commissioners to urge that union painters be employed in the department. The commissioners replied that they would use their efforts to have the present department painter become a member of the union.

FOR CONGRESS

Democrats Are Suggesting C. d'Autremont For Their Candidate.

Since the meeting of the Democratic county committee last night, a great deal of quiet talk has been going on among the friends of Former Mayor C. d'Autremont, about bringing that gentleman out for the Democratic nomination for congress in this district.

"Mr. d'Autremont has the political acquaintance throughout the district," said one of these friends this afternoon, "and he could make an effective campaign. A great many people are talking about the necessity of a congressman's having an income sufficient to live in Washington, and while there is a good deal of sentiment in that position 'Dote' has made a tidy bunch of money in the past few years, and I guess he wouldn't have to worry about his house rent or housekeeping bills in Washington. Moreover, he has made his money in a way that could cast no aspersions on his record.

"Is he a candidate? No, he is not a candidate, but his friends believe that if the party wants him to run, we will do so. If he were to be consulted in advance, he would probably say no. But we don't propose to consult him."

HILL AS A SAVIOR

May Protect Northwest Against the Rapacious Coal Barons.

Intimated That He Will Bring Illinois Soft Coal In.

Coal Men Ridicule Idea of Competition From That Source.

James J. Hill may protect the people of the Northwest from the rapacity of the coal barons. It is reported that the chief purpose of Mr. Hill's recent trip over the lines of the Burlington system, in company with Darius Miller, his traffic director, was with the desire of transporting large quantities of Illinois soft coal from the mines to the Twin Cities all rail over the Burlington line. The Burlington reaches some of the best colliery territory in the Illinois fields and is very near to other mines. It is part of the report that Mr. Hill intends to put in such a low freight rate for this traffic that it will drive Eastern bituminous grades out of the market in the Northwest on the present basis of prices.

Illinois soft coal can be bought at the mines for from $1.75 to $2 a ton. Transported over the Burlington, it is a shorter haul to the Twin Cities than the haul from Chicago—in other words, about 400 miles. It is said that already Illinois soft coal, on the basis of present all-rail freight rates, is underselling Eastern bituminous in St. Paul and Minneapolis, particularly for large contracts. The result is said here to have been that the Eastern coal sales agents have had to cut their prices very largely to get the contracts they used to have.

In discussing this report today, some local coal men said that anything Mr. Hill might do in that direction might serve to relieve the situation in the Northwest this season. They do not believe, from the results of tests made here with Illinois coal last winter, that it will ever displace the Eastern soft coal with Duluth consumers.

"Illinois soft coal," said a local sales agent today, "has an evaporating power of four to six pounds to the pound of coal consumed. Our screenings evaporate eight to ten pounds of water to the pound of coal consumed. Moreover, experience with Illinois coal here last winter demonstrated that the prevalence of earthy matter not only prevented perfect combustion and caused lots of ash, but great difficulty was had with clinkers. Eastern coal at $10 a ton here could never be supplanted with Illinois coal at its present price."

On the other hand, there are those that hold that in furnaces constructed with the idea of burning Illinois coal it can be consumed to good advantage, though not so economically as Eastern coal.

Up to noon today local coal sales agents had received no instructions regarding the advance in the price of coal that will be made on the first of the month. The general expectation is that instructions will be received tomorrow to make the regularly expected advance of 10 cents in the price of authracite, but that on advance will be made in bituminous. One agent who consulted the general offices of his company in St. Paul said that no instructions had yet been received there concerning the matter.

Another agent said that he expected that the monthly advance of 10 cents in the price of anthracite would be in accordance with the policy of the company expressed at the beginning of the season. He looked for no advance in the price of bituminous grades. This agent added, however, that prices of hard coal in New York state had been put up in some instances as much as $2 a ton.

The transfer of the Ohio Coal company's property here to Milwaukee parties is believed here to have been merely a formal transfer under the terms of the reorganization that was made some months ago. At that time the company was reorganized as the Ohio Coal company, of Wisconsin, with its principal office in Milwaukee. Originally it was a Minnesota corporation, with its headquarters n Minneapolis.

BURGLARS.

Householders in the East End report that the gang of boy burglars that has been operating out there for some time is getting more venturesome. It has been a common thing for them to steal ice cream and other delicacies left out of doors in the evening, and they have frequently been known to reach in through pantry windows and carry off things that seemed to suit their fancy.

Last evening, however, they capped the climax by coolly walking into an East End kitchen, going to the refrigerator and helping themselves to some of its contents.

These boys are sons of good families, which are not in any particular need of the things that are carried away. Some of the victims treat it as a joke, and others say that they intend to treat it as pure and simple burglary and sneak-thieving, which is the technical police term for this class of offenses.

Has Du'uth Connections.

W. O. McNaughton, traveling passenger agent of the Erie road, came up from St. Paul this morning. He announces that the Erie has just put on a handsome new train between Chicago and New York and Boston. The time of departure from Chicago has been changed from 2 p. m. to 10 a. m., which makes close connections with the Omaha Fast Mail, or Wisconsin Central from Duluth. The train arrives in New York at 3:30 the next afternoon, and a through sleeper to Boston arrives in that city at 9 p. m. It is in the interest of this fine new service that Mr. McNaughton is making his visit this city. He believes it appeals especially to Duluth travelers journeying East.

JENKINS RENOMINATED.

Milwaukee, May 29.—A special from Chippewa Falls, Wis., said Congressman John J. Jenkins was renominated this afternoon by the new Eleventh Wisconsin district Republican congressional convention.

DECISION REVERSED

In Relation to Mitchell & McClure Logging Road.

It Must Be Assessed In St. Louis County.

State Auditor Dunn Had Decided to the Contrary.

St. Paul, May 28.—Special to The Herald.)—The supreme court, by Justice Brown today reversed the decision of State Auditor Dunn, that the logging road of the Mitchell & McClure Lumber company should be assessed in Carlton county, where it is located and orders that it be assessed in St. Louis county. It is held that:

General statutes 1891, chapter 1516, providing that the personal property of a merchant or manufacturer shall be taxed in the county or town, where his business is carried on, vests in the owner of the property the legal right to insist that it be taxed in the county or taxing district, so designated.

The property of relators, Mitchell & McClure, located in Carlton county, was erroneously taxed in that county, being used and employed exclusively in connection with the firm's manufacturing business, which was located and carried on in St. Louis county and was properly taxable in the latter county.

Section 1569, of the statutes of 1894, providing that it shall always be a defense that property assessed is not taxable, applies only to property not subject to taxation. The auditor in passing upon matters of this kind, acts in a judicial capacity, and his decision may be reviewed in certiorari.

The court admits that it is possible for some property to escape taxation under this ruling, but says it construes the law as it is, and the remedy lies with the legislature.

State Auditor Dunn said he knew that on strict technical construction the law was against him, but that he had hoped the court would take into consideration the equities of the case. The Mitchell & McClure company had not reported the Carlton county property for assessment in St. Louis county, and the assessor at Duluth had no means of knowing that it existed, much less what it was worth. On the other hand it had been reported to the Carlton county assessor by the agent of the company.

IS A RUSH.

County Treasurer's Office Is Being Flooded With Money.

Saturday is the last day for paying real estate taxes for 1901 without a penalty, and the appearance of the treasurer's office at the court house this morning indicated that a good many people had heard about how short the time was. All day the office was crowded, and the force of clerks was rushed with work, making out statements and receipts and receiving money.

Most of the work now is connected with the receipt of cash. Hundreds of property owners, particularly those with large holdings and those living outside the city, send in checks, and these are tossed into convenient receptacles and worked up after the rush is over. In the present quarters it would be utterly impossible for the force to keep up with both counter receipts and mail receipts. It would take a much larger force ana the number of men required to handle it could not possibly be crowded into the present office.

WILL BE OPENED.

Board of Control Members Visit Normal School.

W. E. Lee and O. B. Gould, two of the three members of the board of control of state institutions, arrived in the city yesterday to look over the Duluth normal school building and plan for furnishing and equipping it. Mr. Lee said that the school will be equipped in a suitable manner and opened early in September. The board has about $18,000 to run the school the first year, and if this is not enough the legislature will be in session in January to provide more.

FRUITLESS

Was McCarle's Conference With the Towing Company Officials.

Cleveland, May 29.—Grand President Charles A. McCarle of the Tugmen's association arrived here today and held a long conference with officials of the Great Lakes Towing company in connection with the strike of the tugmen. At the conclusion of the conference Mr. McCarle stated that no agreement had been reached and that no immediate settlement was in sight. McCarle expressed the belief that the men would win in the end.

FIRE AT DOWNING, WIS.

Nothing But Absence of Wind Saved Town.

St. Paul, May 29.—A Glenwood, Wis., special to the Dispatch says: Fire at Downing last night destroyed A. H. McCabe's store and hall, Dalton's livery and Crane's meat market. During the fire 100 pounds of powder exploded, shattering many windows. Loss about $5000, partially insured. The fire was caused by the explosion of a lamp in the store. The Odd Fellows, G. A. R. post and Modern Woodmen, who occupied the hall, lost everything. Nothing but the absence of wind saved the town from destruction.

TO SETTLE COAL STRIKE.

Hanna and Others Hold An Important Conference.

Cleveland, May 29.—A report was in circulation here today that a long conference was held during the morning between Senator Hanna, chairman of the civic federation and George W. Perkins, representing J. P. Morgan & Co., relative to a settlement of the anthracite coal strike. When seen by an Associated Press reporter, Senator Hanna refused to either deny or confirm the report.

INTREPID KAVANAGH

Journeyed to Within One Mile of Pelee's Crater.

Was In Great Danger But Failed to Realize It.

Fort de France, Martinique, May 29.—Noon.—The crater of Mount Pelee has been approached within one mile. This feat was accomplished Tuesday afternoon by George G. Kavanagh, an unattached newspaper man, who had accompanied Prof. Robert T. Hill, the United States government geologist, on his expedition.

When Prof. Hill turned south towards St. Pierre, Mr. Kavanagh continued on past Morne Rouge. His route seems to have been along or near the Calc Basse divide. He says he descended from Morne Rouge into the valley between Morne Rouge and Mount Pelee. This valley was deeply strewn with ashes. Mr. Kavanagh was guided by an aged negress, to where an old foot path once led to Lake Palmiste, near the summit of the crater. There an iron cross, twenty feet high, was buried in ashes to within a foot of its top. Before him stretched upward the mountain slope, covered with ashes which, soaked by the heavy rains and baked by the sun and volcanic heat, looked like a cement sidewalk. The whole mountain top was shrouded in smoke.

Forgetful of the explosion of the previous night and the awful suddenness of the outbursts, and tempted by the seemingly easy ascent, he continued upward and made photographs and rough sketches. Mr. Kavanagh found the valley filled with ashes and two great drifts, which he was afraid to approach. At 6 o'clock in the evening he turned back reaching Morne Rouge at about 9 o'clock. He made no new observations and realized his danger only the next morning, when occurred the greatest outburst since Mount Pelee's first eruption.

On Wednesday, Mr. Kavanagh tried to descend to St. Pierre, but failed. He found a little hamlet, in a valley near the mountain, black with 150 dead bodies. They were not carbonized, nor had their clothing been burned off. Probably this valley lay near the inner edge of the zone of blasting flame. George Kennan reported from Morne Rouge this morning. Two hours ago Professor Angelo Heilprin, president Philadelphia Geological society, but here under the auspices of the National Geographical society, left with Mr. Leadbeater, to make a three-days' careful exploration and study of the new craters, east and north.

Successful Candidates.

The successful candidates for positions on the police force were announced today.

The four men that go on June 1 are: Fred A. Geer, Jeremiah Gleason, Anton Schulte and Joseph Mix.

Anton Schulte is a brother of Frank Schulte, who is now a patrolman and who recently passed the best examination for appointment to the detective force. Joseph Mix is at present a member of the fire department.

IMMATERIAL

Whether Stolen Money Went to Church or Theater.

Des Moines, May 29.—In the Balliett case today Judge Munger ruled that it was immaterial whether Balliett spent the proceeds for moral or immoral purposes; the only question was whether he diverted the funds from the development of mine property and the stockholders. The court refused to allow the district attorney to introduce evidence as to what money was spent in variety theaters and squandered on actresses, ruling it did not matter whether the money went to churches or theaters. J. C. Higgins, of Spokane, Wash., was the principal witness today, testifying that when Balliett left San Francisco for Baker City in August, 1900, he instructed the witness to burn the stock books if the postoffice inspectors called, and to deny that Balliett conducted the office. The cross-examination of F. B. Thomas, of San Francisco, developed that he believes the White Swan mine to be good paying property.

SEVERE FIGHTING

At the Primaries of a Georgia County.

Savannah, Ga., May 29.—The White county primaries here today for representatives to the legislature and county officers were attended by severe fighting between the opposing factions at the court house. Several people were injured, but nobody was killed. Ishmael Carter had his head split open by a policeman's club. He claims to have been held and beaten. Several others were severely hurt.

WILL GET TOGETHER.

St. Paul, May 29.—A Stillwater, Minn., special to the Dispatch says: The striking mill men have named officers of their union to confer with mill owners and demand a 10-hour day at the former wages. The mill owners were notified in a formal way of the selection of the strike committee, and are disposed to meet either their former employes or the committee, and will decide later as to the general conference.

DIXON APPOINTED.

St. Paul, May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—F. A. Miller, general passenger agent of the Milwaukee road, has announced the appointment of William Dixon to the post of Northwestern passenger agent, succeeding J. T. Conley, transferred to the position of assistant freight agent, with headquarters in Minneapolis. Mr. Dixon will maintain the headquarters of the Northwestern passenger agent in St. Paul, with jurisdiction over the territory from Minnesota to the West. The appointment becomes effective June 1.

Joseph Caldwell, the present city passenger agent, is promoted to the post of traveling passenger agent, vacated by Mr. Dixon.

A GOLD MINE

In Buckingham County, Virgiria, In Which Duluthians Are Principally Interested.

We clip the following from the Western Trade Journal, of Chicago, as it relates to an enterprise in which some Duluth people are largely interested, and one that must be an attractive investment in that the Journal calls so extended an attention to it. It says in part:

"At this late day those who have been plodding along the rear of the army of progress now admit that a trade which has attracted the richest financiers is worthy the attention of 'conservatives,' and many who formerly looked upon mining skeptically are now keenly alive to the possibilities of this glorious industry. They realize that the art of winning metals from nature has felt the influence of a recent discovery and improvement in labor-saving machinery—that mining today is a science, in which blind luck no longer plays an important part.

"At this opportune time, when all avenues of trade are closed to those of moderate means through the combined influence of 'trust' power, at a moment when confiding investors see time-honored securities, that never felt the breath of scandal, wither in a night; see the blighting effect of reorganization committees; see the so-called cherished 'safe investments' fade away, yet daily see men and women rise to rapid wealth through well-advised mining investments, we, after years of experience, openly proclaim the greatest of all avenues that lead to quick and positive wealth is legitimate mining.

This leads us to call attention to a mining company whose property is located in the very heart of the gold belt of Virginia—The Minnesota and Virginia Mining and Development Company, N. H. Murray, Trustee, No. 210 Trust Building, Duluth, Minn., which offers 20,000 shares of promoter's stock for sale in blocks of 100 shares and upwards at 50 cents a share. The proceeds will be used exclusively to complete development work now in progress. After this issue is subscribed, the price will be advanced if the stock is not entirely withdrawn from the market. The Minnesota and Virginia Mining and Development Company has 1169 acres of rich gold bearing lands in Buckingham County, Virginia. In addition to three veins, 18, 20 and 40 feet wide, respectively, there is a large tract of rich placer ground. This land is HEAVILY TIMBERED WITH OAK, CHESTNUT AND PINE, AND WITHIN HALF A MILE OF A SAWMILL, ONE MILE FROM ANDERSONVILLE P. O., AND NINE MILES FROM THE CHESAPEAKE & OHIO RAILWAY. Substantial camp buildings have been erected and development has been in progress on the three veins for some time. Two shafts are in ore and 355-foot cross-cut tunnel, being driven to tap the three ore bodies, is now completed. The gold values are highly satisfactory and as soon as the work planned is completed a stamp mill mill be installed and the mine placed on a dividend paying basis. The company is capitalized for $1,000,000, divided into 1,000,000 shares of $1 each. The shares offered are from the promoters' stock, thereby leaving the treasury allotment untouched. This is a very attractive and promising proposition and will stand close investigation. This property was sought out and secured by "Charley" Moore, the original owner of both the Sultana mine near Rat Portage, and the "Little American" mine at Rainy Lake City, Minnesota's first and only gold producer. Mr. Moore interested a Duluth syndicate in the property and he is now down in the Old Dominion, in charge of the development work.

N. H. Murray, who is well and favorably known in Duluth, is trustee for the syndicate and has charge of the Minnesota end of the company's affairs.

It is the desire of the trustee and organizers of this company that each and every one who purchases stock shall profit by the investment, and to that end provisions have been made so that all may be protected and all participate equally in the profits of the corporation.

The investor in the shares of the Minnesota and Virginia Mining and Development company has no taxes, assessments, fines, interests or liabilities of any kind to pay during the life of the stock. The shareholder's interest is mutual and collective. The officers and directors of the company are men of flattering standing in the business and financial circles of their respective communities, their names being a guarantee of the legitimate and high character of any enterprise with which they are identified.

In conclusion, we desire to repeat what we said in the beginning, that we have made a full and exhaustive investigation of this company, its officers, its property and general standing, and as a result we have no hesitancy in recommending the same to our readers as the best, safest and most promising mining proposition that ever came under our observation, and advise that N. H. Murray, the trustee, No. 210 Trust building, Duluth, Minn., be addressed for particulars not made plain by this free and unsolicited editorial.

MORGAN FAVORS

The Passage of the Philippine Government Measure.

Says In a General Way It Looks Toward Peace.

Duty of United States to Provide a Government.

Washington, May 29.—The senate convened at 11 o'clock today in order that additional time might be afforded for the discussion of the Philippine bill. A joint resolution was reported and passed authorizing the secretary of war to deliver to the governor of New Jersey such condemned bronze cannon, not exceeding 15,000 pounds in weight, as might be necessary for the construction of an equestrian statue of the late Maj. Gen. William J. Sewell.

The conference report on the river and harbor bill was presented and without comment agreed to.

Consideration then was resumed of the Philippine government bill. Mr. Lodge (Mass.), in charge of the measure, offered two or three amendments of minor character, which were agreed to. He then offered an amendment extending to the inhabitants the "bill of rights" of the constitution of the United States, except the right to bear arms and the right of a trial by jury. In answer to an inquiry by Mr. Pettus (Ala.), Mr. Lodge explained that, in the opinion of the majority of the committee on Philippines, it would be unwise in the present circumstances to extend those rights to the Filipinos. The amendment was agreed to. Other amendments were adopted as follows:

Providing that nothing in the pending bill shall be held to amend or repeal the act providing for revenue for the Philippines; providing that a single homestead entry shall not exceed forty acres in extent; providing that the beneficial use shall be the basis, the measure and the limit of all rights to water in the islands, and the government is authorized to make rules for the use of the water supply; providing that if bonds or any portion thereof shall be paid out of the funds of the government of said islands, such municipality shall reimburse said government for the sum thus paid, and said government is hereby empowered to collect said sum by the levy and collection of taxes on such municipality. Some other amendments were adopted, but they were of a verbal or minor character.

Mr. Morgan (Ala.) then addressed the senate upon the bill. He cordially approved the general purposes of the measure which, he said, were a decided improvement upon the law now in force in the Philippines. Certain changes, which he did not indicate, ought to be made in the bill, but in a general way it looked toward peace. He read an editorial from an Alabama newspaper, which he adopted as his own sentiments. That editorial held that as the United States had put its hands to the plow in the Philippines it could not turn back. The insurrection in the islands, Mr. Morgan said, was broken, and the duty was left to this government to provide a just and equitable government for the people. Division in the councils in this country, he believed, kept the bolomen and ladrones in the field. When that division was settled peace in the islands, in a practical way, would be assured.

If Aguinaldo had in fact driven the Spanish dominion from the islands, or had destroyed the power of the United States to hold Manila under the peace protocol, he said, he had worked a miracle in the development of national power that no other man ever attempted.

"If Spain was unable to cope with his forces," he said, "it does not follow that Aguinaldo could destroy by an edict the military and naval forces of the United States."

"I excuse those who now see a fatal mistake," continued Mr. Morgan, "in the fatal policy of the peace treaty; I still excuse them for not trying to repeal that concession when we know that the success of such an effort would throw the Filipino people back into the arms of Spain, whose tyrannies have made her their unforgiving enemies." To have crowned such a war, waged with such a generous purpose, with such a result, said he, would have dismayed stronger hearts than those that beat in the bosoms even of his Democratic colleagues.

At the conclusion of Mr. Morgan's speech the senate, on motion of Mr. Lodge, agreed that when it adjourn today it be until Saturday.

DEATH LIST.

Joliet, Ill., May 29.—Capt. Charles A. Hill, assistant attorney general during the Tanner administration and one of the best known practitioners in Northern Illinois, died today, aged 68 years. He had been sick eighteen months with Bright's disease. Hill was a member of congress from this district in 1888 and 1889 and was defeated for re-election in 1890 by Lewis Stewart, of Plano. He served with distinction during the civil war.

Springfield, Ill., May 29.—Maj. Andrew J. Barber died here yesterday, aged 68. During the civil war he was assistant quartermaster of "Stonewall" Jackson's corps, in the army of Northern Virginia.

Des Moines, Iowa, May 29.—Elizabeth Cole Scott Clarkson, widow of Coker F. Clarkson, and mother of James S. Clarkson, of New York, and R. P. Clarkson, editor of the Iowa State Register, died here last night after an illness of only two days. She was 82 years of age.

Newport, R. I., May 29.—Harry Oelrich, of New York, who has been a member of the Newport colony for many years, died at his cottage here today. He was 45 years of age and was a graduate from Columbia college and a member of the New York bar. For a time he was superintendent of the Anglo-American Cattle company in Dakota, where he founded a town which bears his name.

EIGHT HUNDRED

Ballots Taken at Michigan Congressional Convention.

Adrian, Mich., May 29.—At 11 o'clock 669 ballots had been taken by the Second district Republican congressional convention, without result. The vote on the last was as follows: Congressman H. C. Smith, 32; Charles E. Townsend, Jackson, 34; W. W. Wedemeyer, Ann Arbor, 22; Mark R. Bacon, Wyandotte, 17, with 53 votes necessary to nominate. The balloting went on without change till 800 ballots had been cast. The Wastenaw delegation, which is supporting Wedemeyer, then retired for conference, and the convention adjourned until 1:30 o'clock.

Early in the afternoon session Townsend was nominated.

AGAIN CONTINUED.

Quebec, May 29.—Proceedings in the Gaynor-Greene case were continued today before Judge Andrews in the superior court.

SMITH RENOMINATED.

UNITED CHURCH

Of Presbyterians Begins Its General Assembly at Pittsburg.

Two Hundred and Fifty-Three Commissioners Were Present.

Reports of the Various Church Boards Were Presented.

Pittsburg, May 29.—When Rev. Dr. J. M. Ross called the forty-fourth general assembly of the United Presbyterian church of North America to order today for the first business session, 253 commissioners were present. Devotional exercises were first held, after which the important task of electing a moderator was taken up. Six names were reported, as follows:

Rev. J. C. Boyd, Mt. Lebanon; John S. McKee, Butler, Pa.; James C. Wilson, Erie, Pa.; W. P. Williamson, Keokuk, Iowa, and Rev. J. B. Lee, of Franklinville, N. Y.

Rev. Dr. Wilson was elected on the first ballot and the election was made unanimous.

After the reading of the minutes, the clerk presented his report. It showed that the congregations of America contributed for all purposes during the year $1,843,235, an increase of $116,355, the largest in any one year.

The membership of the church increased 2029. In three synods, New York, Ohio and Iowa, there has been a decrease in the membership. In this, the report says, there is an indication of the great changes taking place in our population.

The reports of the various boards were then presented, and the rest of the session was taken up with the reading of these reports.

The report of the board of home missions commends the ministers and congregations in the home mission field for their faithfulness and zeal. The board also expresses its appreciation of the support given by the church and individuals. The net gain in attendance is shown to have been 1614 for the year's contributions to the boards $24,322; entire expenditures for the year ended March 31, $85,817. Twelve congregations became self-supporting during the year. After investigation the board reports that "and in the extreme is the condition in every respect," of the mountain whites of the South. Work among them would have to be taken up and carried on much the same as in heathen lands. The year closes with a balance of $2862. The receipts from legacies $27,105 were exceptionally large.

The annual report of the board of foreign missions says there has been great progress in almost every department. It is shown that the additions to membership in India have amounted to 1036 on profession and 237 on certificate and by restoration. In Egypt the additions on profession were 459. The contributions in India during the year for definitely religious purposes were $1,529 a gain of $502, and in Egypt $29,790, a gain of $5532. For all purposes the contributions in Egypt were four times what they were ten years ago, and about the same advance is reported from India. The opening of a memorial church building in Alexandria, Egypt, and a new hospital at Azyut are mentioned and the report says the found projected for the Azyut training college is largely in hand. It is announced that the synod of the Punjab has decided to divide the presbytery of Gujran Wala and a new presbytery to be known as Rawal Pindi will be organized in October. The total sum required for the year was $161,833. The total receipts were $148,212, leaving an indebtedness of $10,847. It is estimated that $87,500 will be needed for the mission in Egypt this year and $76,919 for India.

The report of the board of ministerial relief places the total endowment fund at $120,109, an increase of $1000 during the year. The amount required for payments during the coming year is estimated at $15,000. The report shows eighty beneficiaries now on the roll, including thirty-three ministers and forty-seven widows and orphans.

The board of publication announces that "a summary of the authoritative standards of the church" soon will be ready for the press.

An increased interest in Sabbath schools throughout the church is reported and a larger number of mission Sabbath schools have been established during the year than in any former year. The contributions continue to increase.

SAGASTA

May Soon Resign the Premiership of Spain.

Madrid, May 29.—The possibility of the early retirement of Senor Sagasta from the premiership is again being discussed in connection with the difference regarding the meeting of the cortes.

The president of the senate, Senor Monterrio Rios, considers that as no decree proroguing the session has been issued, the law requires the reassembling of parliament, and he has decided to summon the senate to meet June 2. Senor Sagasta is opposed to convoking the cortes, and will appeal to the king, who, it is said, will not sign the prorogation decree without consulting with other political leaders. It is held in some quarters that such action on the part of his majesty will render Senor Sagasta's position untenable.

COAL FAMINE

New York Enters On Its First Real Day.

New York, May 29.—According to retail coal dealers, this city will enter today upon the first day of its real anthracite coal famine since the strike of miners. Not a cargo was in sight in the markets yesterday. The stocks of many of the yards are depleted entirely by the severe draft of the last two weeks, and nowhere except in the yards of the railroads, where coal is hoarded by the thousands of tons, could be had even a glimpse of the mineral.

END OF A ROMANCE

Greek Lovers Meet In Chicago and Are Happily Reunited.

Deceived Lover Fled to America After Wounding His Rival.

He Was Followed By the Girl, Who Loves Him.

Chicago, May 29.—A modern courtship tinged with the classic hues of an old Greek romance has reached its climax in prosaic Chicago.

Elene Stelinidis, known in Athens as the "Belle of the Bosphorus," has found her sweetheart, Leonidas Tryantaphilis, and has given him a twig of Minerva olive tree to remind him of a promise made during a moonlight tete-a-tete in the picturesque ruins of the Acropolis.

She has told him that the man who was his rival and whom he left for dead, after a bloody encounter in the woods of Megara, is living and happily married to another woman; she has asked him to forgive her for having looked into the sparkling eyes and listening to the flattering words of another man.

It was the fatigue and the excitement of a day of adventures, she pleaded; the intoxication of a charming night in the granite gorges high above the Phalleron sea, and, above all, a malicious instinct of spite toward him that had rendered her so weak at a given foment when she had for years been strong and invincible.

An inconceivable trouble weighed upon her, she told him; a cloud covered her eyes, and for one brief moment she had felt that she was a passive being, swayed, hurried away, in one word, a woman.

It all happened about one year ago.

Georges Kartos a school friend of her future husband, one evening proposed that they should ascend the summit of the Acropolis, promising them the wonderful spectacle of moon bathed vistas of fertile lands on one side of the ruins and the vast tableau of the silvery sea on the other. He spoke in a caressing voice of the beauties of nature, of the pleasures of life and of the heavens above, sublime with light and transparency. And Elene dreamed it were Apollo himself who had descended from Olympus to fill her soul with the music of his voice.

She followed him up the decayed and slippery steps of the spiral staircase. What she never would have dared to undertake she accomplished by enthusiasm; now leaning on his shoulder, now her hands clasped in his and now carried in his vigorous arms. The moon, penetrating the large, broken arches of the ruin, threw a vivid light on the stairway.

In these intervals of light and darkness sometimes they were near to and then again quite distant from Leonidas.

Leonidas feigned to pay no attention to his companions. He lost not one shade of their growing emotions, however, but said nothing.

At last they reached the summit. Indeed, it was here, according to tradition, that Aegeus had awaited the return of his son Theseus from his bold venture against the Minotaur and had leapt over the precipice to certain death.

Elene sat upon the last step, Georges placing himself close behind her. Some frightened owls flew into the air, uttering plaintive cries of distress. Leonidas, under pretext of seeking out their nests, went rummaging in the lower stories, where the noise of his steps on the gravel soon ceased to be heard.

The isolation of Elene and Georges was complete. Looking over the panorama at her feet, the beautiful girl was suddenly seized with an attack of vertigo. She closed her eyes and fell into the arms of her companion.

"Are you afraid?" he whispered. "No, no," she answered feebly, not when you hold me."

At this moment their lips met, but at the same instant the steps of Leonidas resounding under the arch of the staircase recalled them abruptly to themselves. The slighted lover reached them before they had time to compose themselves and the coldly ordered Georges to step aside. The young man obeyed and quickly disappeared in the ruins, leaving the trembling girl alone with Leonidas. The latter was deathly pale and some minutes elapsed before he spoke.

"You may need a true friend's service some day," he said sadly. "Here, Elene, take this branch from Minerva's olive tree and if you want me, if you need the strong hand of a friend, bring me this twig and I shall obey you. I will be your friend, but can never become your husband."

Early the next day Georges and Leonidas met in the little forest near Megara. They fought a duel with cavalry swords and George was badly wounded. Leonidas thinking that he had killed him, fled to America.

He lived in New York a few months and then came to Chicago, where he met Consul General Nikolaa Salopoulus of Greece. The two men became fast friends and Leonidas never spoke of his sad experience. He suffered dreadful tortures at the thought that he had killed a man merely for having won a woman's heart.

But Georges was not dead. As by a miracle he had recovered from the terrible wound inflicted by his antagonist and soon found an occasion to make love to another woman, showing Elene that he was not worthy of her affection.

Months passed by. The mighty scaffolding of the poor girl's pride gradually crumbled to pieces, her heart was broken, and in her despair she thought of death. Just then she found the tiny, dried-up branch from the olive tree that Leonidas had given her and remembered his parting words.

The hope that he might perhaps forgive her brought solace to her, and some days afterward she went to his father to learn from him where Leonidas could be found. But the old man only knew that his son was in America.

This did not discourage the girl, however, and two weeks later she sailed for New York. There she was informed in the Greek colony that Leonidas had gone to Chicago, without leaving an address, and that nothing had been heard from him since.

When the plucky girl arrived in Chicago last Monday she immediately called on the Greek consul in this city and asked him to assist her in her search. Mr. Salopoulos promised to do his very best, little suspecting that the man she wanted was his friend (whom he knew under the name of Paris Gareatianuntil they met accidentally in his office, 95 Dearborn street, last Friday afternoon.

Leonidas saw the sad eyes of his sweetheart. He heard the sad story of her life during the past year and forgave her.

He was vanquished, without admitting it, for he was born generous.

"I also have suffered," he said, drawing Elene into his arms. "But, come, and let us both endeavor to forget."

They will sail for Paris, whence they will return to the land where Minerva's olive tree grows at the base of the Acropolis and where the imagination soars in the mysterious regions of antiquity.

Paine's Celery Compound

Will Secure for You the Health that Other Medicines Cannot Give.

It Stands First and Highest in Public Estimation.

The tone, character, and quality of the testimonials published in favor of Paine's Celery Compound have firmly established its position in the homes of all intelligent and thoughtful people.

Paine's Celery Compound has always appealed to the sick and suffering with honest statements and solid facts. Some doubters—with honest purpose—have taken the trouble to write to, and in many cases have interviewed the writers of published testimonials. In every case they have been thoroughly satisfied, and convinced that Paine's Celery Compound effected cures that were marvelous, astonishing, and happy.

Paine's Celery Compound claims a field not successfully filled by any other remedy known to medical science. It is the medicine on which the poor, disappointed sufferer can rely after all other medicines fail, when doctors give the patient up as incurable.

To the weak, debilitated, nervous, broken down, and despondent, Paine's Celery Compound gives a new and joyous existence. It strengthens the digestive powers, renews the blood, and acts in the vitalizing, curative, thorough manner that makes it the grandest help to suffering men and women that the world of medicine affords. The best test that can be applied to Paine's Celery Compound is to use it.

THE DAKOTAS.

Fargoans Making Strong Efforts For Saunders' Extradition.

NORTH DAKOTA.

Fargo—Local officials are making out the papers in the case of Forger Saunders to secure his extradition to this state. Saunders was convicted of forgery and escaped jail the night before he was to start to Bismarck to serve a 5-year term. The Canadian authorities held that his was an extraditable case and the papers will be sent by Governor White to the state department at Washington, then to Ottawa and Winnipeg.

The United States court took up the case against Mark Murphy, formerly deputy collector at Portal. Murphy is charged with embezzling United States customs receipts. He was tried at the Bismarck term of court and the jury disagreed. Murphy's friends say he will be able to show a clear record, while the prosecution asserts it has a strong case.

Grafton—The funeral of Rosanna Champagne took place Wednesday. She was a little girl and a pupil at the Chase school. On Saturday she fell from a swing and shortly afterwards was taken with violent pain in the internal regions. The case was diagnosed as intussception of the bowels. An operation was suggested, but not performed until Monday morning. About a foot of the intestine was found to be gangrenous and was removed, but the little one was unable to withstand the shock.

SOUTH DAKOTA.

Faulkton—P. H. O'Neil, one of the largest cattle dealers in the state, has 2500 head of cattle on his various ranches in the county and sold 1800 head of top-graders to Henry Ruwe, of Moneta, Iowa, for $95,000.

W. B. Redfurn & Son have sold their large mercantile business to C. M. Whitney & Son, pioneer farmers of this place. Mr. Whitney, however, has had experience in this line of business.

On June 2 Faulkton will vote on a bond proposition for the purpose of sinking another artesian well.

Sioux Falls—It is announced by the local committee which has charge of the arrangements for the entertainment of those who will be in the city to attend the great saengerfest of the Northwestern Scandinavian Singers' association to be held in Sioux Falls, July 11 to 13, that arrangements have been made whereby Gustav Holmquist, of Chicago, the famous basso soloist, will be present. Last year at the New York Chautauqua he carried immense audiences by storm.

Brookings—Treasurer Doughty states that Brookings county will pay off its jail bonds July 1. The bonds were sold five years ago and made payable either in five or ten years. The county has more money than it knows what to do with, and will take up the bonds, thus leaving the county free from debt.

FAMINE IN RUSSIA.

Situation of Peasants Continues to Grow Worse.

St. Petersburg, May 29.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—The situation of the famine stricken peasants continues to grow worse. In 241 villages of the Minzelinsk district, government of Cufa, 6815 cases of scurvy were officially recorded on April 14, as compared with 2723 cases reported on March 14. This is only a sample of existing conditions in other famine districts. Siberian merchants are loudly complaining that Manchuria and adjacent parts of Siberia are flooded with American, German, Japanese and other foreign goods, and that Russian trade is disappearing. Energetic measures are demanded, particularly a frontier guard sufficient to prevent smuggling.

About 300,000 poods of Russian petroleum have been shipped to Christiana, Norway, where American oil has heretofore monopolized the market.

Menominee—August La Canne, Jr., 6 years old, was accidentally shot Wednesday forenoon by Joe La Canne, a boy about the same age and a cousin of August, in a room with the father, brothers and sisters. The father had been shooting at a cat with a shotgun and laid the weapon on a chair and asked his wife to clean it. Joe picked up the gun and it went off, but no one knows just how. The charge entered the breast of August, who fell behind the stove without a cry. He died inside of a minute, the charge passing through his body.

Bessemer—Peter Schifka, a farmer living a mile from town, is lying at death's door as a result of an attempt at suicide. He loaded his rifle, and, taking off his shoes, placed the muzzle of the gun under his chin and pulled the trigger with his toes. The charge shattered his jaw bone and blew off one side of his face and three fingers of the hand which held the muzzle in place. He fought with the doctors until he was exhausted in his efforts to prevent medical attention.

Sault Ste. Marie—The council passed a resolution to call a special election June 5 for the purpose of submitting a proposition to bond for $200,000 to meet the requirements for public improvements. The city is growing so rapidly that the ordinary income is inadequate to meet the demands for public utilities.

Marquette—The general committee in charge of the arrangements for the big state convention of Maccabees to be held here in June has devised a plan whereby the rush for accommodations will be avoided. Sub-committees are to be sent to the straits, 175 miles away, and to other connecting points, and will return on the special and regular trains conveying the visitors. On the way to Marquette the strangers will be assigned to the quarters at which they will be entertained, with full directions as to locality, so that on their arrival they and the reception committees at the station will know just where they are to go.

Manistique—Fire Wednesday totally destroyed the shingle and tie mill of the White Marble Lime company and the alcohol and acetate of lime plant of the Burrell Chemical company. The loss is placed at $125,000, of which the lime company loses $25,000 and the chemical company $100,000. Both are insured.

LUMBER RATE

From Minnesota Transfer to Chicago Is Cut.

St. Paul, May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Burlington, Northwestern, Milwaukee & Great Western roads have announced for immediate application an 8-cent rate on Pacific coast lumber from Minnesota transfer to Chicago. This is a reduction from the 10-cent rate so long in effect, and which some of the Minneapolis-Chicago lines repeatedly refused to cut down.

WAS A SOLDIER.

Father Olmstead Saw Service In the Civil War.

Notre Dame, Ind., May 29.—Rev. William A. Olmstead, of Notre Dame university, who is to be the orator of the day at the dedication of the soldiers' and sailors' monument in New York city tomorrow, has had a remarkable history. He is a native of New York and commanded the Fifty-ninth veteran infantry, made up of what was left of the famous Forty-second regiment, the Eighty-second New York volunteers, and the Second state militia. Promoted to brigadier general, he commanded the First brigade, Second division, of Gen. Hancock's Second Army corps. This famous brigade was made up of fighting regiments, each having been engaged in all the battles of the Army of the Potomac, from Balls Bluff to the surrender of Lee.

Father Olmstead, who became a priest only a few years ago, was brevetted a major general of volunteers shortly after the war and has always been prominent in G. A. R. circles.

AMERICANS PREFERRED

In Carrying Supplies to the Philippines.

Washington, May 29.—An important bill bearing on Northwestern interests has been ordered favorably reported by the committee on merchant marine and fisheries. Congressman F. C. Stevens has been authorized to write the report, which will grant American ships a preference in shipping government supplies to the Philippines.

Heretofore the government transports have been entirely unable to carry supplies to our army and navy and civilians in the islands. The transportation therefore has been picked up by foreign tramp steamers in the Atlantic service which carry supplies at a rate lower than American steamers can make.

Congressman Jones, of the state of Washington, presented the bill which is favorable providing that American steamers be given the preference, provided they will not charge above 10 per cent more than vessels carrying a foreign flag. Speaking of this report Mr. Stevens said:

"If our bill passes it will be of material benefit to the Pacific ocean trade and Northwestern interests generally. Purchases will be made contiguous to Puget sound shipping ports, and the supplies which have been purchased in Eastern and Southern markets will go West.

"Another feature of the bill is that it will result in a new Northern line of steamers sailing from Seattle to the Orient, and the guaranty of government business will assist in making the line profitable for Western interests."

DECISION

Which Will Cost Insurance Company $50,000.

New York, May 29.—According to a decision of Surrogate Silkman, of Westchester county, filed at White Plains, the New York Life Insurance and Trust company, which is executor of the estate of the late Charles Saxer, of the town of Rye, it will have to regain 500 shares of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad company stocks, which it sold in violation of the provisions of the will of the testator. The stock was sold by the company a few days previous to the Spanish-American war in 1898 for about $8 a share. The stock is now rated in the market at something like 130, and by the decision of Surrogate Silkman, if it is upheld, the trust company in regaining the stock or its equivalent will lose in the neighborhood of $50,000 by the transaction.

Mr. Saxer for many years was janitor of the old life insurance company, and while there he was advised to buy the railroad stock mentioned. He saved all his wages that he could spare, and in March, 1882, he bought fifty shares; then in 1883 he purchased fifty shares more, and in 1885 he bought 400 shares, and at the time of his death he owned 600 shares of the stock. He purchased the stock at prices ranging from 23¼ to 24½, and ever since then its value has been advancing, so that at the time of his death he was worth a small fortune.

DEMOCRATS.

Call For County Convention Decided On--- Date, June 21.

The St. Louis county Democratic committee met at the St. Louis hotel last night and arranged to call the Democratic county convention to be held June 21 for the purpose of choosing delegates to the state convention, to be held in St. Paul June 25.

The primaries were fixed for Thursday evening, June 19, between 7 and 8 o'clock. The basis of representation will be one delegate for each 100 votes or fraction thereof cast for John Lind in 1900. St. Louis county will send forty-five delegates to the state convention.

The committee did not discuss local politics to any extent, but there was some inquiry as to whether anybody had heard of any Democratic candidates for any of the local offices. Nobody appeared to be in a position to report anything along that line, however.

NOT DYING.

Trout In the Nipigon River Are All Healthy.

Information has been received here that official denial has been made of the report that the trout in the Nipigon river and lake were dying by the hundreds from some mysterious disease.

It is announced that Fishery Overseer McKirdy of the Nipigon declares that the report, which is said to have been published here, is absolutely without foundation, and declares it is a slander that may prevent many people from enjoying anticipated sport on these famous trout waters this season.

Mr. McKirdy says that as a matter of fact trout fishing on the Nipigon this season has been fine, and he looks for a continuance of the sport all summer.

The story is said to have originated in one of the papers at the Soo.

UNSIGHTLY.

Suggestion That "For Sale" Signs Should Be Abolished.

"Down in Minneapolis," said a real estate man yesterday afternoon, "the real estate dealers are agitating the abolition of 'for sale' signs, and it strikes me as a mighty good idea, and one that Duluth would do well to follow.

"They are unsightly, and in a city of nice green lawns, well shaded with beautiful trees, it is a shame to see those hideous signs scattered about, each one of them a blot on the landscape. Their use could be done away with without any loss to anybody, and as a matter of city pride they should be cleaned out.

"The lots that are sold through the signs are few and far between. The proper way to buy a lot is for the prospective buyer to go to the proper real estate agent, if he does not know of a lot that he wants particularly, and look over his list. The agent will show him the property, and be glad to do it. They all advertise in the newspapers, and hints as to where to make inquiries can always be gained from those advertisements.

"The 'for sale' signs are nothing but a nuisance and an eye-sore, and I hope the movement to do away with them, which has been well started in Minneapolis and many other cities, will be taken up here."

BAD ROADS.

Superiorites Talk Over Plans For Improving Situation.

Former Mayor C. S. Starkweather of West Superior, now popularly known as "Farmer" Starkweather, of South Range, Wis., appeared before the Hundred Thousand club, in West Superior, last evening, bestowed a general roast on the property owners of that city for demanding retrenchment and delaying the movement for better roads, and declared that unless the matter of better county roads is attended to he will transfer his base of supplies from Superior to Duluth. Mr. Starkweather said that he started from his farm to West Superior with a load of baled hay, but was compelled to go back to his home because the roads into the city were impassable.

One of the remedies proposed at the meeting of the club last evening was the building of four macadamized roads in the county, one leading out from Grand avenue, another out Bardon avenue, a third from South Superior to Foxboro, and a fourth from Old Superior to Poplar. It was estimated that the cost of the roads would be about $75,000, or less than 10 cents an acre upon the lands of the county.

IS SIGNED.

Gov. Van Sant Completes the Appointment of Mrs. Stevens.

Governor Van Sant yesterday afternoon signed the appointment of Mrs. G. Fred Stevens as surveyor general of logs and lumber in the Duluth district, to fill out the unexpired term of her late husband.

The appointment was mailed yesterday, and it arrived today, and the necessary formalities were carried out. Yesterday afternoon the governor called up S. C. Jackson, of this city, and notified him that he had made the appointment, and asked him to look after the execution of the papers accompanying the appointment.

Mrs. Stevens will be the only woman in the United States occupying such a position. It is understood that the force that served Mr. Stevens will be continued, and that the work will be continued uninterruptedly in the splendidly organized manner in which Mr. Stevens directed it.

The appointment of Mrs. Stevens has been universally commended throughout the city, in all parties and all factions. Mrs. Stevens is said to be a woman of much tact and judgment, and it is fully expected that her conduct of the office will be as perfect as that of her husband and predecessor.

Hauling Poles.

For the past few nights the street railway company has been working a large crew all night hauling the new trolley wire poles that are to replace the mid-road poles on the Woodland and East Fourth street line. The poles are procured from the country back of the West End and are dumped at Twentieth avenue west, where they are loaded on cars and hauled to Woodland. The poles will be placed at the sides of the road instead of in the middle.

IS DONE QUICKLY

Speedy Job of Driving On Pigeon River By Duluth Company.

Thirty Hours to Make a Distance of Sixty Miles.

Log Towing on North Shore Is of Immense Proportions.

One of the most quickly accomplished drives in this lumbering country is that of Alger, Smith & Co., on Pigeon river, which forms the lower part of the international boundary of Minnesota. The company is logging at various points along the river and its tributaries. The banking place most remote from the bay that forms the mouth of Pigeon river is sixty miles distant. It is said that the last leg in the drive when it is broken into the water takes about thirty hours to make the distance. When it is known that the usual speed of towing rafts of logs on Lake Superior, when a powerful tug is used, is only about a mile or a mile and a quarter an hour, the speed at which the Alger-Smith logs unaided come down stream can be realized.

The Alger-Smith drive will not begin much before July 1. The rollways are not broken in until sufficient head of water accumulates in the four dams that have been built on the river to thoroughly flush all the rapids when released for a sufficient period to carry the logs to the mouth.

Towing of logs cut from the north shore of Lake Superior is being gotten down to a scientific basis now that the operations along the shore are assuming such immense proportions. By way of conveying an adequate conception of the amonut of money that is being expended in logging down the shore, chiefly by three large concerns, it is said one of these three has $300,000 invested in logs that now lie in rollways at its sluicing works. This does not represent all of the timber output of the season, either, for a great many logs have been towed, and all are not at the sluicing grounds.

There have been numerous instances where the dargest part of a raft has been lost in being gotten away from the north shore during a northeast gale. Nobody fears a nor'wester particularly, because while it may be severe enough to make delay, it blows the raft away from the rocky beach instead of crashing it up against the shore and breaking it up. More often half or quarter of the pieces of timber have been lost before the raft was filled and towed away from the beach to a place of safety in mid lake. The original loss is not a net one, however, for tugs are immediately sent along the beach to pick up the stray logs. The dangerous wind always carries the timber up on the shore, though it may sweep some of the pieces as far as Big Bay, fifty to one hundred miles northeast of the banking gyounds where the raft broke up before it goes ashore hard enought to stick until the owners come along. Then the lumbermen operate largely on the shore have a salving association, with tugs out to pick up stray logs. This effects a further saving from the net loss, so that when the first estimate of a loss by the breaking up of a raft down the north shore is heard of, it represents much more than the ultimate loss by the accident.

Some large operators have figured the average loss in towing from the north shore at 10 per cent. One firm is said to have reduced this loss from the rafts towed last season to 1 per cent, and it is believed that it will be able to reduce it this season to a half of 1 per cent. The saving is said to have been accomplished by the application of the same methods by which the exact loss is determined to the towing. A good rafting location and facilities are owned by the concern. At first, the towing was done by contract concerns. One outside tug that was hired last season struck some bad weather and lost nearly a quarter of its raft. Then a big tug was bought, and particular attention was paid to the size and quality of boomsticks that were provided, while an effort was made to chain them together with more strength than had been attained by other outfits. The result was that the tug is powerful enough to hold her raft off the shore in almost any sore of a blow, and the boomsticks are so large, strong and stiff that the logs stay within them instead of slopping over on the sea or breaking out with a poorly held chain. A great many other ideal conditions have been carried out in the plan, it is said, at great expense, which, however, is said to have been more than saved on one raft.

On four rafts towed this season by one firm during weather that was largely bad not a single stick is said to have been lost from the raft.

COLLEGE COMPLEXIONS.

Can Be Ruined By Coffee.

Nothing so surely mars a woman's complexion as coffee drinking. A young college girl of Hyattsville, Md., says: "I never drank coffee up to the time I went to college, and as long as you are not going to publish my name, will admit that I was proud of my pink and white complexion, but for some reason I began drinking coffee at school, and when vacation came I looked like a wreck. Was extremely nervous and my face hollow and sallow.

"All my friends said college life had been too much for me. After questioning me about my diet, mother gave me a cup of strong, rich coffee at breakfast, although formerly she had objected to the habit, but the secret came out in a few weeks, when everybody began to comment on my improved looks and spirits. She said she had been steadily giving me Postum Food Coffee and I did not know it.

"My color came back, much to my delight, and I was fully restored to health. I will return to college without the slightest fear of losing ground, for I know exactly where the trouble lies.

"Mother says the first time she had Postum made no one would drink it, for it was pale and watery, but the next day she did not trust to the cook, but examined the directions and made it herself. She found the cook had just let it come to the boiling point and then served it, and it was tasteless, but the beverage made according to directions, by proper boiling, is delicious and has a remarkable 'taste for more.' One cup is seldom enough for father now.

"I have a young lady friend who suffered several years from neuralgia and headache, obtaining only temporary relief from medicines. Her sister finally persuaded her to leave off coffee and use Postum. She is now very pronounced in her views as to coffee. Says it was the one thing responsible for her condition, for she is now well and the headaches and neuralgia are things of the past. Please do not publish my name." Name can be given by Postum company, Battle Creek, Mich.

Mme. Yale's Hair Tonic.

The first and only discovery in the history of chemistry known to turn gray hair back to its natural and original color without dye. It acts on the natural live coloring matter of the hair, increasing and giving it circulation. It tones up the debilitated nerve force and the torpid glands to a healthy reaction, curing all diseases of the scalp. It creates a luxuriant growth, stops hair falling in from twenty-four hours to one week. It softens the hair when harsh or dry; contains no greasy matter, sulphur or lead, or any other injurious or unpleasant substance. Permanently cures dandruff.

CHANGE MADE

Blackened Mortar Will Improve Appearance of Wolvin Building.

The original plan for making up the brick work on the new Wolvin building has been abandoned, and all the pressed brick that has been laid is now being gone over with black marking mortar. It was found that the fine gray brick that was being used for the exterior walls above the second story, with only brick of a slightly darker tint for trimmings and with white marking the outline of the bricks, presented too unrelieved a surface, as compared with the Board of Trade building across the street. It was decided, therefore to make an experiment with black marking, and this has made such a great improvement that the idea will be carried out in the rest of the construction. The mortar will be mixed with a black oil paint, in place of the lamp black mixture that was employed in masonry of this character years ago.

The Wolvin building attracts great admiring attention from strangers in the city, as well as from people who pass it every day. It is looked upon as in many ways the best office building that has been erected in the Northwest as yet. The cupola or tower on the roof will be used in connection with the blue print work of the engineering departments of the Steel corporation.

Cut Over Land Dealers Busy With Farmers Arriving Here.

Men and companies who deal in cut-over farm lands are being kept pretty busy these days attending to the arrival of farmers from Iowa and southern Minnesota who are looking for new farming locations. Of course, there are many arrivals from other parts of the country, but the largest proportion of the native immigrants are from the country just to the south of the newer parts of the Northwest.

When the intending purchaser arrives he is impressed with the general location of all the lands that are offered for sale, with respect to Duluth and other markets. Then he is taken out over the lands by experienced cruisers, who are able to point out all the natural conditions that indicate valuable soil. The growth of timber particularly if it is hardwood or hemlock, is taken as a great indication of the reproducing qualities of the soil once it is cultivated.

Land men say that while there has been a large influx of land seekers during the few weeks of spring weather, they look for a much larger invasion after the first of the month. At that time spring work in the older country at home will be out of the way, and there will be better weather for sowing the lands here.

PUBLIC BUILDINGS.

Appropriation For Superior Increased In Conference.

Washington, May 29.—The Mercer omnibus public building bill has been agreed to in conference. The bill carried $15,8[illegible]-000 when it left the house. The senate added $3,200,000. In conference the senate amendments were reduced about $1,200,000. Among the items in controversy as finally settled are the following: Crookston, Minn., site, $4000; Stillwater, Minn., increased to $60,000; Grand Forks, N. D., increased to $165,000; Superior, Wis., increased to $225,000; Baraboo, Wis., increased $[illegible],000.

BRIDGE IS DAMAGED

Steamer Houghton of Steel Fleet Hits Interstate Bridge.

Crashes Through Railway and Sidewalk to Car Track.

The steamer Douglas Houghton, of the Bessemer fleet, struck the draw at the interstate bridge, shortly after 6 o'clock last evening, and damaged the bridge to the extent of about $150.

The Houghton, which is one of the largest of the lake carriers, was ore laden and had passed through the Northern Pacific draw on its way out of the harbor. It is claimed by the vesselmen that the crew operating the interstate draw did not begin to open it until the Houghton was within about 150 feet. An effort was made to stop the boat, but she had gained such momentum that her speed could only be checked. The collision occurred, fortunately, while the draw was swinging away from the boat, or the bridge would have been put out of commission for a considerable time.

The bow of the Houghton crashed through the steel work, the railings and the sidewalk to the street railway track. Street railway traffic was delayed for a short time until the broken timbers could be cut away. The track was uninjured.

So far as can be learned the Houghton was not damaged to any serious extent. The injury to the bridge did not prevent its operation as usual last evening.

MEMORY HONORED.

Samaritans Deplore the Death of G. Fred Stevens.

At a meeting of Alpha council No. 1 of Modern Samaritans, William B. Henderson, as G. S. of the council, submitted the following:

"The restless, busy scenes of life are almost daily interrupted by the solemn funeral procession. At this time we all feel called upon to suspend the usual business of the council and dedicate the hour to the memory of one of our departed neighbors, G. Fred Stevens. Only a few weeks ago he was here with us, then in the full vigor of manhood, in the flood-time of health, and seemingly abounding in the ambitions of life, but tonight the reverberations of the death knell which summoned him into the great eternity beyond reminds us all of the uncertainty of life, and that as it is tonight with him, so must be sooner or later with us all.

"It is fitting, in view of the high esteem in which our departed neighbor was held, not only by the members of this council, but by every individual in this city, that we should give expression to our high esteem of his worth as a neighbor, friend and citizen, and to this end I now appoint A. R. MacDonald, H. A. Wing and J. A. McCune as a committee to formulate in apt words an expression of the views of all the members of this council on the exalted life and character of our departed neighbor."

The committee reported as follows:

"To the Good Samaritan Officers and Members of Alpha Council No. 1, Modern Samaritans:

"This is one of the rare occasions when truth is eulogy and the language of panegyric does not measure the just meed of appreciation due to deserving worth.

"G. Fred Stevens was a frank, honest, intelligent, sincere and generous man; a man of more than ordinary merit, official determination and active purposes, intent on making the world better for his having lived in it. His gentlemanly bearing won for him friends in every circle. His candor, equanimity and sterling integrity commanded the admiration and respect of all with whom he came in contact, both in private and public life. In the public position which he held at the time of his demise he was always conspicuous for ability, integrity and devotion to duty. It is not for us to enter the domestic circle and lift the veil that now envelops his sorrowing family, but if human sympathy can ever avail to alleviate the pangs of irreparable bereavement, these mourning ones may remember that they are encircled with the heartfelt and loving sympathy of every member of this council.

"A. R. MACDONALD,
"H. A. WING.
"J. A. McCUNE.
"Committee."

The sentiments expressed in the report of the committee were unanimously adopted, and the secretary instructed to transmit a copy of the proceedings to the family of the deceased, and also to have the proceedings published in the city papers.

Sideache, Backache, Headache,

And many other aches to which women are peculiarly subject are generally the result of a diseased condition of the womanly organism. When this diseased condition is cured, sideache, backache, headache, etc., are cured also.

Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription establishes regularity, dries the drains which weaken women, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. When these diseases are cured the aches they cause are also cured.

"I will drop you a few lines to-day to let you know that I am feeling well now," writes Miss Annie Stephens, of Belleville, Wood Co., West Va. "I feel like a new woman. I took several bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and of the 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I have no headache now, no backache, and no pain in my side any more. No bearing-down pain any more. I think that there is no medicine like Dr. Pierce's medicine. I thank you very much for what you have done for me—your medicine has done me much good."

The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, a book containing 1008 pages, is given away. Send 21 one-cent stamps for expense of mailing only, for the book in paper covers, or 31 stamps for the volume bound in cloth. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

ECZEMA

COMES FROM THE BLOOD AND NOT THE SKIN

The prevalence of Eczema among the young and old is due to the introduction of poisonous matter in the blood. Those pimples, eruptions and sores upon the face, neck and body are all due to the same cause. It is a waste of time and money to attempt to cure such a condition by doctoring the skin. The seat of the trouble is in the blood and the cause is the blood's impurity. A specific course of MEDERINE will open the natural channels of the system and promote a drainage of the impurities of the blood, which will filter, cleanse and purify it so that no form of eruption upon the skin can appear. MEDERINE is the only Guaranteed Cure for Eczema and all blood impurities. It stands alone today upon its own merits and challenges the world for a specific blood purifier like it. Do not nurse your trouble along. Write MEDERINE REMEDY CO., West Superior, Wis., for their system of treatment. All letters answered.

Extending Free Postal Delivery.

Senator Nelson's bill to extend the privileges of free postal delivery to small communities will be reported upon favorably by the postmaster general. The bill proposes that free delivery shall be given to all cities having a population of 5000, or postal receipts of $5.0 during the last fiscal year prior to its installation. The present law makes the requirement 10,000 population or $10,000 receipts. The records of the department and careful inquiries show that 920 offices will be added to the list at which there is free delivery if the bill proposed by Senator Nelson becomes a law. There are now 951 offices in the United States in which free delivery is established. The recommendation of the postmaster general will contain interesting information that nearly all of the free delivery cities at this time pay their expense almost entirely out of the receipts of drop letters alone. All of the business done in the larger offices is at a clear profit. The question arises as to whether or not it will pay the government to extend free delivery privileges to small communities, where there is every reason to believe the drop letter, or local, business will prove of much less importance. There is no reason why the people in a city having an office that pays its own expenses should not have the privilege of free delivery. It is not necessary that all cities shall be revenue producers for the postoffice department.

Sunday Closing at St. Louis Fair.

"The Sabbath reform bureau" at Washington has scored a point on the local managers of the St. Louis World's fair in having the treasury department hold up all warrants on the treasury on account of the Louisiana Purchase exposition. This is brought about by a section in the exposition bill passed by congress which specifies that the directress shall contract to close the gates of the fair to visitors on Sundays during the whole period of the exposition. The directors have thus far neglected to enter into this contract and the Sunday reformers have brought the matter to a head by inducing the treasury department to withhold payments on the warrants drawn by the national commission, until the local corporation has entered into a contract. The move has been in contemplation for several days, and in the meantime the warrants which have been received from the secretary of the national commission covering minor expenditures have been filed away and not approved. Unless the exposition company enters into the contract indicated the treasury department will not pay the members of the national commission their salaries next month. While it is believed that the exposition company, through its executive committee or board of directors, will promptly enter into the contract required, the present situation will be an embarrassing one for the secretary to the national commission and the members of the commission. The exposition company has not attempted to draw any of the money appropriated thus far and can not do so by the terms of the appropriation until it has expended $10,000,000 on its own account. Unless the contract referred to is drawn, however, treasury officials would refuse payments on any account out of the appropriation of more than $5,000,000 made at the last session of congress. The question is one very easy of solution, and the sooner the exposition people enter into the contract which they know they must make, the sooner the money will be forthcoming.

FARMING NEAR DULUTH.

The companies that deal in farm lands near Duluth report a very gratifying increase in the movement of settlers to this section of the country. They are coming from the southern portion of Minnesota, Iowa and other well settled portions of the country, and will be valuable additions to the population of St. Louis county. They are said to be particularly impressed by the proximity of these farming lands to Duluth and other good markets. This is an advantage which the practical farmer values highly.

As has been heretofore pointed out, the lands in northeastern Minnesota, being so close to good markets, will naturally guarantee to the owners of the same the saving of railway charges and transportation rates, which charges must be paid by farmers farther inland in order to market their products at this very point. Cheap water transportation east, railway transportation north, west and south, serve to give a field for the products of lands in northeastern Minnesota even far greater than the splendid markets locally aforded.

All products find ready sale to the north, to the east, and to the west of Duluth. The demand from the north comes from the lumber camps, and the thousands of people who live in the towns on the iron ranges, a population that consumes but does not produce farm products and whose business is chiefly working in the mines; while the great demand, and one which will ever increase, comes from the cities of the Atlantic seaboard. Northern Minnesota has the advantage of being on the cheapest and shortest highway over the lakes between the West and the East. The farming lands around Duluth possess advantages that are found at few other points in the United States.

AMERICAN INVENTORS.

The fact that on July 1 the force in the patent office at Washington will be increased by the addition of fifty examiners and three new principals is a striking tribute to the American inventors whose ingenuity has required such an increase in the staff of the office with which they do business. Owing to the tremendous boom in the automobile business and the development of the science of wireless telegraphy, the patent office has found it necessary to establish two new divisions in order to properly handle the work connected with these two subjects, and many of the new men will be employed in these departments. The rush of business relating to these two subjects has only been equaled in the past by that occasioned by the bicycle craze, when so many patents for parts of this machine were filed that it was necessary to divide them among half a dozen divisions. The character of the papers filed in connection with inventions relating to wireless telegraphy and automobiles is particularly complex and difficult to handle, requiring considerable time and investigation before they can be disposed of. Consequently the progress in getting them out of the way has been comparatively slow, and the necessity for more help has arisen. At the present time the patents on automobiles are scattered through four or five divisions, one having charge of those relating to gas motors, another having electric motors, and a third having steam motors. A fourth division handles papers relating to the steering and running gear. It is the intention to consolidate all these divisions, so far as it is possible to do so, after July 1, or at least to get under one big section all work relating directly to automobile inventions.

Up to 1895 only fifty patents had been issued under the general heading of horseless carriage, or motor vehicle. Now the number of patents is so large that it is difficult to state it accurately. In the early days of automobiles inventors went to work with the idea of making a complete machine, designing every part of the vehicle. The field was so limited that it was an easy matter to get a patent to cover the whole apparatus. Now the work has advanced to such a stage that only patents on individual devices and improvements can be secured. The officials require a claimant to file a claim for a patent on a specific feature, such as the flues, boilers, running or steering gear. This, of course, makes the total number of claims larger than formerly. At present inventors who are interested in automobiles are paying special attention to the driving apparatus. A great variety of schemes on this line have been developed. Devices for controlling the machine are also given much attention, and next to the actual motor power they are regarded as offering the most fertile field for development. Much ingenuity has been displayed in inventing tires that will stand the strain to which those employed on automobiles are subjected.

No one will begrudge the additional expense of the patent office in its new clerks. They are necessary in a work which fills every true American with pardonable pride.

FOUNDLINGS IN NEW YORK.

On an average of three days in a week a foundling is picked up in the streets of New York, and very few people know or possibly even care what becomes of these little waifs. The streets of the metropolis produce annually over one hundred of these helpless infants, wrapped in a blanket or quilt and left in an area vestibule or dock shed. These are babies regarded by the charities people as real foundlings. According to Robert E. Macalarney in May Ainslie's, the term "foundling" as used by the average person is a misnomer. The real foundling is a child under five months, minus the slightest clue of parentage. Four years ago all of New York's foundlings were first taken to Bellevue hospital, and then to the infant asylum, on Randall's island. On the island, despite the best of care and nursing, the waifs died like flies. The mortality leaped up the scale until it reached almost 100 per cent. The foundlings were first rescued, then practically annihilated. Some years it was a bit better, and some years it was a bit worse. It was this horrifying infant mortality that finally caused an investigation by a joint committee from the State Charities association and the Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor. A change was effected. It was decided that thereafter the babies should be taken to Bellevue and partially reconstructed, but from Bellevue they should go to individual homes for nursing, the homes to be supervised and selected by special agents employed for that sole purpose. The first report under the change was made in 1899. It showed that the death rate had fallen to 55 9-10 per cent. The second report, in 1900, showed a still further decrease to 31 1-10 per cent. At the present time the percentage of foundling deaths is below 15 per cent.

The first stopping-place in the career of the foundling is the police station. From the police station the foundling is hurried to Bellevue, where it begins life in earnest. The first thing done for the baby is to name it, and the next to see whether it shall be reared in the Protestant or Catholic faith. Strict alternation is the rule at Bellevue. Protestant-Catholic-Protestant -Catholic is the rotation, unvarying, immutable. Now and then, as might be expected, the smudge of features upon the infant's face indicates that he is of Hebraic blood; but the hospital rule knows no deviations, and Catholic or Protestant the child will be reared. Until he is weaned, his career is mapped out. It consists simply of making up for lost time and becoming well and happy. When the foundling is weaned he is ready for inspection and possible adoption.

Perhaps the greatest difficulty with which the state charities and guild agents have to contend is the convincing of desirable foster-parents that the real foundling is not tainted either with disease or with criminal instincts. The very word foundling seems to accentuate this impression. As a matter of fact, 90 per cent of the foundlings are the possessors of indubitably good constitutions. And as for inherited criminal instincts, the agents poohpooh the theory that the parents of the average foundling are habitual criminals. No infant that develops the slightest physical taint by the time it reaches the age of 2 years, the term which must expire before it may be legally adopted, is allowed to remain with its foster-parents. It is sent to the hospital for diseased children on Randall's island, where it remains.

It is pleasing to learn that the little waifs cast adrift are so well cared for and that their future will be well provide for. It is a charity worthy of the American people.

In respect to one industry the English are not to be frightened by threats of an American invasion. The visits to London of the heads of four important New York houses leads the London Chronicle to observe: "Whatever may be the case with the shipping trust, we need not be anxious about our book trade. American publishers come here with no larger purpose than to find likely English works for publication on the other side." The efforts at invading the English field so far made have been very slight indeed.

The only adequate way of dealing with the general in command of the army, says the Springfield Republican, is to follow the Chinese plan and give him an assortment of robes to be taken off by way of disgrace. Then, instead of telling Gen Miles, "The office boy will now do your work, and do it better," the president would simply ask the doughty general to send in his yellow shirt by return post. The Chinese have a fine civilization.

A rare occurrence is the complete transference of a religious society from one denomination to another, such as has happened at Coytesville, N. J., where a Congregationalist body of long standing has appealed as a whole to be received into the Protestant Episcopal church, and has been accepted. The society pays back to the Congregational building society the money expended for the property.

Lord Rosebery has repudiated the Gladstonian tradition so far as Irish home rule and imperialism are concerned, but he decides to hang on to free trade. On the "bread tax" issue the Liberal party now presents a solid front, and on this issue it may win. The bread tax touches the people's pockets.

The administration organs that praised the verdict of the court-martial in the cases of Maj. Waller and Lieut. Day, are now perspiring in an attempt to also praise Gen. Chaffee's disapproval of the findings of the court-martial and at the same time appear consistent. The life of an organ is not happy one.

Chicago will have to hustle to keep up with St. Louis. The latter city is now claiming that a meteor which fell there a few days ago was hurled through space from Mount Pelee. The volcano evidently desired to have its exhibit in time for the world's fair.

The census of 1900 gave Chicago a population of 1,698,575, and the city directory for 1902 fixes the number of its inhabitants at 2,149,000. The directory man always was modest.

A fall of snow in the northern part of New York state is reported. And yet there are some people who kick about the climate in the vicinity of Lake Superior.

Senator Gallinger's proposition to stop lynching by legislation is probably well meant but it would not be more successful than prohibition in Maine.

The Light of The Hacienda

By Blanche Maude Heywood.

(Copyright, 1902, by W. R. Hearst.)

Alice Francisco was vexed, and she made no attempt to hide it.

"I never have anything left to myself, not even an hour," she said. "I was going to try my new horse this afternoon, and Ben must needs spoil it all by bringing down Larry Kane—as if any girl could perfer a man to a horse on such a glorious day as this, with the wind blowing in from the sea. I wonder if all brothers are as hopelessly stupid as Ben. I hate to be civil—"

"You are always hating something, sweet Alice," interrupted Ben Francisco, as the two men came into the room and caught her last words. "But Larry will forgive you anything if you don't hate him. He understands your gentle sex and is to their faults a little blind, to their virtues very kind, that is why he is so popular with them."

"I wonder how any man can justify himself for being so popular," flashed back the girl. Larry Kane shook his tawny head and laughed.

"Ben's trying to humbug you, Miss Francisco," he said, "I do not understand women. I like them—"

"A woman will forgive a man who does not understand her, but never one who does not like her," she answered, and gathered up the skirt of her gown, darted out through the shrubbery, and up the long hotel veranda.

"Alice is a queer girl," said Ben, "awfully hard to manage. I am like our American mother, but Alice is all Spanish, like our dear father. The Anglo-Saxon strain in our blood has absolutely passed her by," but Larry Kane did not answer. He remained thoughtful and silent.

When they met that night in the great reception room Alice Francisco seemed in the gayest spirits. Larry Kane looked at her from the opposite side of the room and thought how her yellow gown brought out her splendid dark beauty. Her black hair was full of purple shadows. She was like a glowing tropical blossom.

"But woe," he said, "to the hand that bruises that blossom." She attracted and she puzzled him, and he turned away with a sigh.

Outside of the pale of light and beauty in the dark shadow of the night stood another man. He leaned forward, and the moon threw his long shadow over the grass; then, as if, drawn with irresistible force, he advanced rapidly to the nearest window, and, shading his face, stood looking in. Beseechingly and hopelessly he studied the face of Alice Francisco.

"A little Eden of love and happiness," he said, "and I—I am the serpent who cannot enter it. She has forgotten the home of her fathers, the land of the palm and the desert, of soft winds and flowers and love—that fair country that lies at the foot of the Sierras. O, Light of the Hacienda, thou hast even forgotten me—Manuel, thy lover!"

Did the music ring true tonight? Somehow it did not seem so to Alice Francisco. But Larry Kane was coming toward her, were there not subs in Weber's wild tunes He was going to ask her to dance. She stepped through the low window into the conservatory and stood under the palm tree. He quickened his steps.

A gust of wind swept through the room, it bent the palm tree till its great leaves shook and quivered; it touched the girl's face and burned into it like the hot wave of air that rises from the arid desert of Arizona, that lies throbbing and palpitating under the pitiless semi-tropical sun. It stayed the footsteps of Larry Kane.

To the utter confusion of the girl a long stretch of dry sandy country opened between her and him. Sands—sands everywhere. What follies did they lie over? Skeletons of hopes and fears of loves, hidden away from the world.

In all that expanse of shifting sand there was but one little spot of greenness. Through it ran a stream of water, and it nourished the tropical loveliness, and gave to it flowers, the great palm trees, and trailing pepper trees, and in those pepper trees sat a pair of love birds side by side, and they sang of love—love, all day long they sang of love—and under the tree beside the water sat a girl with eyes like the blue sky, and her white bosom gleamed in the sunlight, and over it fell her long fair hair.

At her side knelt a man, and the girl smiled into the face of the man. Alice Francisco felt and knew that the man loved the girl, even before he raised his face to hers, and then—then she saw that the man kneeling there was Larry Kane —the lover of many women, the man who had dared to raise his ambitious eyes to her, while his real love was that fair-haired girl beside that desert stream.

Just outside in the desert sands was another girl, with her eyes fixed on the happy pair. She looked at the girl and gave a start, her excitement was so great that she could hardly stand, for, mystery of all mysteries, that girl was herself, in another gown in her own country, but truly, Alice Francisco herself, and she lay on that far away desert in sight of those happy lovers and that stream of living water, gasping, dying of thirst. Back in the distance she could see the outlines of her father's hacienda. She could even hear the rustle of the fig trees, but she could not creep through the sand to them. For she who had been the "Light of the Hacienda" lay there dying. Her parched lips moved, and the voice that cried out for water was her own.

A man with a brown face and eyes like midnight came and bent over that other self of hers. How his face showed out under those desert skies. Ah! God, that man was Manuel. She blushed at the discovery and her lips whispered his name lovingly. Then he dashed past those happy lovers to bring her water—but he had no cup, he could not get the water.

Ah! Mercy of mercies! He was filling his hat. She saw him run back and hold up the hat. Yes, she even saw her own face reflected in the water as the girl drank of the water—and she saw no more. The wind died out of the palm tree.

But there in the conservatory, right before her and Larry Kane, stood the girl of the desert. Her fair hair was caught in a knot and falling loose again and she held out her hands to Larry Kane and in a voice of melting sweetness said:

"Have you forgotten that you love me?"

Alice Francisco knew that, trifle how he might, Larry Kane was thinking this night of that girl with the fair hair whom he loved and who loved him, thinking of her so intensely that her image was flashed between them.

The music suddenly ceased, but she did not know it. Before her eyes were dizzy little points of light—her head swam—she saw nothing, she thought nothing but Manuel, Manuel. She forgot were she was. She stepped out into the moonlight.

"Manuel—I am going mad—mad for you," she wailed, but what dark object was that standing in her path?

"A miracle," she cried. "It is Manuel—my Manuel!"

"Yes, my little dove," he answered. "This night the world begins again for us—smile, smile little one for the Light of the Hacienda, the light of my heart has come back to me."

Two Valorous Deeds.

Washington Post: Capt. Chadwick permits it to be understood that he was fairly aching to bombard Havana the very first week of the war with Spain and Hon. John D. Long confirms the statement, but adds that he thinks the action of the navy department in forbidding the attack was vindicated by subsequent events. In view of Capt. Chadwick's valorous achievement in the bombarding line at San Juan and Matanzas, we feel that the former secretary of the navy is fully justified in landing upon that conclusion.

AT THE HOTELS

"Explorations during the past six months on the Kanawha mine property at Biwabik," said W. W. Browne, of that place, at the McKay this morning, "prove how little is known about the Mesaba range formation by mining men after ten years' experience in development and operation on it. It had always been supposed before Joseph Sellwood took the Hale and Kanawha that they were small mines of poor ore. The Hale was one of the first, if not the first, properties from which ore was shipped at Biwabik and it has figured in the business in some way ever since. Last fall explorations in the form of additional test pits were begun on the Kanawha, and it is said that the results at seventy-five feet in depth have proved that there is more ore on the property in the new discoveries than it was ever dreamed existed, and that it is of a very good quality. I understand that Mr. Sellwood had the same experience on a property on one of the old ranges, where he took a mine that was popularly supposed to be worked out, and by additional explorations found a larger body of rich ore than had been taken out in the first place.

"The Biwabik mine is shipping, though not at its maximum, or near it. it is employing about 150 men. The Hale-Kanawha and the Duluth, the latter of which is a steel corporation property, are both shipping and employing about eighty-five men each."

Capt. M. L. Fay and Capt. James Trezona, of Virginia, are at the St. Louis. Capt. Fay said this morning that the Laura mine, which he has developed on one of the Day forties, would be ready to begin shipping in about a week. The Winnifred, the other Day forty, will be in shape for shipping in about thirty days. "However," the captain added, "I can't say that either one will begin shipping at that time. I haven't sold any of the ore from either property, and of course shall not begin shipping until the ore is disposed of."

Capt. Trezona is a member of the famous family of mine superintendents. He has had charge of the development of the new Oliver-Snyder mine, and after having encountered considerable difficulty that was not looked for in the beginning, has the mine practically ready to begin shipping operations. The first shaft that was put down bottomed in sand through which water seeped in large volumes. It was finally decided to use this as a pumping shaft and sink a second shaft which had not been intended to put down just yet this shaft reached ore all right, and no trouble was had with water. It is said to be doubtful, however, if the Oliver-Snyder people will order shipments begun right away.

Just Before the Crack of Doom.

Philadelphia Ledger: A singular phase of human nature is shown by the private letters from Martinique written before the eruption, and now being published. It is almost inconceivable how people can look threatening death in the face and speak so calmly of it. Not all of the writers were residents of volcanic countries and familiar with their phenomena; many were visitors and it would be naturally expected that these, at least, would be badly frightened and anxious to get away from such a dangerous looking place, but they wrote as if, while contemplating the possibility of destruction, they did not believe it would come and so remained, apparently, calm and unmoved by the volcano's demonstrations until the final catastrophe overtook them. It almost seems as if the first effects of the coming eruption would paralyze the sensibilities of the people.

A Senseless Affair.

He was a wireless politician—
She was a thoughtless maid—
Out on the grassless lawn together,
Under the treeless shade,
Playing a game of tieless tennis,
This, with a bounceless ball—
When from the glassless hotel window
Echoed a soundless call.

Then through the pathless walk they ambled,
Each with a stepless gait,
Into the flyless room for dining;
Each to a foodless plate;
Down in a seatless chair she fluttered,
He to a chairless seat.
"Ah, what a tasteless taste!" he muttered;
"Oh, for a biteless eat!"

First, 'twas a meatless steak they ordered;
Then tried a crustless pie;
Next o'er an iceless ice they dallied,
Each with a blinkless eye.
Ah, what an endless end we're reaching—
End of this worldless wreck—
He, with a centless dollar, settled
All of the payless check!

Reflections of a Bachelor.

Going into politics means going out of everything else.

The next proudest thing to being a mother for most women is being an aunt.

The longer a man argues to make a woman see the reason of a thing the surer she is to trust her instinct about it.

Old Age Pension Scheme.

Boston Transcript: Another contribution to the growing list of old age pension plans comes from the Metropolitan Traction company, of New York city, which has a commendable scheme in operation for pensioning its aged and infirm employes. As the 15,000 men now in the employ of the country were engaged on the grounds of character, health and ineasy for the management to introduce the telligence, it has been correspondingly reform. According to the provisions, employes between the ages of 65 and 70 may rethre at any time after twenty-five years' service. They receive a pension in proportion to length of service, varying from 25 to 40 per cent of the average annual wages for the ten previous years. Beneficiaries under the system, it should be noted, are not required to contribute to the fund, the necessary amount being appropriated each year by the company.

EVOLUTION OF POOR LO.

Lo! the poor Indian whose untutored mind
In clouds once saw the face of God on high
And heard His voice in every passing wind,
And in the great sun saw His blazing eye,
He isn't that way any more; he's not
Untutored now to any marked degree;
In mingling with the paleface hordes he's caught
Well onto things. Has grasped the golden key
And op'd the gate to learing's wondrous path
And learned a head of things—that's what he hath!

No longer doth he yearn for ruddy gore,
For flashing tomahawks and gleaming blades,
For scenes of battle as in days of yore,
For paleface hair of varied lengths and shades.
No longer doth he decorate his face
With hideous designs, nor doth imprison
His shape in beaded buckskins, minus base—
Ah! no, he wants no more of that in his'n.
No longer down his brunette back doth
The braided scalplock, a la Wu Ting Fang.

Sweet civilization beckoned, and he came!
She touched his eyes; they opened and he saw!
She taught him all the mysteries of the game
To science known as poker, stud and draw.
Unto his lips her hand the nectar placed
That comes from where the maid of song was bred;
His nether limbs in paleface pawnts she cased
Snatched from his hand the calumet and set
Between his lips the fragrant cigarette.

She taught him how to frame effective lies
When truth seemed weak to serve his purpose well,
To voice swear-words of usual Western size.
In spirt of severed back to cut a swell,
To covet goods that were the property
Of others and to swipe them at his wail—
Ah! yes, the wily red man found the key
Unto the knowledge box and used it till
His once quite savage and untutored mind
Is up to date, or just a lap behind.

The Outspoken Susan.

New York Times: Here is the story how Mrs. Caroline Corbin became the anti-woman suffragist leader in Chicago. Mrs. Corbin went to school with Miss Susan B. Anthony, and not until years later the two women met in Washington.

"What have you been doing all this while?" asked Miss Anthony.

"Bringing up four boys," was the answer.

"Boys!" exclaimed the outspoken Susan. "What under the sun is a woman like you doing with four boys?"

"I don't know. Would you expect me to strangle them?"

"Bosh!" was the reply; "you should never have had them. They will grow up to be men—nothing but men!" It was then that Mrs. Corbin became an opponent of woman suffrage.

STAND FIRM.

House Insurgents and Democrats United on Cuban Legislation.

Washington, May 29.—Regardless of the merits of the proposition, it is time to say that the outlook for Cuba reciprocity legislation at this session could not easily be worse. The trouble will come in the conferences between the two houses. It is understood that the senate will provide for straight reciprocity, 20 per cent under the Dingley rates, for five years. It will omit the differential feature of the house bill. This is the rock on which the plan will go to pieces.

Representatives Richardson and Dearmond, speaking after a thorough canvass of their side of the house, told the Republican insurgents that the Democratic members were prepared to stand out solidly against the elimination of the differential feature. They asked Representatives Tawney, William Alden Smith and other insurgent leaders what the insurgents proposed to do.

"If you will stant pat," they said, "we will support you, taking the differential as an excuse. If you propose to weaken, let us know now, so we may shape our course accordingly."

To this the insurgent leaders replied:

"We are enlisted for the war, and will not surrender to any bill which is a departure from the bill passed by the house."

On this basis the insurgents and Democrats are together, and it is hardly possible that their plans can fail. So it really makes no difference what the senate does, for if the plans just outlined are carried out, the Cuban proposition will die in conference. That it will thus die is beginning to be the opinion of the leading men of both houses. Said a member of the Minnesota delegation yesterday:

"Our most difficult task was performed when we stood up in the house and were counted against the bill several months ago. It will be an easy matter to stand up again, and difficult to do anything else. We confidently predict, after careful inquiry and consultation with those Democratic leaders, that Cuban legislation will be impossible at this session, unless made along the lines of the house bill. As the country now knows, the senate will not favor the house bill, and that means that nothing can be done."

KANSAS

Republicans Nominate State Ticket and Praise Roosevelt.

Wichita, Kas., May 29.—The Republican state convention nominated the following ticket: Governor, Ex-Congressman W. J. Bailey; lieutenant governor, D. J. Hanna; secretary of state, Joseph R. Burrow; auditor, Seth G. Wells; treasurer, Thomas T. Kelly; attorney general, C. C. Coleman; superintendent of insurance, L. T. Dayhoff; superintendent of public instruction, Charles H. Lulling. Supreme justices, H. S. Maron, J. C. Pollock, A. L. Greene, H. Ellis, E. W. Cunningham. Congressman-at-large, C. S. Scott.

The feature of the convention was the strong Roosevelt sentiment.

The friends of Mr. Bailey controlled the convention from the start and began by electing as temporary chairman W. Cole.

In response to a general demand, Congressman Long, one of the leaders of the fight in the house for Cuban reciprocity, made a speech in which he said:

"The Cuban reciprocity bill has passed the house and it will pass the senate or there will be an extra session of congress. If there is an extra session, my friends in the Fifth district must prepare to take care of my campaign for we will stay there until it has passed and President Roosevelt, our leader, now and our leader in 1904 ——." He got no further; the convention cheered and cheered again. Long stood while the delegates shouted.

"Your hearts are right," he said finally. "How about the voices?" a delegate said.

"I told President Roosevelt when I left Washington that Kansas was with him all the time, and I think he will know it as we do now. Roosevelt is right now and he always was right. He is right because God made him so."

The platform warmly endorsed the national administration.

GOVERNOR EXPELLED.

Arkansas Executive Dismissed From Church.

Little Rock., Ark., May 29.—After a lengthy discussion in the Second Baptist church last night, the congregation voted to withdraw fellowship from Governor Jefferson Davis, upon charges of unbecoming conduct filed some time ago.

Gov. Davis was not present, being out of the city. His reply to the charges was read to the congregation. One of the church members presented a written statement, reiterating the charges heretofore filed, and concluding as follows:

"I move you, brother moderators, that the church obey Paul's injunction to the Thessalonians, chapter 3, verse 6, and withdraw fellowship from Brother Davis without further notice."

Only five members voted in the negative.

Gov. Davis was accused of being addicted to the use of liquor, of swearing, and of other unbecoming conduct.

MUSICAL AT VILLA MARIA.

Two Duluth Girls Take Part In Program.

Frontenac, Minn., May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—The following young ladies and little girls took part in the May musical: Miss Mansfield, '02, and May Hoelscher, Duluth; Miss Hitchcock, '02, Miss Sutton, Mollie Ward, Minneapolis; Miss Mulligan, Miss Margaret Mulligan, Miss Lilly Miezel, Rose and Florence Miezel, Florence Grant, St. Paul; Miss Maude, Nickerson; Miss Rosser, West Superior, Wis.; Miss Regina Busch, Red Wing; Miss Braunury, Comfrey. Chopin, Mendelssohn, Bohm, Scebock, Godard, Braga, Heins, were some of the authors given. Those who carried off the honors of the evening are Miss Mansfield, Miss Hitchcock, Miss Mulligan, Miss Margaret Mulligan, Misses Maude and May Hoelscher. Little May received a storm of applause for the ease and fine touch with which she interpreted Bohm's "The Fountain," a piece difficult for a little girl. Several ensemble pieces on violin, mandolin and piano were among the best numbers of the program. Very recently Mother Paula, prioress of the Ursuline convent at Springfield, Ill., and Mother Augustus of the same community, made this school a few days' visit. Mother Augustine entertained her hearers with accounts of her recent visit to Rome and other places of interest in Italy.

Saturday, May 31, the feast of St. Angela, a religious reception will take place in the chapel.

TO FREE BARROWS.

Order For His Release Has Been Issued.

Washington, May 29.—The war department will have an order for the release of Capt. Fred C. Barrows, of Minneapolis, on his arrival at San Francisco. It is stated that each case affected by the recent decision of the supreme court is being considered according to its legal phases and it has been decided that Capt. Barrows comes within the scope of that decision. Department officials are assuming that Barrows is now on the ocean on his way from Manila and for that reason have not hastened to issue the order for his release.

MEMORIAL SERVICES

Program to Be Carried Out By the G. A. R. Posts.

The Finest of Weather Is Promised For the Day.

Business More Generally Suspended Than In Previous Years.

Tomorrow the veterans of the civil war will stand beside the graves of their honored comrades, garlanding the mounds with flowers and recounting the deeds of patriotism and valor of those that have dropped out of the line of march, forever.

Duluth will observe the day—observe it, too, in a more general manner than in any previous year. All business will be suspended.

In the morning at 9:30 o'clock the surviving members of the Grand Army of the Republic, clinging fondly to the trinity of the order—charity fraternity and loyalty—will assemble in the post halls in the Masonic Temple building.

Here the veterans will form in line and march to the high school, where, at 10 o'clock, appropriate exercises will be held in the assembly hall.

C. T. Clement, commander of the Culver post, will preside during these exercises. The orator of the occasion will be Dr. Robert Forbes, presiding elder of the Duluth diocese of the Methodist Episcopal church.

There will be a short but appropriate musical program by the Temple quartet and others.

Immediately after the exercises at the high school the members of the G. A. R. and auxiliaries will proceed to the beautiful promenade along the ship canal, where flowers will be strewn on the water in memory of the sailors that went down during the memorable naval engagements of the civil war.

All citizens that sympathize with the spirit of the day are cordially invited to attend the exercises at the high school and also on the ship canal promenade.

At 1:40 in the afternoon the veterans of the G. A. R. will again essemble at the foot of Cemetery hill in Woodland and march to the Forest Hill cemetery, where the ritual memorial services will be held at 2 o'clock.

The graves of the fallen soldiers will be decorated by committees from the G. A. R., the Woman's Relief Corps, the ladies of the G. A. R., Sons of Veterans, and Spanish-American War volunteers.

In anticipation of the crowds that will go to the cemeteries the street car company has made arrangements for a 10-minute service to Woodland all afternoon.

The weather forcast for tomorrow is enough to awaken enthusiasm. It is predicted that there will be fair skies and slightly warmer temperature—making shirt waists, straw hats and other summer clothes the order of the day.

Preparations are being made to entertain large crowds in all the city parks. There will be hundreds of family and small private outings.

On nearly all trains leaving for northern Wisconsin points this afternoon there were parties of Duluth business men out for a day's trout fishing. Others will fish the nearby north shore streams and a great many of the anglers will start for the Cloquet river late this evening in order to get in a full day's pike and bass fising.

Other Duluthians are preparing for a lake trip outing. A number of bookings were made on the Iroquois this morning for the sole purpose of having a day on the water. The big White Line boat leaves tonight at 7:30 for her run to Isle Royale, Hancock and Houghton and Port Arthur, returning Saturday morning.

The America, of the Booth line, will also take many Memorial day passengers down the Isle Royale route. This boat leaves tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, returning Sunday morning.

For the first time in years there will be a dearth of out-door athletics on Memorial day. Ball games of minor importance are scheduled, but there is not the slightest sign of any important sporting event—not even the Memorial day road race which has held the boards in years past.

The flags on all public buildings will be at half mast all day. From the post office there will be but one city delivery. The money order and registry departments will be closed all day, but mail may be received through the general delivery window up to 10 o'clock in the morning. The stamp window will also be open until that hour.

THE DAKOTAS.

Weather Last Week Very Good For All Crops.

Last week was an excellent one for crops in the Dakotas, especially in South Dakota. The North Dakota report for the week ending Monday is as follows:

"The past week has been the most favorable one of the season so far. It began with heavy rain and high winds in most parts of the state, but was followed by slightly warmer weather and generally clear skies, which caused all vegetation to make a most rapid growth.

"Wheat is mostly all sown, except on some low land which cannot be got on to work. Oats are nearly all sown and considerable barley, while flax seeding is just commencing, and all reports indicate that there will be a large increase in this crop. Corn planting is general in most sections.

"Early sown grain is up so that it covers the ground; wheat is stooling well, and that sown lately is coming up very rapidly. Grass has made a vigorous growth, and pastures are excellent."

The South Dakota report says:

"The temperature during the week averaged above normal and there were some quite warm afternoons. The soil continues amply moist from rains of the preceding week and showers of the current week. On the whole, the conditions were very favorable for the healthy growth of all vegetation.

"Wheat, oats and barley are in fine condition, have made very satisfactory progress, and the earlier sown grains, especially wheat, are stooling nicely. In some northeastern localities local hail temporarily set some fields of small grain back by breaking down the plant, but the damage is not considered material.

"Early planted corn is coming up generally, and planting progressed favorably, but there is still considerable to be planted, especially in the middle and northern counties, where the work was retarded by rains.

"Flax sowing progressed well except on low lands in some northeastern localities, where it was retarded by wet condition of the soil. Some injury from local hail occurred in a few fields in several northeastern counties. Early flax is making very satisfactory growth.

"There is some local complaint of cut-worms injuring isolated fields of late wheat and barley, and also corn.

"Millet sowing is now in progress generally and the seed is germinating promptly."

TOO EARLY.

Duluth Commercial Club Has Not Yet Endorsed National Park Idea.

The West Superior people connected with the Hundred Thousand club have expressed their satisfaction over "the action of the Commercial club favoring a government park of that part of Minnesota Point below the portion already platted and settled."

The Duluth Commercial club has not yet taken any action either in favor or condemning the idea of a government part on Minnesota Point. At the request of the One Hundred Thousand club the idea was brought before the Commercial club, and steps were taken for its discussion at the last meeting, but owing to the absence from the city of Mayor Hugo, the discussion was postponed until the next regular meeting of the club. Mayor Hugo has notified Secretary Preston, of the club, that he will be ready with his maps and data that he has collected in regard to a park scheme for the next meeting.

A large number of the members of the Duluth Commercial club object to having the impression get abroad that they are in favor of a national park on Park Point, before they have had an opportunity to raise objections that they may have, or listen to the discussion of those who favor the idea. Some of these members are not loth to say that they see in the park scheme a shrewd move on the part of Superiorites to get an interest in the point that they cannot get so long as it remains a part of Duluth. They say that in past years there has been very little encouragement from the people of this city for a national park on the point, but that the matter has been agitated time and again by West Superior people that would like to see the point go from the control of the Duluth city government. A large number of West Superior citizens spend the summer months on Minnesota Point in preference to Wisconsin Point, for the reason that it is more convenient for them to get back and forth to their business.

SURGICAL OPERATIONS

How Mrs. Bruce, a Noted Opera Singer, Escaped an Operation. Proof That Many Operations for Ovarian Troubles are Unnecessary.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Travelling for years on the road, with irregular meals and sleep and damp beds, broke down my health so completely two years ago that the physician advised a complete rest, and when I had gained sufficient vitality, an operation for ovarian troubles. Not a very cheerful prospect, to be sure. I, however, was advised to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash; I did so, fortunately for me. Before a month had passed I felt that my general health had improved; in three months more I was cured, and I have been in perfect health since. I did not lose an engagement or miss a meal.

"Your Vegetable Compound is certainly wonderful, and well worthy the praise your admiring friends who have been cured are ready to give you. I always speak highly of it, and you will admit I have good reason to do so."—MRS. G. BRUCE, Lansing, Mich.

AMUSEMENTS.

KING DRAMATIC COMPANY.

The King Dramatic company gave another satisfactory performance at the Lyceum theater last evening before a fairly large audience. "The Power of the Press" was given, and this thrilling melodrama received very decent treatment at the hands of the company. Lon Beasley was excellent as Stephen Carson, and so was Miss Crawford as Annie Carson. Louis Dean made a satisfactory villain as Turner Morgan, and Miss De Weale had in Mrs. O'Callahan a part not so well suited to her admirable skill as some others. Gus Tapley, W. M. Roe, Hal Lambert and Goldie Cleveland did good work in their respective parts.

Tonight "A Ward of France" will be given.

"WHEN WE WERE TWENTY-ONE."

"When We Were Twenty-one," which will be presented at the Lyceum Saturday evening by Nat C. Goodwin and Maxine Elliott has been revised to meet the objections which were made to it very generally throughout the country, and in which Duluth joined after its presentation here a year ago. The fault found was with the third act, representing a supper club in London, a Bohemian resort. This has been entirely omitted and in its place another act written, through which the play gains in dramatic strength, and the quiet and dignified tone of the comedy is enhanced. Mr. Goodwin will play the part of Dick Carewe, to which he has given a quiet, forceful and sympathetic rendition, and in which he will never fail to score the proper points at the right moment whether in the comedy or serious part of the drama. Beautiful and charming Miss Elliott will inject her winsome personality into the role of Phyllis Ericson. She has received high praise from critics everywhere for this her most brilliant conception.

PAY! PAY!

Secretary Preston Wants Commercial Club Members to Come In.

Secretary Preston reports that 300 of the 625 memberships in the Commercial club that were subscribed for have been paid. He wishes to call the attention of those to whom notices were sent regarding the payment of initiation fees to the fact that the directors of the club desire to close the contract for the lease of the proposed new quarters in the Frerker block and that this is impossible under the limitations placed upon them at a stockholders' meeting until 600 paid memberships have been secured. This means that the initiation fee must be paid by 600 members before the lease can be closed. The time is pressing for the closing of the lease, and it is hoped by the officers of the club that those members or subscribers that have not made remittances will do so at once so that there may be no impediment to the securing of the quarters.

Mr. Preston is anxious to get returns from the subscribers for a number of memberships in order that he may prepare a list of members for printing in connection with the constitution and by-laws. He is now engaged in planning a system of books for the secretary's office, which on account of the divers lines in which the accounts will run, the large number of persons in whose names they will stand, and the necessity of having the books constantly in a state of preparation for being hastily written up, require some little ingenuity.

Ran Their Own Car.

People along Garfield avenue last evening, who were waiting for a street car were given a surprise when the little red car used for repairing trolley wires whirled by them, running "special" and bearing two of the officials of the road. Superintendent Douglas Moore was motorman and General Manager Warren was holding the trolley rope. The officials had been notified of the collision of steamer Houghton with the interstate bridge and were hurrying down to investigate the damage.

A Thoughtless Druggist.

ONLY a thoughtless druggist would offer a preparation without the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher when Castoria is called for; the "delicate, faint and flickering light" that joins baby's life to its devoted parents being too sacred, to the self-respecting druggist, to be trifled with.

For over thirty years Mr. Fletcher has given, and still gives, his personal attention to the preparation of Castoria. It has won the confidence of mothers and physicians everywhere—never harmed the tiniest babe. This cannot be said of Imitations, Counterfeits and the "Just-as-good" rot.

The thoughtless druggist only offers the counterfeit because of a few pennies more profit. Any new preparation can be but an experiment, and they are experiments—mere guess work—irrespective of what their sponsors may say for them. It is experience of over thirty years, against wild and injudicious experiment.

Trust In Electrical Supplies Tight as the Beef Trust.

Dealers Must Put Up $500 Forfeit For Violating Rules.

Immense Rise In Prices Since Combination Was Effected.

"The beef trust has a good second in the electrical supplies trust," declared a local dealer in those goods this morning. "We have to join the Electrical Supply Dealers' association, or we can't buy goods. In order to join this association we have to deposit $500 as a forfeit in case we violate any of the many rules of the association.

"What has been the result of our enforced joining of this so-called association? Why, in the face of a heavy decline in copper, we were subjected to an advance of 30 per cent in one jump in the price of copper wire insulted for electrical wiring. That's only one instance of the trouble. I might cite a great many more.

"If you want to know what this combination means to consumers of electrical supplies just you pick up the live catalogues of the leading dealers in electrical machinery and supplies. If you can find a cent's difference in any quotation therein given, I'll agree to prove the variation is due to a typographical error, and I never found one yet.

"The General Electric company and the Westinghouse people control about everything that is important in the way of electrical machinery and supplies. If they don't and anything new comes up that is well worth having they get it.

"There has been an advance of 25 to 50 per cent in the prices of articles of this kind since the combination became effective. It controls fully 90 per cent of the production of everything in the electrical line in this country. In fact, it is only occasionally that some of the smaller class of manufacturers get to fighting for trade on one article. Then we buy enough to last a year or two on the cut price. For instance we recently got a chance to buy some of a certain article at a considerable reduction from the combine price, and we laid in 10,000 of them.

"For the most part, however, the cinch of the combine is an immortal one. As far as we know here, the central combination, which is known as the Electrical Dealers' Supply association, does not dictate prices in our territory, at least to the retail trade, but it might as well do so, for the prices of wholesalers are so firmly fixed by the combine that to the consumer it means the same in the end.

"We are forced to join the combine or not get any goods. Unless we belong, we are unable to buy from houses in the combine, and non-members are dogged so terribly by the combine that it is practically impossible for them to buy in indirect ways.

"The scheme that is employed is what is known as the preferential rebate game. Goods are sold to everybody, but the members of the combine get 10 per cent discount. Every wholesaler must abide by the rules of the association for charges on cartage, boxing, prepayment of freight, etc."

It was denied by the Duluth electrical supplies dealer quoted above that the wholesalers' association fixed prices for retailers. A former Chicago member of the association, however, claims that prices are fixed to the retail trade the same as they are in the beef combine. According to a statement of the association that has just been made by a great corporation lawyer it is a combination of all the leading manufacturers in one line of commerce. It is made up of various concerns still maintaining their individuality, but carrying out a policy framed by a board of control or managers—just as the packers arte charged with carrying on the so-called beef trust.

The combination fixes the parices the products of its members shall be sold for. Then it fixes the price at which the retailer shall dispose of its products to the consumer. In certain ways its policy is more detrimental to trade than the beef trust, as charged in the government's bill for an injunction.

The association inflicts a fine on any member violating any of the rules of the combination in regard to schedules of prices. The fine must be paid or the member will be expelled from the organization. This is still another instance of the workings of a trade combination such as is now assailed by the department of justice in the beef trust case.

The association has divided the United States into two divisions—Eastern and Western—and directs its operations accordingly. So with the beef trust, which is charged with possessing maps with the different sections of the country outlined in which certain trade rules and prices prevail, adapted to check competition and secure absolute control of the district.

Each member is furnished a book containing the rules, and so fashioned that it will hold slips of paper six inches long and four inches wide. The price lists and instructions are printed on slips of paper this size and are sent out as the occasion requires.

There is a separate list for every article made by the electrical supply manufacturers and handled by supply dealers. The rules, instructions, and price lists are subject to change at any time.

The prices are made by the "national committee" of the association and transmitted to the members by the secretary after the day and hour designated by the committee on which certain prices shall go into effect. They remain until altered by the committee. No member is allowed to change them.

To sell an electric light globe at 1 cent less than the amount set down on the price slip would be an offense against the combine and would subject the offender to a cash fine.

ENLISTED IN NAVY

Long Search For Missing Youth Rewarded With Success.

Young Man Located On the Training Ship Franklin.

Disappeared From His New York Home Last November.

New York, May 29.—Walter Bolger, the 18-year-old son of Paul S. Bolger, who disappeared from his home on Sunnyside drive on Nov. 18 last, has been found by his father after a remarkable search. The young man was located on the training ship Franklin at Norfolk, Va., Tuesday morning. In the afternoon the mother of the young man heard his voice over the long distance telephone from Washington.

The disappearance of the young man has been onc of the deepest mystery. Walter left his home ostensibly to visit a local dentist. His failure to return home caused the greatest apprehension. Inquiry at the dentist's office revealed the information that Walter had not been there.

The situation was inexplicable to his parents, and from that time a search was instituted. Every conceivable place of information was interrogated; every public man, the heads of all departments, every American consul abroad (the last being the unfortunate United States consul at Martinique), Gen. Kitchener, the Boer representatives, and Gen. Chaffee were all communicated with.

Everything having failed, Mr. Bolger met a young soldier a few days ago. He inquired of him concerning enlistments and was told that every mark on the body of any one who enlisted was recorded at Washington. James Bludgcow, a neighbor, and Mr. Bolger went to Washington last week. Assistant Secretary of the Navy Sanger aided him materially. Mr. Bolger set to work going over the signatures of those who enlisted since last November, and after a long siege he picked out Walter's signature, though it was an assumed name.

PLANNED WITH PRECISION.

New York, May 29.—While there will be no rehearsal of the coronation pageant at Westminster abbey, there is hardly a detail of that royal function which is not carefully planned with precision, says a Tribune dispatch from London. Even the trumpeters are practicing daily the art of blowing trumpets harmoniously. The latest announcement regarding ladies' costumes is that diamonds shall be worn in preference to all other jewels.

PAWNED THEIR JEWELS.

Eau Claire Girls Stranded With Theatrical Company.

Willmar, Minn., May 29.—Less than three months ago Marie Monfort and Rachel Revere had happy homes at Eau Claire, Wis., and yesterday Miss Monfort pawned a diamond in this city in order that she might procure money sufficient to again take her and her friend, Miss Revere, to their home at the charming Wisconsin town. To make a long story short Miss Monfort and Miss Revere joined a traveling theatrical company about three months ago, which closed at De Graffe last Monday night to a business which aggregated a total of $9. A Mr. Erhart, who sang well and danced gracefully at Eau Claire, and who managed the company, heartlessly deserted them at De Graff, and in leaving took the profits accumulated during the entire tour, amounting to, Miss Monfort indignantly alleges, almost $19. Happily the male members of the company secured employment with a farmer near De Graff, who is generously inclined. Miss Monfort and Miss Revere came to this city and wrote letters home. The suspense which followed, however, was more than they could endure. Miss Monfort pawned her diamond, and the pair left yesterday afternoon for their homes, humiliated but triumphant in adversity.

FULL PUBLICITY

Of Morgan Deal Will Be Given Stockholders.

New York, May 29.—Herr Welgand, director general of the North German Lloyd company, who has arrived here, says a Herald dispatch from Berlin, has announced that a general meeting of the stockholders of the North German Lloyd will be held in Bremen ealy next month, when the statutes of the company will be changed and the agreements arrived at with the Morgan combination given full publicity.

"The North German Lloyd made agreements," said Herr Welgand, "similar to those made public by the Hamburg-American line."

IS HOPEFUL.

Judge Ives Believes Government Will Treat Settlers Leniently.

Cass Lake, Minn., May 29.—Judge Frank Ives, editor of the Cass Lake Times, is very hopeful of action by the government favorable to the settlers on Section 16, on which is located a large part of the town of Cass Lake. A private letter from him in Washington says:

"I spent an hour with the secretary of the interior. Senator Clapp had told him of my being here and my mission, and today, while I was at the capitol, the secretary called up Senator Clapp and asked that I come to the secretary's office with the senator. We went. He received me very kindly and listened attentively to my tale of woe. I told him what we had been doing and what we hoped to do, and when my story ended he very cordially asked me to call again, and said he would take the matter up at once. I had prepared for this interview at the Indian commissioner's office, and when I touched upon the methods of procedure we had decided to follow, the secretary seemed to take great interest in the matter."

MINNESOTA BANKERS.

Program For the Annual Convention at Crookston.

Crookston, Minn., May 29.—The annual convention of the Minnesota State Bankers' association will be held here June 25, 26 and 27. Governor Cummins, of Iowa is to make an address. The program in full is as follows:

"Trust Companies," E. A. Merrill, president Minnesota Loan and Trust company, Minneapolis.

"Can Panics be Prevented?" S. R. Flynn, president National Live Stock bank, Chicago.

"Bank Clerks' Associations," Orrin M. Greene, president Minneapolis Bank Clerks' Association.

"How to Maintain Interest in Our Business, and Other Problems for Banks," J. Adam Bede.

"Bankers' Money Order," Edwin Goodall, president Bankers' Money Order association.

Address, A. B. Cummins, governor of Iowa.

RIVER AND HARBOR BILL.

More Items of Interest to the Northwest.

Washington, May 29.—Among the appropriations in the river and harbor bill as agreed upon by the conferees are the following for the Northwest: Grand Marais, $2000; Agate Bay, $2000; Red River of the North, $10,000; to ascertain and determine the advisability of removing the dam at the mouth of the Minnesota river, $25,000; reservoirs at the headwaters of the Mississippi, $250,000; Harbor of Refuge, east shore, Lake Pepin, $14,000; removing bar at mouth of Fountain City Bay, Wis., $1500; improving the Missouri river from Sioux City, Iowa, to Stubbs Ferry, Mont., $100,000; improvement at Chippewa river, Wis., and Yellowstone river, Montana and North Dakota abandoned.

Surveys are authorized as follows: Otter Tail river and Otter Tail lake with view to construction of dam at outlet for purpose of improving navigation of Red River of the North; Red lake and Red river with view to the construction of a dam with locks to improve the navigation of the Red River of the North and Red Lake river; Big Stone lake and Lake Traverse with a view to constructing reservoirs for the improvement of the navigation of the Minnesota rivers; bay at mouth of Split Rock river; St. Louis river from the foot of the rapids to New Duluth; inner harbor at Lake City; east pier at Grand Marais.

FERRIS WON.

He Will Now Play Billiards With Hatley.

Minneapolis, May 29.—Charles Ferris, a Minneapolis amateur, won the triangular billiard contest just closed by defeating George Spears last night, the concluding game of the match. Ferris ran 200 points while only 243 were found on Spears' string.

The game was 14-inch balk line. The other contestant in the series of games was Carney, of St. Paul. It is expected that Ferris will now play Hatley, of Duluth, champion of the Northwest, who expressed a willingness some days ago to meet the winner of the contest.

The Omnipotent St. Paul.

"The Great St. Paul is a wonder," said the clergyman. "You are right," said Eli Perkins. "It is the seventh wonder to people who ride on the St. Paul's beautiful trains. Its Pioneer Limited, the famous train of the world is a delight and a comfort to thousands between Chicago and St. Paul and Minneapolis. Up in St. Paul and Minneapolis you call it the 'Milwaukee,' but the brokers on Wall street call it the 'St. Paul.' They say, with Shakespeare: 'Now buy St. Paul.'"

The C., M. & St. P. runs almost everywhere in the West and Northwest, and carries more people than any other Western road.

New York, May 29.—Congressman Amos J. Cummings' will, which has just been filed for probate, makes Mrs. Cummings sole beneficiary. The petition values the late congressman's personal property at only $1500, and states that he owned no real estate.

WHY? IS ELECTRIC LIGHT BEST

Because it is healthy, clean, pure and brilliant.

HEALTHY—It has no odor. Professor Thompson states that one cubic foot of gas consumes as much oxygen as four adults.

CHEAP—By using a little care in turning off lights when not in use it is cheaper than any other illuminant.

AFTER MILLIONS.

Estate Worth $5,000,000 Claimed By Chicago Girl.

Milwaukee, May 28.—Miss Beatrice McKenzie, of Chicago, now rehearsing with Becker & Walls' opera company here, claims to be an heiress to the famous North and East Marden estate in England, on which is located the Goodrich racecourse, where the English Derby is run, and she has retained attorneys in the suit that she is about to bring to secure a legal title to the property.

The estate is worth nearly $5,000,000, and includes, besides the Goodrich racecourse, about 100 acres of land lying between Brighton and Chichester, and $500,000 now deposited in the Bank of England.

The claim is based upon the fact that Miss McKenzie's grandmother, now dead, was the sole and only heir of the property. The only heir at the time of her death in 1881 was Miss McKenzie's father, George S. McKenzie, of Chicago. Mr. McKenzie engaged Jeffrey Hawkins, a London lawyer, to bring suit for title to the estate. Because of difficulty in proving the death of the elder McKenzie, the case dragged along for a number of years, and finally resulted in his being offered one-fourth of the estate if he would drop the suit.

Mr. McKenzie refused the offer and continued the suit. Just at the time he had found the necessary proofs of his father's death, he himself took sick and died as the result of an operation in the Cook county hospital in Chicago about two years ago.

Miss McKenzie, the only heir of her father, has taken up the suit where he left it and has retained Jean Lablera, attorney for the Actors' society, of New York, to conduct her case for her.

TO PUNISH O'BRIEN.

Steps Will Be Taken to That End.

Washington, May 28.—Senator Lodge, chairman of the senate committee on the Philippines, stated today that the witness O'Brien, whose testimony before that committee reflected severely upon Capt. McDonald and other officers, will be prosecuted by the proper officers on the charge of perjury.

The exact course of proceeding has not been decided upon, but it is understood that O'Brien's testimony, together with that of McDonald in contradiction of it, will be certified to the attorney general, and that the official will be requested to take the necessary steps to secure a legal inquiry into the matter, in accordance with the request of Capt. McDonald.

WALDECK-ROUSSEAU

Sends His Formal Resignation to the Cabinet.

Paris, May 28.—The resignation of Premier M. Waldeck-Rausseau was formally communicated to the cabinet at its meeting today. Public announcement of the resignation will be made June 3.

The entire cabinet resigns with M. Waldeck-Rousseau. If publicly announced now, the president, who desires to visit his home at Monte Limar, will be obliged to remain in Paris and appoint a new ministry. Consequently, the public announcement of the resignation of the cabinet is deferred until his return.

ROOT KICKS.

Will Not Meet Gardner at Carson City.

San Francisco, May 28.—Jack Root, who was to have met George Gardner in a finish fight at Carson, Nevada, on July 4, has telegraphed Al Smith, of this city, that he will have nothing to do with the contest. Root claims that the forfeits have not been posted, but Harry Corbett insists that he has $500, belonging to Senator Livingston of Nevada, representing the promoters and $50 of Alec Greggain's money, posted as a side forfeit ever since the match was made. Al Weinig may be signed in Root's place.

VERSES

Chicago, May 29.—Love likened unto music, the mating of two hearts pictured as a duet, in which a woman plays her part of the melody with accuracy and passion while the man touches the keys with a careless hand and causes discords, is set forth in a poem introduced in evidence during the hearing of the divorce case brought by Mrs. Alta Tilton against Howard Tilton, just concluded before Judge Roberts.

Mrs. Tilton, who lives at 151 Diebleo street, Cleveland, Ohio, charged her husband with infidelity. She related to the court that she went to her husband's room, at 1235 Michigan avenue, one day and found there a letter from another woman and also the poetry referred to. The poetry is said to have been written by a Mrs. M. D. Knight, whom Mrs. Tilton declares she saw once at a distance.

She alleged that the poetry was contained in an envelope addressed to her husband. It is as follows:

Into the beat of love's bright measure
Has crept a curious jar and halt;
It does not give us the same sweet pleasure,
But I have kept time—'tis not my fault.
When I struck false chords I winced and bore it;
You turned wrong pages and then blamed me;
You skipped whole bars when we tried to go o'er it,
And now we are hopelessly out of key.

And you are penitent, dear, and ready
To try the whole melody once again,
But I am worn out and my hand is unsteady;
I tell you I cannot go over the strain.
My nerves are unstrung and my head is aweary;
I have lost all interest and do not care.
You must play it alone; it the task is dreary—
Why, just remember who spoiled the air.

What fearful discords we make in closing,
Though our touch was perfect when we began;
The piece is worthy an angel's finger,
But 'tis badly rendered—always by man.
I played my part with power and passion,
And now I am done with that duet,
But you ran through it in idle fashion;
You'll play it better with some one yet.

"If you had been a poet you would have suited your husband better, perhaps," said Judge Roberts to Mrs. Tilton.

"I suppose I would have," replied the witness.

Mrs. Tilton asserted that she discovered last summer that her husband was false to her and left him.

Mrs. Tilton introduced in evidence, through her attorney, F. M. Fairchild, another letter in which a woman signing her name "Della" told Tilton that she "was just dying to see him." The couple have one child, Amy P. Tilton, 5 years old. Mrs. Tilton says she does not know her husband's address.

AN AGED PRISONER.

A Woman of 97 Arrested For Drunkenness.

Louisville, Ky., May 29.—When the name of Katherine Gilligan was called in the city court a woman so aged in appearance that she attracted everybody's attention hobbled around to answer to a charge of drunkenness.

"How old are you?" asked the court.

"Ninety-seven," mumbled the old woman.

She said she drank one glass of common beer and it made her drunk. The court dismissed her.

ATTACKED BY FRENZY

Revivalist Now Holding Meetings In Adams County, Ohio.

Several Persons Lose Their Minds and Inflict Self Tortures.

Manchester, Ohio, May 29.—There is a wave of religious excitement sweeping over this town and the adjoining villages in Brown county. Thus far one man has become a hopeless maniac and several persons' minds are unbalanced as a result of attending the "Holy Ghost" revival meetings conducted by Evangelist John W. Harris, who advocates the doctrine of sanctification in a somewhat similar manner to the religious views of God's Bible school on Mt. Auburn, Cincinnati.

For some time past Evangelist Harris has been holding revivals at Ellsberry and Bradyville, little hamlets a few miles from Aberdeen, Brown county. His peculiar manner of exhortation and his unique views drew the farming community to his meetings. Within a couple of weeks from his advent into Brown county farmers and their wives within a radius of five miles neglected their work to attend the daily and nightly revival meetings of the evangelist.

As a result of Harris' religious gatherings at Ellsberry and Bradyville John Teeters, a young farmer of Ellsberry, is now a hopeless maniac at the Dayton state asylum. Several others have been examined as to their sanity, while many women of that neighborhood are on the verge of being sent to the probate court at Georgetown for mental examination. Men and women became so excited at these meetings with religious fervor that they were for the time being immune to self-inflicted tortures.

John Teeters surpassed the fanatical religious fakirs of India in inflicting torture upon himself. At one of the meetings Teeters took red hot glass chimneys from lamps, held them in his hands, rubbed his face with them, and, though the skin and flesh of his hands and face clung to the hot chimneys, the man sang and yelled "Glory to God," and his fanatical companions cried:

"The Lord has made Brother Teeter proof against heat and pain."

At another session this young farmer poured coal oil over his person from head to foot and started to set fire to himself, saying that he wanted to burn out the devil that was within him and purify his soul.

Teeters would rush at people in the meetings and yell, "You have the devil." Then he would turn somersaults, land on his head and spin like a top. He would lay rigid for hours, as if in a trance; then at other times he would wave and twirl his arms like a windmill.

Mrs. Teeters is also in a critical condition mentally. She does not believe her husband is insane, saying that her John has only gone a little distance to confer with the angels.

When Teeters was removed to Georgetown from his home the scene was pathetic. The wife hoped that the angels would give her husband a good message, and the children, who had always been playmates of papa, realizing something was happening, cried as if their hearts would break.

Evangelist Harris was made to appear before the probate court at Georgetown. The judge asked him if it was true that he hypnotized people. His reply was:

"I am working by God's grace. How can I hypnotize anyone with only one eye?"

These revivals that are now attracting the attention of the authorities of Adams and Brown counties were inaugurated by A. P. Hurst, of Muses Mills, Ky. This man would drop into a supposed trance for two or three hours, lying on the floor with his hands outstretched and as motionless as a lizard sunning itself, but all the while he repeated to his audience what he claimed were messages from God.

Upon regaining consciousness he would work himself into a frenzy. The effect of this man's exhortations was disastrous to several weak-minded people. Many women became hysterical and fell unconscious.

Miss Ethel Scott, a schoolteacher about 20 years old, became a convert to the sanctification doctrine of Harris. Her mind was on the verge of giving away several times. She became unconscious at the revival meetings. The young woman suddenly disappeared from her home. She is known to have visited Springfield, Ohio, where Harris is reputed to have his home, and from that place it is believed she went to the Mt. of Blessings Bible school, on Mt. Auburn, Cincinnati.

Evangelist Harris has set up his revival tent in the old fair ground of this town. He says that he will hold meetings daily and establish a sect here. He denies that he is proselyting for the Knapp sect at Cincinnati.

It is hard just to state exactly the man's beliefs. They are similar to those expounded by the Knapp followers at Cincinnati. He says that he copies after the late Kentucky traveling evangelist, Lorenzo Dow.

INJECTED FORMALDEHYDE

Into His Veins and Is Now Recovering.

Sullivan, Ind., May 29.—Dr. W. C. Robbins, of this city, a young physician who went to Phoenix, Ariz., some time ago, a victim of tuberculosis in an almost hopeless stage, has since his sojourn there been intelligently experimenting on himself.

At a time when he thought death only a few days' distant he injected into his veins a solution of which the active agent was formaldehyde. The effect upon the system was almost immediate, with almost serious symptoms of a rapid rise in temperature and convulsive features, but within a couple of days he was strong enough to rise from his bed and to make an analysis of his sputum, which was filled with dead bacilli. He is using the solution steadily, and his recovery is believed assured. He has administered the treatment to other patients with great success. He claims nothing for his remedy, but hopes for much.

Dr. Robbins is a native of this county, and has always lived here until his removal to Phoenix. He was graduated from a Chicago medical college.

SAW LOVER DROWN

After He Had Rescued Her From River.

Grayson, Ky., May 29.—Other Madden and his sweetheart, Ethel Houston, of Olive Hill, fifteen miles west of here, were out for a drive Sunday and attempted to cross Tygard river, which was swollen. The rig tipped over and both were plunged in the swirl of water. Madden succeeded in rescuing Miss Houston. She was unconscious, and it was only by a mighty effort that he succeeded in reaching the shore and laying his burden upon the bank.

She soon returned to consciousness, and Madden then attempted to rescue his horse, which had been swept down the stream.

Being a good swimmer Madden plunged into the water and succeeded in reaching the animal, but as he did so it gave a plunge, striking Madden, who became tangled in the harness.

Horse and owner were swept down the creek and the girl saw her lover sink forever in the waters from which he had so heroically rescued her.

Both young people belong to very prominent families.

AFTER A BANK.

Hill-Morgan Interests Looking to St. Louis Institution.

St. Louis, May 29.—General credence is given by members of the St. Louis stock exchange to a report circulated to the effect that the Hill-Morgan railway interests were seeking a majority of the stock of the Third National bank and had already bought more than 500 shares. Brokers have been buying Third National stock for several days under this belief and the report that James J. Hill is said to be casting about for a St. Louis financial repository is taken by them as confirming the story. A notable increase in the price of Third National bank has taken place during the present year. Jan. 1 the stock was quoted at $237 a share, and today's quotations were $310 to $313.10. President Huttig of the Third National bank in a statement to the Associated Press said there was no truth in the story that Hill-Morgan interests were trying to secure control of the bank. He explained the rise in the price of the bank's stocks by saying that the shares of similar institutions in St. Louis had also advanced.

The advance had not the significance attributed to it by the brokers, he said.

Mr. Huttig added that the fact that F. Weyerhaeuser, the St. Paul lumberman; George F. Baker, president of the First National bank of New York, a Morgan institution; J. J. Hill, president of the Northern Securities company; J. Ogden Armour and P. A. Valentine, packers, were stockholders in the Third National bank, lent some color to the story. Those men, Mr. Huttig said, were friends who had bought the stock at his solicitation. President Huttig refused to state how much stock had been secured by the men named.

GOOD NEWS!

Many Duluth Readers Have Heard It and Profited Thereby.

"Good news travels fast," and the thousands of bad back sufferers in Duluth are glad to learn that prompt relief is within their reach. Many a lame, weak and aching back is bad no more, thanks to Doan's Kidney Pills. Our citizens are telling the good news of their experience with the little conqueror of kidney ills. Here is an example worth reading:

Mr. F. J. Carr, of 621 Second street west, employed as checker at the Northern Pacific railroad freight sheds, says: "I have no hesitation in recommending Doan's Kidney Pills to anyone troubled with pains through the loins or in the kidneys. I was bothered on and off for two years with dull aching pains through the small of my back, especially if I caught cold or strained myself. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills highly recommended for such troubles, I went to W. A. Abbett's drug store, procured a box and began their use. I felt better after a few doses, in a short time the trouble disappeared entirely and I have had no return of it since."

OUTLOOK IS BRIGHT

Iron Age Takes Optimistic View of Steel Trade.

The Steel Corporation Is Making Very Heavy Purchases.

Miners' Strike Causes Trouble For Pig Iron Consumers.

New York, May 29.—An optimistic view of the outlook in the iron and steel trade is taken by the Iron Age in today's issue. The articles says: Requirements of the steel trade are at present commanding most attention. It is reported that the United States Steel corporation is negotiating with the valley furnaces for 100,000 tons of Bessemer pig iron for delivery next year probably running into the second quarter. This follows heavy purchases of Bessemer pig iron by other consuming interests. If this negotiation is consummated the valley furnaces will have their surplus product completely disposed of until next April at the earliest. It is further reported on good authority that the United States Steel corporation has purchased 50,000 tons of Southern basic pig iron. The price obtained is stated to be equal to $10.15, Pittsburg. Considerable quantities of foreign ferro manganese have been purchased, mainly for delivery in and about Pittsburg, aggregating 20,000 tons. Eastern steel works have purchased about 6000 tons of low phosphorus pig iron in England at a price of about $22.50 laid down here. These occurrences emphasize the activity prevailing among steel manufacturers.

The continued strike of the anthracite coal miners is causing increasing trouble to Eastern consumers of pig iron. Several furnaces in Eastern Pennsylvania have been obliged to bank for lack of fuel. This is creating trouble among foundries, particularly and interferes seriously with the booking of new business.

The belief is now entertained that the blast furnaces in Ohio and Western Pennsylvania will not strike June 1, as had been feared.

A large tonnage of foreign steel billets is being offered here through importing houses, so that the supply from this source would seem to be fairly adequate for early needs. Foreign beams and other structural shapes are selling in fair quantities.

Reports from the West say that for the first time in the history of the trade the implement manufacturers have, prior to June 1, placed their contracts for the yearly requirements, running from July to July.

General conditions throughout the iron trade continue of a character to satisfy the most sanguine believer in a continuance of existing prosperity. Scarcity exists in so many lines and the consumers of all classes of products are so eagerly waiting for deliveries from furnaces and mills that it will require a considerable period to catch up even with all works running to their utmost capacity.

ON A WAGER

Husband Tried to Beat His Wife Daily.

Perth Amboy, N. Y., May 29.—Mrs. Mary Bolinda, who lives in North Amboy, has made a complaint before Justice Stricker, accusing her husband of beating her cruelly and without provocation. She declared her husband had made a bet with another North Amboy man that he could beat his wife every day for a month without her making a complaint. Mrs. Bolinda was kept in ignorance of the terms of the wager. All she knew was that a great many lickings seemed to be coming her way.

According to the story of the wager, the conditions were that Bolinda was to beat her every day, and if she had him arrested or if a day passed without a beating administered to her the money was to go to the other man.

A few evenings ago several neighbors interfered when it was thought Bolinda was going too far. The next day, it is alleged, he tried to make up for lost time, and then Mrs. Bolinda revolted.

In telling her story Mrs. Bolinda declared her husband should have told her of the wager, and of the reason why she was beaten. Then she would have been perfectly willing to let him beat her, not too heard, of course, but just hard enough to keep him from losing. As it was, however, Bolinda gave bail pending a hearing.

TO HER HUSBAND

Mrs. Hughes Made Confession, Naming a Minister.

Frankfort, Ind., May 29.—Rev. J. C. Little, who was dismissed from the Baptist church recently, after a trial by the church council, in which his name and that of Mrs. Anna E. Hughes, wife of a prominent citizen, were coupled, was made co-respondent in a divorce suit filed here by George Hughes, the husband of the woman mentioned. The complaint alleges that Mrs. Hughes made a confession, not only to her husband but to the church council, of the alleged intimacy between her and the minister.

FURTHER DECLINE

Wheat Has Another Weak Day Losing Nearly a Cent.

Excellent Crop Reports And Increased Receipts the Cause.

Duluth Board of Trade, May 29.—The wheat market started out weak and lower this morning; after a slight rally, declined further, the sentiment being generally bearish. The foreign markets showed comparative firmness, but the excellent crop reports and the increase in receipts had a depressing effect on prices.

The Liverpool market closed ¼@½d lower and Paris was unchanged to ¼c lower.

Primary receipts of wheat were 314,000 bus, and shipments, 314,000 bus; last year, a holiday. Clearances of wheat and flour were 320,000 bus. Bradstreet reported exports of wheat and flour for the week of 5,500,000 bus, last year 4,158,000 bus.

There was a decline of ¾c in the price of corn at Chicago. Oats fell ⅜@⅝c. Primary receipts of corn were 325,000 bus and shipments 253,000 bus. Clearances were 20,000 bus. Bradstreet reported exports for the week of 71,500 bus; last year, 2,057,000 bus.

The stocks of wheat in Duluth are estimated to decrease 500,000 bus this week and in Minneapolis 1,000,000 bus.

The Duluth market will be closed tomorrow and Saturday.

Trading in wheat on the Duluth board was quiet and the market weaker. It opened ½c off at 73⅝c, sold at 73⅝c at first and then dropped with a rally to 73⅝c at 12:33. From that point there was a reaction and the close was 73⅝c, a decline for the day of ¾c. Chicago fell ⅝c and Minneapolis ⅛c.

There was an advance of ⅛c in cash prices today. No. 1 northern selling at ½c over July, No. 2 at 1½c under and No. 3 at 2c under. The elevators are getting practically nothing and the Minneapolis cash price is considerably over Duluth, owing to pressure in the July option there. The mills at the head of the lakes are steadily drawing on the stocks of wheat in store here, drawing out from 100,000 to 135,000 bus every week.

Flax trading was fairly active and the market weak. Cash seed declined 5c under the readjustment of prices with the going out of the May option. To arrive seed is quoted at 2c under cash, September fell 1c and October 1½c. Cash oats declined 1c and the September option ¾c. Rye was off 1c.

Following are the closing prices:

Wheat—Cash, No. 1 hard, 76⅝c; No. 1 northern, 73⅝c; No. 2 northern, 71⅝c; No. 3 spring, 68⅝c; to arrive, No. 1 hard, 76⅝c; No. 1 northern, 73⅝c; May, 73⅝c; July, 73⅝c; September, 71¼c; Manitoba No. 1 northern, cash, 72¼c; May, 72¼c; No. 2 northern, 69⅝c; oats, cash, 31c; September, 29½c; rye, 56c; September, 55c; flax, cash, $1.70; to arrive, $1.68; May, $1.70; September, $1.47; October, $1.42½; June, $1.68; July, $1.43.

Shipments—Wheat, 12,160; flax, 136,265.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Grains Dull and Weak After Wednesday's Breaks

Chicago, May 29.—Grains were inclined to dullness at the opening today and tended to a steady tone after yesterday's decided break. The foreign markets, while a little lower, showed comparative firmness and helped prices here rally a little after a small early dip. July wheat opened ⅜@⅝c to a shade lower at 72⅝c to 72¾c and chipped on some fair selling to 72¼c. There was bearish sentiment in the pit on the very excellent crop reports. Showers were falling in some sections of the winter wheat country, but the Northwest it was reported warm and clear. Receipts also increased materially. Some covering by yesterday's shorts stopped the decline and pushed July back to a steady point at 72⅝c. Local receipts were 21 cars, one of contract grade. Minneapolis and Duluth reported 262 cars, making a total for the three points of 224 cars, against 123 last week.

Pressure by sales of wheat from the Southwest as well as for short account stirred up some activity in wheat and with weakness in corn, pushed prices down. July slumped to 72c and closed weak, ⅝c lower at 72⅛@¼c.

Heavy commission house selling for frightened holders who feared a continuance of yesterday's break in corn started further weakness in that pit at the opening today. But dullness and the comparative strength to the foreign situation steadied the decline and prices easily reacted to last night's closing figures. There was also some fair buying by the followers of the bull house that is supposed to have July corn cornered. After yesterday's drop, cash houses at once lowered their bids to the farmers and the country tightened up on its stuff, thus curtailing acceptances. Receipts were much increased, but with the closer holding again by the farmers the crowd fear smaller movement again. Many traders are fearing the July "deal" for houses competing with the bull interests say the price of that option can be put anywhere in the desires of the Wall street crowd. July opened a shade higher to ⅛@⅜c lower at 63c to 62⅝c and steadied near 63c. Receipts were 226 cars.

As the session advanced some fair country acceptances were reported and estimates for tomorrow were put at 256 cars. This turned the early firmness into a rout and July dropped to 62c, closing weak, ¾c depressed at 62⅛@¼c.

Oats were quiet and uninteresting early. There was a slightly easier feeling on the crop reports which say oats are doing best of the grains. The opening weakness in other grains also depressed this pit somewhat. July opened a shade to ⅛@¼c down at 37⅛@37c and haggled narrowly. Receipts were 229 cars.

A run of hogs 13,000 head under the estimate with consequent higher yard prices together with some brokerage support pushed provisions up a little at the opening. Some scattered selling, however, put prices back. July pork opened 2½c lower to 5c higher at $17.10@17.12½ and sold off to $17.02½. July lard a shade up at $10.17½ and lost 5c and July ribs 5c up at $9.65@ and eased to $9.65.

GRAIN GOSSIP.

Logan & Bryan, Chicago: Wheat—The market here was dull and the tone was heavy. The weather conditions as is usual at this season, are against the market. While the cables did not respond fully to the declines here yesterday, yet the export business so far reported is only moderate. There is a fair cash inquiry in this market, which is handicapped by the unwillingness of the elevator people to lose the cash property. The clearances for five days are 3,300,000. The Northwest stocks are to decrease about 1,500,000 bus, and a liberal decrease in the visible on Monday seems likely. Speculative trade is slow and the buying is featureless.

• • •

Cincinnati Price Current: Wheat prospects are fully maintained or a little better. Corn is starting finely with some drawback from cut worms and weeds. Oats show most improvement. Interior grain stocks are small but there is less disposition to hold.

• • •

Topeka, Kan.—The Kansas state crop report, while making the wheat condition 57.6 and the area 7,355,000 acres, against 5,951,600 originally planted, says: "It is reasonable as the report is of May 1, to infer that the condition can be advanced several points, owing to the late copious rains." Topeka interprets the report as meaning a crop of almost 55,000,000 bus.

MARKET REPORT.

Received over private wire of B. E. Baker, grain and stock broker, 507 Board of Trade, Duluth, Minn.

Chicago, May 29.—The wheat market ruled weak and heavy all day under further liquidation by longs owing to discouraging advices from abroad, increase in receipts and at spring and winter wheat points and continued favorable weather not only in this country but also in Europe. Trade was large all day and the market closed within a fraction of the lowest point of the day. Liverpool reported their market as weak, ¼ to ⅜d lower for the day. Continental markets were also lower. Cash demand was rather quiet and the seaboard reported only moderate business done there for export on the break. The general situation looks heavy and as long as the weather continues favorable with increasing receipts we look for lower prices. Estimated receipts for tomorrow, 20 cars.

Corn ruled weak all day on further liquidation by longs and market closed within a fraction of the lowest point of the day. Country offerings were not as large as yesterday, but they were quite liberal. Cash demand was very quiet. Weather throughout the corn belt is all that could be desired. Outside of manipulation the general situation is weak. Estimated receipts for tomorrow, 256 cars.

There was a fairly large trade in oats today and the market ruled easier in sympathy with the weakness in wheat and corn. There was very little doing in the May option. Country offerings were very light, cash demand rather quiet. The weather generally favorable for the growing crop. Estimated receipts for tomorrow, 195 cars.

Provisions opened firmer on light receipts of hogs and sharp advance at the yards, but on the strong spots there was selling of ribs that crowd though was for the leaders, and the market became very dull, closing firm. Speculators have deserted our market and we are having the dullest time we have seen in years. If it is the policy of the leaders to kill speculation they can do it. The market closed today exactly where it was last Friday, both on hogs and products. The teamsters' strike threatens to extend to all labor at the yards and is probably the cause of light receipts of hogs today. We are not getting as many hogs this year as last, but in all conditions do not favor the long side at the extreme prices. Estimated receipts for tomorrow, 20,000 hogs.

COPPER GOSSIP.

Boston to Paine, Webber & Co.: The market on copper is feeling the effect of manipulation and this time the bull is employed to check the rising tendency of copper. In speculative quarters prices are lower, but in the regular market, firmer and it is doubtful if holders could be induced to sell for any less than the price paid for copper during the past week, when Lake was quoted at 12½c. There is no real copper hoarding the market and some sellers are standing out as stiffly as any time in the last week. Manipulation going on in copper is for in purpose of unsettling the market and it is done very cheaply, not even a sale being consummated, although the quoted price of Lake is now 12.00 and London standard brands forced up 24 pounds, in speculative circles. Given the brands buyers desire and 12¾c will be paid. Electrolytic in the regular market is quoted at 12½c with business done on that basis.

• • •

Boston to W. H. Laidley & Co.: One of the largest sellers of copper in New York says: "Only last week we sold 8,000,000 pounds of copper and of this amount only 60,000 pounds went into speculative hands. There is little doubt that the United States Smelting company is doing its utmost to hold the price under 13 cents. The company sold its entire output up to June 1 at 11 cents. Its July output sold at 12 cents and its output for July has now been sold at 12½ cents.

• • •

Houghton to Paine, Webber & Co.: Osceola is stamping 3500 tons of rock daily, divided into 350 tons from Tamarack Junior, 1450 tons from Kearsarge and 1,00 tons from the Osceola branch. It is known that the company's new shaft on the Kearsarge branch will begin producing July 1 when Kearsarge openings will supply 1700 tons of rock daily. The entire mine proposes to produce by that time 1200 tons of mineral monthly. The May product will crowd 1100 tons.

• • •

Boston to W. H. Laidley & Co.: Lawson was bidding $2 per share to call Tamarack within thirty days. Efforts are being made by his brokers to put Tamarack a little higher. There are rumors from responsible sources of a receiver for Amalgamated, but we place no credence in them. There is good scattering demand for United States Mining stock; few stocks for sale. Looks to us as if Copper Range led on good news. The coal strike is one factor of interest today and favorable news there would bring a good rally around the line.

• • •

Boston to Paine, Webber & Co.: Boston copper interests say that copper metal situation is much better than it is pictured. This interest, however, asserts that the Amalgamated people are not ready for an advance. The price of copper, it is said, is being manipulated and held down until certain negotiations are completed. From good quarters the report of the recent sales of copper at a reduction by the Leonard Lewisohn estate is denied.

The total sales were 338,500 shares.

STOCK GOSSIP.

Dow Jones to W. H. Laidley & Co.—Traders seemed to have got the clue to close the market strong over the holidays and got more help than might have been expected from commission houses. London also bought 10,000 shares. There was a good deal of buying of Readings and especially Atchison which looked like short covering. Southern Pacific improved in sympathy with good buying of Union Pacific. Some poo; purchases are reported in Colorado Fuel and Iron. There is a possibility of an announcement of peace in South Africa during the holidays and this more than offset the uncertainty of the labor outlook.

• • •

Waldorf to Edwards, Wood & Co.—Judging from this evening's comment, the bulls are much surprised at the strength of the market as tire bears. The absence of serious pressure, the nervousness of the short interest, and the good inquiry for bonds are circumstances which reflect the confident attitude of holders of good stocks in the face of what looks on the surface like an ugly labor situation. But the public is not frightened by the strike, believing that a way has been found, though not yet announced, to settle it. The larger operators in the market share this view and are advising the purchase of railroad stocks on weak spots. Aside from the usual bull arguments of easy money there are encouraging crop reports and increasing railroad earnings, on which many commission houses are dwelling in daily market letters. It is thought tonight that there are developments at hand in the railroad world which will cut an important figure in speculation. Thus the meeting of Chicago & Northwestern directors to be held in a few days is looked forward to with special interest owing to the fact that changes are expected to occur in the personnel of the board. It is believed that, if not at this meeting then in the near future, events will take place which will fully account for the phenomenal advance recorded in Northwestern common and preferred in the last year. An increase in the dividend on the former shares is predicted but reports of the fact that the issue will be doubled are discredited. Argument is made tonight that if this increase in dividend is ordered it can hardly fail to have a favorable influence on St. Paul which is thought to have an excellent chance of becoming a 7 per cent dividend payer in September, should a fair crop be raised in the company's territory this summer. Comment on the copper situation is favorable and suggests a ratio between production and consumption woth the latter forging ahead. This makes up for

DULLNESS IN STOCKS

Profit-Taking Caused a Decline Which Was Recovered.

General Run of Active Stocks Neglected, Sales Being Light.

New York, May 29.—There were several blocks of Reading of 1000 shares or upward bought at the opening at a level ¾ above last night. Hocking Valley shot up 2 points. The general tendency of prices was to harden, but after the opening transactions the market promptly relapsed into extreme dullness.

Stocks became somewhat firmer on the buying of Reading and Canadian Pacific which advanced nearly a point each. There was no demand of consequence elsewhere. Delaware & Hudson was bid up 1½, Kanawha & Michigan and New Haven gained 2½ and New York Air Brake 3½ points. Hocking Valley reached 88 before reacting and Colorado Fuel was over a point higher.

Profit taking sales forced prices below the best, but the offerings were not large enough to cause any important change. Later on when Amalgamated Copper, Reading and Canadian Pacific rose to the highest the entire market hardened. Atchison gained a point. Some of the less active stocks made good gains, Keokuk & Des Moines rising 3½ and Smelting, Chicago, Indianapolis & Louisville, Wheeling & Lake Erie first preferred and Steel Spring preferred a point or more. Louisville fell 1½ and Rutland preferred 9½ on a few transactions. Bonds were irregular.

Only a few stocks showed movements of any importance. Erie common and the first preferred rose about a point, Reading extended its gain to 1⅝, Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburg preferred gained 2⅛, Illinois Central and Linseed 1½ and Canadian Pacific and Snuff 2.

The general run of active stocks were neglected, many of them not being dealt in during the hour. There were a few sensational movements elsewhere. Snuff extended its gain to 7 points. American Telephone and Telegraph gained 4, Locomotive, Metropolitan and Wheeling & Lake Erie second preferred rose a point each. Hocking Valley reacted 1½.

The market fell to stagnation as the hour for adjournment approached. Prices held pretty firmly. Fuller stock advanced 2, American Telephone reacted 2 and there were declines of 1 to 1½ in Brooklyn Union Gas, Evansville & Terre Haute preferred and Cotton Oil. The close was at slight recessions in the final dealings. The close was steady but semi-stagnant.

• • •

Manson to Paine, Webber & Co.: We are informed that Sugar is a purchase for a quick turn. This is a highly manipulative issue, however, and traders who are in a position to take longer chances than usual should handle it. Those who are continually watching price movement may find it profitable to buy for a moderate rise.

• • •

New York to W. H. Laidley & Co.: The Iron Age says it is reported that the United States Steel corporation is negotiating with the Valley Furnace for 100,000 tons of Bessemer pig iron for delivery next year, probably running into the second quarter. It is further reported on good authority that the United States Steel corporation purchased 50,000 tons of Basce big block pig iron. The price is said to be equal to $19.15 in Pittsburg.

• • •

New York to B. E. Baker: The Stockholder says: "There is little to indicate any change today in the market's main characteristics. It will be under the influence of the pending long holiday, likewise of the pending strike, and neither unusual activity nor important price changes will be likely to develope unless something entirely unforseen puts in an appearance. A good bank statement is a probability, but with money loaning under 3 per cent, a favorable report from the clearing house institutions is much less of a factor, hard to obtain funds at the full legal rate doubts exist as to whether the surplus reserves are to be strengthened or wiped out.

• • •

Hutton to Paine, Webber & Co.: I am holding Canadian Pacific because I believe it actually worth 200. It is worth more than the present price on earnings from traffic alone, which will be at least 11 per cent this year.

• • •

Ridgley to W. H. Laidley & Co.: Wall street is waiting for the strike situation to clear up. There was a rumor yesterday that the whole affair would collapse inside of another fortnight. With the strike settled and good crops, another stock market boom is pretty nearly a fact. All other conditions are favorable to a bull speculation. I hear from very good people that Copper is going some higher. Margan interests promise to support United States Steel common and probably will, but I don't see anything tempting about it for an investment. It's just as well to do nothing until after the holidays.

• • •

Bashe to Paine, Webber & Co.: The Union Pacific net earnings for ten months shows an increase of $20,842,000.

• • •

Warrington to W. H. Laidley & Co.: I advise buying stocks on any little weakness. The tendency is very much in favor of a better market at advancing prices. Developments are probable over the holiday of a most favorable character and something in regard to the coal strike. It may be brought to a conclusion and for once the miners are entitled to public sympathy. Sentiment is gathering force against the coal operators and wish the end of the Boer war in sight. Monetary conditions and crop reports are favorable. There is no further warrant to operate on the short side of the market.

• • •

Manson to Paine, Webber & Co.: The talk here now is that the Consolidated Gas melon will be postponed until after July 1 in order to save government taxes which would amount to $500,000.

• • •

Boston to Paine, Webber & Co.: The strength shown in the market today ought in the minds of the most conservative be a forecast of a settlement of the anthracite trouble at an early date. The market ruled dull almost the entire session. Very little interest was shown by the public, but there was an entire absence of any bearish feeling to such stocks. The offerings were limited and the traders who found themselves short were anxious to close their commitments over the holidays. This may have been some of the cause of the action of the market strength shown today throughout the list, more especially when we consider that today is the eve of a three days' holiday period. Ever since the strike was announced there has been a quiet absorption of the Readings, the buying coming from some good railroad interests who are in touch with the situation. We believe that the Pennsylvania has been in the market as large buyers. We believe the Pennsylvania will be the main factor in bringing about a settlement satisfactory to all of the strike. Reading issues are higher today than when the strike was inaugurated. This is significant. Among the railways Canadian Pacific and Union Pacific both showed exceptional strength. Canadian Pacific advanced 2½ points on buying by the same interests who have been so prominent in the past. London advices state that the house of commons leaders today said they expected to make an announcement on Monday regarding the Boer peace negotiations.

TREASURY BALANCES.

ANDREW CARNEGIE

is a millionaire who made his millions in the manufacture of steel. Do you know where he got his first money to establish himself in business? He

Made His First Big Money in Oil

He made this money by taking a chance in oil. Some big wells were struck which cleaned him up $100,000 and he started up a small manufacturing business which finally ended in the organization of the colossal United States Steel corporation.

THE CARNEGIE OIL CO.

Already have two wells and the stock at 10c per share had not ought to be considered A CHANCE at all, but a SURE THING. There is a chance, however, and that is that a gusher might be struck and you might make big money in buying the stock, which is now being sold to provide sufficient money to drill more wells, erect a pumping station and buy pumping machinery. However, you are taking in buying this stock in the way of losing money—the only chance is you may make big money if a gusher is gotten and good money even if some more wells are gotten just as we already have.

SHORTLY AFTER JUNE 1st

This stock will be advanced to higher figures. Are you not making a mistake if you do not take some of this now at 10c per share?

The Minnesota & Virginia Mining & Development Co.

AT 50c PER SHARE

for a limited time only

A 40-STAMP MILL is now in contemplation, and may be installed within a very few months. After that dividends may be looked for, as the property is now beyond the speculative point, the latest workings in the mine proving it a decided winner.

THE KNOWING ONES have already purchased liberally of this stock and THEY PARTICULARLY are now asked to increase their holdings before the stock is taken off the market, which is likely to occur with the installation of the stamp mill.

Any and all information regarding the properties of this company will be furnished by N. H. Murray, manager, 210 Trust building, Duluth, to whom checks and money orders should be made payable—by those ordering stock by mail.

NEWS OF THE LAKES

Company Gets

AT WEST DULUTH

Cargo of Coal Arrives For the Blast Furnace.

Coke Already Here and Large Amount Additional Coming.

The intention of the Zenith Furnace company to make thorough preparations for operation in the near future as rapidly as possible, aside from the large amount of repair work now going on at the blast furnace here, is evidenced by the manner in which the material to be used in the furnace in the process of smelting is being rushed forward.

Owing to the big coal strike in the East the furnace company is forestalling trouble for the future from delays of coal and coke by shipping in those materials as fast as they can be procured at the present time. The first cargo of coal was brought to the furnace this morning in the steamer Mont Eagle, of the Quebec route. The boat was tied up at the furnace company's dock this morning and will probably be unloaded by this evening or tomorrow morning. The railroad yard at the blast furnace is well crowded now with carloads of coke, and it is claimed that there are 100 cars of coke now on the way to West Duluth.

Some of the limestone that will be used in the furnace has already arrived by boat. The limestone can be procured at any time needed, however, and attention will be turned toward getting stocks of coal and coke. No trouble is encountered by the boats in getting from the channel in the bay to the docks, but dredging will be necessary to widen out the channel and make it available for the boats of deeper draught.

The repair work on the roof of the main building is progressing steadily. An entire new roof is being put on.

AMPUTATION NECESSARY.

Peter Gallagher, a foreman at the Duncan & Brewer mill, who resides at 2413 West Fifth street, was run over while attempting to board a moving log train last evening. He fell between the cars and the wheels almost cut off his leg. He was hastily pulled out from under the car by his fellow workmen, placed on a Northern Pacific train and taken to St. Mary's hospital, where his leg was amputated above the knee. Mr. Gallagher, when first pulled out from the track, thought his injury fatal, and told his fellow workmen so, but he is doing nicely and there seems to be no doubt of his recovery.

HORSE MAKES TROUBLE.

The horse attached to the delivery wagon of James Lee, the meat dealer, caused a little ripple of excitement about the corner of Fifty-third avenue west and Ramsey street, this morning. The rig had been left standing while a delivery was being made and, in some manner the horse became frightened and ran away. Crossing Ramsey street, at the hospital corner, the rig collided with one being driven by Fred Huntoon and the axle of Mr. Huntoon's conveyance was broken and a wheel torn off. Mr. Lee's horse finally broke away from the delivery wagon and was captured in a vacant lot, near Fifty-first avenue west. The horse was badly scratched up about the legs. The horse is the same which was attached to the delivery rig by Frank Lee, and which was struck and demolished by a street car at Forty-ninth avenue west, several weeks ago.

REPAIRING THE DOCKS.

The Barnett-Record company has the contract for repairing the docks at the blast furnace and parts of the buildings, and the force of men employed has been largely increased within the past few days. The old coke and iron trestles are being torn down, and when they are removed the wharf will be repaired. Mr. Barnett says his contract will be completed inside of six weeks. The work on the interior of the buildings is progressing nicely.

WEST DULUTH BRIEFS.

A surveying party on the Northern Pacific dock property along the bay front about four blocks west of the blast furnace has given rise to the rumor that an elevator is to be built in that locality. The report cannot be confirmed, however. The property is said to be very desirable, and but little dredging would be necessary to bring the boats to the railroad tracks there.

The new walks being constructed on Central avenue have been completed from Main street to Ramsey street. It is said that a number of the small boys have picked up small sums of money that they found under the old walks. The largest find is said to have been a $10 gold piece.

The Herald was misinformed regarding the reported marriage of Miss Agnes Graham and Jean Neills. The wedding did not take place, neither was it contemplated. The fool joker was again at work.

Mr. and Mrs. Napoleon Thomas, of Michigan, have arrived in West Duluth to make their home.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Rix, of Proctorknott, are rejoicing over the arrival of a new boy, born May 27.

The St. Louis Lumber company's sawmill closed down yesterday on account of a lack of logs. It is expected that it will start up again within a few days. Over 100 men are employed at the mill.

The steamer Mary Mann runs to Zenith park Decoration day, also Sunday. Fare round trip, 10 cents. Anybody wishing picnic grounds will call on Capt. Mann. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Morgan will run first-class restaurant at the park. No dancing tomorrow.

For wall paper go to S. J. Nygren's.

E. Dormedy, the grocer, has just received a carload of fancy potatoes, which will be closed out at 70 cents per bushel.

Remember the dance Thursday evening in Victor hall, Grand avenue. Lauer's orchestra will play. Tickets, 50 cents.

SENSATIONS.

Of a Murderer Described In Remarkable Letter.

One of the most horrible murders that have been committed for a considerable time was perpetrated recently at Parc Saint-Maur, near Paris, when M. Edouard Leroy, head clerk in La Rente Fonciere, a bank in the Rue Le Peletier, killed his wife, nee Macliefer, says the Paris edition of the New York Herald.

M. and Mme. Leroy sent their son, Robert, a young man of about 20 years of age, to the opera. When he came home, at about 1 o'clock in the morning, he found the corpse of Mme. Leroy, clothed only in a nightdress and covered with a blanket, lying in a small porch near the house door. The body had been stabbed several times with a cobbler's awl, and the throat had been cut from ear to ear.

Upstairs, lying on the bed, was the body of M. Leroy. He had blown his brains out.

Before killing himself M. Leroy had written two letters, one to his son and one to the commissary of police.

In the latter he describes his sensations while he was committing the murder. It is a strange piece of morbid physchology. The writer appears to regret his act once he has begun it, but is obliged to continue to put his victim out of pain. This is the "document."

"It is terrifying! Stabbed once, first of all, she resisted and then took refuge on her bed. In the struggle I had to stab her again, to give her a death wound.

"Thinking her nearly dead I remained near her bed, and she there asked my pardon; but she was not mortally wounded.

"I could not leave her like that. Suddenly she had strength enough to start up and rush out into the garden, crying: 'Pardon! pardon!'

"Then she opened the garden gate leading out to the river side, the gate not having been locked. But she had only strength to remain standing near the wall. I made her come back into the garden.

"I then procured a razor and was forced to cut her throat to end her martyrdom. And she still asked my pardon.

"Then she lay still. She was dead. I was myself wounded in our struggle.

"What a terrible thing is murder! I am still trembling at the horror of it. It is atrocious, fearful! I threw the weapon, which had been made by Robert, into the Marne, as also the razor."

It appears that M. and Mme. Leroy had lived in a detached house, No. 5 Avenue du Nord, for some years past, and the neighbors say they did not agree very well.

Mme. Leroy reproached her husband for his uncompanionable character, while he accused her of being too coquettish, and looked with disfavor on her liking for bicycle riding.

M. Leroy was 52 years old and his wife 41. He had recently resigned his position in the Rente Fonciere on the pretext that he was tired out and did not wish to work any more. As a clerk he was always exact and conscientious and had never incurred reproach.

It is said by the neighbors that M. Leroy had often threatened to kill his wife.

The Petit Parisien says that the other letter written by M. Leroy after the murder read as follows:

"I killed my wife to punish her for the long martyrdom which she made me undergo for twenty years past. I kill myself through disgust of society and to escape from the too severe punishment that would certainly be inflicted on me."

LATEST GOWNS FOR WOMEN WHO TRAVEL

New York, May 24.—Linens, of all weights and colors, have prevailed and are prevailing with amazing tenacity. The woman who cannot number at least three Peter Thompson suits, not to speak of an equal number of Gibson shirt waist gowns, among the choice acquisitions of her summer outfit counts herself ill-treated by the fates and finances. All these must be of linen, and though any girl who commands the services of a good laundress can be as crisp as lettuce on the list of suits just named, the dream of the majority includes the possession of twice that number. Some are of brown, some of red, some of blue, and the majority of white linen, and all of those meant for hard wear and travel are trimmed with buttons, stitching, straps and knots. Sometimes these simple decorative effects are carried out in contrasting colors, that is to say, a blue linen will be advantageously strapped in white, or an inviting thing in green will be heavily stitched in black. One capital arrangement in contrasts, which, by the way, grows steadily in favor, is the white, or brown, or blue linen tipped, so to speak, with red.

Next come linen, in all grades from the roughest grass weave to the smoothest napery finish, the heart of a woman, not to speak of the contents of her pocket, is irresistibly drawn toward the rough veilings and heavy, coarse meshed buntings that are made into the ideal traveling gowns. Who is there without plans of railway or sea voyaging from this time forth and who does not desire the gown that is proof against sea fogs, coal dust, sun and shower. The heavy etamine, the voile imperiale, the basket mohairs and the seaside buntings are each and every one almost weather and wear proof, and in the ready-made departments of any big dry goods house it is possible to pick up a useful coat and skirt made on the latest and smartest lines for a thoroughly reasonable price.

The design and execution of such suits is wholly tailorish and yet distinctly graceful. For a sweet young figure they can be had in full-gored, instep-long skirts, plainly stitched and worn with what is called a waist jacket that is strapped and belted in at the waist over a soft wash silk shirt. On the other hand, there is the perfectly plain or elaborately stitched trained traveling dress, worn with a decorative but practical Eton. This idea is also embodied in a model frock of potato brown bunting, its Eton coat fronts turned back with narrow stitched white cloth revers. There is no weight, no heat, no wrinkles, and yet a world of grace and comfort about such a suit. Its train gives the wearer dignity, yet its weight is hardly appreciable, and a vigorous shake eliminates the dust from it.

One interesting feature of all these suits, whether of wool or linen, is the shaped and stitched detachable belt of the same goods that is sold with the gown. Brown, blue, green and red linen belts are to be had very neatly manufactured and fastened in front with gilt, gun metal or decorated jeweled belts; or, what is yet more in keeping, the belt actually fastens with hooks and eyes on the under sides, while for decorative purposes and finish the ends pull through a couple of big rings covered with heavy buttonhole twist. They are the only cotton belts that can be conscientiously recommended, these straps, for they do launder, and they don't pull out of shape or thicken the waist line.

By common consent we always talk of traveling hats, and capes, and cloaks when we talk of traveling gowns. There is a rare woman who crosses the ocean and wears a seaman's cap, and looks well in it, and this rare woman buys, if her instinct guides her right, a cap of Cowe's shape, though there is a new and smart little duck trifle lately appeared and called the "Meteor," in honor, no doubt, of Emperor William's American built yacht. The other women who realize the vulgarizing effect upon their features of the regular yachtsman cap are setting off on their tours in smart shirt waist hats that have, with their round disk-like brims and trimmed crowns, utterly annihilated the vogue of the Alpine and the sailor. The shirt waist hat assumes no formalities; its brim is not bound nor faced, and though a cache peine in the rear is sometimes worn, it is, as a rule, rather conspicuous by its absence. About the crown folds an embroidered pongee or gray grass linen scarf: if of pongee, the scarf is polka dotted and hemstitched with a color: if of linen, it is cross-stitched in threads of Bulgarian colors, and pins with big knotted straw heads hold it in place, or it is drawn through a large, rustic straw buckle, or into its own round knot at one side a handful of loose gull, red cock, or gray turkey plumage is thrust.

A gray or covert brown waterproof cloth, cape or knee-long, wide sleeved, box-front rain coat, is the choice wrap of the traveler. For voyages on land, in our hot summer weather, the most commendable black, brown, silver gray and dark blue taffeta waterproof coats that are equally useful in dust or rainstorm have come to fill an aching void and to leave the old, reliable golf cape stranded in neglect. The taffeta waterproof rustles and shimmers, and has big, wide, breeze-inviting sleeves, and a huge, detachable Barry hood that on a coach, automobile or open naphtha launch can be cast over a big, fragile, picturesque hat and bring it through a storm as dry and crisp as the proverbial bone.

Vive la cienture; or, in English, long may the sash wave, for next after the net boa it is the prominent feature of all dress made achievements this year. If your left-over from last spring is far too nice and fresh and dear to your heart to be cast aside, go out and buy a sash; hang it at the rear of the suit, and nobody could tell but that your gown was of this spring's rich harvest. The chiffon sash that is first accordion plaited, then lace encrusted, crossed with quillings of silk muslin and finally strapped with black baby velvet ribbon, is the archetype of the whole tribe of streamers, and it whisks in the breeze at the rear of nine-tenths of the voile, foulard and batiste-clad sisterhood. There have lately appeared the most fascinating sashes of deep cream Lierre, mock Alencon, Mechlin and Valenciennes lace, with little chiffon rosebuds dangling from them, or figures in black last applied flat to their surface. These found their affinity in the organdies, and their interesting contemporaries are wide ribbon sashes of unequal length, fringed at the ends and sumptuously painted in roses and field flowers and such.

Any woman who knows what to do with a thimble and thread can make her own sashes, and very gorgeous, expensive-looking ones at that, for very small outlay. The best and latest mode in sash drapery requires mention, for a round knot at the belt and two floating ends is considered the refuge of the common-place. There is the soft sash that knots at the belt, falls eighteen inches and knots again before the ends fall free, and then there is the wing knots and the knot that drops a short loop on both sides of the ends, and finally the knot that is pulled through a long, narrow buckle, which is shaped and bent to follow the curves of the waist line.

Some of the ball gowns seen of late showed bewitching sashes of silk tulle or finest Malline net, and these were tied in the knots the whole of their length at intervals of eight and ten inches. In every knot a soft cluster of ribbon or chiffon flowers were caught, and these trifles vie in the affections of the debutante with sashes made wholly of flowers based on a tulle foundation or assuming the shape of flowering trails of greenery. A few women, who prize the round contours of their 19-inch waists let their sashes flow Watteau of Empire-wise from between their shoulders, and not one of those instructed in the rule of the mode that prevails, hang their sashes in front or at the side.

RIDING A HURRICANE.

An Aeronaut Tells Of the Peculiar Sensations

"Ride a hurricane Well, I guess—several times, and each time I swore I would never do it again. It's the most thrilling experience that can happen to a human being."

Aeronaut Tracey A. Tisdell leaned back in his chair in his shop at 1013½ Gates avenue, Brooklyn, and drew a deep breath, as a man might who looked over the rim of a balloon car and found that there was going faster than he wanted to, says the New York World.

"I don't suppose," the World reporter suggested, "that you ever deliberately toy with such a situation a second time. How does it feel? If you want to know, the awful thing about it is that you don't feel anything.

"Let me explain. The average person fancies the man in the balloon fighting the wind holding on to his hat. You can get at the average person's idea of a balloon by the picture that generally show the balloon at some frightful angle; the woman, if there is one, with her hair blowing; the anchor ropes flung out like the ropes of a scudding ship.

"With this idea in his mind the man who goes up in a balloon for the first time is more astonished and startled by the absence of all this than by anything else. After the swaying of the balloon as it leaves the ground has once subsided there is no further motion save the slow revolving motion is sometimes all but imperceptible. At other times, as when air ship touches the edge of a new current of air, it is quickly noticeable, but always by the relation of the eye to the horizon. There is no perceptible feeling of turning.

"The nearest approach to the sensation of being suspended in the air is in the sensation of suspension in water. Yet it is vastly different. It has no parallel at all. It is a delicious sensation in itself to a man who loves ballooning, for you float without rocking, without swaying, without the slightest jar. It's like being—what do you call it?—disembodied. Even a bird cannot know what it means, for a bird steers by the friction of the wind.

"The simple reason is, of course, that you are always moving with the air, however quickly the air may move. Whether the air is moving a mile a minute you are always moving with it, floating in it. You are part of it.

"Of your rise or fall through the film of the balloon, by throwing out scraps of paper—as well, of course, as by your barometer. To tell how fast you are moving with the air you must watch the earth, which lies under you like a big saucer, for the horizon seems to come up with you no matter how high you go. As you look down you seem to be looking, not at the surface of a globe, but at the surface of a hollow, a great saucer, as I have said.

"Imagine, then, looking over the edge of your car and seeing the passage of the earth grow quicker and quicker until you know that you are creeping up to a mile-a-minute pace. You may drop to a lower stratum of air, or ascend to a higher in hope of getting out of the danger, for this is a danger which no aeronaut can afford to ignore. You may not find things any better in either stratum, or you may find it wisest to stay where you are. You may not feel like wasting sand to go up or gas to go down. You need both of these means of navigating. You will lose gas enough by the changing atmospheric pressure, and when it comes to dodging the dangers of the earth beneath you under any forced descent you will be glad of the sandbags.

Imagine, then, the wind increasing until you learn by studying the flying hills and valleys beneath that you have passed the mile-a-minute gait. All this time the calm about you is complete, as complete as when you moved in the quiet air at starting. This quiet then becomes terrible. It would be something of a relief to hear the howl of the wind. When you are low enough you can sometimes hear it howling in the trees. But in a hurricane ride your last extremity—when your silk is wet and your gas has wasted so far that you must make a fight for a landing.

"I have been in storms at sea—I had a pretty rough experience when I made the gulf passage to Texas on the rain-making expedition for the government. But no combination of wind and waves can bring a man's heart into his throat like the frightful stillness of a hurricane ride in a balloon.

"Fortunately the range of a hurricane is seldom very wide, and there is always the chance that the balloon may drift out of it as a boat may drift from one current into another. Or it may spend its speed and subside. When this happens no balloonist is likely to waste much time in getting to solid ground.

"Twice I was forced to a landing in frightful gales. Once, near Schenectady, I traveled eight miles in five minutes with insufficient gas. The drag rope, basket and the folds of a ripped-up balloon saved my life—I came to three days after. On the other occasion the balloon turned a somersault on a fringe of woods and they found me in a tree.

"I ought to tell you about that second affair—the beginning of it. I was advertised to go up at a country fair near Oneida. The wind freshened during the afternoon, and at 4 o'clock, the time advertised for the start, it was blowing great guns. When I suggested giving up the ascension there was a tremendous row. There had 20,000 people there, and if there was no ascension there would not only be trouble about gate money but there would be more trouble between the management and the local storekeepers, who would make a big haul by having the crowd detained. They called me some pretty hard names—naturally they said I was a coward, a bunko shark and other nice things. After awhile I got mad and went ahead filling the balloon. I had forty men besides the sand weights holding the balloon down. The crowd gathered closer and closer, until I could scarcely work. The rougher of them threatened me. Although I knew it was the most foolhardy thing I ever did, I took a great delight in going up in the face of the cowardly gang that was pestering me.

"Finally everything was ready, or as near ready as I could make it in that gale. It was bitter cold, but I wore dashings and had a cheerful horizonal bar to sit on. "I had instructed the men to let go at the signal—and to do so all at once. The balloon swayed frightfully—you will guess how one pulls if you ever held on to the main sheet of a yacht. As the thing swung into the wind I yelled 'Let go!' and they did. I shot up, or rather I shot over at an acute angle with the ground, dashing my knees against a pavilion 200 feet away.

"And what do you suppose that fool band played as I went up? 'Nearer, My God, to Thee!' I think that music did more to unnerve me than anything else about the affair. But I held on to the bar, and to spite that cheering and yelling rabble I 'skinned the cat' and waved my handkerchief.

"I have told you the end of the story. It was a ghastly ride and no mistake. I guess I actually know less about it than any other balloon experience I ever had. As I look back on it I don't suppose I had one chance in a thousand of living it out. When I was going through it I didn't do any figuring, but I thought I saw the end of everything. That was one of the times when I said to myself that if I got out alive I would never make another ascension. Yet I was at it again in two weeks.

"To make the ride more terrible it grew very dark. I soon found that I hadn't enough gas. I threw away everything, including my shoes. I think those shoes, or rather the absence of them, may have helped me escape the steeple of a church of the first village I passed over.

"That is no joke about the shoes—every fragment of weight counts in such a balance. I had lost the anchor and drag rope, and was preparing to get rid of the iron trapez bar and take my chances in the netting when I struck the woods. As I told you, the balloon turned a somersault and I was thrown into it and pitched afterward among the trees.

"Speaking of hurricane traveling there is something that ranks very close to it—a drop in a parachute.

"Don't ever try it. It will make you old before your time. The exciting moment in a parachute drop, a moment that goes pretty well with the hurricane feeling, is not the moment when you are about to strike the ground, though if your parachute didn't open that would be a pretty lively moment, too. The exciting moment is just after you let go the bar of the balloon and drop without hindrance for a hundred, a hundred and fifty feet or so, until the parachute begins to fill. It doesn't make any difference how sure you are that the thing is all right, that it will open, those few seconds of the drop are never to be forgotten.

"I stopped counting my balloon ascensions, but I didn't stop counting my parachute drops. I counted up to twenty—and stopped dropping. The last time I think I fell fully 250 feet before the bag filled, and those extra seconds cured me. I don't suppose I will ever get tired of straight ballooning. That is the legitimate as compared with the side-show of dropping."

"The Pioneer Limited."

This train is the finest ever produced by any railway company. It runs every day in the year between St. Paul, Minneapolis and Chicago, via the Milwaukee road. It carries private compartment sleeping cars and sixteen-section sleepers, with berths longer, higher and wider than those of any other sleepers in America. Its buffet library smoking cars are rich and comfortable, and the dining cars are equal to the best cafes.

Established 1869.

MEMORIAL SERVICES

Open With Flower Strewing On Canal Waters.

Small Audience at High School Exercises.

Yesterday gave promise for a beautiful Memorial day and the weather bureau forecasted just such a day as yesterday was, but the vagaries of the climate at the head of the lakes were beautifully illustrated when last evening the wind suddenly shifted from southerly to northeasterly and in a few moments was blowing a gale, bringing a drop of 20 degrees in the temperature within fifteen minutes.

This morning at 7 o'clock the thermometer registered 40 degrees, just eight degrees above freezing point. Everywhere else in the country except in the little circle around the head of the lakes, the weather was warm and beautiful. It is one occasion on which the people of Duluth cannot boast very much of their climate.

Naturally the character of the weather has detracted somewhat from the observance of Memorial day. The ceremony of distributing flowers on the waters of the canal in memory of the sailor dead—a new feature of the Memorial day exercises—was carried out, but it was not surrounded with that pleasure which would have characterized it had the temperature in the region of the vicinity of the canal been more in keeping with the season of the year.

The northeaster also disappointed a number of small boys who had arrangements made to be on hand with boats and gather in the flowers that were dropped on the water. The swell through the canal was too high for that, and the flowers went their way without interference.

The exercises at the high school were begun shortly after 10:30 o'clock. The fact that they were held during the morning instead of in the afternoon caused a small attendance, for aside from the members of the G. A. R. and the Women's Relief corps and Ladies of the G. A. R. there were not more than 200 people present. The members of those organizations occupied seats in the front of the assembly hall.

C. T. Clement, commander of Culver post, G. A. R., was chairman of the meeting and made a few appropriate opening remarks. He referred to a general order that he received yesterday from the department headquarters of the national committee of the G. A. R., suggesting that the G. A. R. and patriotic citizens generally throughout the

THE VETERAN TELLS THE STORY OF '61 AND '65.

The children gather round his knee and hear the stirring story
Of how the cruel war is past, how both to peace are plighted,
And how the blue and gray today are once again united.

ORATION BY PRESIDENT

At Arlington Cemetary in Honor of the Dead.

Thousands of Veterans on the Historic Spot.

Washington, May 30.—Decoration day was observed here today perhaps more generally than ever before. The announcement that President Roosevelt would deliver the oration at Arlington brought to that historical cemetery a vast concourse of people, among whom were thousands of veterans who journeyed to the cemetery to honor the memory of their comrades who had died in their country's cause, or who, having survived the struggles of 1861 and 1898, had since passed away. The local arrangements were in charge of the department of the Potomac, and included a parade of all the G. A. R. and other patriotic organizations, the decoration of monuments and graves, and addresses by men prominent in affairs of the government. At Arlington, where the principal exercises were held, a national salute was fired at 12 o'clock by the fourth battery United States artillery. Music was rendered by the Marine band and by the memorial choir. Upon arriving at Arlington the procession marched to the tomb of the unknown dead. During the decoration of the tomb by the special committee chosen from the different G. A. R. organizations and auxiliary societies, the Marine band played an appropriate selection. The procession then broke up and the decoration of graves began. A touching feature of the work of decoration was the strewing of flowers over the graves of the Confederate dead, who lie buried in a section of the cemetery.

In the meantime a vast crowd had assembled at the Amphitheater, where the services were conducted. The familiar strains of "Nearer, My God, to Thee," by the Marine band, marked the beginning of the services. President Roosevelt's arrival was the signal for an outburst of applause. After the invocation and the rendition of several numbers by the band and choir, E. B. Hay read Lincoln's Gettysburg's address.

THE PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS.

President Roosevelt followed, and as he arose he was again greeted with cheers and the plaudits of the immense audience, which stretched far outside the limits of the amphitheater. His remarks were given the closest attention and he was frequently interrupted by bursts of applause. The president spoke as follows:

It is a good custom for our country to have certain solemn holidays in commemoration of our greatest men and of the great let crises in our history. There should be but few such holidays. To increase their number is to cheapen them. Washington and Lincoln—the man who did most to found the Union, and the man who did most to preserve it—stand head and shoulders above all our other public men, and have by common consent won the right to this pre-eminence. Among the holidays which commemorate the turning points in American history, Thanksgiving has a significance peculiarly its own. On July 4, we celebrate the birth of the nation; on this day, May 30, we call to mind the deaths of those who died that the nation might live, who wagered all that life holds dear for the great prize of death in battle, who poured out their blood like water in order that the mighty national structure raised by the far-seeing patriotism of Washington, Franklin, Marshall, Hamilton, and the other great leaders of the revolution, great framers of the constitution, should not crumble into meaningless ruins.

You whom I address today and your comrades who wore the blue beside you in the perilous years during which strong, sad, patient Lincoln bore the crushing load of national leadership, performed the one feat, the failure to perform which would have meant destruction to everything which makes the name America a symbol of hope among the nations of mankind.

> You did the greatest and most necessary task which has ever fallen to the lot of any men on this Western hemisphere.

Nearly three centuries have passed since the waters of our coasts were first furrowed by the keels of the men whose children's children were to inherit this fair land. Over a century and a half of colonial growth followed the settlement; and now for over a century and a quarter we have been a nation.

During our four generations of national life we have had to do many tasks, and some of them of far-reaching importance; but the only really vital task was the one you did, the task of saving the Union. There were other crises in which to have gone wrong would have meant disaster; but this was the one crisis in which to have gone wrong would have meant not merely disaster, but annihilation. For failure at any other point atonement could have been made; but had you failed in the iron days the loss would have been irreparable, the defeat irretrievable. Upon your success depended all the future of the people on this continent, and much of the future of mankind as a whole.

> You, who made good by your valor and patriotism the statesmanship of Lincoln and the soldiership of Grant, have set as the standards for our efforts in the future both the way you did your work in war and the way in which, when the war was over, you turned again to the work of peace.

In war and in peace alike your example will stand as the wisest of lessons to us and our children and our children's children.

Just at this moment the army of the United States, led by men who served among you in the great war, is carrying to completion a small but peculiarly trying and difficult war in which is involved not only the honor of the flag, but the triumph of civilization over forces which stand for the black chaos of savagery and barbarism. The task has not been as difficult or as important as yours, but, oh, my comrades, the men in the uniform of the United States, who have for the last three years patiently and uncomplainingly championed the American cause in the

THE KING'S BIRTHDAY

Appropriately Celebrated In London and the Home Stations Although His Real Natal Day Is November Ninth.

London, May 30.—The birthday of King Edward, who was born Nov. 9, 1841, was officially celebrated today, it having been decided, as announced in the Official Gazette, April 15, that his majesty's natal day was to be celebrated in London and on the home stations, May 30, as being the most suitable time for a military display. On the other hand, foreign stations will celebrate it Nov. 9, the actual anniversary of his majesty's birth.

General interest in the celebration was apparently not seriously diminished by the expectations of the greater series of events surrounding the coronation. The towns throughout the kingdom were gaily decorated, and the shipping at the various ports made the gayest displays of bunting. The chief celebration was the ceremony of tropping the colors on the Horse Guards parade here, and the presentation of colors to the new Irish guards. Stands covered with crimson cloth were erected on three sides of the parade ground and were occupied by thousands of privileged spectators, including the United States ambassador, Joseph H. Choate, and Mrs. Choate, and the secretary of the United States embassy, Henry White. Thousands of other persons were grouped closely around the lines of sentries. His majesty, who rode between the Prince of Wales and the Duke of Connaught, wore the uniform of the Irish guards. Lord Roberts, the commander-in-chief of the forces, who led the procession, also wore the uniform of a colonel of the Irish guards. Queen Alexandra and other members of the royal family viewed the scene from the windows of the Horse guards. After an inspection of the line of troops and the presentation of the colors, the ceremonies ended with a review of all the troops on the ground. The weather was wet and raw.

LOW CLASS IMMIGRANTS

Record-Breaking Arrivals of Steerage Passengers Bring to the United States Thousands of Undesirable People.

New York, May 30.—Immigration is now at the highest point in the history of the country, and the average of the class of people coming here is regarded by some of the officials as the lowest.

Counting the immigrants on board steamships one to arrive today and tomorrow, the immigration for the month will reach the record-breaking total of 88,500. In may, of 1893, the previous record-breaking month, 73,000 people came into the country in the steerage of the Atlantic liners.

The bulk of the immigrants are from Southern and Southeastern Europe. Immigration from Ireland, Germany, Norway, Sweden and Denmark has fallen off greatly. In former years immigrants now coming in are from Russia, Austria, Hungary and Italy. Most of these are non-producers.

The immigration authorities say that the great rush of aliens is due to the commercial prosperity of this country and industrial stagnation in nearly every European country.

WRECK OF MAINE DECORATED

New York, May 30.—When the people of Havana awoke this morning, says a dispatch from that city to the Tribune, they saw on the wreck of the Maine the evidence of thoughtfulness and appreciation on the part of President Palma, who ordered last evening that the wreck, which stands as a monument for more than 200 brave Americans, be appropriately decorated to commemorate the day. American and Cuban flags, garlands of roses and wreaths constituted the decorations, and memorial services will be held in several of the American churches.

ATTEMPT TO STEAL CORPSE

Ottumwa, Iowa, May 30—Ghouls early this morning raided John O'Donnels' undertaking establishment, in this city. They were discovered with the corpse of A. J. Raymond, of Charlton, Iowa, and were routed. There were no arrests.

SPAIN ASKED TO EXPLAIN

Paris, May 30.—It is announced in a dispatch to the Patrie from Madrid, that Senor Sabino Arana, leader of the Biscayan nationalist party, sent a long cable message to President Roosevelt, congratulating him on the establishment of the republican government in Cuba and that the Spanish censor suppressed the message. It is further asserted that the Spanish government ordered the prosecution of Senor Arana and that President Roosevelt has "instructed the United States legation at Madrid to ask for explanations."

TO THE HEROIC DEAD

Tributes Paid In Various Cities Throughout the Union---Day Observed At Manila.

St. Paul, May 30.—Two interesting figures in the Memorial day parade today were former Governor Alex Ramsey, the only living "war governor" and the one who tendered President Lincoln the first troops at the outbreak of the rebellion, and Col. Colville, who led the First Minnesota regiment in its famous charge at Gettysburg. The veterans of the First Minnesota, under command of Col. J. R. King, the first volunteer of the war, acted as escort. The morning had been devoted to services at the cemeteries and decorating graves, the parade starting at 2 o'clock this afternoon, veterans of the civil and Spanish war marching through the business section to the auditorium where Hon. D. W. Lawler delivered the oration of the day.

Chicago, May 30.—A parade, participated in by veterans of both the civil and the Spanish war, was the feature of the Memorial day demonstrations in this city today. Business was generally suspended and services were held in many churches. Owing to the perfection of the weather thousands of people visited the cemeteries.

New York, May 30.—Decoration day was observed with impressive solemnity in this city. Crowds attended all the exercises, the weather being fine. There was an impressive parade of G. A. R. posts, National Guard regiments, United States regular troops and blue jackets and marines from the navy yard. The parade was reviewed by Lieut. Gen. Miles, Rear Admiral Barker, acting governor Nixon, Mayor Low, Gen. Howard and Gen. Brooke. The soldiers and sailors' monument, said to be one of the costliest of its kind in the world, was unveiled in Riverside park. There was a parade of the G. A. R. in Brooklyn.

Philadelphia, May 30.—The feature of the Decoration day exercises in this city was the unveiling of the memorial bronze bust and pedestal erected to the memory of President McKinley by the Philadelphia letter carriers and postoffice employes.

Postmaster Clayton McMichael received the gift from James O'Sullivan, chairman of the local Letter Carriers' McKinley Memorial association. Former Postmaster General Charles Emory Smith, delivered the oration, at the conclusion of which the letter carriers' chorus of sixty voices sang "Lead, Kindly Light." A band of forty pieces composed entirely of postoffice employes closed the exercises with the "Star Spangled Banner."

The bronze bust and pedestal cost over $20,000, and stands on the first floor in the south corridor of the postoffice building.

Fort Leavanworth, Kas., May 30.—The remains of the late Gen. Henry Leavenworth, brought here from the East, were reinterred today at the National cemetery at Fort Leavenworth with imposing ceremonies. Several descendants of the dead general were present, besides a number of distinguished persons. The grand marshal of the day was Col. C. C. Carr, commander at Fort Riley, Kas. The parade comprised three divisions, led respectively by Col. Jacob Augus, commander at Fort Leavanworth; Maj. W. W. Murray, treasurer of the Soldiers' Home, and William H. Bond, United States commissioner. Gen. John C. Bates, commanding the department of the Missouri, presided over the exercises at the cemetery, and the oration was delivered by State Senator F. Dumont Smith. Gen. Wilder S. Metcalf, who succeeded Gen. Funston in command of the famous Twentieth Kansas regiment, read Lincoln's Gettysburg address. A prayer was offered by Bishop Millspaugh, of Topeka, and a chorus of 200 sang patriotic airs.

Milwaukee, May 30.—The feature of the Memorial day in Milwaukee was a monster parade in the afternoon in which every Grand Army post in the city, the Sons of Veterans, the Spanish-American war veterans, the National Letter Carriers' association and several civic societies participated. The forenoon was given over to the decoration of 2200 soldiers' graves in the different cemeteries. A big meeting was held at the exposition building in the afternoon in which 1500 school children took part, rendering several patriotic airs. Gen. F. C. Winkler was president of the gathering.

Manila, May 30.—The military forces observed Decoration day as a holiday. There were impressive services at the American cemetery, though the bodies of only a few soldiers are now buried here. The American club decorated the graves of the civilians. It was thought inadvisable to declare the day a public holiday.

NO TRUTH

In Rumor of Proposed Appointment of Archbishop Keane.

Rome, May 30.—The statement published hy the Daily Mail of London, May 29, that at the consistory to be held June 9, the pope will nominate Archbishop Keane, of Dubuque, Iowa, to cusseed the late Archbishop Corrigan of New York, is without foundation. It appears now to be extremely improbable that the pope will depart from his customary practice of appointing an archbishops successor from among the clergy of the diocese in which the vacancy occurs. It is expected that the three candidates will be Bishop Charles McDonnell, of Brooklyn, Auxiliary Bishop John M. Farley, of New York, and either Vicar General Joseph M. Mooney or Chancellor Charles H. Colton, both of New York.

POLO TEAM.

Foxhall Keene Selects the Men Who Are to Play.

London, May 30.—Foxhall Keene, the captain, today, definitely selected the American polo team which is to oppose the English team at Hurlingham tomorrow in the first game of hte series to be played for the international cup. The players are:

R. L. Agassiz, J. E. Cowdin, Foxhall Keene and L. Waterbury.

The personnel of the English team as decided upon by the Hurlingham committee, May 24, follows:

The betting strongly favors the Englishmen.

LIBERALS VICTORIOUS

Toronto, May 30.—The general election of members of the Ontario legislature, which took place yesterday, resulted in a return to power of the Ross Liberal government. At 10 o'clock last night the figures stood, 51 Liberals, 46 Conservatives, with one place to hear from, which will probably elect a supporter of the government, giving the government, in a full house, a majority of 6.

No great issues were at stake, but the Liberals have been in power for thirty years, and the Conservatives declared the government was corrupt, and one of their election cries was: "It is time for a change."

The Liberals were led by the premier, G. W. Ross, and the Conservative leader was James P. Whitney.

The development of new Ontario was probably the most important plank in the policy of both parties, and one on which both were agreed, although differing in the manner in which it should be carried out.

FOUR WILL BE GARROTED

San Juan, P. R., May 30.—It became known today that Antonio Torres Acevedo, not Ramon Troche Cadeno (one of the five murderers condemned to be garroted for crimes committed Oct. 1, 1898) is the man whose sentence has been commuted by Governor Hunt to life imprisonment, owing to the fact that Acevedo was only 19 years old at the time of the occurrence which led to his condemnation to death. The other four men will be garroted at Ponce early in the morning tomorrow or Monday. The exact date is kept secret so that the public will not know anything of the executions until they have been carried out.

THE HEIRS WANT HIS MONEY

Fergus Falls, Minn., May 30.—The heirs-at-law of Ole H. Ihlseng, a prosperous merchant who bequeathed half his estate to the orphans and widows of fishermen in three provinces of Norway, have petitioned the probate court to set the will aside and distribute his estate of $10,000. The court has notified the Norwegian counsel at St. Paul and an interesting legal fight with international features is likely.

SHOT DOWN A ROBBER

New York, May 30.—Detective Sweet, a former member of the assembly, has mortally wounded a man who is charged with attempting to rob a Second avenue store. The shooting was the culmination of a series of exciting scenes in and near the store.

When the proprietor and two employes were preparing to close the store last night, two men entered. One asked for some fish; and both employes went to the rear to execute the order. The proprietor was sitting near his cash register. One of the strangers suddenly seized him with a grip known among the police as the "strong arm." As this was done the other man opened the cash register and extracted $50. The two employes ran over and seized the man who had the money, while the proprietor held his assailant. The alarm was given, and, as Detective Sweet entered one of the men broke away and dashed into the street. As the fugitive turned east into Twenty-fourth street, Sweet fired twice. After the last shot, the fugitive staggered and fell. At the hospital it was said he would die. Meantime, the second prisoner escaped from the shopkeeper. The shooting caused much excitement.

PASSENGERS IN A PANIC

Electricity Set Fire to Elevated Car and It Was All Trainmen Could Do to Restrain People From Jumping.

Chicago, May 30.—Nearly 100 passengers on a Northwestern elevated train were thrown into a panic last night when defective electric wiring set fire to the smoking car at Franklin and Superior streets. Everybody in the train was thrown from his seat and the occupants of the smoker rushed for the rear door. It was with the greatest difficulty that some were restrained from leaping from the structure to the ground. That no one was seriously injured is due in great measure to the coolness of the motorman. As soon as the accident occurred, Laupher shut down his power, and, leaping out on the structure, ran to the rear of the smoker, and actually had to beat two men down off the rail of the platform before he could persuade them not to jump.

By this time the whole front end of the train was in flames and an alarm was turned in. The blaze was quickly extinguished by a chemical engine.

YAQUIS AGAIN ON WARPATH

Tucson, Ariz., May 30.—El Correo De Sonorra, of May 28, says the Yaqui Indians are again on the warpath. On Tuesday a band of Yaquis visited La Carmen, a hacienda near Hermosillo, and killed the governor of the ranch and a servant, besides carrying off the provisions and the best stock on the place.

Another band visited the ranch of Don Juan Maytorena, near Guaymas and raided it, the occupants having escaped when they saw the Indians approaching. Several other haciendas were visited and robbed.

The Guaymas paper says the situation is serious, but whether a general outbreak has set in, is unable to state at this time.

SURPRISE TO THEM

Intimate That It May Make Trouble Among Longshoremen.

The Lumber Carriers' association, which met in Chicago yesterday, took radical and unlooked-for action regarding the present lumber shipping situation, by voting to withdraw eighty vessels from the lumber-carrying trade for the purpose of maintaining the $2.50 rate from the Lake Superior district.

While it was generally known that the association was holding an important conference regarding the freight rate situation, there were few shippers that had any idea that so many vessels would be withdrawn from the trade this season. Of course the carriers may be reinstated if future conditions warrant it.

For some weeks past the lumber-carrying trade has practically gone begging, and the present rate was seriously threatened by the shippers, who claimed there were plenty of boats but little lumber to be moved, and that the rate was too high.

Whether the action taken by the Lumber Carriers' association will have the desired effect of putting the freight rate on a firmer basis is said to be a question. The shippers are not agreed that it will do so, even if the vesselmen are confident.

Most of the eighty boats withdrawn from the service at yesterday's meeting were tow barges, and these will be kept in ordinary until the business picks up again. The vesselmen say that the tow barges have already been delayed a great deal by failure to receive tug service, and their laying up at this time will not result in any very great loss to the owners.

The laying up of the boats will, however, throw about 1800 men out of service that were employed on them.

The Chicago meeting is said to have been attended by owners and managers of nearly 300 vessels. From Duluth, Capt. O. W. Blodgett, Capt. Singer and Capt. Charles Weeks were present.

The shippers have raised the point that the withdrawal of vessels from the lumber carrying trade at this time is not likely to meet with favor from the 'Longshoremen's unions along Lake Superior. They say that one of the special terms of the agreement that effected the settlement of the strike this spring was that the Lumber Carriers' association was to keep the boats coming regularly all summer in order to give the lumber shovers steady employment. It is intimated that the action of the vesselmen in withdrawing tonnage from the market is for the express purpose of forcing the shippers to pay the present going rate and that, in order to maintain their position, the vesselmen will endeavor to cause a vessel shortage by sending the boats here irregularly.

On the other hand, the vesselmen hold that, having granted the request of the 'longshoremen for higher wages and because the cost of labor and fuel is higher in general this year, and the price of lumber has advanced materially over the prices of last season, they are entitled to the going rate of $2.50, and any attempt to lower the rate means the cutting off of a fair profit to the vessel owners, if it does not mean a loss.

The result of the action of the Lumber Carriers' association will be watched with no small amount of interest by the local lumber interests. The indications are that there will be a marked decrease in lumber shipments during the coming month.

AFTER LANDS.

Highland Canal Company Begins Condemnation Proceedings.

The Highland Power and Canal company instituted proceedings for the condemnation of the lands desired by the company yesterday by filing in the office of the clerk of the district court an application for the appointment of commissioners in condemnation. At the same time notice of its pendes was filed in the office of the register of deeds, giving the descriptions of all of the lands.

The hearing before the court is to be held on July 26 and the court will at that time undoubtedly appoint the men who will appraise the property. The court may be asked to appoint more than one set of commissioners in order to expedite the work for there is a large amount to be done. It has been customary to appoint only a single set, but there is said to be nothing to prevent the appointment of more if the court should wish to do so.

The lands asked for include something like 27,000 acres and they embrace a large amount in the vicinity of Island Lake on the Cloquet river in township 51, ranges 14 and 15; township 52, ranges 13, 14 and 15, and township 53, ranges 13, 14 and 15. These will be used for the large reservoir in which the water will be stored. Lands in township 50, ranges 14 and 15, Duluth Heights, Third division, Park division of Duluth, Duluth Proper, Second division; Bay Front division, and Murray Hill division are also asked. These are for the canal from the reservoir, the forebay near Duluth Heights, the right-of-way for the pipe line down the hill, and the location for the power house at the bottom of the hill.

For the powerhouse a piece about 400 feet square is asked and it is located on the bay front. It is property now under water on the east side of Rice's Point, at about the spot where the old dredges now lie.

The company expects to push the work of acquiring these lands as rapidly as possible. Where it can be done, they will be acquired by private sale, if matters can be hurried that way and the lands obtained at fair prices.

No Immediate Strike.

It is authoritatively stated that there will be no immediate strike of the machinists in the railroad shops and shipyards at West Superior. The rumor was current a few days ago that a strike was contemplated and that the union men now largely employed by the shops and barge works would say little about the matter. It is learned now that they did not contemplate a strike and are apparently satisfied with the present conditions.

THE ACREAGE.

Decrease In Red River Valley Put at 25 Per Cent.

A shortage of 25 per cent in the wheat acreage of the Red River valley, when all the seeding has been done, is the estimate of J. D. Dalzell, assistant general freight agent of the Northern Pacific road, whose jurisdiction is western Minnesota and North Dakota.

This summary of the situation will come as a surprise to many people who have believed that the situation had been exaggerated and that the fine weather which has prevailed in the valley for a couple of weeks had allowed farmers to catch up pretty well with last summer's acreage.

Mr. Dalzell, up to the end of the year, was general agent at Duluth for the Northern Pacific. At that time he was promoted to succeed H. E. Still, who had been moved up a notch to succeed W. W. Broughton as assistant general freight agent of the old St. Paul and Duluth district. He is here today on a combined pleasure and business trip.

"I was out in North Dakota a few days ago," said Mr. Dalzell this morning. "I didn't stop off in the valley on my way to Jamestown, but naturally heard something about the conditions existing in the district on each side of the state line that is known by that name.

"It is a difficult matter to make an estimate at this time of the probable shortage of wheat in the valley. For one reason, the farmers that were delayed most by the wet spring will sow, if necessary, as late as June 15. This date has always been considered too late to insure results in the way of a matured crop, because of the danger from early frosts. Farmers as a general thing will not invite the hazard, but those that are mostly behind will run the risk.

"The crop plant that is up is looking fine throughout the wheat country. Conditions now see mtobe ideal for a bountiful harvest. Every farmer that has his wheat in is feeling jubilant over his prospects for a big crop, as far as the season has progressed.

"The impression was given me that barley and oats will largely take the place of the shortage in wheat acreage in the valley. This present estimated shortage runs from 30 to 50 per cent, according to the conditions coming most noticeably under the observation of the person making the estimate. Flax will not be sown largely in the valley, because it has been proved that it is not a good crop there.

"North Dakota is very prosperous. It is a revelation to one to go out in the new country that was settled up last year and note the developments that have gone on. Towns that were built last year in that new country are putting in electric lights and water systems this year. The farmers were fortunate enough to sow very large areas of their new land to flax, and with flax at $1.50 a bushel or better, and an exceptionally bountiful yield, they made so much money on their first year that they have money to burn.

"The settlement of the country is going on rapidly still, and it looks like another active year for that section of the country."

DR. STOREY MISSING.

Family Much Concerned As to His Whereabouts.

The family of Dr. Thomas S. Storey is considerably concerned over his whereabouts. He left here about two weeks ago, taking with him considerable money. The only word received from him has been from a stranger in Seattle, Wash., saying that he was sick in that city. Further information has been impossible to obtain thus far.

It was not known that he was going West, and the only information given as to his going was a note left on his office desk, addressed to his wife, saying that he had been called away suddenly but not stating where.

Logs Coming Down Well.

William Sauntry, veteran lumberman and extensive timber owner, arrived at the Spalding last night from Stillwater. Mr. Sauntry said that as far as he could learn of the reports received from the driving streams in Northern Minnesota, the logs were coming down the rivers finely. There was a scarcity of water just after spring opened, but he said this was not to be wondered at considering the early date at which spring came this season. The heavy rains have since raised the stage of water in most of the streams, he said, to a stage where driving was not only successful, but economical, as compared with some seasons.

SAME STORY.

Meats up, vegetables down.

That is the same old Michigan street story, which is running through a series of installments, a little of the same each week. It is a most monotonous tale, worthy of the driest and prosiest writer of fiction that ever droned on paper.

Veal has jumped a full cent within a day or two. Last week it was selling for 7½ and 8 cents, and now it requires 8½ and 9 cents to buy it from the packers' agents. The other meats are holding steady, and no such thing as a decrease is even whispered of on Michigan street.

These are great days for vegetarians, however, with meat barred in by well-nigh impregnable barriers of high prices, and fresh vegetables getting cheaper and better every day. There are reductions almost all along the line on fruits and vegetables, and there are some new faces on the street this week. Among the new fruits are gooseberries, which are coming in in sufficent quantities to be seen in the displays of almost all the groceries.

BUSINESS MEN'S CLUB.

West Enders Will Meet and Consider Several Matters.

The Business Men's club of the West End, will hold a meeting this evening in the new club rooms in the Normanna building at the corner of Twenty-first avenue west and Superior street. There were several matters for discussion at the last meeting, but these were not reached owing to the fact that the committee was ready with the report of by-laws of the new organization and the whole evening was taken up in considering and adopting them. The new applications for membership will be acted on at this evening's meeting. Among the subjects that will likely come up for discussion are the library question and sanitary conditions of certain parts of the West End. It has been intimated that one or two abuses will receive the attention of the club.

THE DAKOTAS.

SOUTH DAKOTA.

Yankton—Two men were shot in a battle between police officers and hoboes Thursday night. Six others of the gang made their escape, but are being pursued by a posse of citizens and will likely be roughly handled when caught. The gang was camped on the river front, and when Officer Pierson went to the place and sought to disperse them he was attacked with a revolver. Other officers came to his assistance and in the battle which followed many shots were fired and one of the hoboes were shot in the hip and another in the head and arm. The rest of the gang took to the brush and are being pursued by a large posse of citizens. The men are not believed to be tramps, but "hold-up" men from some of the large cities. All are well armed.

Mitchell—Jack Sully, the famous cattle rustler on the Sioux reservation west of Chamberlain, has been at last corralled. Sheriff Swindler received notice a few days ago that Sully had been arrested at Verdigris, Neb. The sheriff went down there and Thursday afternoon returned with his prisoner. Sully has been in the vicinity of Verdigris for several months, and numerous cattle were shipped by him from there to the Omaha market. An inspector found a number of well-known brands on the bunch shipped, and an investigation led to Sully's arrest. He has been searched for since last February and it is believed his arrest will result in the breaking up of the bands of rustlers now infesting the reservation.

H. L. Bras, chairman of the Republican county central committee, has received notice from the delegation at Washington that he has been indorsed for the appointment as postmaster of Mitchell. H. C. Clark is the retiring postmaster. He has been connected with the office for fifteen years in the capacity of clerk and deputy. Mr. Bras is the publisher of the South Dakota Educator and has a high standing among educators of the state. He represented Davison county in the legislature two years.

Deadwood—Two tons of earth and loose stone fell on William Hoisington while excavating for a sewer in Deadwood, inflicting injuries that may prove fatal.

The Schmied Recital.

The piano recital by pupils of Mrs. Emma L. Schmied, at Pilgrim Congregational church, last evening, was attended by an audience that filled the church auditorium completely. The program was a delightful one and was of an unusually high order. The pupils all displayed a high order of proficiency and a number indicated a very high degree of talent.

Mrs. Robert L. Knebel and Mrs. C. H. Munger assisted. Mrs. Knebel sang two numbers, and was given a very cordial reception. Mrs. Munger assisted with orchestral piano accompaniments.

BLACK TIES ORDERED.

New York, May 30.—Grief has come to the employes of the Long Island railroad as the result of an order posted on the bulletin boards which reads:

"Conductors and brakemen will wear only black ties hereafter."

Mr. Cassatt is president of the Pennsylvania railroad, which owns the Long Island. Recently he took a trip to Manhattan Beach and was shocked by a conductor's red tie. And all summer long the railroad men will be in mourning.

BORN IN DULUTH

Parentage of Baby Deserted In Superior Is Traced.

Only Three Weeks Old, Being Born Here On May 2.

Parents Gave Name of Rollins--Are Not Yet Located.

The baby deserted in a West Superior hotel last Monday was born in Duluth an May 2.

The authorities have vainly endeavored to untangle the threads of mystery surrounding this desertion and yesterday obtained the most important clue.

The woman took the night train for St. Paul and during the night the man mysteriously disappeared leaving the little tot alone in the hotel bed, where it attracted attention with a pair of lusty little lungs.

Shortly after it was found the Superior police telephoned a description of all concerned to the authorities on this side, but in receiving the message over the telephone the child's age was set down as three years instead of three weeks.

That mistake put the local authorities on the wrong track for several days but yesterday, on hearing of the right age of the child a thorough search was made.

The baby was born in the home of a well to do and respectable couple living on East Sixth street. The man and woman that deserted it took rooms in this house more than a month ago. The baby was born on May 2 the mother being attended by a midwife instead of a regular physician.

The man and woman did not seem to care for the baby and talked continually of getting some person to adopt it. Last Monday they left the house taking the baby with them. They gave their destination as Chicago. In reality they only went as far as West Superior.

The report of this birth at the health office gives the name of Rollins to the father and mother—James and Emma Rollins. The father's age is given as 35 years and the mother's as 19. The man gave his occupation as a laborer.

His appearance indicated wealth and refinement and it is said by those that knew him while living on East Sixth street that his hands did not look as if he had done a tap of manual labor for years.

The girl was very tall and slender. She dressed stylishly and showed even more evidence of refinement and wealth than did the man.

As yet the police have not the slightest trace of either the man or woman, but they are in possession of information that may lead to their discovery and identity within a few days.

The little girl baby is now in the children's home at Central Park, West Superior. It is said to be a very healthy child and doing nicely despite the action of its mother in deserting it.

ONE ARREST.

Joe Sheehy Gets Warrant For Doc French For Gambling.

Joseph Sheehy has secured the arrest of one of the three men whom he claims are running gambling joints.

The man arrested is Charles E. French, well known in sporting circles in Duluth for years past. "Doc" French is supposed to conduct a lodging house over 220 West Superior street. Sheehy converted it into a dodging house and then went before an attorney and swore out the complaint charging gambling.

French, hearing that the warrant was issued, appeared at police headquarters late yesterday afternoon and was subsequently arraigned in court where he entered a plea of not guilty.

Sheehy claimed to have the most positive kind of evidence against him and will be given a chance to prove his case on the morning of June 5.

It is claimed that Sheehy desired a warrant for a man that is said to conduct a little game in the basement of a downtown business block, but for some reason it was refused.

At first the ex-pugilist's campaign of reform was not taken seriously by the saloon men and Hebrew citizens that kept their stores open on Sunday, but the crusade has got beyond the joking stage with them. Sheehy even threatens to make a more general sweep of the Bowery district next Sunday.

On the Bowery there is some talk of "going after" the reformer. But this does not feaze the ex-pugilist any. He claims to be as good as he ever was in the fighting game. Those that remember some of his fights say the latter statement should not create a stampede.

There is a report current that Sheehy is collecting considerable evidence for the purpose of turning it over to the grand jury. However, the grand jury does not meet before next September and the present wave of reform will have easily rolled by before that time.

ITINERARY.

Places to Be Visited By the Court On Wheels.

Seven towns on the Vermilion and Mesaba ranges will be visited by the "court on wheels" week after next, when all the residents of the ranges that desire to become citizens in time to vote at next fall's elections may be accommodated.

Judge Cant will have charge of the adjourned term that will be held in these towns, and he will be accompanied by J. P. Johnson, clerk of the district court, and deputy sheriffs and deputy clerks enough to do the work.

Ely, Tower, Biwabik, Eveleth, Virginia, Mountain Iron and Hibbing will be visited, and at each of these places it is expected that applicants will come in from surrounding towns located short distances away. The court's itinerary will be as follows, beginning Monday, June 9, and ending Friday, June 13:

Ely, Monday, June 9, at 1:30 p. m.

Tower, Tuesday, June 10, from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m.

Biwabik, Tuesday, June 10, at 8 p. m.

Eveleth, Wednesday, June 11, at 1:30 p. m.

Virginia, Wednesday, June 11, at 8 p. m.

Mountain Iron, Thursday June 12, at 10 a. m.

Hibbing, Friday, June 13, at 2 p. m.

In each case court will be held in the city or village hall if there is one. If there is not, some suitable place will be provided and advertised in advance.

J. P. Johnson, clerk of the district court, has arranged this program, which was prepared by the judges, in the form of posters to be sent to each of the towns to be visited and to those near by. Instructions to intending applicants are also given, as follows:

"Persons applying for final papers (known as second papers) will be required to present a certified copy of their first papers and the testimony of two witnesses who have known the applicant for fully five years last past.

"Applicants must have resided for five years within the United States and for one year last past within the state of Minnesota. Two years must have elapsed since the issues of first papers.

"Persons who came to the United States before they reached the age of 18 years, will be entitled to receive their second, or final, papers on making strict proof of that fact and of the further fact that they have resided continuously within the United States for five years and in this state for one year last past, together with proof of good character, which is required in all cases."

The Lerch barn has been declared dangerous to life and property by several of the most competent judges of buildings in the city.

This barn has stood, or rather leaned, on lots at the corner of First street and Fourth avenue west for more than a year.

Citizens are becoming weary of the unsightly and dangerous structure, and are sending sizzling complaints to the department of public works to have it torn down.

The officers of this department would have taken it down six months ago had they not been advised to the contrary in order to protect the city from the expense of litigation.

The property owners and taxpayers, however, say down with the barn, and then take care of the litigation afterward, even if it does cost the city a little money.

The barn as it now stands is a disgrace to Duluth. It has caused a depreciation of adjoining property, and held up Duluth to the ridicule of every person that sees the unsightly structure located within a short block of the business center and less than half a block from the fine government building.

Recently the board of public works employed an architect to make an examination of the building. He reported that it was in immediate danger of falling, and might go so quickly as to cause loss of life.

The building is left in such a manner that if it should fall it will crash right over the north sidewalk of West First street, a walk used extensively by persons going and coming from the postoffice.

The architect that made the examination reported that the timber in the building was not worth more than it would cost to take it down, and that the city's interests would not be put in jeopardy by summary action in removing the nuisance.

OTHERS WARM

Duluth the Only Cold Place In Northwest Today.

The weather at the head of the lakes underwent another of those rapid changes last evening for which the Lake Superior region is noted. After a whole day of pleasant summer weather the southwest wind changed suddenly into the northeast at 10 o'clock last evening, and within fifteen minutes the temperature dropped 20 degrees. At 7 o'clock this morning the government thermometer registered 40 degrees above zero.

While it is generally cold today in the region close to Lake Superior it is much warmer in the country fifty miles away from the lake. There was 22 degrees difference between the temperatures at Duluth and St. Paul this morning, 62 degrees being registered at St. Paul at 7 o'clock, with clear weather and a south wind. Moorhead had a temperature of 60 degrees, and the weather is clear.

Decoration day last year the maximum temperature at Duluth was 62 and the minimum was 52 degrees. The wind was from the northeast that day, but the weather was clear.

The forecast indicates probable showers and slightly warmer temperature tonight and Saturday, with fresh to brisk easterly winds.

Burns, cuts and other wounds often become troublesome sores. Even where delay has aggravated such injuries DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve effects a cure. Cures all skin diseases. Piles yield to it at once. Max Wirth.

Line to Winnipeg.

A telephone line is to be constructed from Minneapolis to Winnipeg and will be operated in connection with the Bell long distance system. The line is expected to be a valuable one to the grain and jobbing interests and Duluth men in those lines will welcome it for they will, of course, have connections.

FINISHED ON TIME

George H. Lounsberry Fulfills Contract on St. Louis Hotel.

Was to Deliver Two Floors By First Day of June.

Delayed Three Weeks For Iron But Gets Through Nevertheless.

Tomorrow night George H. Lounsberry will turn over two floors of the addition to the St. Louis hotel, and Monday morning the carpet-layers will begin work. The plumbers still have some work to do, but that does not come under his contract. Even that is pretty well finished.

This marks the completion of one of the most remarkable pieces of contract work ever undertaken in Duluth. On the 6th day of last March Mr. Lounsberry signed a contract to build a 4-story addition to the 2-story portion of the hotel. In that contract he agreed to have two floors ready for occupancy June 1, and the entire addition by July 1. In the event of failing to have the two stories ready by June 1 he was to forfeit $600.

Some of the best contractors in the city thought he was undertaking too much, but he was confident of his ability to carry it through. He has done so, and in the face of unforeseen delays, too.

The iron contract called for delivery within two weeks, but the time had stretched to five weeks before it came, and time was very precious under the circumstances. The entire four stories had to be run up and roofed before the two floors to be delivered could be finished off.

Notwithstanding this discouraging delay, Mr. Lounsberry went at the job determined to finish it. The walls were rushed up quickly, the building roofed over, partitions put in, the plastering done, wood finishing put in, and all painted and made ready for use. Not only that, but a third floor is nearly ready and the fourth is so far progressed that the entire contract bids fair to be finished before the time required.

One thing can be said of the job which can be said of very few that have been undertaken in Duluth. The men never stopped work because of bad weather. They worked through everything.

The two floors that will be turned over are the fourth and fifth. The third and sixth will be ready by July 1.

The addition will give the hotel greatly increased accommodations and enable it to care for the traveling public in a manner much more gratifying to itself. There will be sixty new rooms, forty of which will be rooms with bath.

FATALLY

Lily, the 4-year-old daughter of Kenneth McLeod, of Carlton, met a terrible death Tuesday about noon. The child was visiting at the home of her grandfather, Fred Carlson, of Midway, and was playing near a burning brush heap, when her clothing caught fire. The screams of the child attracted the attention of her cousin, a young girl of 14, who quickly ran to the little one and endeavored to smother the flames, but without avail.

The clothing was burned from the child's body, and the body from neck to feet was literally roasted. Lily lived for some time after being carried into the house, suffering the most excruciating agony before death mercifully came to her relief. Dr. Allen had been summoned and although he responded promptly, nothing could be done to save the child. The other girl received painful burns about the hands while endeavoring to save her cousin.

GOT FIFTY THOUSAND.

Mrs. Craven Had Been Offered Much More.

San Francisco, May 30.—Mrs. Nettie O. Craven has abandoned her fight for recognition as the widow of the late Senator James G. Fair. She has been paid $50,000 for withdrawing from the various lawsuits against the estate of the deceased millionaire and with yesterday the estate, valued at $20,000,000 that has been so long in litigation vests absolutely in Charles L. Fair and his sisters, Mrs. Theresa Oelrichs and Mrs. Virginia Vanderbilt. When Mrs. Craven first appeared as a claimant for a share of Fair's millions she was offered $500,000 to abandon her contest. She demanded $500,000 and upon being refused, instituted the proceedings that were dismissed yesterday.

IRON ORE FIND.

Reported Discovery of Valuable Mineral In Mississippi.

Laurel, Miss., May 30.—Another mineral discovery has been made near this city, and if a partial analysis which has been taken of the ore proves correct, Laurel promises to become an iron field of great importance. The discovery of the iron ore was made in a somewhat singular manner. About a year ago two brothers were crossing Tallahila creek on a foot log when one of them slipped and went into the stream feet first. On striking the bottom he felt a stinging sensation and discovered that the sole of his shoe had been cut and that his foot also had been quite lacerated. They were greatly surprised to find the entire bottom of the creek lined with sharp ridges. The matter was given no further thought at that time, however, but recently the thought occurred that mineral might be found there. Examination of the spot by means of rods driven into the soil showed that for several hundreds of yards and at a very short distance below the surface there exists a bed of what is said on analysis to be iron ore of fine quality. Part of the tract lies inside this town site.

HERE IS A MITE.

Knoxville, Tenn., May 30.—Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Daniels are the parents of one of the smallest babies ever born. The child is a boy and his weight, when he is but three days old is but a pound and a half. An ordinary napkin ring passes over his head easily, and a finger ring can be slipped over his foot up to his knees. The child is in apparent good health and gives promise of living. His height is barely 12 inches and his feet are not two inches long, his other measurements being in proportion to their diminutive scale.

The child's father is an employe of the Knoxville rolling mills, and is a man of strong physique used to hard labor. The father is 36 years old, while the mother is barely 16, and was but 15 years of age when she and her husband were married on Sept. 22 last. The mother is a beautiful woman and previous to marriage she was Miss Lucy Jane Hailer, of Grainger county. She is a well-grown young woman and there is nothing remarkable in either her size or that of her husband.

BROODED

Over Martinique Disaster Until She Became Insane.

Fort Wayne, Ind., May 30.—Miss Carrie Wisenberger, of this city, is a maniac as the result of reading and brooding over the Martinique horror. Physicians who conducted an inquest in lunacy say that she will not survive forty-eight hours. She talks incessantly of the late disaster, and preaches wildly in the hospital ward of the county jail, where she was taken to prevent bodily harm. She was bright intellectually and comes from an excellent family.

"Five years ago dyspepsia took such hold on me I could scarcely go," writes George S. Marsh, Nocona, Tex., "I took quantities of medicine but nothing helped me. As a drowning man grabs at a straw I grabbed at Kodol. Dieting is unnecessary. After a few bottles I am sound and well. Kodol digests any good food and cures any form of stomach trouble. Max Wirth.

FOUR DROWNED

By Capsizing of Boat In Columbia River.

Portland, Ore., May 30.—Four persons were drowned by the capsizing of a rowboat in the Columbia river near Martin's Bluff, twelve miles above Kalama. The drowned:

HERBERT MARTIN, aged 24.
IVY MARTIN, aged 16.
LILLY DURKEE, aged 21.
LIZZIE DURKEE, aged 18.

Besides those drowned there were in the boat Mrs. Jones, Mrs. E. C. Martin and Ella Martin.

Herbert Martin saved his mother, one sister and Mrs. Jones. After taking them to shore he swam back to save the remainder of the party, but became exhausted and was drowned with three others.

BIG ESTATE

Claimed By French Chef at Kentucky Hotel.

Lexington, Ky., May 30.—Henry Devillard, a French chef at a local hotel, claims he is heir to an estate valued at $67,000. He says that his father, Gen. Henry Devillard, was killed in the Franco-Prussian war, and that his mother, who died May 14, left him, the only child, the property. He was formerly chef at various Louisville hotels, and has sent his claim to the French consul at Louisville. He says his home is at Rolla, Canton Vaud, France.

HOLDS UP A CONGRESSMAN.

"At the end of the campaign," writes Champ Clark, Missouri's brilliant congressman, "from overwork, nervous tension, loss of sleep and constant speaking I had about utterly collapsed. It seemed that all the organs in my body were out of order, but three bottles of Electric Bitters made me all right. It's the best all-round medicine ever sold over a druggist's counter." Over-worked, run-down men and weak, sickly women gain splendid health and vitality from Electric Bitters. Try them. Only 50c. Guaranteed by W. A. Abbett.

IS SERIOUS.

Assault In Second Degree Charged Against the Tug Firemen.

Late yesterday afternoon more serious charges were preferred against President John McCaffrey of the tug firemen's union, and John Murphy, who assisted him in his assault on Capt. Joseph Jacobs, of the tug Abbott.

Immediately after the assault on Jacobs the two striking tugmen went over to West Superior. Later they telephoned to police headquarters and asked what the charge against them was.

Chief Troyer at that time had a warrant charging them with ordinary assault and told them they had better come in and give themselves up without further trouble.

The men were willing if that was the only charge and came back to Duluth. In the meantime H. G. Inman went before the county attorney and secured a warrant for assault in the second degree.

In consequence, when the men gave themselves up they found a more serious condition of affairs. The maximum penalty for assault in the second degree is five years in the state prison.

Their examination will take place tomorrow morning and each has been released on $250 bail.

THEY RETURN.

Lumber Vesselmen Back From Chicago Conference.

Capts. O. W. Blodgett, A. R. Sinclair and C. H. Weeks returned this morning from Chicago, where they had been to attend the meeting of members of the Lumber Carriers' association.

They confirm the telegraphed reports that the association agreed to tie up eighty vessels of its fleet in the hope of relieving the lumber freight market of the present tendency toward weakness, owing to the attempt of the lumbermen to break the rate of $2.50.

"We don't know how long these eighty boats will be tied up," said Capt. Weeks. "It will probably be until there seems to be a demand for their tonnage in the lumber-carrying trade. It was decided that the tie-up would last for a period equal at least to one round trip for the tonnage affected. The vessels involved amount to about one-half the total lumber-carrying capacity of the association fleet."

EXCURSIONS.

Great Northern Will Give Two Into Duluth Next Month.

The Great Northern road will give two excursions to Duluth next month. A special train will arrive here at 1:30 p. m., June 14, bringing a large party from Evansville, Minn., and intermediate points, including Alexandria, Sauk Centre, St. Cloud and Osakis. The train returning will leave Duluth at 7 p. m., June 15. The rate will be $2.50 for the round trip from the furthest point.

A week later the same road will give an old settlers' excursion from points between Litchfield and Benson, Minn., and Duluth, the rate being one fare for the round trip. Stations included will be Kandiyohi, Willmar, Murdock and Kerkhoven. The special will arrive here at 2:25 p. m., June 21, and leave on the return at 7 p. m., on the 22nd.

It is also announced that the Great Northern will apply week-end excursion rates from Duluth to Grand Rapids, Deer River, Cass Lake and Bemidji. The tickets are good to return until the following Monday, and one fare will be charged for the round trip. The rates are effective tomorrow and during June, July, August and September.

FORTY HIGH SCHOOLS

Of Wisconsin Will Participate at Camp Randall.

Madison, Wis., May 30.—Nearly forty high schools of Wisconsin will be represented in the big inter-scholastic meet, to be held at Camp Randall, Saturday, under the auspices of the University of Wisconsin. The meet will be on a bigger and more finished scale than ever, and with favorable conditions some records are expected to go. Already over 300 participants have made entry.

The meet will bring thousands of visitors to Madison and a great round of gayety has been arranged for them by the fraternities in the form of drives, boat rides and parties.

A SMALL CROP.

St. Paul, May 30.—(Special to The Herald.)—Railway officials state that the Red River valley will produce less than 15 per cent of a crop this year, because of the continued unfavorable crop conditions and excessive moisture. Throughout the valley the wheat crop is reported to be seriously curtailed, and there is now almost no prospect of further planting. Other localities, it is said, will have the usual crop. Wheat is everywhere in splendid condition and the plants are strong and vigorous, affording an excellent protection against ordinary drouth.

Twenty-five Knight Templar from Duluth went over to Superior last evening in the private car St. Louis as the guests of the Superior commandery, which was inspected by Inspector General Theodore W. Goldin, of Janesville. Grand Commander Giles Stevens, of Reedsburg, was also present. The Red Cross degree was conferred, after which a banquet was given.

"Parlor Theater"—only fun in town.

Coal sales agents announce a 10-cent advance on Monday in the price of anthracite of all grades. This was the monthly advance outlined at the beginning of the summer.

Duluth plumbing company for lowest prices on plumbing and heating.

John Seney was arrested on the Midway this morning for threatening a young woman with a dangerous weapon. Complaint will be made against him tomorrow morning.

PERSONALS.

John R. Myers and daughter, Miss Blanche Myers, of Houston, Tex., are in the city and will be here for some time as guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Myers and Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Myers.

Charles S. Pillsbury, of Minneapolis, is visiting friends in the city today.

W. E. Morrow is at the south shore Brule today catching two trout where only one was ever caught before. H. H. Johnston went along to land the catch, so as to give the expert angler free rein to his skill and time.

G. A. Henry, Jr., came down from Hibbing last evening and is at the St. Louis.

Mrs. F. E. Potter and daughter, of Grand Forks, are visiting Mr. Potter, who is the new chief dispatcher of the Northern Pacific, at the St. Louis.

Mrs. C. A. Towne is expected to arrive here from New York June 15 to spend the summer at Mrs. Henry Smith's. Mr. Towne will spend as much of his time here as possible.

F. W. Gilbert, of Buffalo, is at the Spalding.

William Batson, who has charge of steel construction work for the entire Great Northern system, is in the city. He called on his old friend Col. E. S. Radcliff.

F. A. Patrick returned this morning from an Eastern trip.

C. A. Kline will leave tomorrow for a visit at Bay City, Mich.

T. S. Wood expects to depart tonight for a trip to New York.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Pressentin will leave this afternoon on the Twilight Limited for a visit at Milwaukee.

E. H. and J. T. Pugh left last night for a fishing trip down the line of the Eastern Minnesota. Their father is authority for the statement that they have never yet caught a fish, so he expects a fresh shower of fish stories when the boys return.

A party of railroad officials from St. Paul, including Col Stone, came up on the Omaha Fast Mail this morning as far as Birchwood for a few days' fishing.

Mrs. W. E. Morrow expects to go East in a few days to spend the summer in Pennsylvania.

SEARLE

Will Oppose Bede For Nomination, Says St. Paul Report.

St. Paul, May 29.—The Globe today says: J. Adam Bede is not to have things his own way in the Eighth district after all. Despite his long running start for the Republican congressional nomination, he is to be vigorously opposed. Within a few days the opposition will show its hand and begin an aggressive campaign. The opposition candidate will be F. E. Searle, of Duluth. Mr. Searle was in St. Paul yesterday, conferring with friends. He would say nothing of his plans. In fact his intentions are not known generally, he himself not deciding to be a candidate until the other day. He has been "felt out" frequently by those who desire to run a candidate against Bede. At first he was far from receptive, and was inclined to put the temptation behind him. The pressure has become determined of late, and Mr. Searle has decided to go after the nomination. He will so announce within a day or two.

It is useless to deny that there has been an under current of opposition to Mr. Bede, especially in St. Louis county. Mr. Bede's friends admit this. It has not been due to a waning of Bede's popularity. The business element of Duluth, while friendly to Bede personally, has been admittedly afraid of him. Prominent Duluth men, who feel very kindly to Bede, have said in confidence frequently that there was a feeling in business circles that Bede was somewhat uncertain. They were not blind to his conceded ability, but they are afraid of his independence, and they say they do not know what he might do if he were elected to congress. They say that he would follow his own instincts, despite the judgment of his constituents, and that he would not be governed by party policy.

Then again there is an antagonizing element in the old Morris crowd. The withdrawal of Judge Morris left them in the air. But they have never been in favor of allowing Bede a clear field to canter away with the prize. They have been feeling around for an available candidate. They have settled on Mr. Searle, and unless he suddenly changes his mind, he will announce his candidacy and begin an immediate campaign.

Mr. Searle left St. Paul last night, more determined in his course than ever. He has quietly sized up the situation and has confided to his friends that he does not believe Mr. Bede has the district "tied up" so tightly that it cannot be taken from him.

He will have a powerful organization behind him when he gets ready to begin his fight.

ELECTRICAL

Projects That Are of Interest In Minnesota.

St. Paul, May 30.—(Special to The Herald.)—General Manager W. B. Warren of the Westinghouse Electric company was in St. Paul yesterday arranging final details of the transfer of a majority interest in the Litle Falls Electric Light and Power company, which he and allied interests now control. With others interested in the project he left last night for Little Falls.

Mr. Warren is inerested in the projected electric freight line, the first of its kind in the West, to tap portions of Morrison county and adjacent territory. Definite plans for the line will be completed within a week and the new controlling interests will push the work rapidly to completion.

It is stated that as soon as the final details of the transfer are completed active construction will begin. Equipment will be ordered an da portion of the line will be in operation before snow flies.

The territory through which the line will run is not served by any steam railway. The idea of the company is to build an electric railway of standard gauge, able to accommodate rolling stock of the steam roads. It is proposed to afford farmers in outlying districts shipping facilities by transferring freight cars and similar equipment from electric line points to steam roads at Litle Falls.

Bunch of American Photographers For Coronation.

New York, May 30.—A strong detachment of American photographers has just arrived here for the work of the coronation, says a Tribune dispatch from London. The embassy is besieged with applicants for special privileges, apart from the police passes and tickets for the press boat, provided by the admiralty for the naval review. They are not likely to obtain many favors. To the embassies have been promised a limited number of seats at Westminster abbey at the time of the coronation, for the use of foreign correspondents, but these have not yet been issued to many. James R. Keene has arrived here to visit his son, Foxhall Keene.

JUDGES IN JAIL.

Taxpayers Have to Adjust the Law's Intricacies.

Osceola, Mo., May 30.—The famous St. Clair county bond case is now on the road to settlement after more than thirty years of bitter contention, during which time the judges of the county court have spent most of their terms in prison or hiding in the woods. A mass meeting of taxpayers ordered elections to be held in each township on June 7 to select three delegates, these to meet in the county court the following Wednesday, when a committee will be selected to confer with Judge Phillips and agree upon a basis of adjustment to be voted upon by the people.

All three members of the county court were present United States Marshal Durham having brought Presiding Judge Thomas D. Nevitt from Maryland, Mo., where he has been confined in jail. Judge Davis Walker was allowed to go unmolested being the first day of public freedom since taking the oath of office. Judge George A. Van Nice has never been served with the order of the federal court ordering him to levy a tax for the payment of the railroad bonds.

"I have used DeWitt's Little Early Risers for constipation. I am glad to indorse them," writes Alfred Helnze, Quincy, Ill. Max Wirth.

TAFT AT NAPLES.

Governor Is Expected to Reach Rome Friday.

New York, May 30.—Bishop O'Gorman has telegraphed from Naples to the papal secretary of state at the vatican announcing the arrival of Governor Taft, says a Rome dispatch to the Tribune. Governor Taft received a visit from Ambassador Meyer and several officers of the squadron at Naples, who met him in the Philippines. Bishop O'Gorman reported to him the situation in regard to the Philippine question at the vatican since the governor left New York, giving an account of the result of his conferences with Cardinal Rampolla. The governor is expected at Rome today.

TWO THOUSAND FOR PEARL.

Prairie du Chien, Wis., May 30.—The finest pearl ever known to have been taken from the Mississippi river was found by Godfrey Cardine, a clam fisherman. It weighs 50 grains and is perfectly round, of a delicate pink color. It was purchased by P. O Heid for $2000, the highest price yet paid here for a pearl.

The Diplomatic Dean at Havana.

The American minister to Cuba, Herbert G. Squiers, is dean of the diplomatic Cuban corps, after all. Mr. Squiers reached Havana Monday and in less than twenty-four hours his credentials had been received by President Palma, of the new republic. It was thought at first that the appointment by England of its former consul general to be minister and who was on the spot, would give England the honor of the deanship, but it was discovered that according to the oldest rules of the diplomatic world, the question of seniority is determined by the presentation of credentials. The English minister's not having arrived, Mr. Squiers secured the honor. Considerable power and influence are vested in the dean of the diplomatic corps at the various capitals. The dean of the diplomatic corps at Cuba will be recognized by all the other ministers as the arbiter in cases of official and social etiquette. He will decide matters of precedence, and in general will "set the pace." But more important than all, he will be the one through whom the diplomatic corps will act, in case there is occasion for joint action. He calls the members of the corps together when it is necessary that united action be taken, and he is the medium through whom the members of the corps express their opinions. In this capacity the dean has great influence in promoting or retarding a movement. Whether there is any real advantage or not in the position, the United States has it, and the sticklers for show and diplomacy are satisfied.

The Centennial of West Point.

Early next month the centennial anniversary of the West Point military academy will be celebrated when the commencement exercises are held. It now ranks among the best institutions of the kind in the world. The school had its beginning in an act of congress passed on March 16, 1802, providing for a corps of army engineers. Provision was made in the act for the instruction of ten cadets, who were to receive $16 a month for support. The prescribed teaching force was to consist of a major, two first lieutenants and two second lieutenants. Power was conferred on the president to increase the teaching force as occasion required, but the teachers and cadets were not to exceed twenty. Some of the early cadets were men holding commissions who desired to perfect themselves in engineering. The first graduate was Joseph G. Swift, who was a second lieutenant and a member of the teaching force when he entered the school. From this humble beginning the now celebrated school for officers was developed. Not all of distinguished military men of the United States were West Point students, but as a rule the academy has supplied our ablest commanders. Gen. Grant was the only West Point graduate who reached the presidency.

SUNDAY BASEBALL.

As a result of the threats of the West End Civic federation there is no Sunday baseball in Duluth. At least in that section of the city over which the federation casts its watchful eye. But there are other cities where Sunday baseball games are not tabooed and where there are many people who think that the sport should be encouraged on the first day of the week. It is related that Sabbatarians in New York were treated to a rude shock recently by the pastor of a Catholic church who took all his boys to a baseball field on Sunday afternoon and supervised a warm game of ball. It differed from the average professional or amateur game in that cheering was prohibited, swear words tabooed and scrapping forbidden. Even the umpire was treated with respectful consideration. In all respects it was a model game, a rare example of out-door recreation and decorum.

"All the boys work hard during the week," says the clergyman, "and need recreation on Sunday. It is an experiment so far and if all goes well it will be continued during the summer. Boys might do worse things on Sunday."

The Brooklyn Eagle commends the good example set by this clergyman and declares that his views are shared by many pastors not of his faith. "Any sport," says the Eagle, "not wantonly interfering with the rational observance of Sunday, any sport which takes young men and boys into the suburbs and keeps them in the open air and sunshine and away from the saloons and the street corners should be generally commended and encouraged. You may hear some shouting, for baseball is not as quiet as ping-pong, and occasionally your ear will catch fragments of language not employed in polite society, but these offenses against the accepted ideas of Sabbath observance may be forgiven when you realize that in the recreation itself there is nothing to degrade and much to improve. Sunday ball playing is a good thing when practiced within reasonable limitations."

The Eagle's view of the question may be the correct one, but all people are not of the same opinion.

DECORATION DAY.

Many years have passed since the last of the victims of the great civil war in the United States fell in battle, since the Blue and the Gray ceased to meet in hostile array, but the thousands who died in that terrific struggle, or whose subsequent death was hastened by their service, are not forgotten. Each year the American people unite in commemoration of Decoration day, and exhibit their regard for the heroes who fought for the preservation of the Union. Today this unique holiday is being observed with appropriate services and fragrant tributes to the multitudes who have gone before to the fair realm of which earth's early summer flowers are the fittest emblems.

While we strew beautiful flowers upon the graves of the heroic men who gave their lives to preserve the republic from dismemberment, the observance of this day is for the living, not the dead. It need not be altogether sorrowful. Death is the common lot of all, and in the case of each one departed we can always find some reason to say that "it may be for the best." With offerings of the beautiful and fragrant emblems of the brevity of life and of a resurrection, of purity and peace, and with appropriate services of song and speech, the American people do well to observe this holiday, remembering all that its suitable observance suggests. And may not such a service teach all to say and believe:

"There is no death! An angel form
Walks o'er the earth with silent tread;
He bears our best-loved things away;
And then we call them "dead."

He leaves our hearts all desolate;
He plucks our fairest, sweetest flowers;
Transplanted into bliss, they now
Adorn immortal bowers.

And ever near us, though unseen,
The dear, immortal spirits tread;
For all the boundless universe
Is life—there are no dead."

THE VITAL QUESTION.

There are some very prominent Democrats of the country, and their number is rapidly growing, who believe that the Democratic members of congress are making a serious mistake in taking up the alleged cruelty of army officers in the Philippines and anti-expansion as campaign issues. They believe, and they certainly seem sound in their position, that the Democratic party can better win the confidence and votes of the people on the tariff issue. The agitation on the Philippines must be more or less temporary, while the tariff is a question that will last for years. Judge Lambert Tree, a well-known Chicago jurist, expresses himself as follows:

"Today the people of the United States are talking more about the tariff than any other one subject. They believe the tariff is largely responsible for the inordinately high prices of nearly all commodities which enter into the cost of living. They believe that the tariff is the basis of the trusts. The cost of living, the monopolistic trusts, the high tariff, run together and form the greatest problem with which the American people have to deal today. There is the issue which comes home to every man and to every woman. The people are talking about high prices; they are talking about the trusts; they are talking about the tariff. They care little for the alleged wrongs of the Filipinos, and are willing to trust the American army and American civil agents to work out that problem. If the Democratic party wishes to be true to its ideals, and its record, it will go in against the high tariff, against monopoly, against all forms of robbery under the guise of modern industrial development. It makes me weary to see so-called spokesmen for the Democratic party ignoring this great question and trying to put the party into an attitude of opposition to expansion. Why, the democracy is the great expansionist party of America. That party brought into the republic all the territory we ever acquired down to the Spanish war, with the single exception of Alaska. Expansion is old-time Democratic doctrine. We literally kicked the McKinley administration into fighting Spain. How absurd, then, the moment the war is over and territory has been acquired as a result of it, for the democracy to turn about and say we shall not meet the obligations thus contracted. Every man of sense knows the United States could not in honor scuttle out of the Philippines if we wanted to, because the people there are mere children and incapable of self-government. Every man who is honest with himself knows that we do not want to scuttle out, and that we have not the slightest intention of doing so."

Judge Tree is right in many ways. There are, of course, some features of the present Philippine policy that need correction, but after all the tariff is the great, vital question.

JAPAN'S MERCHANT MARINE.

An erroneous idea seems to prevail among many people that the Japanese are not a sea-going people, that is, in a mercantile way. This may be due possibly to the few Japanese vessels seen in the Eastern ports of the United States and the little mention that is made of them. The Japanese, however, have ever been a race of sailors. Centuries ago their junks were manned by hardy and adventurous sailors whose record on the seas fills a large portion of Japansese history.

Japanese history presents a parallel to the defeat of the Spanish armada by the British; in 1272 the skilfully handled little junks of the Japanese so severely mauled the stately vessels of the Chinese that they were subsquntly destroyed by the elemnts. As a result, Japanese junks carried commerce to Corea and China, and to Annam, Siam, Luzon and Mulacca: In the sixteenth century Portuguese and Spanish ships visited Japan, and it is on record that besides imitating the European vessels, an Englishman of that period settled in Japan and taught the natives shipbuilding, etc. An edict of the Tokugawa era forbade the construction of ocean-going vessels, and for a time little progress was made, but in the nineteenth century the old order changed, giving place to the new, and the magnificent fleet of ocean-going vessels known as the Nippon Yusen Kaisha, which has now a fleet o fseventy steamships, with a gross tonnage of 210,000 tons, came into being in 1885, through the amalgamation of rival lines. But this magnificent fleet, with its regular service to China, Asiatic Russia, the Straits Settlements, India, the Red Sea, Europe, Canada, America and Australia, by no means comprises the mercantile marine of Japan. In 1900 Japanese shipping was composed of 846 steamers, of 528,321 tons, and 3,389 sailing vessels, of 304,161 tons, giving a total of 4,126 vessels and 832,482 tons in all. A steady increase is taking place both in the numbers and tonnage of vessels flying the Japanese flag, and the Japanese are showing unwearied zeal in the development of their mercantile marine.

The Japanese are a most enterprising people and once instructed in any project, make rapid progress.

The suicide of a contracting painter of St. Louis because his debtors would not pay him enough to quiet his creditors illustrates the importance of promptness in the payment of debts, says the Post Dispatch. Every man who meets his financial obligations without delay does much to promote prosperity. He not only pays, but he enables a chain of other people to pay.

The recently published statement that the joint committee of the postoffice and treasury departments made a report against the post check mensure was incorrect. The committee disagreed and there will be a majority report and a minority report. Public sentiment is strongly in favor of the measure and this may force congress to authorize the post check currency.

The women of the Montclair club have been trying to get possession of a considerable property on the Palisades of the Hudson for a park, and it appears that while they have raised $10,000, a man who desires to be unknown has determined to purchase and give the entire tract desired into the hands of the New Jersey state federation of women's clubs.

AT THE HOTELS

Among the guests at the Spalding are G. P. Whaley, manager of the New York lubricating oil department of the Standard oil company, and H. S. Morton, Chicago manager of the same department. They spent a day or so with Manager Pollock of the Duluth district.

Homer H. Chapman, superintendent of the state agricultural experiment station at Grand Rapids, arrived at the St. Louis last evening to consult with H. W. Newman, of Washington, who has been sent here to make investigations of the forestry conditions west and north of Duluth concerning the growth of Norway and white pine and spruce. Mr. Chapman will direct the work of the geological survey corps in this region by reason of his ex-officio connection with the federal government. He is considered an authority on the subject of Northern Minnesota forestry. The corps, which consists besides Mr. Newman, of Clinton; G. Smith and H. J. Brown, will make its first headquarters at Carlton. Afterward it will go west along the Great Northern and thence up along the line of the Itasca Logging railway line. Where camp will be made for extended observations. From this point the party will probably go farther West into the Indian reservation territory. It is expected that the regulations for the sale of the timber on these reservations will be based on the report of the investigations of this party. It is the intention of the government, it is said, to place such limitations on the sale as will conduce to a second growth of timber on certain parts of the lands.

The members of the forestry department, which numbers about 150 field men and collaborators, usually prepare themselves for their work for the government by taking a course in forestry at Cornell or Yale and ranging subsequently in field work. The department has about 100 men in the field.

POINTED REMARKS.

Harvard Lampoon: Elderly Gentleman (as freshman jumps)—Have a care!

Washington Star: "I see that our friend, the politician, has come out uncompromisingly for reform.
"Well, well!" rejoined Senator Sorghum; "I didn't know he had made money enough to indulge in such luxuries!"

Philadelphia Press: "I want to get a dog collar," said the customer.
"Yes, sir," replied the clerk who had recently been transferred from the haberdashery department. "What size shirt do you wear."

"Oh, I don't know," said the mercury in the thermometer, rising to respond. "It seems only a short time since I was in the 'thirties.'"

Smart Set: Mrs. Jones—I don't see what she wanted to marry him for. He has a cork leg, a glass eye and false teeth.
Mrs. Smith—Well, my dear, you know women always did have a hankering after remnants.

Chicago Post: "The pleasing thing about your husband," they said to the wife of the man who had just been elected to office, "is that he has a well-defined policy."
"Two of 'em," answered the wife proudly; one for $5000 and one for $10,000, not to mention the accident policy."

Washington Star: "There is only one comfort to be drawn from a volcanic eruption," said the optimist.
"What is that?"
"It must grind the feelings of the coal barons fearfully to see such an enormous consumption of fuel without being able to collect a cent."

Miss Anne Teek—Sixteenth! Why, I told you Thirty-sixth street. Such stupidity! I'll report—
Conductor—Beg your pardon' ma'am. It must be I got thinkin' o' sixteen, bekase 'twas nearer yer age, ma'am.

OFFICE BOY'S LOVE SONNET

It's over me now; the blow has fell at last;
It seems as though the sun can't shine no more,
And nothing looks the way it did before;
The glad thoughts that I used to think are past;
Her desk's shut up today, the lid's locked fast;
The keys where she typewrote are still; her chair
Looks sad and lonesome standin' empty there—

This mornin' when the boss came in he found
A letter that he'd got from her, and so
He read it over twice and turned around
And said: "The little fool's got married!" Oh,
It seemed as if I'd sink down through the ground,
And never peep no more—I didn't though.

The chap's a beau we didn't know she had,
He come from out of town somewhere, they say;
I hope he's awful homely and that they
Will fight like cats and dogs and both be sad!
But still there's one thing makes me kind of glad;
The long-legged clerk must stay and work away.
And though he keeps pretendin' to be gay,
It's plain enough to see he's feelin' bad.

I wish when I'm a man and rich and proud
She'd see me tall and handsome then, and be Blamed sorry that she didn't wait for me,
And that she'd hear the people cheerin' loud
When I went past, and down there in the crowd
I'd see her lookin' at me sorrowfully.

TEMPERANCE JIMMY'S DECORATION-DAY.

BY MARGARET SPENCER.

(Copyright, 1902, by W. R. Hearst.)

"It's a shame to give that fine manly-looking lad the name of Temperance Jimmy!"

"Why shouldn't a fine manly-looking lad be proud of it, I'd like to know?"

"Well, it sounds rather absurd, you know. Can't exactly tell why—kind of crank—a fad—laughed at, you see, by the world, and, well—he's an uncommon-looking boy. By George—handsome—reminds me?—Ah, yes—of—"

Col. Dick Wise wiped his face, took off and put on his hat several times and left the sentence quite unfinished.

"Jimmy is all that, Dick, and more! He honors the name—it's a glory!"

Col. Wise laughed at the enthusiasm of his old friends, and replied: "We tough old Southerners, Steve, must have night caps, and toddy, and though we know temperance is plebeian and even popular, we can't fit it to boys like that one as a name."

The two well-dressed congressmen were walking down the capitol steps, May 30. Just before them was a handsome lad of 18, carrying a huge basket of cut flowers.

"Now look at him, Colonel! That boy works all day in the capitol. I got him the place. He runs errands and does chores. His father died in that big saloon across the street, not a block from us. His pale, plucky little mother takes in washing, and Jimmy sends his two little sisters to school. See him now! Look at his cheer! His flowers! His manly, happy air! He's starting for Arlington with his 'Loyal Legion,' 'Sons of Temperance,' and the Lord knows what! President, of course, got up these bands out of the gutters and saloons. He's brought many a one to me for a decent garment. Going to decorate the soldiers' graves. Dick, don't you feel proud to meet our 'Temperance Jimmy.' Not a soul laughs at that name! Saloonkeepers respect him. I wish you could see his mother. Her shame and sorrow and poverty have failed to make her a washwoman. She has the blood of some princess in her veins."

Col. Richard Wise chanced to fight on the wrong side. Arlington graves were a horror to him. Beautiful Betty Pendleton used to be there, where he spent delightful weeks with his friends, the Lees, long ago, but today he had a notion to see Temperance Jimmy's band decorate.

The colonel and his friend "Steve" drove over Long Bridge into historic Virginia, through the wide gateway, where 22,000 soldiers lie buried from battlefields. Thousands of people passed and repassed. Crowds of men and women solemnly and reverently laid their love tokens upon the graves. The grass was soft and green, the beautiful trees full of singing birds. Armies of loving, tender people marched in the May day sunshine with pots of plants and blossoming flowers. Tiny flags fluttered from each grave and the amphitheatre was draped with stars and stripes. Bands played their most solemn and lovely airs. The addresses by old comrades and great speakers had begun. The platform was gay with silken flags and banners. The scarlet coats of the Marine band, and the flashing uniforms, the sparkle of the river, the gleaming marble of the capitol and monument, all looked a gala day—this Decoration day.

Over the hills rang the national salute to the silent dead.

"Steve, who is making a speech over there? Some young boy. Why—I see—There's your 'Temperance Jimmy,' and all his band. Come, come closer."

Unnoticed, the two friends stepped behind a crowd. Near to the great granite tombstone which marks 2111 unknown dead stood Jimmy and his band of twenty boys. Their heads were uncovered. Each held in his hand a flower. In a clear, ringing voice their president recited the "General Orders," as given May 5, 1868, by the soldiers' beloved Gen. John A. Logan, "Headquarters Grand Army of the Republic, 416, Fourteenth street, Washington, D. C."

"Boys, we want to remember when that order was given. The noble soldier general who gave it is in heaven. This is his tender message:

"This 30th day of May, 1868, is designated for the purpose of strewing the graves of our comrades with flowers. Let no neglect testify that we have forgotten the cost of our free republic. If other hearts grow dull, other hands slack, and other hearts cold in this solemn trust, ours shall keep it well, as long as the warmth and light of life are in us. Garland them with the choicest flowers of springtime, raise over them the dear old flag they saved from dishonor."

The colonel moved a bit from behind a tree, hastily wiped his eyes, and said:

"Steve, do you remember the wonderful verses called 'The Blue and the Gray?' Suppose—I—I'm going to add to Jimmy's decoration."

Stepping forward the gray-haired man laid his hand on the boy's shoulder and said: "God bless you, my boy! I too, am loyal today, and forever, to all our brave soldiers! Let me add a little song to your beautiful service:

"'From the silence of sorrowful hours
The desolate mourners go,
Lovingly laden with flowers,
Alike for the friend and the foe.
Under the sod and the dew,
Waiting the Judgment Day;
Under the laurel the Blue;
Under the willow the Gray.

"'No more shall the war-cry sever,
Or the winding rivers be red,
Oh, banish our anger forever,
When they laurel the graves of our dead.
Under the sod and the dew,
Waiting the Judgment Day,
Love and tears for the Blue,
Tears and love for the Gray.'"

That night, when the tramp of soldier feet had grown still and the thousands of blossoms lay in the dew, and the gold of sunset had faded from over the Virginia hills, when in a church service near by a sweet voice sang Longfellow's hymn, "Sleep, Comrades, Sleep and Rest," Jimmy was sitting close to his mother, telling her about the wonderful day; it's beautiful music and flowers, and marches and sunshine, and, "Oh, mother, such a grand gentleman, Col. Wise—I think it was Wise—and—why, mother! Jiminy! Gee! What did I say?" groaned the terrified boy.

There was none to call. He dashed water in her face—he held her in his arms, and talked faster than ever before in his life.

Some one knocked. Jimmy shouted, "Come! Come in!" Just as the great dark eyes opened, Col. Wise stood before them.

"I beg pardon, but I came to see you—my—boy—on business."

White as snow, the little mother stood and offered her hand to the visitor.

"I am glad to see you, Col. Wise. Do you know my son, Jimmy, this—is a very old—friend."

"Betty Pendleton! I must call you by the old name. Yes—I came to ask your boy to be my clerk in the house. I need just—such—an one."

There are nights when a spell of silence fall over one. No audible speech is rich enough to tell the story. Such a one came to the colonel.

What a Decoration day! His world had seemed small. Now it would be large! The hum of voices, the music and blossoms, the sadness of graves, the joy of the living. Mysterious—Memorial day!

There should be no past. The sad, beautiful eyes of the woman should grow glad, like the girl to whom he was once engaged, and the handsome lad, "Temperance Jimmy!"

"Proud to know him?" Yes, a thousand times glad and proud. Forever they should all sing together:

"Love and tears for the Blue,
Tears and love for the Gray."

SCHULTE DECLINES

Won Appointment as Detective But Will Not Take It.

He Knows the Administration Does Not Want Him.

Coterie of Republican Politicians Violate Civil Service Rules.

A certain clique of Republican politicians, responsible for the trouble over the proposed change in the civil service regulations, will probably receive a surprise in a day or so.

Their pernicious activity may be the means of killing the chances of the candidate they are pushing the mayor to appoint on the detective force.

These politicians recently held a meeting in an office in the Union depot building for the purpose of urging the appointment of a Republican who failed to win out over a Democrat in the recent competitive examinations for promotion in the detective department.

It is a rule of the civil service commission that the recommendation of any person for promotion, whether the recommendation be made in writing or verbally, shall disqualify the candidate unless he can show that the recommendation was not made by his request or connivance. Persons making such recommendations are taking unwarrantable liberties in interfering with the public service, according to the rules of the civil service.

In the present instance the fight of the Republican politicians has been to throw out Frank A. Schulte, a Democratic patrolman who passed the highest examination for promotion to the detective department. It is claimed that the proposed change in regulations is to legislate him out of the position he won, but that will be unnecessary, for Mr. Schulte, recognizing the fact that he is not desired by the administration, is perfectly content to remain on his beat, thus giving a clear field to the candidate of the politicians.

Rule 21 of the civil service regulations says that no person in the public service has the right to use his official authority or influence to coerce appointments. This might also apply to certain city officers that have taken a finger in the present fight.

However, the fight is over so far as the politics of it are concerned. The fact that Mr. Schulte would not accept an appointment to a place where he is not wanted, even though he fairly won it on an examination of merits, removes him as the obstacle of contention.

It now narrows down to a question of whether or not the civil service commissioners will change their rules so as to permit the mayor to make promotions from a field of three candidates instead of having just the name of the highest competitor certified to him for appointment.

Argument of acknowledged strength is put forward to support the proposed change. The leading argument in this connection is that as long as the mayor is held responsible for the police department he should have some choice in making selections of men to represent him on that department.

However, the friends of civil service say that they consider the proposed change a blow at the fundamental principle of civil service and a retrograde movement toward the old condition of party spoils.

SHOCKING ACCIDENT

Burlington Officials Killed By Collision at Alma, Wis.

Consulting Engineer of Chicago Was Instantly Killed.

Superintendent Cunningham and Roadmaster Purdy May Die.

Alma, Wis., May 30.—A southbound gravel train on the Chicago, Burlington & Northern at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon crashed into a stationary gravel train at Alma, on which a party of Burlington officials were inspecting the work, killing one outright and seriously injuring all aboard. The dead:

E. J. BLAKE, consulting engineer, Burlington system; headquarters Chicago.

D. C. Cunningham, superintendent Northern division, leg cut off; may die.

W. L. Breckenridge, chief engineer of system, seriously injured. J. E. Bessler, general superintendent of system, seriously injured. Engineer Larson and Fireman Weil Russell, of the southbound train, escaped injury.

The inspection party left La Crosse on the Burlington inspection car at 12:45 to go over its line where improvements to the roadbed were being made. A new patent combined engine and car for unloading gravel trains was at work here and the party decided to inspect it. This car is open from the rear and a narrow passage way just wide enough to admit one man and six feet long, leads to the engine room.

The train was standing on the north switch and the official party headed by Superintendent Cunningham entered this passageway in single file. At that moment a southbound gravel train from Pepin, heavily loaded and running at high speed, shot into the switch from around the curve — struck the machine car. When the train struck the car in which the officials were standing, it doubled it like a jack knife, crushing the men between its back and front walls, and derailing five cars to the rear, all of which were piled up in confusion by the track. Firemen Russell and Engineer Larson, of La Crosse, jumped after the engine was reversed.

The big engine was badly wrecked, but did not leave the track. A large force of men were soon at work taking out the injured and all were removed to a Burlington coach. Blake's body had not been recovered at midnight. It is a mangled mass of flesh and bones imprisoned in the wreck.

The injured were at once taken to St. Francis' hospital, La Crosse. Cunningham may recover, though an amputation of his leg was unavoidable, but there is believed to be no help for Purdy, both of whose legs were amputated. The injured men are all reported as resting as well as could be expected.

The blame for the accident has not been fixed, but an official of the company said last night that someone had committed a terrible blunder and that an effort would be made to fix the responsibility.

Master Mechanic F. G. Frye escaped by the merest accident. He was to have been in the party, but just as the train left La Crosse he was called to his office by urgent business and missed the train.

AT CASS LAKE.

John Schefstad Lost Three Fingers and a Thumb.

Cass Lake, Minn., May. 30.—(Special to The Herald.)—While working in the planing mill of the J. Neils Lumber company Wednesday afternoon, John Schefstad accidentally lost three fingers and the thumb of his right hand. Schefstad works on one of the surfacers, and while feeding a board into the machine, his right hand slipped into the machinery, cutting and jambing the fingers and thumb.

William Foell, who recently came off a drive in Cass Lake was sentenced to serve twenty days in the country jail, having pleaded guilty to the charge of petit larceny. Foell entered Bonnalie's saloon, after the place had been closed, Tuesday night, and loading up with bottles, and tapping the cash register, started to make his exit through the rear door. He ran into the muzzle of Patrolman St. Louis' revolver and was hustled off to the village lockup.

STOPS WORK.

Capt. Fay Ceases Exploring For Gold In Carlton County.

Capt. M. L. Fay has discontinued his explorations that he was making in Carlton county for gold deposits. It is understood that the captain found unmistakable signs that gold exists on the property he was exploring and that he found evidences that make him believe it exists there in paying quantities. However, a friend of the captain says he concluded that it would cost too much money to make the explorations as thorough as would be necessary to convince capital that his belief was backed up by the facts, and so he discontinued until his operations in other lines would permit him to give the matter more attention or somebody of large resources joined him in the project.

"Capt. Fay concluded from the surface exploring he did in Carlton county that he could find the gold in paying quantities if he had the money and time to devote to it," said this friend. "He found gold that assayed $5 to the ton, and others have since brought out specimens that went $12 to the ton. Talk about the captain's going in heavy in explorations outside of iron is unfounded. The sum total of his expenditures in Carlton county do not foot up much over $200, and he considers it money well expended."

It is said that Capt. Fay is finding some good iron ore on the Buckeye property near Grand Rapids, and is satisfied with the progress made there. He discontinued his operations in Canada after receiving a report from an expert he sent up to make surface explorations.

AMUSEMENTS.

NAT GOODWIN.

Tomorrow evening at the Lyceum Nat C. Goodwin and Maxine E. Elliott will be seen in Henry V. Esmond's play "When We Were Twenty-One." The play gathers its interest from the comradeship which exists between four men in middle life, growing out of the companionship of their youth. There were five in the little circle, but one is dead, and the others devote themselves to the care and training of their dead friend's son, known as "The Imp," who is industriously engaged in sowing his wild oats. The efforts of the "Quadrity" as they are called to save the youth from his folly forms the pivot of the story, but it finds a dual theme in the sentiment of love and the apotheosis of enduring friendship. While it is modern in every way, it is said to have an old comedy flavoring. As Richard Carewe the head of the "Quadrity" Mr. Carewe is said to have stepped for in advance of any of his previous accomplishments and to have reached the highest plane in dramatic art. Miss Elliott has also been equally well received as Phyllis Erricson, her beauty, grace and natural charm lending themselves to a most charming portrayal. Mr. Goodwin and Miss Elliott will bring with them a most complete production in fact it is the identical one used during the long engagement in the Knickerbocker theater in New York and the run of 105 nights at Mr. Goodwin's theater, the Comedy, in London. The cast contains many of the original creators of the various roles and numbers some twenty odd players.

KING DRAMATIC COMPANY.

A small audience at the Lyceum last evening witnessed a good performance of "A Ward of France," by the King Dramatic company. The production is a stirring melo-drama and replete with thrilling scenes including sword and knife play and heavy artillery.

Tonight "The Cotton King" will be produced.

The company will be here next week.

MUST PAY.

Clerk of Hennepin Court Owes County Ten Thousand.

St. Paul, May 30—Cortland N. Dickey, clerk of courts in Hennepin county, is assessed $10,000 under a decision of the supreme court, filed by Justice Lovely. His indebtedness to the county may even exceed that sum.

Mr. Dickey was accommodating to the public and neglected to charge fees for small services which required searching the records. The court holds that this was all right while his office was on a fee basis, but that after it was placed on a salary it became his duty to charge for everything provided in the fee bill, which includes practically every service or piece of information he gives.

Mr. Dickey had also followed the custom long established of charging the commercial agencies and abstract companies a lump sum per month for filling out the blanks they furnished him daily.

Under the decision of the supreme court he should have charged for this information as to suits and judgments filed, etc., as though he had furnished certified copies of the items, and the money should have been turned into the state treasury.

The court calls attention to the fact that under the law failure to comply with these provisions constitutes a felony, but Justice Lovely, in the opinion, makes a number of statements exonerating Mr. Dickey from any felonious intent.

In the first place, it is stated that upon assuming the duties of the office in 1891, Mr. Dickey consulted the county attorney with regard to these matters, particularly the retention of the fees, and was advised to retain them, and to do just as he has been doing, and the county commissioners for many years acquiesced in this.

Then, it is stated, that when the county commissioners brought the action, Mr. Dickey furnished the testimony on which the county's claim was based. He did not attempt to conceal anything.

If Mr. Dickey is disappointed by the order to repay the fund, the court says, he must remember that a man who holds public office must accept its burdens as well as its compensations.

The judgment of the Hennepin county court in favor of Mr. Dickey is reversed and a new trial ordered.

The supreme court affirmed the decision of the Polk county court in Frank Walker, respondent, vs. Grand Forks Lumber company, appellant, a personal injury case.

Justice Start reversed the Le Seuer county court in Frederick Bernard, appellant, vs. Margaret Thurston, respondent, a dispute over eighty acres of land, whether a deed had been delivered to Bernard during the lifetime of the grantor. The district court held that the evidence showed not; the supreme court holds that it did.

Chief Justice Start affirmed the order of the Sibley county court in Theodore Streisguth, respondent, vs. William Kroll, appellant, dispute over a promissory note.

Justice Brown affirmed the order of the Minneapolis municipal court overruling a demurrer in a suit of the Soo road, against Otto Grethen et al, defendants, and Louis Schlick, appellants. The railroad company sued to recover $60 on a bond which Grethen gave to secure the money after the company had been garnished.

CUTS A DIME

Off the Head of Winnipeg Man With a Sword.

Winnipeg, Man., May 30.—How would you like to take a chance at having a cavalryman cut a 10-cent piece off the top of your head with a sword?

Handle V. Phasey, the English bandmaster, was willing, and has a letter to show for it.

Sergt. Page is admitted to be the most expert swordsman in the Winnipeg cavalry barracks and had often boasted that in the "one-two" sword exercise he could cut a coin off the top of a man's head without brushing a hair.

But until Mr. Phasey came along with Dan Godfrey's band he had not found a man who was willing to do the "William Tell act" to help him make good his assertion.

When Mr. Phasey came to the barracks and was told of the sergeant's boast, he immediately sent for the man and promised to provide the head and the coin for the experiment. The entire company gathered to see the thing done, and preparations were made to take care of the bandmaster in case Page should clip off a slice of his head.

Sergt. Page bared his arm, placed Mr. Phasey in an erect position with a 10-cent piece on the very top of his head, stepped back about five feet and began the "one-two" exercise.

"He slashed backward and forward in long sweeps with his heavy weapon," says Mr. Phasey, "each stroke coming closer, until the wind from the blade raised my hair each time. Finally he stepped a bit closer, and with a slanting stroke struck the coin cleanly and sent it spinning across the barracks. The sergeant said afterwards that he wouldn't repeat it for $500. But I have a testimonial telling that I am the most foolhardy idiot that ever visited the cavalry barracks."

BIG PYTHON

Kicked Keeper Out of Cage With Its Powerful Tail.

New York, May 30.—The most interesting incident of the week has been the discovery of a kicking python, the honors of which rest with "Zip" Slusher. "Zip" is one of the men called upon when some awkward job is on hand. He has just returned from duty after a prolonged absence spent in nursing the injuries received from a bear. He said that he would sooner fight a bear for an hour than foudle a python for a minute.

It was the biggest of all the pythons that he was called upon to handle last week. She had a sore nose, and Snyder, who is in charge of the reptiles, decided that it ought to be powdered antiseptically. Snyder put himself at the head of five men. He was armed with an ordinary python's pocket handkerchief in one hand and a can of somebody's toilet powder in the other. Stockdale had the dangerous honor of looking after the five or six feet which make up a python's neck. "Zip," in view of his comparative inexperience, had the tail to hold. As soon as the signal was given "Zip" was one of the first to catch on, but, though he hugged the tail with all his might it proved too much for him. He was flung against the side of the cage with such force that he let go, and the next minute he received a terrible welt on his sore leg from the now disengaged and thoroughly indignant tail.

"Say," he said, as he limped out, "did you see her kick me?"

It's folly to suffer from that horrible plague of the night, itching piles. Doan's Ointment cures quickly and permanently. At any drug store, 50 cents.

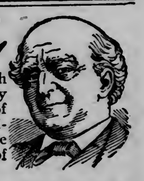
OLD PEOPLE



Do not always receive the sympathy and attention which they deserve. Their ailments are regarded as purely imaginary, or natural and unavoidable at their time of life. Disease and infirmity should not always be associated with old age. The eye of the gray haired grandsire may be as bright and the complexion as fair as any of his younger and more vigorous companions.

Good Blood is the secret of healthy old age, for it regulates and controls every part of the body, strengthens the nerves, makes the muscles elastic and supple, the bones strong and the flesh firm; but when this life fluid is polluted or poisoned and loses its nutritive, health sustaining elements, then there is a rapid decline of the vital powers, resulting in premature old age and disease. Any derangement of the blood quickly shows itself in an ulcer, sore, wart, tumor or some other troublesome growth upon the body, and rheumatic and neuralgic pains become almost constant, accompanied with poor digestion and cold extremities.

SSS S. S. S. being purely vegetable, is the safest and best blood purifier for old people. It does not shock or hurt the system like the strong mineral remedies, but gently and thoroughly cleanses the blood and stimulates the debilitated organs, when all bodily ailments disappear. S. S. S. is just such a tonic as old people need to improve a weak digestion and tone up the Stomach. If there is any hereditary taint, or the remains of some disease contracted in early life, S. S. S. will search it out and remove every vestige of it from the system.

Write us fully about your case and let our physicians advise and help you. This will cost you nothing, and we will mail free our book on blood and skin diseases. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC COMPANY, Atlanta, Ga.

FIGURES RUN HIGH

Total of 8847 Second Citizenship Papers Issued In County.

More Than Three-Quarters of Number Issued Since 1897.

Henry Truelsen Second Applicant and Witness For First.

The district court of this county issued the first second citizenship paper in 1871, and it is now in the third year of the fourth decade since then.

During these years 8,847 papers have been issued to foreign-born residents of this county, making them full citizens, and 6,762 of them were issued since 1895, when an amendment to the constitution was voted in by the people, making full citizenship one of the requirements of legal voters. Before that those who had taken out their first papers, declaring their intention of becoming citizens of the United States, were permitted to vote.

Henry Truelsen, now well known to every voter as a candidate for various offices, particularly for that of mayor of the city of Duluth, might have had the honor of taking out the first second citizenship papers in this county if he had not stood aside for Jacob Kaufman, for whom he acted as witness. They took out their papers Aug. 11, 1871, and both renounced allegiance to the emperor of Germany.

J. R. Carey was the clerk that issued the papers to these two men, and he signs as "clerk of the circuit court in and for the county of Keweenaw, Mich."

There is not a great deal of variety in the nationalities shown by the books in the office of the clerk of the district court. Of the total of 8,847 in the thirty-two years, 8,519 renounced allegiance to five sovereigns, the king of Norway and Sweden, the king of Great Britain, the emperor of Grmany, the emperor of Austria, and the czar of Russia. In the table given below the people of Teuton stock are grouped together, though there were 364 Germans and 957 Austrians in the total of 1,361:

Sweden and Norway	3,292
Great Britain	2,329
Russia	1,537
Teutons	1,361
Italy	151
Denmark	120
Switzerland	18
France	14
Belgium	11
Holland	6
Spain	3
Turkey	2
Iceland	1
China	1
Roumania	1

The showing is about what would be expected, with the Scandinavians in the lead and the Britishers second. A very large proportion of those renouncing allegiance to the sovereign of Great Britain came from Canada, but of course there may be people from every island possession of the British crown in the list of former British citizens.

The list of Teutons includes a good many variations in the Teuton stock. Under the Germans there are people from Luxembourg, Schleswig-Holstein and a host of other German states and principalities. Under the Russians are probably more Finlanders than Russians, as Finland is a Russian possession. Most of the Russian and Austrian citizens resulted from the trips of the court on wheels to the iron range towns.

It will be noted that but one Chinaman ever took out second papers in this county. The single son of the celestial empire that became a citizen of the United States took out his papers in 1891, when the first Italian received his papers.

The tables showing the number of papers taken out in the different years show very plainly when citizenship became a necessary qualification of the voter. The figures by years and decades are as follows:

1872	2
1873	5
1874	1
1875	22
1876	30
1877	70

First decade	255
Second decade	451
Third decade	7,491
Fourth decade	650

The "court on wheels" is about to take another trip over the ranges, and it will result in a large addition to these figures.

IRENE AND MA

Stayed at Home Because Pa Enjoined Them.

Chicago, May 30.—Mrs. John H. Driscoll is the latest convert to the doctrine that government by injunction is iniquitous.

Her husband is a traveling salesman, and they have a daughter whose name is Irene.

Mrs. Driscoll made up her mind to take Irene and flee to New York. Driscoll thought that Chicago would be better for both of them.

He went down town, obtained an injunction from Judge Horton, and it was served on his wife, so that she can't go to New York.

Fourth of July Celebration Is to Be Discussed.

West Duluth-Steel Plant Ferry Idea Has Been Dropped.

The members of the West Duluth Republican club are looking forward with no small degree of anticipation to the annual club banquet that will be held in the Great Eastern hall this summer. The committee on arrangements has set the banquet for the evening of June 18 and correspondence is now in progress with a number of the prominent state officials whom the club hopes to have present at the banquet.

George J. Mallory, who is chairman of the committee, says that the arrangements for the speakers have not yet taken form definite enough to permit the publishing of the list of speakers, for it is quite possible that a number of those invited to participate will be unable to attend. The date of the banquet has been selected with the view of avoiding, if possible, any scheduled meetings in other parts of the state that would keep the invited state officials away from Duluth.

If the plans of the club committee do not fall this season, the banquet will be one of the largest and most elaborate yet attempted by any political organization in the city. The affair given by the West Duluth club last year was a very successful one but this is planned to be even more so. The guests of the occasion will include not only the West Duluth Republicans, but invitations will be issued to the Central Republican club members at take West End and to prominent of the party men in the city.

FOURTH OF JULY.

Shall the people of West Duluth celebrate the Fourth of July in this part of the city, or shall they unite with the uptown interests in a general celebration, providing there is one, is a question that will be discussed with no small degree of interest at the meeting of the West Duluth Commercial club this evening. If the sentiment of West Duluth people was undivided on the subject of Fourth of July celebrations, it would be easy to predict the result of the meeting, but the sentiment is, as nearly as can be learned on inquiry, about evenly divided.

In the event of a celebration it is likely, judging from precedent, that the burden of the expense will fall on the business men and some of them claim that the result does not justify the expenditure of any large amount for a celebration. It is said that the saloon men will contribute generously to a Fourth of July fund, but some of the citizens connected with the Commercial club claim that if the saloon men are about the only ones that receive the benefits of the celebration in this part of the city, it is time that the idea was abandoned. It will not be a one-sided discussion this evening.

HAS BEEN DROPPED.

It is understood that the ferry proposition between West Duluth and the Steel Plant at West Superior, has been dropped. Nothing has been heard of the matter for several days. The proposition received only lukewarm support from the citizens here at the best though it was agitated considerably by the business interest at the Steel Plant, who hoped to establish a trade with West Duluth people.

Since the definite announcement of the starting up of the blast furnace, which will give employment to a large number of men, there are many of the West Duluthians that are even more disinclined for a ferry service between West Superior and West Duluth, for they claim that such service would only offer opportunities for Superiorites to get employment here and go back and forth to their homes in West Superior, and this is an idea that is not well liked.

WEST DULUTH BRIEFS.

No agreement was reached among the West Duluth merchants yesterday regarding a closing hour for today, but most of the business places were closed after 10 o'clock this morning. The barber shops were kept open until 11 o'clock last evening and were closed today.

Sneak thieves broke into the office of Dr. Craig on the second floor of the Silvey block, some time during yesterday forenoon and ransacked it from one end to the other. The contents of the office desk were thrown in disorder about the room and it had the appearance of being struck by a cyclone. Dr. Craig says that nothing of value was taken, and he is at a loss to understand the intrusion.

In giving James Rossiter's age in connection with his birthday anniversary yesterday, one of his friends was in error in stating that he is 32 years of age. Mr. Rossiter says he is not within five years of that mark and is getting older fast enough without so many years added at one time.

The remains of Michael Murray will be shipped today or tomorrow to Mapleton, Minn., for burial. The family is awaiting the arrival of Michael Murray, Jr., of Denver, the oldest son, who is expected here some time today.

Chris Murphy, of Grand Marais, is visiting relatives here for a few days.

John Malcolm, of Spokane, is visiting his family here.

Mr. and Mrs. John Nelson arrived yesterday afternoon to spend the rest of the week with relatives here.

Charles Witlore left this morning for an extended visit in Michigan.

The steamer Mary Mann runs to Zenith park Decoration day, also Sunday. Fare round trip, 10 cents. Anybody wishing picnic grounds will call on Capt. Mann. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Morgan will run first-class restaurant at the park. No dancing tomorrow.

MORE CARS.

Change In Schedule on the Lakeside Line Announced.

The Duluth-Superior Traction company announces a change in the Lakeside schedule, beginning Sunday, June 1, the new schedule to be used during the summer months only, it being the intention to go back to the present schedule about Sept. 15 or Oct. 1.

The new schedule is so arranged that it will be possible to run extra cars between the regular cars in order to increase the service to meet the demands of summer travel. The two large cars will each make a trip every 80 minutes instead of every 60 minutes, as at present. They will run on exactly the same time as at present, but will have about ten minutes to wait at either end of the line, which will enable them to leave on time in case they should become delayed. The large cars alone will therefore give only a 40-minute service, but small cars will be run between them to make anything up to a 5-minute service, as travel may demand. Regular daily cars, or the minimum service, will be 40 minutes apart for a few hours in the morning, but during all of the remainder of the day will be not more than 20 minutes apart. In the evening the intervals will be 40 minutes instead of an hour, as heretofore. The full time card is published elsewhere.

FINALLY SETTLED.

Washington, May 30.—The state department has been officially advised that the long standing dispute between Chile and Argentine respecting the boundary question has been finally and satisfactorily settled.

SAYS HIS SON

Stole a Deed to His Real Estate.

Goshen, Ind., May 30.—After one day of wedded bliss George W. Hattle found that he did not own all the property he thought he did, and his bride was correspondingly depressed. Hattle, who is wealthy, says his son, John E. Hattle, found in his private papers a deed to his real estate made out in favor of three children some three months prior to his marriage, and promptly had it recorded. He has filed suit asking that the title be restored to him. The children will contest his suit. In the meantime the bride, who was given $1600 the day after marriage, has agreed not to sue for divorce.

LEPER CURED.

Dong Gong the Patient Will Soon Be Released.

St. Louis, May 30.—Dong Gong, the Chinese leper, who has for nine months past occupied an isolation house near quarantine, has apparently recovered from his malady and will be released within two months, unless the disease returns. Chaulmoogra oil, the product of an East Indian tree, has been the sole treatment administered to Gong by Dr. Martin C. Woodruff, superintendent of quarantine.

HIT BY GOLF BALL.

Man Seriously Injured While Playing With Daughter.

Fort Wayne, Ind., May 30.—Joseph Bossell, a well-known business man, is in a critical condition as the result of being struck on the head by a golf ball driven by his daughter. Bossell and his daughter were playing on the links of the Fort Wayne Golf club. He placed the ball for her and stepped to one side. She sliced her drive, the ball striking her father squarely on the head. He fell unconscious, but recovered and was taken to his home, where he again lapsed into unconsciousness. Physicians were summoned, and he was found to be suffering from concussion of the brain.

DELAYS TO BOATS

A Factor In the Iron Ore Market.

Cleveland, May 30.—The Iron Trade Review says: Delays to boats engaged in the transportation of iron ore continue to be a factor in the market. It is estimated that so far they have resulted in "killing" one-third of the tonnage engaged in carrying iron ore, and this is having its natural effect upon the movement of material down the lakes. Receipts at the lower lake docks have been considerably below the original estimates for this month and it is hardly believed that the movement will be anywhere near the 4,000,000-ton mark aimed at. The shippers and others interested have come to conclude that the shortage of cars at the lower lake ports is directly responsible for the delays and the consequent shrinkage in the movement. Rates are staple per force since not enough boats are escaping the general blockade at unloading ports to permit a break, however much shippers may be inclined that way. Wild cargoes are placed at 75 cents from Duluth to Ohio, other ports being scaled accordingly.

FELL FROM TRAIN.

Lad Falls Out of Window on Flyer.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 30.—Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Chamberlain, of Forest River, came in from Seattle yesterday. Their 5-year-old son fell from the window of the Flyer while it was running 50 miles an hour and suffered a concussion of the brain, but may recover. The accident happened near Glasgow, Mont. The family were at dinner and the crossed the aisle to throw a bottle from the window. He leaned out to watch it fall and lost his balance.

BRITT WON.

Knocked Out Kid Lavigne In the Eighth Round.

San Francisco, May 30.—Jimmy Britt, the California lightweight, won from Kid Lavigne in the eighth round last night of a scheduled 20-round contest. It was given out that Lavigne's left arm was broken in the fifth round, but he was plainly outclassed and whipped by his agile opponent. Lavigne fought the last three rounds practically with his right arm alone, his left being heavily bandaged. He was taken to his dressing room and doctors summoned. The physicians stated that the fighter's left forearm had been sprained and possibly fractured. Lavigne stated that he disabled himself four months ago and should not have gone into the fight with his arm in that condition.

BRIEF TELEGRAMS.

The British mule cmp which has been maintained at Lathrop, Mo., since June, 1901, during which time, 80,000 horses and mules for use in South Africa have been handled, is to be moved to Toronto, Can., immediately. Nearly all the British officers stationed at Lathrop have already left and 2000 horses still here will be shipped within a few days.

Notice was given Thursday that all employes of the Northern Pacific shops in Tacoma will receive an advance of 5 per cent in wages beginning June 1. The order affects about 800 employes.

Capt. K. G. Martens, master of the United States army transport Buford was found guilty of cruelty, profanity and neglect of his log, by a board of army officers, and he was ordered suspended from duty by Maj. C. A. Devol, superintendent of the transport service.

H. Clay Evans, the new consul general to London, called at the White House Thursday to pay his farewell visit to the President before sailing for his post. Mr. Evans will sail for London June 4.

FEAST OF LOCUSTS.

Grasshoppers Said By Some to Be Palatable.

Baltimore, Md., May 30.—Several Baltimore epicureans have been feasting upon 17-year locusts, and pronounce them a rare delicacy, especially when served toasted. G. F. Brochat has invited a number of his friends to a dinner at his home at Hamilton, Baltimore county, at which he will spread his table according to the Biblical record with locusts and honey. Fully 5000 locusts will be used, as Mr. Brochat proposes to feast his friends upon locust soup, broiled and fried locust, stewed locusts, and locusts served in pies and otherwise.

Mr. Brochat is a lover of locusts as tidbits. He says that in France locusts are served with kidneys and sweetbreads.

Professor Philip R. Uhler, provost of Peabody Institute, says he has eaten locust soup, but there is little taste to the locust. It is like eating the soft shell of a crab. There is no more flavor to the locust than there is to the shrimp. The locusts mentioned in Biblical record were a sort of grasshopper, meaty and nourishing. The cicada is not of that class.

Seventeen years ago George W. Selpp, crier of the county court says he first ate locusts. His appetite now does not crave for them and he has not partaken of any this year.

C. Bohn Slingluff of the Baltimore county bar, says it has been his custom to eat locusts and that they are the most palatable dish any person ever ate. He has not been feeding on them this year, however, because on account of the dry season they did not come up in their pupa state, and he only liked locusts in that state. They came up half winged and they are not so good that way.

INDEMNITY BILL

For Minnesota Approved By Secretary Hitchcock.

Washington, May 30.—The joint resolution presented in congress by Senator Clapp and Congressman Eddy providing that the state of Minnesota shall be given a preference in selecting indemnity lands to take the place of sections 16 and 36 in reservations which have been approved to the Indians, has been approved by Secretary Hitchcock and his report will be sent to the senate and house on Monday.

With the exception of a proviso inserted by the secretary whereby squatters' rights are protected, the resolution will be reported as originally introduced.

It will give the state the right to make its indemnity selection, just as soon as lands have been surveyed and before the plats of the surveys have been approved.

ORATION BY PRESIDENT

Philippine islands, are your younger brothers, your sons. They have shown themselves not unworthy of you, and they are entitled to the support of all men who are proud of what you did.

These younger comrades of yours have fought under terrible difficulties and have received terrible provocation from a very cruel and very treacherous enemy. Under the strain of these provocations I deeply deplore to say that some among them have so far forgotten themselves as to connect and commit, in retaliation, acts of cruelty.

> The fact that for every guilty act committed by one of our troops a hundred acts of far greater atrocity have been committed by the hostile natives upon our troops, or upon the peaceable and law-abiding natives who are friendly to us, can not be held to excuse any wrongdoer on our side.

Determined and unswerving effort must be made, and is being made, to find out every instance of barbarity on the part of our troops, to punish those guilty of it, and to take, if possible, even stronger measures than have already been taken to minimize or prevent the occurrence of all such instances in the future.

From time to time there occur in our country to the deep and lasting shame of our people, lynchings carried on under circumstances of inhuman cruelty and barbarity—a cruelty infinitely worse than any that has ever been committed by our troops in the Philippines; worse to the victims, and far more brutalizing to those guilty of it. The men who fail to condemn these lynchings, and yet clamor about what has been done in the Philippines, are indeed guilty of neglecting the beam in their own eye while taunting their brother about the mote in his. Understand me. These lynchings afford us no excuse for failure to stop cruelty in the Philippines. Every effort is being made, and will be made, to minimize the chances of cruelty occurring.

But keep in mind that these cruelties in the Philippines have been wholly exceptional, and have been shamelessly exaggerated. We deeply and bitterly regret that any such cruelties should have been committed, no matter how rarely, no matter under what provocation, by American troops. But they afford far less justification for a general condemnation of our army than these lynchings afford for the condemnation of the communities in which they have taken place. In each case it is well to condemn the deed, and it is well also to refrain from including both guilty and innocent in the same sweeping condemnation.

In every community there are people who commit acts of well-nigh inconceivable horror and baseness. If we fix our eyes only upon these individuals and upon their acts, and if we forget the far more numerous citizens of upright and honest life and blind ourselves to their countless deeds of wisdom and justice and philanthropy, it is easy enough to condemn the community. There is not a city in this land which we could not thus condemn if we fixed our eyes purely upon its police record and refused to look at what it had accomplished for decency and justice and charity. Yet this is exactly the attitude which has been taken by too many men with reference to our army in the Philippines; and it is an attitude both absurd and cruelly unjust.

> The rules of warfare which have been promulgated by the war department and accepted as basis of conduct by our troops in the field are the rules laid down by Abraham Lincoln when you, my hearers, were fighting for the Union.

These rules provide, of course, for the just severity necessary in war. The most destructive of all forms of cruelty would be to show weakness where sternness is demanded in iron need. But all cruelty is forbidden, and all harshness beyond what is called for by need. Our enemies in the Philippines have not merely violated every rule of war, but have made of these violations their only method of carrying on the war. We would have been justified by Abraham Lincoln's rules of war in infinitely greater severity than has been shown. The fact really is that our warfare in the Philippines has been carried on with singular humanity. For every act of cruelty by our men there have been innumerable acts of forbearance, magnanimity, and generous kindness. These are the qualities which have characterized the war as a whole. The cruelties have been wholly exceptional, on our part.

The guilty are to be punished; but in punishing them, let those who sit at ease at home, who walk delicately and live in the soft places of the earth, remember also to do them common justice. Let not the effortless and the untempted rail overmuch at strong men who with blood and sweat face years of toil and days and nights of agony, and at need lay down their lives in remote tropic jungles to bring the light of civilization into the world's dark places. The warfare that has extended the boundaries of civilization at the expense of barbarism and savagery has been for centuries one of the most potent factors in the progress of humanity. Yet from its very nature it has always and everywhere been liable to dark abuses.

It behooves us to keep a vigilant watch to prevent these abuses and to punish those who commit them; but if because of them we fight from flinching the task on which we have entered, we show ourselves cravens and weaklings, unworthy of the sires from whose loins we sprang. There were abuses and to spare in the civil war. Your false friends then called Grant a "butcher" and spoke of you who are listening to me as mercenaries, as "Lincoln's hirelings." Your open foes—as in the resolution passed by the confederate congress in October, 1862—accused you, at great length, and with much particularity, of "contemptuous disregard of the usages of civilized war;" of subjecting women and children to "banishment, imprisonment and death;" of "murder," of "raping," of "outrages on women," of "lawless cruelty," of "perpetrating atrocities which would be disgraceful to savages;" and Abraham Lincoln was singled out for especial attack because of his "spirit of barbarous ferocity."

> Verily, these men who thus foully slandered you have their heirs today in those who traduce our armies in the Philippines, who fix their eyes on individual deeds of wrong so keenly that at last they become blind to the great work of peace and freedom that has already been accomplished.

Peace and freedom—are there two better objects for which a soldier can fight? Well, these are precisely the objects for which our soldiers are fighting in the Philippines. When there is talk of the cruelties committed in the Philippines, remember always that by far the greater proportion of these cruelties have been committed by the insurgents against their own people—as well as against our soldiers—and that not only the surest but the only effectual way of stopping them is by the progress of the American arms. The victories of the American arms have been the really effective means of putting a stop to cruelty in the Philippines. Wherever these victories have been complete—and such is now the case throughout the greater part of the islands—all cruelties have ceased and the native is secure in his life, his liberty and his pursuit of happiness. Where the insurrection still smolders there is always a chance for cruelty to show itself.

Our soldiers conquer; and what is the object for which they conquer? To establish a military government? No. The laws we are now endeavoring to enact for the government of the Philippines are to incre[illegible] the power and domain of the civil at the expense of the military authorities, and to render even more difficult than in the past the chance of oppression. The military power is used to secure peace, in order that it may itself be supplanted by the civil government. The progress of the American arms means the abolition of cruelty, the bringing of peace, and the rule of law and order under the civil government.

> Other nations have conquered to create irresponsible military rule. We conquer to bring just and responsible civil government to the conquered.

But our armies do more than bring peace, do more than bring order. They bring freedom. Remember always that the independence of a tribe or a community may, and often does, have nothing whatever to do with the freedom of the individual in that tribe or community. There are now in Asia and Africa scores of despotic monarchies, each of which is independent, and in no one of which is there the slightest vestige of freedom for the individual man. Scant indeed is the gain to mankind from the "independence" of a blood-stained tyrant who rules over abject and brutalized slaves. But great is the gain to humanity which follows the steady though slow introduction of the orderly liberty, law-abiding freedom of the individual, which is the only sure foundation upon which national independence can be built. Wherever in the Philippines the insurrection has been definitely and finally put down, there the individual Filipino already enjoys such freedom, such personal liberty, under our rule, as he could never even dream of under the rule of an "independent" Aguinaldian oligarchy.

The slowly-learned and difficult art of self-government, an art which our people have taught themselves by the labor of a thousand years, cannot be grasped in a day by a people only just emerging from conditions of life which our ancestors left behind them in the dim years before history dawned. We believe that we can rapidly teach the people of the Philippine islands not only how to enjoy but how to make good use of their freedom; and with their growing knowledge their growth in self-government shall keep steady pace.

> When they have thus shown their capacity for real freedom by their power of self-government, then, and not till then, will it be possible to decide whether they are to exist independently of us or be knit to us by ties of common friendship and interest. When that day will come it is not in human wisdom now to foretell.

All that we can say with certainty is that it would be put back an immeasurable distance if we should yield to the counsels of unmanly weakness and turn loose the islands, to see our victorious foes butcher with revolting cruelty our betrayed friends, and shed the blood of the most humane, the most enlightened, the most peaceful, the wisest and the best of their own number—for these are the classes who have already learned to welcome our rule.

Nor, while fully acknowledging our duties to others, need we forget our duty to our own country. The Pacific seaboard is as much to us as the Atlantic; as we grow in power and prosperity so our interests will grow in that farthest west which is the immemorial east. The shadow of our destiny has already reached to the shores of Asia. The might of our people already looms large against the world-horizon; and it will loom ever larger as the years go by. No statesman has a right to neglect the interests of our people in the Pacific; interests which are important to all our people, but which are of most importance to those of our people who have built populous and thriving states on the western slope of our continent.

> This should no more be a party question than the war for the Union should have been a party question.

At this moment the men in highest office in the Philippine islands is the vice governor, Gen. Luke Wright, of Tennessee, who gallantly wore the gray in the civil war and who is now working hand in hand with the head of our army in the Philippines, Adna Chaffee, who in the civil war gallantly wore the blue. Those two, and the men under them, from the North and from the South, by their life and in military life, as teachers, as administrators, as soldiers, are laboring mightily for us who live at home. Here and there black sheep are to be found among them; but taken as a whole they represent as high a standard of public service as this country has ever seen. They are doing a great work for civilization, a great work for the honor and the interest of this nation, and above all for the welfare of the inhabitants of the Philippine islands. All honor to them; and shame thrice shame, to us if we fail to uphold their hands!

GEN. TORRANCE SPEAKS.

Gen. Fitz Torrance, commander-in-chief of the G. A. R., followed the president with a few remarks and then the services were brought to a close with the playing of "America" by the band. The choir and assembly joined, and benediction by Henry S. Stevens, department chaplain.

Immediately after the memorial services at the amphitheater the monument erected to the memory of Col. Edgar O'Connor, of the Second Wisconsin regiment, was unveiled in the presence of a number of his comrades. The address of the occasion was delivered by Representative J. J. Jenkins, of Wisconsin.

At the Soldiers' home at Battle Ground cemetery, near the site of old Fort Stevens, and at St. Elizabeths, where lie countless numbers of veterans who lost their reason as a result of military service and who were buried in the asylum grounds, and at other cemeteries, appropriate services were held. Secretary Shaw delivered teh oration at Battle Ground cemetery; and his assistant secretary, Hon. M. E. Ailes, made the memorial address at St. Elizabeths. Representative Washington Gardener, of New Jersey, was the principal speaker at the National cemetery. Soldiers' home, where, too, there was an immense gathering of comrades and relatives and friends of deceased soldiers.

PLANS FOR NEW CHALLENGER.

London, May 30.—William Fife and George L. Watson have collaborated on the plans for a new challenger for the America's cup which will be built by the Dennys at Dumbarton.

All the healing, balsamic virtues of the Norway pine are concentrated in Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, nature's own remedy for coughs and colds.

HAIL IT WITH JOY

Duluth Would Welcome Breaking Up of Trunk Line Pooling.

Would Enable Northwest to Get Equitable Rates Now Denied.

Manner In Which the Central Traffic Association Operates.

If reports that are going the rounds of railroad circles are correct, it may be that the combination of railroads in the territory known as Trunk Line, or in other words east of Buaip and Pittsburg, will be broken up by the interstate commerce commission. If this is done, the disruption will prove of incalculable benefit to the commercial and industrial interests of the Northwest, particularly of Duluth.

It is reported that evidence has been placed before the commission that these roads are parties to a fine system of pooling arrangements for the distribution of traffic and the maintenance of freight rates. As a result of this evidence being collected, it is claimed a large number of indictments will be asked for in a short time against the officials guilty of entering into these pools.

It is claimed, for instance, that the entire cotton business of the country is pooled. There is an allotted proportion for each road at every cotton handling center. At each point there is a joint agent, who keeps track of the entire business and reports daily and weekly as to the business each road does and as to whether the road is handling more than its proportion or less.

In the west-bound business originating in New York there is a money pool. It a road gets a larger percentage of business than it is entitled to the chairman of the traffic association draws against this road in favor of the other roads for the excess, minus, of course, the allowance for cost of handling. This business is said to be allotted to the various roads as follows:

	Per Cent.
New York Central	22.4
Erie	17.1
Pennsylvania	20.9
Baltimore & Ohio	8.8
West Shore	3.2
Lackawanna	8.8
Lehigh Valley	8.6
Ontario & Western	2.4
Jersey Central	2.4

The biggest freight business west of New York is in sugar, and this, it is said, is handled under an entirely different pool. This pool, it is claimed, is not a money pool but a pool by which there is an actual division of the traffic, so that if one road is not handling its full share the tonnage is diverted to it.

A similar pool is maintained on the east-bound business from Chicago. The percentage allotted to each road are only known to Commissioner J. F. Tucker, of the Central Freight association. Formerly traffic was diverted from roads that had carried more than their share to roads that had fallen behind. But this did not work satisfactorily, as some of the roads refused to divert when ordered to do so. When a road now gets far ahead of its allotted percentage it is ordered to refuse taking freight on the plea of being to short of cars or some other plausible excuse until the roads that had fallen behind have been able to catch up again.

With reference to the Central Traffic association pool, it is said that if no such pool existed, the Duluth roads would be able to get an equitable freight rate on lumber to Central Traffic association points, which would permit the handling of considerable traffic of this character all rail. Last summer, it is said, considerable lumber was shipped from here all-rail to Central Traffic points. This summer as a result of the withdrawal of all secretly-quoted rates and failure of the roads running east from Chicago to publish lower tariffs it has been impossible to work much of any lumber to those points except by lake, and this has amounted to little.

Regarding traffic pools, E. H. Harriman, who controls the Southern Pacific, Union Pacific and Alton roads, and who has a large finger in the Burlington and Northern Pacific pie, said the other day: "Railroad pools had been tried and found wanting. The maintenance of fair and reasonable rates cannot be secured through pools; that has been demonstrated. It is evident that better results can be obtained by merging or combining the various roads into large systems, making it possible to move business over the most direct lines with the least resistance and at the minimum of expense. In this way stable rates will be secured and both the railroads and the public benefited."

RAILROAD MATTERS.

W. B. Dixon's Promotion Pleases His Duluth Friends.

The William Dixon spoken of in The Herald's dispatches as having been promoted to be Northwestern passenger agent of the Milwaukee road, is the bright young William B. Dixon, who as traveling passenger agent is so well known in Duluth. "Billy B.," the boys call him, and they are all glad he has been given such a big boost in the railroad world. None have more faith in "Billy's" deserving this promotion than his friends here.

According to the wire gossip from St. Paul, the 8-cent rate on lumber from Minnesota Transfer, otherwise Minneapolis, has finally been consented to by most of the Minneapolis-Chicago roads. This gives Minneapolis a 2-cent differential under Duluth on Chicago business, and it is not believed here that the differential will exist long.

It is now said that the Canadian Pacific railroad has not secured control of the Wisconsin Central, and that the recent strength of the stock in that company was due to a fight for control by the Canadian road and a fight by American capitalists to prevent it from attaining its object, the latter winning the day for the time being at least. The chief difficulty with getting control of the Wisconsin Central is that a large proportion of its stock is held by three trustees representing large holdings.

TO RETIRE BROOKE.

Washington, May 30.—The senate committee on military affairs has authorized a favorable report on the bill providing for the retirement of Gen. Brooks with the rank of lieutenant general.

REVEALS A GREAT SECRET.

It is often asked how such startling cures, that puzzle the best physicians, are effected by Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. Here's the secret. NEWS OF THE LAKES

Steamer Henrietta Sinks as Result of Collision In Canal.

Barge Edwards Knocks Her Bow Nearly Off In Mix-Up.

Six Craft and Two Tow Lines All Tangled Up.

The sudden switch of the wind into the northeast about 10 o'clock last night caused a pretty mix-up in the canal, as a result of which the steamer Henrietta is on the bottom at the ferry dock beyond the canal.

The steamer Henrietta was unloading poles at the outside dock, when the wind came up, and the sea arose so suddenly that she stopped work and started in, the tug Ray towing her. The wind blew the tug's smoke down in front of the pilot house so that nothing could be seen, and the first the captain knew of any other vessels being near was when he saw the lights of the tug Annie L. Smith towing the lumber barge Edwards out through the canal with a load of lumber, right ahead.

Immediately everybody tried to get out of the way, but the wind was so contrary that it was impossible, and directly the four crafts were all tangled up. The Edwards went over the Henrietta's tow line and the Henrietta responded by doing the same thing with the Edward's line. The Henrietta collided with the tug Smith, without much damage, and then ran off and she and the Edwards came together. The Henrietta got the worst of this encounter, losing most of her nose while the Edwards lost a lot of its deck load. The Ray towed the Henrietta hastily in to the ferry dock on the bay side of the point, just beyond the canal, and put her in shoal water, where she sank almost immediately. Her bows were carried almost entirely away, and it was only prompt work that prevented her sinking in the canal. None of the other vessels were seriously damaged.

To add to the confusion, just when the mix-up took place two dredging tugs got into the game, and for a few minutes the canal was as full of craft as it could hold. The dredging tugs got out of the way without joining in the mix-up further than to make the situation seem more complicated.

BOATS TO BE WITHDRAWN.

Chicago, May 30.—Radical action was taken at the meeting of the Lumber Carriers' association yesterday to prevent the lowering of lumber freights from the Lake Superior district and to avoid the delay caused by the tugmens' strike.

Eighty boats belonging to members of the association, mostly tow barges, will be withdrawn from service and will remain in ordinary until lumber shipping at the head of the lakes becomes more active.

The barges have been delayed a good deal by failure to receive tug service so that the loss to owners through the laying up of their tonnage at this time will be great, and it is expected to result in a material stiffening of the carrying charges.

This action will thrown early 1000 men employed on the boats out of service. Yesterday's meeting, which was presided over by President Gilchrist, was attended by the owners or managers of nearly 300 lumber vessels from around the lakes.

FINED FOR NEGLECT.

Toledo, Ohio, May 30.—Col. Bonner, collector of customs at this port, has fined the tug Woods $50 and the launch Frolic $200, for neglect. This is the result of the recent accident in which the two boats collided and seven occupants of the launch were drowned.

SCHWAB HAS A YACHT.

New York, May 30.—According to private cablegrams from Naples, Col. Francis L. Leland, New York Yacht club, has chartered his steam yacht, Safa-el-Bahr, to Charles M. Schwab, president of the United States Steel corporation, for the season. The yacht is at Naples, and for some weeks Col. Leland has been cruising in the Mediterranean.

Mr. Schwab will use the yacht in American waters, and she will leave for the trip across the Atlantic to this port at an early day. This yacht was built at Glasgow for the khedive of Egypt in 1894. Col. Leland purchased it last year.

JUDGE WASHBAUGH DEAD.

Baltimore, May 30.—Judge Frank G. Washbaugh, of Deadwood, S. D., died yesterday at the Johns Hopkins hospital in this city. Wasted vitality brought about by overwork, is assigned by the physicians as the cause of death.

Judge Washbaugh was born in Bedford, Pa., 53 years ago. Early in life he went West and was one of the pioneers of the Dakotas.

PURDY DEAD.

Chief Engineer of Burlington Succumbs to Injuries.

St. Paul, May 30.—A La Crosse, Wis., special to the Dispatch says: Chief Engineer Purdy, who was injured in the Alma wreck yesterday, died at 9 o'clock this morning. Superintendent Behler, of Chicago, was removed to his home in Chicago today. His injuries are not serious. Engineer Breckenridge went with him. One of his feet was badly crushed. He will be able to be out in a short time.

Dr. Hough, of Minneapolis, came down late in the night to consult with the other surgeons in regard to Superintendent Cunningham. It was found necessary to cut off his leg below the knee. His condition is considerably worse this morning. General Manager Delano came up from Chicago this morning, to take back the remains of Consulting Engineer Blake.

JOIN STRIKE.

The Mill Men at Hudson Leave Their Work.

St. Paul, Minn., May 30.—A Stillwater, Minn., special to the Dispatch says: The Hudson mill day and night crews joined the strikers this morning. Last night the union by a large vote absolutely rejected the proposition of the mill owners to settle the strike. The proposition was to begin work tomorrow on a ten-hour schedule, the wage scale to be settled within thirty days by arbitration. The strikers insist on ten hours at the old pay. Citizens are becoming anxious over the situation. Mississippi river lumbermen who have sawing contracts here are becoming uneasy and threaten to cancel contracts.

CONTRACTS

For Supplies For Duluth Normal School to Be Let.

St. Paul, May 30.—(Special to The Herald.)—The state board of control will let contracts next week for furniture for the Duluth normal school. Proposals were sent to dealers several days ago. The furniture and equipment will be in place ready for the opening of the school Sept. 1.

AQUATIC.

Thirty-Sixth Annual Regatta of the Harlem Association.

New York, May 30.—The thirty-sixth annual regatta of the Harlem association was held on the Speedway course, Harlem river, today. The races were one mile straightaway. The more important events were scheduled for this afternoon, when Titus, the New York crack, and Scholes, of Toronto, Canada, both of whom are to row in a few weeks, were entered today. The junior eight and the senior eight-oared races also were expected to furnish exciting sport this afternoon. In the latter event there were three crews entered—Columbia university, New York Athletic club and the Harlem Rowing club. Among the entries in various races were representatives of clubs in Philadelphia, Washington and Toronto. Conditions were favorable for a good day's sport. The referee was Gordon S. Carrigan, of Philadelphia and James Flanagan acted as starter. The program was begun with the first trial heat of the junior singles.

Juniors culls, first heat, won by Clary, Nassau B. C., New York; Franzy, Columbia, second. First and second quality for finals. No time taken.

Junior single sculls, second trial heat, won by Hunt, Philadelphia B. C., New York; Daly, Potomac, Washington, second. No time taken.

AT BERKELEY OVAL.

Preliminary Trials of Inter-Collegiate Amateurs.

New York, May 30.—The track and in-field at Berkeley oval were in record-breaking condition today when the representatives of several universities and colleges in the Inter-Collegiate association of amateur athletes of America arrived there. Only the preliminary trials in each event were decided, the semi-finals and finals being reserved for tomorrow. There is a bitter fight between Harvard and Yale for supremacy, and the experts say that either one of these two universities will win the greatest number of points. Harvard is favorite on the showing made by the wearers of the crimson in their dual meet with Yale men on Saturday last. Cornell, Princeton, Pensylvania and California will undoubtedly prove formidable in some of the events, and their winning first or other events will make quite a difference of scores of Harvard and Yale. The sprint records will probably be equaled and broken records are looked for. Putting the shot and pole vaulting contests are looked upon as close contests.

FIRE AT BUFFALO.

Malt House and Sixteen Dwellings Burned.

Buffalo, May 30.—The Manning Malt house, together with a quantity of grain, damaged in the fire at the Wells elevator a few weeks ago, was burned at an early hour this morning. A high wind blew fire brands and sparks to a great distance, setting fire to the roofs of sixteen dwellings, only one of which, however, was destroyed. The total loss is estimated at $156,000, partially insured.

A $100,000,000 BANK.

Chicago, May 30.—The consolidation of the First National bank and the Metropolitan National bank has been formally approved at meetings held by the stockholders of the two institutions. The actual transfer of assets will take place tomorrow and Sunday and on Monday morning Chicago will have open for business, its first $100,000,000 bank.

OFFICERS

Are Being Rapidly Commissioned to Guard Coal Properties.

Hazleton, Pa., May 30.—All the coal companies here are commissioning special officers to guard their property. Fifty-five special police were sent in by Markle & Co. today and an additional fifty will be here before Monday. Coxe Bros. has deputized their officials. A meeting of the engineers, firemen and pump runners employed at the collieries north of the city, which luncludes the Coke, Markle and Kemmerer men will be held Sunday.

Chicago, May 30.—President John Mitchell, of the United Mine Workers of America, reached Chicago today from Indianapolis. He saw no members of the Civic Federation and stated that the anthracite strike seemed as far from settlement as ever. He had a few minutes conversation with President Rooney, of the Illinois mine workers. He said that matters pertaining to the Illinois coal situation would be settled at the Illinois convention. At 11 o'clock Mr. Mitchell left for Wilkesbarre, Pa.

KILLED CHILD.

The Mother Then Took Her Own Life.

New York, May 30.—Mrs. Rose Fleginow, wife of a newsdealer, killed her 6-year-old daughter, Bertha, today by gas asphyxiation, and then committed suicide by taking carbolic acid. The woman had been a sufferer from a nervous disease; and, it is supposed was temporarily insane.

SHAH OF PERSIA

Sees Emperor William Lead His Soldiers.

Berlin, May 30.—The annual spring parade of the garrisons of the Berlin military district was held today on the Tempelhof field. The weather was fine. The shah of Persia was present in an open carriage, draw by four horses, and the crown prince of Siam, Chowfa Maha Vajiravudh, attended on horseback. Emperor William led the Second regiment of the guards past the shah, who acknowledged the compliment by standing up in his carriage.

TEXAS EXPRESS WRECKED.

Trinidad, Col., May 30.—The Texas express, south-bound on the Colorado & Southern railway, was wrecked 2 miles south of this city by the spreading of the rails. The baggage car, express car, smoker, and chair car all turned over. The passengers were badly shaken up. The passengers were badly shaken up, but none was killed or seriously injured.

STUDIES IN THE BOOK OF ACTS

PAUL AT LYSTRA

International Sunday School Lesson For June 1, 1902.

Acts 14:8-22: "And at Lystra there sat a certain man, impotent in his feet, a cripple from his mother's womb, who never walked. The same heard Paul speaking; who, fastening his eyes upon him, and seeing that he had faith to be made whole, said with a loud voice, Stand upright on thy feet. And he leaped up and walked. And when the multitudes saw what Paul had done, they lifted up their voice, saying in the speech of Lycaonia, the Gods are come down to us in the likeness of men. And they called Barnabas, Jupiter; and Paul, Mercury, because he was the chief speaker. And the priest of Jupiter, whose temple was before the city, brought oxen and garlands unto the gates, and would have done sacrifice with the multitudes. But when the apostles, Barnabas and Paul, heard of it, they rent their garments, and sprang forth among the multitude, crying out and saying, Sirs, why do ye these things? We also are men of like passions with you, and bring you good tidings, that ye should turn from these vain things unto the living God, who made the heaven and the earth and the sea, and all that in them is; who in the generations gone by suffered all the nations to walk in their own ways. And yet he left not himself without witness, in that he did good, and gave you from heaven rains and fruitful seasons, filling your hearts with food and gladness. And with these sayings scarce restrained they the multitudes from doing sacrifice unto them.

"But there came Jews thither from Antioch and Iconium; and having persuaded the multitudes, they stoned Paul, and dragged him out of the city, supposing that he was dead. But as the disciples stood round about him, he rose up, and entered into the city: and on the morrow he went forth with Barnabas to Derbe. And when they had preached the gospel to that city, and had made many disciples, they returned to Lystra, and to Iconium, and to Antioch, confirming the souls of the disciples, exhorting them to continue in the faith, and that through many tribulations we must enter into the Kingdom of God."

Golden Text—"Thou therefore endure hardness, as a good soldier of Jesus Christ." II Timothy, 2:3.

PRUDENCE AND COURAGE.

Christian truth makes such radical demands upon human character and conduct that the faithful preaching of it is ever apt to cause divisions among the people who hear it. Some will believe and others will reject it, as was the case at all the places where Paul preached during his first missionary journey. Paul was a man of intense convictions, who preached fearlessly and with pointed earnestness the gospel that had saved him from his old and fruitless search after the righteousness which the law could not give. His very intensity contributed toward the radical acceptance or rejection of his message by his auditors.

It is not especially surprising that he stirred up so much opposition in the places he visited. He did not go out to make compromises with either the Jews or the Pagans, but to preach Christ and Him crucified as the means of salvation for sinful man. Whenever he met those who required him to defer to their convenience or teachings, he hesitated not to pronounce the supremacy of the claims of Jesus. Because he did this at Antioch the Jews cast him out of the city, and he fled about seventy-five miles southeast to Iconium, probably following an old Roman military road. At Iconium the Antioch experiences were repeated. He preached in the synagogue: some believed and others refused his message. The disbelieving Jews disaffected the minds of many other Jews and Gentiles toward Paul and Barnabas. But they were undaunted in their efforts and continued there for a long time courageously fulfilling their ministry. They knew how to combine courage with prudence. There was no foolhardiness in their conduct. So long as it was possible for them to stand by their work they did so without hesitation, but when their enemies were about to use physical force, then flight became the better part of valor. Jesus had instructed His disciples to flee to another city whenever they were persecuted in the place of their labors. Paul followed out that course of action, and went from Iconium, eighteen miles southwest by south to Lystra.

There is an old legend about Paul's sojourn in Iconium that has had an abiding interest ever since the fourth century, although no historical foundation can be vouchsafed for it. In Iconium there was a maiden named Thekla, who was espoused to Tharmyris. She accidentally heard Paul preach and was converted. She refused to marry Thamyris, and secured the release of Paul from the jail where he had been thrown for his supposedly magical influence over the girl. She was condemned to death, but was saved in some unusual manner. She became an assistant to Paul, and lived as a servant of Christ until she was ninety years old. The abiding influence of Paul in the community is strongly attested by the fact that his name was thus incorporated in the very legends that attached to the city and region.

PERILS AND DUTY.

The site of ancient Lystra is now occupied by the ruins called Bin Bir Kilisseh, or The Thousand and One Churches. The city was once the seat of a bishop and was crowded with sacred edifices, which fact testifies to the immediate success of the work of Paul and his associates.

At Lystra there was a man who had been a cripple from his birth. He was accustomed to hear Paul speak from day to day, and displayed intense interest in the gospel. He was one of the afflicted of the earth to whom it had been prophesied that the advent of the Servant of God would bring comforting ministrations. To the present day the church of Christ finds a great work to do in ministering to the distressed of the earth, who constantly attend upon its services in the expectation that the spirit of the Master will be manifest through the loving helpfulness of those who profess his name.

Paul possessed marvelous ability to perceive qualities of character. This faculty gave him especial fitness for his work as a pioneer of the church in blazing a pathway through the dense heathenism and idolatry of the old world. He saw that the lame man had faith in the power of the Savior whom he had heard preached. The man's faith had perhaps manifested itself in the shining of its intelligence from his countenance and in his hopeful and expectant attitude.

Paul spoke to him in a loud voice with the direct command to stand upon his feet, whereon he had never yet stood. The language describing the effect of the command on the man is very picturesque. With one instantaneous act he leaped to his feet as if filled suddenly with power from God. Then he began to walk as the habit of his future life. How often the Scriptures give us examples of persons who thus responded instantaneously to the power of God! The physical phenomenon is also an apt type of the spiritual recovery of a soul that has had the disease of sin heavy upon it, for there is many a person who never yet knew the sublime power of the soul to rise to the noblest things; but when such consciousness does dawn, the soul will not only awaken, but will spring to a fullness of life and noble activity before undreamed of.

It was a peculiar honor which the people thrust upon Paul and Barnabas as a result of this miracle of healing. They said, These are gods: Jupiter the great god, and Mercury his messenger and spokesman, have come among us in the guise of men. It was a common belief among them that their gods did frequently visit them in some tangible form. One well-known legend of such a visit is that which tells how Jupiter and Mercury, as ordinary mortals, visited a Phrygian neighborhood, but were refused entertainment until they came to the hut of Baucis and Philemon, who treated them kindly. Jupiter rewarded their hospitality by leading them to an eminence for safety during a flood and thereafter making them the guardians of his temple. They were also permitted to die together, in response to their request, and after death were transformed into a tree.

Paul had spoken with eloquence like that attributed to Mercury. The healing of the lame man was a deed which the people acknowledged to be beyond the power of man. Surely their visitors were gods! But no! they were greater than gods; they were messengers of the one true God of heaven and earth. Paul did not at first understand that the people were doing him divine honors, but as soon as the movement among the people was understood, both he and Barnabas protested against it with all their might, springing forth before the people and the priests, and tearing their garments as an evidence of displeasure. They would receive no such honors, for they were only men of like nature with those who were about to worship them. Fidelity to God required them to forbid such worship and to declare the good tidings of Jesus Christ. It seems, however, that he did not get the attention of the crowd sufficiently to warrant him to preach to them the whole gospel message. He was scarcely able to restrain their disappointed wrath long enough to preach to them the doctrine of the God of nature. He reproved the vanities of their idol worship, and no doubt that reproof made them restive under his preaching, for they were ready to respond to the leadership of Jews who came from Antioch and Iconium to stir up disaffection among them. It does not take much to change a mob from friendship to enmity. The same crowd that had offered worship to the missionaries were easily incited to stone Paul until he was supposed to be dead. Then they dragged him out of the city and left him unceremoniously to the mercy of his friends. But he had merely swooned from the shock of the stoning. He soon revived and was led into the city and refreshed by the ministrations of his friends. Undaunted soldier of Christ that he was, he arose at once and went on to Derbe, where he was not hindered in his noble work. This is the man who near the close of his ministry said with joy, "I have fought the good fight, I have finished the course, I have kept the faith; henceforth there is laid up for me the crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous judge, shall give me at that day."

THE BACK TRAIL.

It is probable that from his first missionary tour must be dated the conversion of Timothy, for on his second tour Paul took him as a companion and helper. Repeatedly Paul calls Timothy his child in the gospel. Timothy's mother was a Jewess and his father a Gentile. He had been trained as a child in the Jewish scriptures, but was not circumcised when a child. This fact was perhaps due to the influence of his Gentile father. For reasons of expediency Paul caused him to submit to the rite of circumcision before commencing his career as a missionary. His home was in Lystra, and his conversion probably occurred there on Paul's first visit. Then, on Paul's return from Derbe, he further instructed the young man in the gospel, fitting him for his great life task. There was ample time before Paul's return on his second tour for Timothy to assimilate the truth that he had learned.

Luke makes only a brief reference to the return journey, but that reference tells in a word of a great deal of helpful work rendered by Paul and Barnabas in confirming the new disciples in the faith and in exhorting them to steadfastness in their new life against the many trials that would confront them. Paul is a good model for the pastor or other Christian worker who wishes to do work of permanent value. He set the example for work of Christian culture as an essential sequence of direct evangelistic efforts. One reason why so many Christians fail to be of any use is because they are not trained in Christian truth and living by those who ought to be their leaders.

At Perga, where they had not stopped to preach the word as they entered the country, Paul and Barnabas made the gospel known and then pushed on by way of Attalia to take ship for Antioch, where they once more enjoyed the fellowship of the brethren in the church and reported to them the events of the journey through Cyprus and Asia, recounting with gladness how God had opened wide the door of faith to the gentiles. Prof. Purves has pointed out the general plan on which Paul and Barnabas seem to have moved in their missionary work on this tour: First, they moved westward, evangelizing the regions next beyond those already occupied. Second, they sought to gain the principal cities as points of vantage for thorough work in each region. Third, they aimed to leave in each city an organized church to foster and promote the gospel. Fourth, their rule of procedure was, to the Jew first, afterwards to the Gentile, carrying the message of salvation through faith in Jesus, whose life, death and resurrection were preached. The Christian life was enjoined on this basis, independent of the observance of the Mosaic law, and carrying out the teaching of Jesus, which said, "God is spirit and they that worship him must worship in spirit and truth."

PREFERS

A Crust Alone Than Sumptuous Fare With Scolding Woman.

Toledo, Ohio, May 30.—Michael Whalen filed an answer to his wife's petition for divorce, and the paper stands among the most remarkable documents ever filed with the clerk. The following are verbatim extracts from it:

"Defendant admits that he is not now and never has been an angel, and that he has used language toward his wife that would not be in place in polite society, but that he only did so after plaintiff had used every vile and insulting epithet toward defendant that a woman crazed with rage and devilishness could frame by the use of the English language, even threatening his life. Defendant says the truth is that Xanthippe, wife of Socrates of old, was sweet dispositioned in every respect when compared to plaintiff; that she is a common scold, and in the use of billingsgate plaintiff can discount a Dublin fishwoman.

"Defendant says that it was a common occurrence for the plaintiff to brandish a butcher knife or a stick of stovewood about his head and threaten to do him great bodily injury, and upon such occasions it was necessary to use a certain amount of physical force in self-defense, and that is as far as defendant has ever gone in the way of chastisement of plaintiff. Defendant says he has tried every means in his power to live in peace with the plaintiff, but admits that he has hopelessly failed, and therefore prefers to live on a crust of bread alone rather than live with a brawling, scolding woman, even if he could sit down to a king's table and fare sumptuously three times a day."

The parties to this remarkable suit live in Swanton township. They are wealthy. They have three children, for whom the plaintiff asks the custody. But the defendant says she is not fit to have them, and that they would run away from her unless placed under guard.

The couple were divorced once before, but remarried.

"It was almost a miracle. Burdock Blood Bitters cured me of a terrible breaking out all over the body. I am very grateful." Miss Julia Filbridge, West Cornwell, Conn.

"DEM BRITCHES"

Stolen For Baptismal Garments, Wrote the Poet.

Chicago, May 30.—"Pomp" Stots, a colored poet, while confined in his cell at the Englewood police station, wrote some verses which caused Judge Duggan to reduce his fine from $50 to $15.

Stots was accused of stealing two pairs of pants and confessed his guilt in the following poem:

"I stole dem britches. Ise knowledged de corn,
But tho't no crime, sure's youse born;
If de motif am rite den dars no sin
I stole dem britches to be baptized in."

He wrote another verse. Justice Duggan read them all.

"It's a shame to hide such a light in the Bridewall," he said. "I'll fine you $50, knock off $35 and let you serve out $15 worth of time."

VOLCANO REGION

Several Extinct Volcanoes Exist In Larimer County, Colorado.

Far Remote From the Larger Centers of Population.

For That Reason Outbreak Would Not Be Dangerous.

Denver, Colo., May 30.—Professor Silliman of Yale college says that there are many extinct volcanoes in the western part of the United States, and that they are liable to break forth at any time. The first assertion of the learned professor is no news to the people of Colorado, who have long known that there were numerous volcanic regions in their own state, and have taken a pride in pointing them out as among the wonderful geological formations of our great mountain country. As to their liability to break forth at any time, it is of course a matter of interest, but not of alarm. An outbreak would hardly be attended by any serious consequences for the reason that the volcanic regions are so far remote from the larger centers of population.

Larimer county prides itself upon having some as interesting examples of ancient volcanic disturbances as can be found in the state. These are formed in the vicinity of Cameron pass about 75 miles west of Fort Collins. Cameron pass is about 20 miles in length and divides the Medicine Bow mountains on the north from the main continental range on the south. The apex of the pass is about 10,000 feet above the sea level. It is flanked on either hand by high ridges and lofty peaks that rise to altitudes varying from 13,500 to 15,000 feet. The more marked evidences of volcanic action are near Lake Zimmerman on the east side of the pass some ten miles southeast of Chambers lake. They form what are known as "The Craters," and are found at the northern extremity of a long ridge that rises some 2000 feet above the bed of the pass. The top of the ridge is in the shape of a mesa or large grassy plateau. "The craters" are in the form of two deep rocky basins, divided from each other by a thin knife-like ridge.

The northwestern walls of "the craters" overlook Cameron pass, and are in the shape of a serrated ridge of chimney-like rocks. The rock columns and boulders are of flint-like hardness and very finely checked, as if at some time they had been exposed to the most intense heat.

"The craters" are the scene of absolute barrenness and desolation. So impervious seem the surrounding rocks that all the action of the elements for ages past has failed to make the least impression upon them, so that the interstices are devoid of sand soil deposits. Consequently even the hardiest plant has found any foothold among them. In the beds of these craters, deep snow banks are found which have evidently been forming for years. It is thought, however, that they were melted deeper during the summer of 1901 than perhaps they had been in fifty years before, in consequence of the light fall of snow on the range the winter before and the extended heated term of the following summer.

About a mile below "the craters" lies Lake Zimmerman. This body of water about half a mile in diameter, and whose ultimate depths have never been fathomed. The waters of Lake Zimmerman are cold and clear, being constantly fed from the numerous springs and snow banks above. It is thought by some that the bed of Lake Zimmerman might have been the scene of some ancient volcanic eruption.

About ten miles southwest of Lake Zimmerman is Lake Agnes. Here is another fathomless pool embosomed between lofty mountain peaks. Lake Agnes is about two miles long and a mile wide. From its eastern and southeastern shores rise abruptly Finger and Sawtooth mountain and Mount Richthoven, the latter being over 15,000 feet high. Almost from the center of Lake Agnes rises a shaft-like point of rock, on the summit of which a few evergreens find lodgment. Richthoven rises about 2000 feet above the surface of the lake, and may be ascended by a hard climb from the lake's southern extremity.

The bed of Lake Agnes is clearly the crater of an ancient volcano. Its sides are exceedingly steep and the lake evidently has great depth. The over-shadowing mountains are of almost solid granite, but nevertheless are crumbling and the broken fragments are gradually filling the lake.

To the southwest of Lake Agnes rises a third cliff some 2000 feet above the surface. The face of this cliff is seamed, and through one of the cliffs falls a cascade. John Zimmerman, proprietor of the Keystone hatel at Home in the Poudre canon, after whom Lake Zimmerman was named, and who has known these regions ever since the early '80s, maintains that this mountain is actually growing. He says that he not only knows from careful observation that the mountain is now higher than it was when he first beheld it, but that he knows that there is a perceptible motion to its surface and certain portions of its interior. Always when climbing it or traversing its summit he is conscious of its subtle yet perceptible stir. There are slight sounds from within the cracks and caverns and a constant falling of loose rock. He attributes these characteristics to volcanic action beneath the mountain.

He also tells of a moving cave in the cliffs in the neighborhood of "The Craters" near Lake Zimmerman. He discovered this cave in 1884, and visiting it a dozen years afterward found that it had moved some fifty feet to the south, and that its internal formation had greatly changed. This gives him additional faith in the real volcanic nature of the region.

Cancer and Consumption Cured.

(From New York World, May 11.

Absolute cures are being effected.

The most eminent men in the profession testify to the efficacy of the new and wonderful treatment.

Reports of this mode of treatment and its cures, with discussions, occupy most of the time at present of the meetings of medical societies and conventions of physicians.

Sufferers from cancer and consumption experience relief from the first moment they are exposed to the light.

They are at once freed from pain, and, after a few exposures, improvement is so marked that it can be observed by the naked eye.

The new method appeals to all because of its simplicity, painlessness and many other reasons."

An elaborate outfit for giving the Actinic or Violet Ray treatment has been installed in Duluth.

Already a number of people have been treated, with good results.

WHY? IS ELECTRIC LIGHT BEST?

Because it is healthy, clean, pure and brilliant.

HEALTHY— It has no odor. Professor Thompson states that one cubic foot of gas consumes as much oxygen as four adults.

SAFE— As electric bell work, no danger of suffocation.

CHEAP— By using a little care in turning off lights when not in use it is cheaper than any other illuminant.

"FORCE"

"Ever notice how a song will go with an audience if it arouses the memory of a pleasing taste?" asked the first-nighter.

"'Everybody's awful good to me,
Doncher know
I'm as sweet as any girl can be,
Doncher know.
They took away my oatmeal,
But instead they gave me "FORCE";
Everybody's awful good to me.'

"Tune's nothing extra; no sentiment; nothing particularly funny in it—yet every night the house goes wild. Only one way I can explain it. 'FORCE' is a mighty good breakfast food; has a dainty, delicate flavor, is crisp and flaky—just the kind of a dish that a man's glad to see when he sits down to breakfast from force of habit and not because he wants to eat. It leaves a mighty pleasant taste, and, to my mind, it's the memory of that pleasant taste that causes the audience to appreciate so thoroughly that little song." "FORCE" is a combination of the whole of the wheat and barley malt. Wheat contains all elements necessary for the sustenance and proper regulation of every organ of the body. It combines these elements in such proportions that no organ is overworked or under-exercised in the processes of digestion and assimilation.

Because malt is blended with the whole of the wheat, "FORCE" is a perfect food for the overworked or under-exercised stomach, as well as for the stomach in perfect health. Malt is the best natural tonic. In the manufacture of "FORCE" various chemical changes take place in both the wheat and malt which ordinarily are brought about in the first stages of normal and healthy digestion. This food, therefore, is quickly and easily assimilated, but still gives the various organs of the body sufficient exercise to keep them in perfect condition.

country, decorate their homes with flags and bunting Saturday, June 14, in observance of the celebration of flag day.

The adjutant of the post read the general orders from the national and from the state department of the G. A. R. regarding the observance of Memorial day. The day was characterized as the Easter day and the Sabbath day of the nation, as well as the benediction day, and in no other country was there a more beautiful custom than that observed in this, of decorating the graves of those who fought and died to keep the American union intact. The orders urged that the day be ever observed as a day of sweet memories.

In accordance with the custom which is being observed over the country today wherever there are Decoration day exercises, President Abraham Lincoln's famous patriotic speech, delivered on the field of Gettysburg, was read.

Prayer was then offered by Rev. Harry Knowles, of the Grace M. E. church. During his prayer he thanked God that there was never a time during a crisis in this country when its institutions were threatened that there were not men to rise to meet the emergency. He prayed that the memory of the past might inspire reverence for the day in the future.

The familiar old song, "There Will Be One Vacant Chair," was sung very effectively by the Temple quartet, after which Dr. Robert Forbes delivered the Decoration day address. It was an eloquent appeal for a greater reverence for Memorial day and full of touching eulogy of the fallen soldiers who gave up their life to preserve the union. Dr. Forbes pointed out the great lessons of patriotism that were taught, and urged that the experience of the past be an incentive to a higher citizensip in the future.

The meeting was closed with "America," sung by the Temple quartet, the audience joining.

The exercises at Forest Hill cemetery were to be held at 2:30 o'clock. The regular ritualistic service of the Grand Army was to be carried out at the cemetery. A detail of Company A was to furnish the firing squad and the ceremony includes the decoration of the graves.

Business was suspended more generally than ever before. All of the public offices were closed and all of the large business houses were closed throughout the day.

IN MICHIGAN.

Boston Parties Buy Control In Houghton Light Company.

Houghton—The controlling interest in the Peninsula Electric Light and Power company, of Houghton, has passed into the hands of Stone & Webster, of Boston. The deal is one of the largest ever consummated in the copper country, and involves over $300,000. The electric light company owns two large plants, Houghton and Lake Linden and serves all of Houghton county. Stone & Webster own and operate the Houghton county street railway, running from Houghton to Calumet, with thirty miles of trackage.

Marquette—Judge Stone in the circuit court directed a verdict for the defendant in the important ejectment suit of St. Mary's Water Power company against the Chandler & Dunbar Power company. The case involves the title to lands at the head of the St. Mary's river at the Soo, the disputed ownership carrying with it valuable riparian rights. The verdict was based on the tax law of 1895, which provides for five years' possession in order to perfect a tax title. The defendant company proved that it had possession for seven years.

Sault Ste. Marie—Disquieting rumors of labor troubles are coming from the Michipicoten district, where the Algoma Central construction work is in progress. The Scandinavians and Finns whom Congressman Eddy, as agent, recently imported from Europe, to work for the Clergue syndicate are dissatisfied with the wages offered and decline to work. They have apparently declared war on the Italians who are at work and conflicts have already occurred. The newcomers are without money, and they have been refused orders on the stores and the situation is alarming.

Because he was thrown from his cutter B. McEvoy has commenced suit against the city for $5000 damages. Stones left in the street are declared to have been the cause of the accident.

Iron Mountain—An organized gang of thieves appear to be at work in this city, and so far the culprits have succeeded in baffling the police. Many houses and several stores have been entered, and plunder of every description has been taken. The burglaries are generally attributed to tramps and a crusade will be waged against them.

ROAD RACE.

American Century Club Starts Run at Waukegan.

Chicago, May 30.—There were sixty starters in the annual Decoration day road race of the American Century Wheelmen today. As the course to Waukegan and return was reported in perfect shape, the crowd which saw the riders off and waited for their return expected that fast time would be made. Karl A. Linde, James E. Gill and Edmund Bukoqski, limit men, started at 6 a. m., while the two scratch men, C. Grunnet, who won the race last year, and "Farmer" Blum, time winner in the Pullman race two years ago, started two hours later.

THE MORRIS BILL.

All the Minor Objections Have Been Removed.

Washington, May 30.—An agreement has been reached by the various interests whereby all minor objections to Judge Morris' bill for opening the Chippewa reservations in Minnesota, have been removed.

Secretary Hitchcock has agreed to publish the rules and regulations for cutting the timber thirty days in advance of calling for bids, so that prospective contractors will know exactly what they will have to do.

The only point at issue now is the sealed bid proposition, which is not supported by some of the members representing districts where lumber interests are strong.

Capt. A. G. Bernard, of Cass Lake, who has worked for three months to reach an agreement and secure the passage of a bill which means so much for Minnesota and the trade of Minneapolis and Duluth, stands ready to make some concessions, but the interior department insists on its original proposition for sealed bids.

It is believed, however, that an agreement will be reached, as the legislation is of too important a character to go over.

CLEANED UP A MILLION

Mayor Patten Makes Good On His Oat Corner.

Has Dominated the Market Since Last Fall.

Chicago, May 31.—James A. Patten, mayor of Evanston and a prominent board of trade man, today brought to a successful close the corner in May oats, which has dominated the oats market since early last fall. The profits credited to Mr. Patten on the deal are estimated at nearly $1,000,000. About the time prices in corn began to move skywards last year, on account of the corn shortage. It was learned that some one was taking in all the May oats offered on the Chicago market and elsewhere. Prices began to advance steadily and around 37 it was known that Mr. Patten was trying to work a corner. On the flurry on the board last December May oats were pushed 37⅝. Since that time reactions occurred, and when delivery day came this month, many speculators thought the bottom had fallen out of the corner. It was said that Mr. Patten had 10,000,000 to 12,000,000 bushels of the May option. Everything that was offered to him on delivery he took, and in turn sold practically all the contracts to shippers at good inducements. This left nothing for the shorts to acquire with which to settle and prices accordingly were pushed up by Mr. Patten personally in the pit today. May oats closed yesterday at 43⅞. Prices today were jumped about 6 cents and closed at 49½. There was a little flurry of excitement at the close, but the corner did not affect the other options.

CARVED IN CHICAGO

Terrible Street Fight Witnessed By Many.

Triangular Duel With Stilettos In New York.

Chicago, May 31.—Two colored men fought a duel to the death with knives last night at Twenty-second and Dearborn streets. As they slashed and plunged the weapons into each others' bodies, a crowd of more than fifty persons formed a circle around them and cheered the combatants when one or the other drove the knife to the hilt.

After ten minutes of fierce fighting Alex Shirley staggered and fell with his adversary's weapon sticking in his body. The long, keen-edged blade had pierced his heart. He was dead when the police arrived. His slayer, Charles Thomas, was bleeding from several wounds. The police hurried him to a hospital and after his wounds were dressed, locked him up. He will be charged with murder.

Shirley came to Chicago recently from Mississippi. He met Thomas last Monday and, having known him in the South, tried to borrow money from him. Thomas refused to give him assistance and they quarreled. Before parting Shirley it is said, made the threat that when they met again, one or the other would die.

New York, May 31.—Three Italian ice peddlers have engaged in a triangular duel with stilettos in the dark hallway of a tenement in East 11th street. Tony Avacatto was stabbed twice in the breast and died on the way to the hospital; Luigi Lorgreyppo was taken to the same hospital, with many severe wounds, and the police are looking for his brother. According to the story told by Luigi, his brother owed Avaccatto $100 in a transaction growing out of the sale of an ice route for their push carts, and they had met for the first time in six months, when Avacatto suggested they play a game of cards to decide whether the debt should be doubled or quits. They played in Lorgreyppos rooms and Avacatto lost. Then they adjourned to the hallway where they fought with knives, with the result stated.

AMERICANS WIN AT POLO

Foxhall Keene's Team Defeated the English Players at Hurlingham By a Score of Two Goals to One.

London, May 31.—The first test polo match for the American cup was played at Hurlingham today and was won by the Americans by two goals to one. The weather was fine and the ground good, but soft. An enormous crowd, including many ladies, were present. Joseph H. Choate, the United States ambassarod; Henry White, the secretary, and the other members of the United States embassy witnessed the game. Play began a few minutes after 4 o'clock in the afternoon. The contest opened well for the Americans. L. Waterbury shot a goal in the first five minutes, and was much applauded by the American section. When the goals were changed the Englishmen seemed to have matters their own way, and kept the ball continuously near the American goal, until R. L. Agassiz made a splendid run the whole length of the field, riding Charles D. Miller, of the English team, off, and opened the way for Foxhall Keene, the American champion, who, with a fine long shot, scored another goal.

In the third period England shot a goal, but it was disallowed on the ground of a foul.

The score at the end of the third period was: America, 2; England, 0.

5:30 p. m.—The Americans won by two goals to one.

A MISHAP TO VISITOR

Boston, May 31.—A mishap befell a member of the Rochambeau mission here today, when Maj. Berthelot, the aide-de-camp to Gen. Brughere, sustained a fracture of the left leg. The accident happened at the navy yard at Charlestown, where Maj. Berthelot, with Vice Admiral Fournier and staff, went to inspect the buildings, equipment and ships. While passing from the hall of the commandant's house into the reception room, Maj. Berthelot slipped over a rug on the polished hardwood floor and fell. He was unable to rise and had to be assisted to a couch. Doctors were hastily summoned and found that one of the bones of the left leg had been fractured. As soon as possible the injured man was taken to the French battleship Gaulois, where the ship's physician attended him.

The accident caused some confusion and brought the visit to the navy yard to an end. Admiral Fournier and staff had previously been received with full honors by Admiral Johnson.

KIND AND CONSIDERATE

Has Been the Conduct of American Soldiers In the Philippines, According to the Testimony of Col. Wagner.

Washington, May 31.—Col. Wagner, assistant adjutant general United States army, and formerly adjutant general of the army in the Philippines, today continued his testimony before the senate Philippines committee. He said that he knew of one village burned because the people would not impart information. He gave a fine character to Gen. Bell as a humane officer. He said the conduct of Americans in the islands had been uniformly kind and considerate of the native prisoners.

Col Wagner did not agree with Gen. Hughes that the war in the islands was not civilized war. He said that in the provinces commanded by Gen. Bell, about 100,000 people were gathered in the concentration camps. Their property left outside the camps was confiscated and the wealthy people lost heavily. He did not believe that any camp described by an anonymous officer as a "suburb of hell," ever existed.

DOMESTIC BURNED TO DEATH

Cleveland, May 31.—As the result of a fire that partially destroyed the dwelling of Philip Sogolovitch, on Broadway, near Cross street, early today, an unknown woman, employed as a domestic, was burned to death, while several members of the family narrowly escaped with their lives. Sogolovitch awoke to find the house in flames, and succeeded, after great difficulty, in saving his wife and children. The domestic lost her life in an attempt to secure her clothing from the burning building.

ON PLEASURE TRIP.

Baron Shibusawa of Japan at San Francisco.

San Francisco, May 31.—Baron Eichi Shibusawa, one of the richest merchants of Japan, has arrived here from the Orient, accompanied by a large retinue of secretaries and servants, and an interpreter. He is president of forty stock companies, representing an aggregate capital of $100,000,000. For many years he was president of the Tokio chamber of commerce and has held many important offices. He was created a peer in recognition of his services in building up the commerce of his country. The baron is touring the world for pleasure.

PARADE AT POTSDAM.

Potsdam, Prussia, May 31.—The parade of the Potsdam garrison took place in the Lustgarten this morning. Emperor William, accompanied by Prince Henry of Prussia and other princes took up a position opposite the statue of King Frederick William I for the march past. The shah of Persia witnessed the military display from a window of the Stadt Schloss.

A PROTEST

By English Horse Owners Against Tax on Oats.

London, May 31.—A delegation representing the owners of half a million horses interviewed the chancellor of the exchequed, Sir Michael Hicks-Beach today, and strongly protested against the tax on oats and maize. The chancellor, however, told the delegates that it was impossible to give up the general tax of grain or specially exempt maize or oats. There was no greater reason, he pointed out for the exemption of horse food than there was to exempt wheat or other grains used by humans. If the alleged increase in the cost of horses and food was due to the war, with the expected peace there would be a fall of prices considerable greater than the amount of duty.

Meanwhile horse owners could make the public pay the duty as ought to be the case, in his opinion the present prices, especially of maize, were temporary and were due to the short harvest in America last year.

EARTHQUAKE.

Later Details Add Horror to the One In Guatemala.

San Francisco, May 31.—Later details of the earthquake in Guatemala only adds to its horror. Passengers arriving here on the steamer City of Syrney say they unuerstood that 1400 dead were taken from the ruins of Quesaltenango. One man who was there and aided in the work of taking out the bodies says that over 1000 had been taken out when he left on May 13, twenty-five days after the city had been destroyed. Reports of loss and damage on the coffee plantations are beginning to come in, and they practically double the total reported from the towns. The estimated figures run into the millions.

Tapacuchula is a city of about 10,000 and the damage to the town is estimated at about $200,000. San Marcos, a town nearer Quesaltenango was first destroyed, with great loss of life. There were 140 prisoners in the jail, and every man was killed, crushed and buried under the falling walls.

In Tlachico, a town of 2000 inhabitants, not a house was left standing.

KILLED BY CAR.

Toledo Man First Fell Into a Manhole.

Chicago, May 31.—Edward Quentin, of Toledo, Ohio, was killed by a street car here early today. Quentin and a companion were crossing the track ahead of the car. Quentin fell into an open manhole and before he could extricate himself the car was upon him.

FIRE AT MAYVILLE, N. D.

Imperial Elevator Company's House Destroyed.

Mayville, N. D., May 31.—The Imperial Elevator company's house was totally destroyed by fire this morning. A small amount of grain was also burned. The origin of the fire is a mystery, being discovered underneath the driveway. The elevator was fully insured. The high wind carried burning cinders over the city, and the residence of Mrs. Berrington and the Robinson lumber yard were endangered.

SULLIVAN AND CORBETT.

Denver, May 31.—Articles have been signed for a fight between Dave Sullivan and Young Corbett, to take place June 20. The men are to weigh in at 127 pounds at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Five hundred dollars have been deposited by each as a forfeit for weight, and the Coliseum club has deposited a like amount as a guarantee that the fight will come off.

SAGE OUT AGAIN.

New York, May 31.—Russell Sage, who has been confined to his home for some days, was so much improved today that he took a drive through Central park with Mrs. Sage. He said he expected to be at his office on Monday.

READY TO CELEBRATE

If a Definite Announcement of Peace Is Made Monday as Expected, Britons Will Have a Great Time.

London, May 31.—If a definite announcement of peace in South Africa is made on Monday, as expected, that night will bid fair to rival the celebration which occurred when the relief of Mafeking was officially announced in May, 1900. Throughout London arrangements already have been made for numerous peace dinners. The aristocracy will "Maffick" on no small scale, and doubtless the denizens of White Chapel and the various East end quarters will invade the Strand and other thoroughfares with their wild exultation. For Monday afternoon every seat in the house of commons is already pre-empted. If the statement of the government leader, A. J. Balfour, comes up to expectations, little will be done in the United Kingdom that day, except exultation over the end of the war that has tried the spirit of the nation to its uttermost. Already the wisacres are saying that Lord Kitchener will be made an earl and receive the thanks of parliament, accompanied by a substantial grant of money.

One of the most curious features of the war is the remarkable way in which Lord Kitchener has deepend the awesome respect, akin to fear, with which the British nation regards him and his laconic reports, and his utterly independent prosecution of the campaign in South Africa has heightened his military reputation to such an extent that he has actually become a god to the average man in the street. Yet, he is universally admitted to have nothing in common with his countrymen or their government. As Lord Kitchener's star has ascended, so has Lord Roberts' declined. The genial optimism of the old fighter who is now commander-in-chief, grates so bitterly upon a people severely overtaxed for the war which Lord Roberts so long ago declared finished, that the spontaneous popularity which made him the hero of the jubilee procession could never be repeated at the coronation. Indeed, it is more likely to be transformed into a hostile demonstration, in which Buller's name may be greeted with cheers.

However, peace is undoubtedly the question of the hour, and Lord Kitchener is once more the man of the moment. Lord Milnor may or may not have played an important part of the peace negotiations, but popular and political opinions assign to the ex-sidar of the Egyptian forces the bringing about of the present negotiations. This feeling is by no means confined to outsiders. Great financial magnates whose information regarding the conditions in South Africa has often been better than the government's, declare that Lord Kitchener is the savior of his country.

DISAPPROVAL OF KING

Old English Families Make No Secret of Dislike of Edward's Social Life---The King and Salisbury Have a Tilt.

London, May 1.—Those in touch with royal circles are busy gossiping about the reported tiff between Lord Salisbury and King Edward, which is said to have arisen on account of the king's demand that the premier recommend Sir Ernest Cassel for a peerage. Last year the same request met with a refusal. This year it was again urged by the king on the ground of Sir Ernest's munificent gift of £200,000 towards the cure of consumption. The premier absolutely refused to countenance the suggestion, and at the end of a stormy interview, which occurred the day the state dinner was held at Buckingham palace, Lord Salisbury remarked:

"Well, sir, I suppose I had better leave my place at tonight's banquet vacant?" To which the king is said to have replied: "Yes, I think you had," and stalked out of the room. Since then, according to court gossip, King Edward and his aged prime minister have scarcely been on speaking terms.

Another incident which is causing considerable commotion in royal circles is the disagreement between the king and the duchess of Buccleuch, a member of the old-style, exclusive aristocracy, who has not countenanced the so-called "smart set." The king was to dine with the duke and duchess of Buccleuch and intimated his desire that a lady of his surrounding be invited. This is usually tantamount to a command, but the duchess of Buccleuch, nothing daunted, refused point blank to ask the king's friend to make one of the dinner party. His majesty was furious and threatened to cancel his promise to dine with the Buccleuchs, whereat the duchess of Buccleuch retorted that she was quite willing to send her resignation, as mistress of the robes to Queen Alexandra. Later in the day the king thought better of it, informed the Buccleuchs that he accepted the exclusion of his favorite and forbade the duchess to resign.

Many members of the nobility, especially old, country families, make no secret of their disapproval of various events in the king's social life.

SLIPPERY MAN RECAPTURED

Chicago, May 31.—Fred Middleton, who escaped from United States Marshal Cass on Monday night in the Union depot while waiting for a train that was to take him to Milwaukee where he was to serve a two-year sentence for passing counterfeit money, was arrested last night at Harrison street and Custom House place, by two policemen.

As the policemen started to place Middleton under arrest he broke from their grasp and ran south in Custom House place, firing at his pursuers as he ran. The policemen overtook the fugitive at Polk street and overpowered him. Middleton is now a closely guarded prisoner at the Harrison street station, where he will be kept pending arrival of federal officers.

INDIAN SLASHED TO DEATH

Buffalo, May 31.—Adam Jacobs, a full blood Cattaraugus Indian, was slashed to death with knives in a fight which occurred yesterday on the reservation near Lawton's station. Several Indians participated in the murder and in the fury of their anger they cut and slashed him even after he was dead. No arrests have been made.

THROUGH THE RAPIDS

First Instance of a Person Ever Going Through St. Mary's Treacherous Waters and Living to Tell the Story.

Sault Ste. Marie, May 31.—John Trombley, the well known lock employe, had a narrow escape from drowning. He took a day off to go fishing and had anchored his small boat above the rapids, near the bridge. He had splendid luck fishing, having landed six fine speckled beauties. In some way the anchor suddenly gave way, the boat whipped around and Mr. Trombley was thrown overboard. His boat was overturned, but he succeeded in struggling on top of it. It is fortunate that he is a good swimmer, or there would be a different story to tell. Astride the boat he rode down the rapids and was picked up, drenched to the skin, by two Indian fishermen. Mr. Trombley recognizes that his escape was well nigh miraculous. He does not regret the wetting so much as the loss of his fine catch of trout.

This is the first instance on record of a man escaping alive from a similar experience with the whirling current of St. Mary's treacherous rapids.

THE STRIKE SPREADS

Teamsters In Chicago's Department Stores Go Out Demanding Better Hours, Higher Wages and Recognition of Union.

Chicago, May 31.—The teamsters' strike today spread to the department stores. Eighty-nine men working for the Fair struck, and it was stated that 400 more men employed by other big downtown stores would be out by tonight. The effect, it was said, would be practically to shut off the delivery of goods to customers and the bringing in of new stock. The department store teamsters' union was recently formed and is affiliated with the national organization on the same footing as the one at the stock yards. The men make the same demand as do the packers' teamsters for better hours, higher wages and recognition of the union.

Police were called to guard the Fair store. Jacob Magner, manager of the store, tried to address the teamsters, but they would not listen.

"I don't recognize you," said the manager. At this the men dispersed, leaving pickets, however, to look after their interests.

COTS AND PROVISIONS

A Train Load Brought to Collieries to Be Used By Men Who Will Take Places of Striking Pumpmen.

Pittston, Pa., May 31.—The Erie railroad today brought a train load of cots and bedding and provisions here and deposited them at the collieries located in and around this city. Several strange men accompanied the goods. Many engineers, firemen and pumpmen, whose night shift ended this morning, took their working clothes away from the mines.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., May 31.—There is every reason to believe that the pump runners will respond with practically unanimity next Monday to President Mitchell's order to strike unless granted an eight hour workday and other concessions prescribed by the Shamokin convention. That the company do not propose to yield, is evidenced by the high fences which have been placed around the collieries. Hundreds of extra coal and iron policemen have been employed, armed principally with revolvers. These armed guards are back of the high board fences and the barbed wire. President Mitchell is expected to arrive here late today or tomorrow.

RECKLESS AUTOMOBILISTS

Chicago, May 31.—Three chaffeurs have been arrested for exceeding the lawful limit of speed for automobiles. Paul Picard, a Frenchman living at his summer home in Winnetka, was arrested for driving his machine through the Lincoln park boulevards at too high a rate of speed, and Frederick D. Countess and J. K. Robertson, Jr., were arrested in Lake Forest for exceeding the limit of eight miles an hour. The arrest of Mr. Picard was accomplished only after he had given a small squad of police an exciting race along the north side boulevards. The arrests were made in Lake Forest after a series of threats by the police of that suburb.

TAFT AT ROME.

Will Hurry the Negotiations With the Vatican.

New York, May 31.—Gov. Taft, Mrs. Taft, Judge Smith and Maj. Porter, accompanied by Bishop O'Gorman, were received at the station by Secretary Iddings, of the American embassy, says a Tribune dispatch from Rome. Consul General de Dastro and Mgr. O'Connell also were at the station. Judge Taft expressed an intention to set to work immediately to have the negotiations concluded in the shortest time possible in which he hopes to be met half way by the vatican. In fact, Cardinal Rampolla, to remove delay, will receive Judge Taft Saturday which is considered a great concession from the rigid ceremonial of the vatican.

DR. MITCHELL'S

Method Is the Greatest and Best Treatment For All Diseases.

More than ten thousand cures during the past four years prove that his method of treatment is a godsend to suffering humanity. Diseases that have baffled the skill of physicians are lost vitality, varicocele, vital weakness or nervous troubles of any kind. No matter whether caused by overwork or worry and no matter whether you are young or old you can be made strong and well by Dr. Mitchell's treatment. Dr. Mitchell is the only man living that can cure fabroid and ovarian tumors without an operation. He cures locotomor ataxia and synovitis. Dr. Mitchell cures cancer in less time and with less pain than by any other method. He cures all female troubles, blood troubles, piles, fissures, fistula, skin disease, dyspepsia, hip-joint disease, consumption, catarrh, deafness, blindness, sore eyes of all kinds, rheumatism, deformities of all kinds, constipation, neuraliga and every other disease after every other treatment fails. Mrs. Annie Harver, of the range, returned home cured of rheumatism last week, from which she had suffered everything. Her daughter was cured of hip-joint disease about two years ago. Mr. Edward Logan, of the southern part of the state, who was paralyzed on one side returned home cured. Mr. Rickins had a stiff neck and shoulder for five years, cured in three treatments. If you are sick be sure to see Dr. Mitchell. If there is any cure for you he can cure you. He is the only magnetic physician that has stood the test of time. Do not be deceived by would-be magnetic healers; go to Dr. Mitchell, for he has proven himself genuine. Consultation free by bringing this advertisement. He will be glad to see all and give them his valuable advice free of charge. Call at once.

THE ROADS ARE POOR

Commissioner Kauppi Makes a Trip Through His District.

The Country Is Developing at a Tremendous Rate.

But Roads Do Not Keep Pace With the Settlement.

County Commissioner Charles Kauppi returned yesterday from a tour of inspection of his district and the county roads therein, in quest of information about the needs of the district for spring and summer road work.

He reports that his district is blossoming like the rose with new farms and new settlements, but that many of the roads are sadly in need of repairs and extensions. One road has even floated away since last year, and will have to be practically rebuilt. The county board will probably see, however, if the lumber companies that are responsible for its having floated away cannot be made to replace it.

Commissioner Kauppi's district includes most of the farming communities, and it has therefore most of the farming roads, though Commissioner Kugler has a large slice of the St. Louis county agricultural lands. The movement of new settlers to Commissioner Kauppi's district has been large during the past year, and many more are coming in during the summer. For instance, on the Swan Lake road, a short distance out from the Missabe station of Albert, Iowa, parties have bought a large tract, and fifteen families are coming in to settle there within the next sixty days. There are many new settlers all over the district, and hundreds of acres of land have been bought by intending settlers who are planning to move in during the summer and fall.

"Most of the settlers have gone in beyond the old roads, and it will be necessary to build extensions soon to reach their farms," said Mr. Kauppi this morning. "The growth of the farming population in my district is little short of marvelous, and I believe it should be encouraged by the county in every manner possible. It will not be a very expensive matter to build roads and extensions to reach these new settlements, which will soon be producing wealth from the soil. Quite a number of these extensions will be necessary, though I do not know that we shall be able to get them all in this year, owing to the need of many of the older roads for repair work. The Side-ville, Pike Lake, Cloquet River, Caribou Lake and Swan River roads all need considerable repairs, as they always do in the spring.

"The Erickson road, which runs along the banks of the Cloquet river, has almost floated away. The lumber companies built dams below it, and forced the river up so that it overflowed its banks and covered the road. The roadbed is almost entirely floated away, and the road is covered with logs and debris that will all have to be removed. The overseer of roads will make a report on the road at the June meeting, giving an estimate of the cost. The lumber companies promised to repair the damage they had caused, but though the havoc was created last year they have done nothing, and I think the board will have to get the county attorney after them."

The board will meet June 5, and a number of road matters will be brought before it at that time.

RESCUE HOME.

Duluth Bethel Association Purchases Property For One.

The Duluth Bethel association has purchased a double brick house in the East End, where a rescue home for women will be established. H. H. Hanford, speaking for the Bethel association, confirmed the purchase this morning, and said in explanation that the new institution would be called the Bethel Home. He added:

"We have purchased the brick block at Nos. 17 and 19 South Seventeenth avenue east. The house is well arranged; it has eighteen rooms and two bath rooms, and can be used in this work to good advantage. As previously announced it is our purpose to care for unfortunate women who realize the mistake made and wish help to regain a position in life.

"While we may be deceived in some cases, and probably will be, it is not our purpose to take any one in until convinced that they are thoroughly earnest in wishing to regain true womanhood. We shall endeavor to conduct a Christian home, with an unfaltering faith in Him who commands us to help the poor and unfortunate.

"The Young People's societies of the different churches are actively at work in aid of the work. Miss Mary E. Shannon will solicit funds and be actively engaged in the work.

"We expect soon to be able to give the name of the matron. We expect to open about August, and anyone who wishes to contribute can send funds to L. A. Marvin, treasurer, or Mary E. Shannon, care of the Bethel."

Found $20,000 In Gold.

A pot of gold, supposed to have been buried during the civil war and worth about $20,000, was recently found in an old spring by a poor farmer. No doubt the discovery brought him much happiness, but really nothing when compared to the happiness enjoyed by sickly people who have been restored to health by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. This sovereign remedy is backed by fifty years of cures, and is highly endorsed by many prominent physicians throughout the country. It is a specific remedy for stomach, liver, kidney and bowel disorders, such as headache, heartburn, loss of appetite, indigestion, constipation and biliousness. Be sure to try it. The genuine must have our private stamp over the neck of the bottle.

Busy Time Ahead.

Judge Cant will be busy next week with terms of court in Carlton and Lake counties, and week after next he will spend in hearing applications for second citizenship papers on the Vermilion ranges.

Tuesday Judge Cant will hold a special term of court at Carlton county, and Wednesday he will open the regular annual June term of district court in Two Harbors. There is quite a little business waiting there, and it is expected that the term will take up most of the balance of the week.

Weather In June.

The data for the June months during the past thirty-one years are presented by the local weather office and the figures may enable the Duluth weather prophets to figure out what the weather is likely to be for the next month.

The mean or normal temperature of the month for the past thirty-one years has been 58 degrees. The warmest month was in 1894, with an average of 63 degrees. In 1897 it was the coldest, the average temperature being 54 degrees. The highest temperature for the month was recorded on the 28th in 1893, when the thermometer registered 92 degrees. In contrast to this the coldest June day was the 6th, in 1897, when the 33-degree mark was touched. The average precipitation for the month has been 4.49 inches, so June may be reckoned as far from a dry month. The prevailing winds for the month have been from the northeast.

Under Sheriff Victor A. Dash is looking with pride at a balance on his books showing that the sheriff owed the county $1876.15 which he has collected from personal property tax delinquents in the short time he has had. The law requires that the list shall be returned to the county board June 1, and it will be returned, though there are a number of accounts yet uncollected. The list will be handed in as a matter of form, and a report made on what collections have already come in, and next month, when the term of court will be over and the summer vacation will give more time, the collection of the remainder of the list will be pursued. The amount collected, which will be turned over to the county treasurer with the report, is a very good showing for the time allotted for the work, as the money came in mostly in small amounts.

May Come to Duluth.

The mayor received an important letter this corning from Humane Agent H. C. Withrow, now attending a convention of the Corrections and Charities association in Detroit.

There is a possibility that the convention may come to Duluth next year, bringing about 600 persons prominent in the work of charities and corrections throughout the United States. The mayor will take the matter up with the Commercial club.

THEY WIN THE FIGHT

Saloons Had Threatened to Quit Rather Than Pay $1000.

Deadlock For a Time But It Has Been Broken.

The saloon and brewery combination against the payment of a $1,000 license fee at Two Harbors has broken, and the saloons are marching into the camp of the high license village board.

J. A. McGhee, of Two Harbors, is in the city today. Mr. McGhee says that three saloons, whose licenses had expired, have already made application for new licenses on the $1,000 basis. An even dozen more are expected to file applications at the next meeting of the village board.

For a time it promised to become a life and death struggle between the village board on one hand and the saloons backed by the breweries, of which they bought their beer on the other. High license was the issue at the last village election. The ticket having $1,000 license inscribed on its banner won the day by a big majority. There were twenty-two saloons in the village at the time.

The saloon keepers discussed the situation among themselves and concluded that very few of them would make a living and pay $1,000 license. They consulted the brewers, who supplied them, and the brewers lent a sympathetic ear and willing support. The latter endeavored to dissuade the village officials from their course. The saloons persisted in holding the license market stiff and strong.

It was explained that the village must have the funds for the purpose of meeting the expense of making public improvements. The saloons seemed to be doing a good business, and anyway it was insisted the village would be as well off without as many saloons.

The result was that the thirst dispelling resorts began closing as their $500 licenses expired. There were numerous "George's places," where "George" was to be found no longer. One of the Georges moved to Hibbing, taking his saloon equipment with him. The rest simply canned and waited.

The secret of the situation, as far as some of the saloon men were concerned at least, was that the brewers did not propose to advance the $1000 if they could help it. Finally, one brewery made a break. It backed three of the saloons it was selling beer to. Then the others fell into line, and the result is that all of the twelve that have been closed up will reopen as soon as they can get licenses at $1000 each.

Some of the licenses do not expire until well along in July. Others date up to some time in September. But it means about $11,000 a year more money for the village treasury of Two Harbors since the high license people have won their fight.

DISEASES

Of Women Cured By Osteopathy to Stay Cured.

That diseases which are peculiar to women yield more readily to osteopathic treatment than any other has been fullly demonstrated by the numerous cases cured at the Branch Minneapolis Institute and Infirmary of Ostopathy, located in rooms 512-13-14, Torrey building, this city. Drs. A. W. and W. A. McClaran, who are in charge of the institute, are regular graduates and can furnish satisfactory evidence of their ability and success in handling all cases intrusted to them and which they accept as curable.

BIG CROWDS.

All of the Popular Resorts Drew Many People.

Park point and Lester park were crowded with visitors yesterday afternoon. The crowd at the opening dance of the Oatka beach auditorium last evening was the largest by far that the attraction has had since it was built. In spite of the cold northeast wind and the fact that the canal was quite rough for ferry purposes, the paid admissions at the auditorium dance indicated the presence of 500 people. The other dancing pavilion was also well patronized and the Park point street railway was taxed to handle the big crowds.

Every car going out to Lester park yesterday afternoon was loaded to the steps and in many instances men and boys were hanging on to the rear end of the cars. It is stated on good authority that none of the big double truck cars carried 140 passengers on one trip.

THEIR BUSY DAY.

Treasurer's Force Up to the Ears In Money.

Eager taxpayers packed the office of the county treasurer all day today. The taxpayers were five deep all around the outside of the screen, the clerks were cars deep in work and knee deep in money that was being poured in, and it needed no placard to proclaim that "This is our busy day." Today is the last day for paying real estate taxes without the penalty of 10 per cent, which goes in effect tomorrow, and the number that put the duty of paying taxes off to the last moment was astonishing. The county officers expect the payment of taxes to be very close to the full amount this year. Last year the payment before the penalty went on was 93 per cent of the entire levy.

AT WEST DULUTH

The meeting of the West Duluth Commercial club that was held last evening with reference to getting an expression of the business interests in regard to a Fourth of July celebration in this end of the city, did not accomplish very much. The evening was not the best that could have been selected for a meeting, owing to the large number of counter attractions in different parts of the city and the attendance was very small. In view of this it was decided that all discussion would be without effect and the meeting was adjourned for one week. It is intimated that if the club does not take up the matter of a celebration the saloon interests will, and advance the money to make a celebration possible.

PARK GROWING POPULAR.

If Sunday should prove to be pleasant day there is a prospect of a large attendance of West Duluth people at Fairmount park. The park board accomplished considerable in the way of clearing up the park last season and a man is employed regularly at the park. The park is looking beautiful this season and it is fast growing in popularity as a place for West Duluthians to spend Sunday for a short outing. The scenery is of the wildest in parts and with the work that will be expended on the new possession the coming summer it will not be long before Fairmount park will offer attractions to many of those who now go east to Lester park. The only drawback to the location of the park is the lack of street car service to a point close to the park.

CHURCH SERVICES.

Regular services will be held at most of the West Duluth churches tomorrow.

Rev. S. A. Jamieson will preach at the Presbyterian church of West Duluth Sunday morning, and T. Thorburn will conduct the evening services. In the evening Rev. S. A. Jamieson will preach at the Heights.

At the Asbury M. E. church Rev. H. Littlehales, of Two Harbors, Minn., will preach at 10:30 Sunday morning and at 8 o'clock in the evening. Sunday school at noon and Epworth league at 7 o'clock in the evening.

WEST DULUTH BRIEFS.

P. H. Martin chaperoned a party of seventeen people to a picnic at Fond du Lac yesterday. The party did not go by the usual route up the river, but in the big prairie schooner that H. R. Patterson built last summer for picnic parties. Four horses were attached to the rig and the trip out and back was made quickly. A splendid time is reported.

Miss Louise Hollister, well known to many West Duluth people, will be in the city the latter part of next week. It is expected that she will hold several public meetings later. Miss Hollister is national superintendent of the L. T. L. work.

A daughter has been born to Mr. and Mrs. John St. James, of Fifty-second avenue west; a boy to Mr. and Mrs. I. J. Wollan, of Fifty-eighth avenue west.

Robert Thompson, of Oneota, died last evening. The funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

Miss Rockwell and her brother, of Canada, have arrived in West Duluth to join their parents. The family will reside at Highland street.

S. T. Roby left yesterday for a trip through the South. He will be gone several weeks.

Dr. Robert Forbes left yesterday for a trip through the western part of his district.

For sale, carload of drivers, delivery horses and draft horses just received, prices reasonable. Come and see them. John Winness, at the old stand, near the depot.

Going to Hurley.

The Knights of Columbus of Duluth and Superior will leave tomorrow in a special train for Hurley, Wis., to institute a new council of the order in that city. Knights to the number of 150 are expected to go, and the special train will leave the Duluth Union depot at 8 o'clock in the morning.

Allowed to Change Name.

Samuel Krajanski, of West Duluth, had the district court change his name to Samuel Kasken this morning, his idea being that that would go more smoothly on the tongues of his English-speaking friends. He petitioned the court for the change, saying that the old name was hard for English-speaking people to pronounce and spell. Also, he said, his neighbors universally know him by the name of Kasken. Judge Ensign signed the order granting him the change.

IN MICHIGAN.

American Lumber Company Makes Large Shipment to England.

Menominee—The American Lumber company has just completed a shipment of 7,000,000 feet of lumber from its branch yards in this city to London, Eng. A part of it went to Baltimore by rail and the rest to Boston. The lumber is of the thick upper grade of pine and is of the largest foreign shipment from this port this season.

The hot water reservoir in the kitchen range of John Cleary exploded and nearly demolished the kitchen. The range was blown into fragments and Mrs. Cleary was standing near by and had a narrow escape. The cause of the explosion cannot be accounted for, as it is an ordinary hot water reservoir on the rear end of the stove.

It is announced that the big fish-canning plant which is to be erected across the river at Menekaune by the Buckeye Fish company will go into operation by Oct. 1. The site has been purchased for $20,000 and the plant itself will represent an outlay of $50,000 more. Three tugs and a fleet of small boats will be operated in connection with the factory, and the business of refining and canning fish will be conducted on a large scale. The fish will be treated in the same manner as the meat packers do meat, in that everything will be utilized. The local branch will be one of several owned by the company, which, notably at Cleveland, operates a large plant.

Marquette—The officials of the Marquette land office are advised from Washington that some 4000 acres of land in this district which heretofore have been reserved from entry have been restored to the public domain and will soon be open for settlement. The lands were part of the grant made to the Bay de Noquet & Marquette railroad, and are located about fifteen or twenty miles up the lake shore from this city. Many of the tracts are very valuable. The lands will be subject to entry on and after July 8 next.

Munising—As a means of reducing the desecration of the Sabbath to a minimum the pastors of the local churches have hit upon the plan of a half-day holiday during the week for those who toil. It is proposed to set aside Wednesday for the clerks and storekeepers and Saturday for the factory hands. Employers of labor are now being canvassed and are being found almost unanimous in favor of the plan.

The work of clearing the site for the mammoth paper and pulp mills, to be erected and operated here by the Cleveland Cliffs Iron company and Kalamazoo capitalists, has been started. All told, the plant will cover forty acres and will give employment to 500 hands. The mills, which will go into commission by the first of next year, will be the largest independent works of the kind in the country.

THE DAKOTAS.

Indians For the Most Part Are Doing Very Well.

SOUTH DAKOTA.

Deadwood—John Belding, deputy United States marshal, brought two Indians before the United States commissioner on the charge of larceny. They are Frank Eagle Dog and Henry Pretty Eagle, who are accused of stealing a saddle and harness. Three witnesses, Good Bird, Andrew Hair Shirt and Sorrel Horse, accompanied the deputy marshal. Mr. Belding says there are 800 Indians on the government pay roll at Rosebud, under the new regulation dispensing with free rations, and they are doing surprisingly well, showing every evidence of thrift and contentment. They are building dams, bridges and roads and some of them are at work on the new stone building at the agency. Others will be put at work as soon as the agent receives more tools. To prevent the Indians from squandering their money they are paid off for the greater part in coupon books, with which they do their trading at the agency stores and meat markets. This was deemed necessary in order that the Indians should provide for their families instead of spending their money foolishly.

Rapid City—S. R. Cotton, of Deadwood, has purchased the Sammis ranch near this place, and will stock it with fine cattle. Mr. Cotton has had a small herd on the place for several months, and he is purchasing a number of head to add to it.

It has been found that another injurious insect has assailed the timber of the Black Hills forest reserve, and is destroying the seeds of the pine. The discovery was made by C. A. Scott and L. C. Miller, of the forestry bureau of the government, who were sent here to get seedlings to be transplanted on the 212,000 acres that the government has recently set aside in Nebraska for a reserve. This is not the insect that has been killing the timber of the Black Hills, that insect works on the inner bark, while the one just discovered attacks the cones.

Yankton—One more of the hoboes who engaged in a battle with the police, in which three hoboes were shot, has been captured. The gang scattered in the undergrowth in the river bottom after the fight and could not be found by posses who were searching for them, especially as it got dark soon after search began. The one captured came up town late and was rounded up by the officers. He resisted arrest and attempted to use a razor. Those wounded are still alive. Some burglars' tools were found in possession of the wounded men and it is believed they may be part of a gang engaged in bank robbery in this part of the state. The search for the five others continues.

Mitchell—Jack Sully, said to be the leader of a band of cattle rustlers on the Sioux reservation west of Chamberlain, has at last been corralled. Since last February officers have been on his track to effect his capture.

GRAND FORKS.

Grand Forks—Fire burned the roof of the building in East Grand Forks occupied by Lynch & Gallagher and Con Thomoson as saloons. The damage is $2000. A high southwest wind was blowing and had it not been for the help of the Grand Forks firemen the whole town would have gone.

Dickinson—A tornado swept the stockmen's county, seventy-five miles south of here, and a few ranches which happened to be in the path of the storm were demolished. At one ranch 100 sheep were killed and 100 tons of hay was whirled away.

WHY? IS ELECTRIC LIGHT BEST?

Because it is healthy, clean, pure and brilliant.

HEALTHY—

It has no odor. Professor Thompson states that one cubic foot of gas consumes as much oxygen as four adults.

CLEAN—

SAFE—

CHEAP—

By using a little care in turning off lights when not in use it is cheaper than any other illuminant.

ATHLETIC CONTEST

Duluth Grammar Schools Hold First Track Day Meet.

The Washington School Scores Greatest Number of Points.

Ten Schools Participated and Made Fine Showing.

The first annual field and track meet of the Duluth grammar schools was won this morning by the athletes of the Washington school.

Ten of the schools of the city sent teams to the meet, which was held at Oneota park under the direction of J. G. Hamaker, physical instructor of the Y. M. C. A.

The Washington school team made 21 points. Endion was second with 14 points. The Irving school at West Duluth scored 6 points, the Lincoln 3 and Woodland 1.

The mile relay was exciting. The Washington school was first with its team, consisting of Frank Ames, Howard Hill, Allan Macauley, Fred Koors, Edward Mopp, and Fred Gallagher. Time, 4:30.

The Irving school came in second in a driving finish. The team was: Arthur Schinkaub, George Olson, George Dunleavy, Warren Crosby, William Ehr and Joseph Tims.

Robert Montgomery, of the Endion school, had things pretty much his own way in the dashes. Heran fifty yards in seven seconds flat. Fred Gallher, of the Washington school, was second, and Ned Parker, of the Endion school, third.

Montgomery also won the 100-yard dash. Time, 12 2-5 seconds. Fred Koors, of the Washington school, was third, and Simon Clark, the only entry from Woodland school, was third.

The running broad jump was won by Fred Koors, of the Washington school, distance 15 feet 5 inches. William Ehr, of the Irving school, was second, with 15 feet and 2 inches to his credit, and Robert Montgomery, of the Endion school, jumped 14 feet and 5 inches.

Elmer Mcdevitt, of the Washington school, won the half mile run in 2:31 4-5. Arthur Champagne, of the Lincoln school, was second, and Robert Montgomery, of the Endion school, third.

There were 94 entries in this first annual field meet and the event promises to become more popular each year. Records will be kept of every performance and the meet will be a permanent fixture in school athletics.

It was originated with Jacob G. Hamaker, the physical instructor of the Y. M. C. A. and the success of this first meet is entirely due to his efforts. He worked up enthusiasm by personal visits to each school and contributed much to the preliminary arrangements.

The officials this morning were: John Clayton, clerk of the course; Howard Staacke and Frank Scobie, Judges; J. G. Hamaker, starter, and Victor Frazer, starter.

ORE TRAFFIC.

Total For Month of May Runs to High Figures.

The Iron mines in this county, it will appear from preliminary figures on the May movement, have shipped almost if not quite twice as much ore as they shipped last month.

The Missabe road will nearly double up on its April shipments. It is expected that the Missabe's dock tonnage for the month will be over 600,000 tons.

The Iron Range had 450,000 tons to its credit last month, and its total for May will run close to 800,000 tons.

The Great Northern shipped only about 200,000 tons the first month of the shipping season. It is expected that its month's record will be about 600,000 tons.

If these expectations are fully met, the mines back of Duluth during the month of May will have sent forward as much ores as was hauled on the great lakes in April from all mines and ranges.

It is claimed that the tug strike interfered considerably with the movement during the early part of the month, and that if better dispatch of vessels could have been afforded, the mines and ore-hauling roads would have added considerably to their aggregate.

There seems to be a growing sentiment that the ore movement on the lakes, particularly from the Duluth district, will be sizeably larger than was estimated at the opening of the season. Quite a number of new properties are busily engaged in stripping, but will not come in as shippers before the season is well advanced.

LOW RATE.

Roads Give Ten Cent Lumber Rate to Oshkosh.

The Wisconsin Central and Milwaukee roads are quoting an open freight rate on lumber, Duluth to Oshkosh, of 10 cents a hundred. At least one of the Duluth-Chicago routes has declined to name the rate.

These roads have named this rate on the ground that Oshkosh is an intermediate point between Duluth and Chicago and Milwaukee, and that it should take as low a rate as the terminal points, which are almost twice as distant.

The rate from Duluth to Chicago has been 10 cents, which has been published by all roads reaching Chicago or having Chicago connections. The rate to Oshkosh has been 14 cents, so that the reduction is equal to 4 cents a hundred.

Considerable lumber is said to be moving from Duluth to the sash and door factories at Oshkosh, enough to warrant the inauguration of a lower rate.

The shipments are routed via the Northern Pacific, though the latter line denies that it has quoted the rate at all.

A telegram from Chicago says that the Chicago-St. Paul lines reached an agreement yesterday to publish a lumber rate of 10 cents a hundred from all Wisconsin points and part of Michigan to Chicago. This is supposed to extend to Marinette and Menominee and perhaps upper peninsula points ...er north to Chicago the Duluth-Chicago rate. Wausau, Wis., has hau the Duluth rate for some time past.

Tibbetts, undertaken, 31 East Sup. St

Burt F. Lum has begun suit in district court against A. B. Lipton to foreclose a mortgage given to secure a note for $3400, and covering the east half of lot 3 and all of lots 4, 5 and 6, block 50, Portland division. Leon E. Lum is the attorney.

Mary E. Crawford has asked the district court for a divorce from Thomas E. Crawford on the ground of desertion. She is 38 and he is 45 years of age, and they were married in Jasper, Mich., April 30, 1888. The desertion is alleged to have taken place March 1, 1898. John H. Brigham is the attorney.

Bert Duff, of 424 West Second street, 13 years of age, is a victim of the "didn't know it was loaded" idea. He started out to celebrate Memorial day with a 22-calibre revolver, which he supposed was loaded with blank cartridges. When a bullet entered his leg near the knee he discovered that he was in error. The ball has not yet been removed, but no serious results are anticipated.

AFTER MEN.

Naval Recruiting Station to Be Opened Monday Morning.

A naval recruiting station will be opened in the federal building next Monday morning, giving Duluth stations for both army and navy enlistments, the army station having been opened for some time past over 223 West Superior street. The naval station will be open a week.

The men detailed for the new station are: Lieut. W. J. Littlefield, Surgeon J. G. Field, Boatswain, J. Killin, Warrant Machinist Fred Ruth, Chief Gunners' Mate Stanley Danrelak, Hospital Steward F. W. Hathaway, Yoeman C. E. Parker, nd Hospital Apprentices William Reinzel and H. F. Toomey.

This detail has traveled all over the United States in the past year and 3000 men have been enlisted.

Boys from 15 to 17 years are especially desired. They enlist as naval apprentices and are sent to the Newport, R. I., training school. The boys are eligible in later years to a commission in the navy to which ordinary seamen are barred.

Landsmen of from 18 to 25 years are also desired. All applicants under 21 years of age must have the written consent of their parents or guardians.

Is General Agent.

The Aetna Insurance company of Hartford, Conn., has selected W. P. Mosher of this city for its general agent of the liability department in Minnesota, Northern Wisconsin and Northern Michigan.

As the Aetna is now the largest company in the world writing liability insurance, Mr. Mosher is to be congratulated on his appointment by such a company, and for such an important territory.

Mr. Mosher will continue to reside in Duluth, and will retain his present offices in the Providence building, but will also have offices in both Minneapolis and St. Paul.

Annual Meeting.

The annual meeting of the St. Louis County Agricultural association will be held Tuesday evening, May 3, 1902, at room 206, Manhattan building. The meeting is for the purpose of electing officers for the ensuing year and the transaction of any other business that may properly come before it.

R. S. MUNGER,
President.

INTERESTS COMBINED

Two Strong Companies Unite to Make a Stronger One.

Kelley-How and Thomson-Glaskin Companies Consolidate.

Reorganized Company Will Be Kelley-How-Thomson Company.

The Kelley-How Hardware company and the Thomson-Glaskin company have effected a consolidation of interests.

Two strong companies have united to make a stronger one, and the position of Duluth as a wholesale center is increased in importance in consequence.

The Kelley-How-Thomson company will be the name of the new company that will buy the stock and goodwill of the Kelley-How Hardware company and the Thomson-Glaskin company.

The two houses have been handling two distinct lines of goods, but felt that they could serve their trade better if they increased their respective lines, and it was through the exchange of goods in filling orders that led up to the above organization.

The lines of goods that will now be represented by the Kelley-How-Thomson company will be shelf hardware, iron, steel, mill, mining, railroad and lumbermen's supplies, and rubber goods.

The new building now in course of erection on Fifth avenue by the Killorin Construction company, of which J. F. Killorin is president, will be occupied by the new company.

SENTENCED.

Prisoners Convicted at This Term Hear Their Fates.

This afternoon in the district court Ollie LaChance who pleaded guilty to keeping a disorderly house and paid a Chance on the same charge was continued.

Frank Shearer, convicted of grand larceny in the first degree was sentenced to Stillwater for six years. He is one of the Bowery hold-up artists.

Anton Hriber for assault in the second degree was sentenced to the St. Cloud reformatory.

Richard Harper for forgery in the second degree was sentenced to Stillwater for one year and six months.

HAD FUN WITH THEM.

Sporty Young Men Are Cleverly Caught.

Practical jokers cleverly trapped a quartet of wholesale house clerks Thursday evening.

Several days ago the clerks advertised in the morning paper for four young ladies to go fishing with them on Memorial day. In order to give an impression that they were real sports, they made it essentially requisite that no convent inmates need apply, and even signed the name "Sport" to the advertisement, as if they were the real thing in that line.

Several young men saw the advertisement and, answering the personal in a dainty imitation of feminine writing, drew an answer from the clerks, mentioning the fact that out of many pretty maidens that had a tremendous yearning to enjoy their company, they had decided to give them first choice, and suggesting a meeting on Thursday evening at the corner of Fourth avenue west and Second street, at 8:30, the girls to carry dandelions in their left hands.

When the "sports" gathered at the meeting place all they found was a bunch of dandelions tied with a suggestively long string.

LEASE IS ASSIGNED.

Final Steps In Closing of Deering Deal.

A mining lease running from Louis W. Hill, of the Eastern Minnesota road, to Richard F. Howe, of Chicago, was filed this morning in the office of the register of deeds. The lease sublets to Howe the rights acquired by Hill through a lease made in December, 1901, by M. D. Hull and others to William H. Cole, and assigned by Cole to Hill. The property leased is the ne¼ of the ne¼ of section 11-57-21, and the royalty is 25 cents. The minimum output is to be 50,000 tons this year and 100,000 tons per year thereafter. The lease carries a tariff agreement with the Eastern Minnesota road.

The filing of this lease is the closing up of the deal with the Deering Harvester company. The property involved is one of the forties a lease of which was sold by Messrs. Alworth, Washburn, Cole and Agnew to the Deering Harvester company. The option was taken by Mr. Hill and turned over to the Deering company.

The mine is knows as the Agnew mine and is now being opened by Capt. Trewellow, who was formerly in charge of the Auburn mine and later in charge of the Stevenson mine. Joseph Sellwood is general manager for the Harvester company.

$45.00 Portland and Return.

May 27th to June 8th, inclusive, the Northern Pacific railway will sell round trip tickets to Portland for $45.00, and San Francisco $50, good sixty days from date of sale. Five trains daily, including North Coast Limited. For tickets and full information, call at City office, 332 West Superior street, or Union Depot.

TO PROSPECT.

Escanaba Man Will Explore Property on Vermilion Range.

J. Semer and Frank Stites, of Escanaba, are at the St. Louis. Mr. Semer owns some iron property on the Vermilion ranges that he has optioned to some Duluth parties. This property is situated within the city limits of Ely, and a diamond drill will be put at work as soon as one can be secured. Mining men still complain of the scarcity of drills here.

"I located my property eighteen years ago," said Mr. Semer this noon. "In fact, I first went up on the Vermilion range twenty-two years ago, which was before a railroad or much of anything else was up there. Twenty years ago, I went over the Mesaba range. I told the man that was with me that there ought to be iron ore on the Mesaba. He thought I was foolish and persuaded me out of the idea, because he said the formation was too flat.

"Escanaba is improving rapidly. It is having quite a rapid growth, added to by the extension of the Milwaukee road into the city. The Milwaukee bought the Stephenson road, extending down onto the Menominee range, and extended into Escanaba, a distance of about forty miles.

"During the past winter, the Milwaukee has extended the ore dock that was built last season 700 feet farther lakeward. The dock when finished will be the largest we have at Escanaba, and I think will have about 300 pockets. The Milwaukee is handling the ore from the great Chapin mine. It taps only the Menominee range for the Escanaba dock."

THEY WIN OUT.

Tugmen Not Held For Second Degree Assault.

The striking tug firemen that assaulted Capt. Joseph Jacobs of the Abbott, on Thursday, won out in police court this morning.

President McCaffrey and John Murphy of the Tug Firemen's union were given an examination charged with assault in the second degree, which is a grand jury offense and liable to a maximum penalty of five years in the state prison.

In order to be an assault in the second degree, however, grievous bodily harm must result to the complaining witness. The evidence introduced by the prosecution failed to show that Capt. Jacobs had been very badly injured and the case was dismissed on motion of Attorney C. O. Baldwin for the defendants.

Immediately afterward the tug men were arraigned, charged with assault in the third degree, a minor offense. Pleas of not guilty were entered in both instances and a jury trial was asked for on June 4.

MEETS NEXT WEEK.

High Court of Foresters to Meet at Superior.

The High Court Superior, of the United Order of Foresters, will meet in the Odd Fellows hall in West Superior Tuesday, June 3. The jurisdiction of this high court covers eight counties in Minnesota and that part of Wisconsin lying between the Soo road and Lake Superior, and the upper peninsula of Michigan. There will be delegations to the meeting from every part of the territoy mentioned. The increase of membership in the district for the last year is claimed to be more than 100 per cent. Tuesday evening there will be a grand ball given for the Foresters, their families and friends. Chartered cars will take the Duluth contingent over to West Superior.

BRING A NICE STRING.

Duluth Men Have a Good Day at Brule.

W. E. Morrow and H. H. Johnston returned from the Brule this morning with a catch of eighty-five trout. At least, they say they had been to the Brule and that they caught eighty-five fish in that stream. O. C. Hartman, on the contrary, insists that when he investigated the depth of the Brule several weeks ago he counted all the inhabitants of the river and there were not that many trout in the stream.

Mr. Morrow and Mr. Johnston returned with the price tags still on their fishing equipment. Their brand new fly-books contained a dozen or more flies, all of the same kind, in spite of the earliness of the season for fly-fishing. Both deny that Booth & Co. have established a trout market down near the Brule—at least as far as they know.

ANSWER IS FILED.

Response Made In Another Section 30 Case.

An answer was filed today in United States circuit court, in the case of Frank W. Eaton, Nikanlass company, Richard Fagan and Margretha Lonstorff, against the Midway company, James Belden and Charles W. Hilliard.

This is another Section 30 suit, and was started for the purpose of quieting the title to forty acres in Section 30 that were not provided for in the original suit.

In the answer the defendants deny that the locations by the plaintiff, Frank W. Eaton, were made in accordance with the generally accepted practice of the land department of the United States, but it is alleged that, on the contrary, they were made fraudulently and in violation of the practice of the land department rules and regulations, and that they were allowed only because and by means of false affidavits.

END OF EXPOSITION.

DEADLY MOBILES

One Man Killed and Four Others Seriously Hurt.

Speed Tests Were Being Made at Staten Island.

A Machine Fell Over and Crushed One Man.

New York, May 31.—One man was killed instantly and four others were hurt at Grasmere, Staten Island, today, where automobile speed tests were being made, under the auspices of the Automobile club of America, to break the world's record for a mile. The man killed was Andrew Fatherstone, assessor of the borough of Richmond. He was run over and crushed to death. The injured: John Brick, of Stapleton, had both legs broken and was injured internally; Mrs. Ella Hay, of Concord, S. I., was badly hurt about head and body; Capt. Thomas Taylor, of the quarantine station, had both legs broken, one arm fractured and was injured about the body; Charles Bowden, of Stapleton, was injured about the head and body.

It is feared that Brick is fatally hurt. The machine fell over on top of him, and he was almost dead when lifted up. The machine was driven by W. C. Baker, of Cleveland. Mr. Denzer, also of Cleveland, was with him. Both were thrown from the machine but were not injured.

Immediately after the accident, District Attorney Rawson, who was on the ground, ordered that the trials be stopped, and there were no more racing today.

The machine was nearing the finish line after its final over the course when the driver seemed to lose control of it and it dashed into the crwod of spectators with the result above described.

CREMATION.

Horses and a Cow Put Through the Process.

Eight horses and a cow were cremated last night by the burning of Theodore Bartholdi's feed store and boarding stable at 520 East Fourth street.

The source of the fire is unknown. Shortly after 10 o'clock two young men noticed the building on fire and turned in an alarm. They then ran back to the building and tried to get the horses from the stable under the feed store.

The animals were terrified and refused to be led out even with coverings over their eyes. Only one animal was taken out and the remaining eight perished.

The stable building was quickly in flames and the fire spread to the furniture store of Charles Brandt, adjoining. Both buildings burned to the ground despite the efforts of the firemen to check it.

It is estimated that the damage will reach $5000, with only $1200 insurance carried by Mr. Bartholdi on his feed stock and building. Four of the horses burned belonged to Mr. Bartholdi as did the cow.

Mr. Brandt's furniture store was completely wiped out without a cent of insurance, and he is pretty nearly stranded. He will be at Blowers' shop for the present.

The origin of the fire is puzzling the authorities. No person was in the building after 7 o'clock in the evening and there was not a fire or light of any kind visible about the place, until the flames burst forth.

GOLFING.

Travis and Marcellus Playing For the Championship.

Tuxedo Park Golf Grounds, N. Y., May 31.—W. J. Travis, of Garden City, and F. A. Marcellus, of Yountakah, started today on their 36-hole match to decide the championship of the Metropolitan Golf association. Marcellus, although he defeated some good men on his way to the finals, came up the easier side of the tournament. Before Travis established the new course record of 72 in his match with Douglas yesterday, Marcellus had gone around the links in as low a figure as either the amateur champion or Douglas, winner of last year's Metropolitan honors. He is champion of his home club, but cannot be considered in the same class with the amateur champion. The new pacing system, recently adopted by the National association and followed for the first time in this tournament, apparently failed to bring together for the finals the two strongest players.

More than fifty men entered the annual Metropolitan 36-hole handicap and play was started in this event early.

Travis had little difficulty in winning the first half of his match with Marcellus, who was scarcely in his best game. Travis forged ahead steadily losing, but three of the 18 holes and was 8 up as a result of the morning play. Marcellus made several poor drives and failed to recover by good work on the greens. Travis while not playing his game of yesterday went around in 76, Marcellus taking 85.

TRACK MEET.

Second Annual Contest of Western Intercollegiate Teams.

Chicago, May 31.—Despite a weather forecast calling for "clouds and occasional thunder showers,' a large crowd gathered on Marshal field today to witness the contests in the second annual western inter-collegiate track meet.

Calculators on form picked Michigan, Wisconsin and Chicago, in the order named, but the probability of "dark horses" from some of the smaller schools cutting in made it far from assured that this book would materialize. For instance, there was Ed Merrill, of Beloit, to reckon with. Merrill, who, it is said, might have won the Beloit-Northwestern meet single handed with a good margin to spare, has a record which entitled him to enter in six events. Coach Hollister cheerfully figured that his star athlete ought to capture four firsts and two seconds, but cooler critics were certain that he would weaken owing to the fierce competition in the game. The list of contestants was a notable one and seldom has there been the fourteen contests, ten were in the doubtful column. Scarcely a school was represented which did not have a man on whom it relied to capture the 100-yard dash.

At the conference early in the day to decide on the eligibility of the tract contestants, Professors Pettingill of Michigan, Paul Jones of Minnesota and Long of Northwestern university, gave the opinion that both Edwin and Allen Merrill of Beloit college were guilty of professionalism in having played ball for money in the summer of 1901 at Sharon and Clinton, Wis. The committee, however, allowed the men to enter the meet inasmuch as they had not time to prepare a defense, and stated that they were not guilty.

The first heat of the 120-yard hurdle was won by Bookman, Minnesota; Sardakis, Wisconsin, second; Freeze, Illinois, third; time, 16 seconds.

Second heat won by Maloney, Chicago; Porter, Beloit, second; O'Brien, Minnesota, third; time 16 seconds.

100-yard dash—First heat won by Hahn, Michigan; Senn, Chicago, second; Beacon, Beloit, Third; time 10 seconds.

Second heat won by Blair, Chicago; Nufer, Michigan, second; Pierce, Minnesota, third; time, 10 2-5.

Third heat won by Maloney, Chicago; Ed Merrill, Beloit, second; Rice, Purdue, third; time, 10 1-5.

Mile run won by Keachie, Wisconsin; Perry, Michigan, second; Henry, Illinois, third. Time 4:31 2-5. This breaks the Western intercollegiate record.

The 440-yard run was won by Ed Merrill, Beloit; Nufer, Michigan, second; Tibbetts, Minnesota, third. Time 50 flat.

100-yard dash—Final heat won by Hahn, Michigan; Blair, Chicago, second; Maloney, Chicago, third. Time 10 flat.

120-yard hurdle—Final heat won by Maloney, Chicago; Bookman, Minnesota, second; Sardakis, Wisconsin, third. Time, 15 2-5. This breaks the Western intercollegiate record by 2-5 second.

ARMY REDUCED.

Strength of Permanent Military Establishment Cut.

Washington, May 31.—By direction of the president, Secretary Root has issued a general order decreasing the strength of our permanent military establishment and changing the ratio of its make up as provided in the general order issued last May to carry out the army organization law. Under the general order of last May, the total strength of the army was fixed at 77,287 men. The order issued today reduces this figure to 66,497, a reduction of 10,790.

SERIOUS TROUBLE

For Chicago Downtown Hotels and Restaurants.

Chicago, May 31.—Serious trouble began for down-town hotels and restaurants today, when members of the ice wagon drivers and helpers unions refused to deliver ice to the Great Northern hotel, the Palmer house, Kinsley's restaurant and the Heusner Baking company. The management of the Auditorium hotel and annex also was notified that no ice would be delivered after today, if must from packers who have not signed the union agreement was used in the hotel,

ANTHRACITE MINERS

May Be Called Out Within Ten Days.

Peoria, May 31.—Frank P. Sargent, grand master of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, and a member of the national arbitration board, said in an interview here today that unless conditions greatly change the soft coal miners of the United States would be called out in a sympathetic strike within ten days. He says he is informed that the miners are in excellent condition to prolong the strike and that anthracite and soft coal operators will co-operate so that the struggle is expected to be most severe.

Mr. Sargent further said that the arbitration board is making every effort to avert such a calamity.

LEGION OF HONOR.

Decoration Bestowed Upon Americans By France.

Wasnington, May 31—The government of France has bestowed upon Assistant Secretary Pierce, Col. Bingham and Commander Rogers, the decoration of the legion of honor. These gentlemen constituted the committee appointed by the president to receive and entertain the Rochambeau visitors and the award is made in recognition of the agreeable and satisfactory manner in which they discharged the task entrusted to them.

Mr. Pierce as the chairman of the committee is made a commander and Col. Bingham and Commander Rogers are designated as officers of the legion of honor.

BRIBERY

Cases Against Minneapolis' Police Are Taken Up.

Minneapolis, May 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—The first of the police bribery cases was taken up in the district court today. Irving A. Gardner is charged with having received a bribe of $500 from the "big mitt" operators, guaranteeing in return police protection.

W. A. Edwards, one of the "big mitt" men, testified on the stand that Gardner had demanded $1000, which was to go to Mayor A. A. Ames, and for which the "big mitt" gang were to operate unmolested for ten weeks. In addition, they were to pay Gardner $50 a week and the same amount to Detective Norbeck, who is also under indictment. Edwards and his pal, Link Crossman, finally compromised on $500.

They were to have ten steerers and agreed not to skin any Minneapolis or St. Paul man. They were also to prevent any victim as far as possible from beefing at headquarters. They were to furnish lists of their men so that the police should not by mistake molest "protected" swindlers.

It was established by the evidence of the mayor's secretary that Gardner had been appointed a special inspector, but that he was not on the police payroll.

DEATH LIST.

St. Paul, May 31.—A Worthington, Minn., special to the Dispatch says: Daniel Robert, aged 74, and one of the oldest practicing attorneys in the state, died this morning at 8 o'clock. In the '50s he was treasurer of St. Paul and in 1870 came to Worthington, where he has since practiced.

Portland, Ore., May 31.—Sylvester Penoyer, ex-governor of Oregon, died suddenly yesterday afternoon of heart failure. Governor Penoyer was born in Tompkins county, New York, July 6, 1831, and was in his 71st year. He graduated from Harvard university in 1854 and the next year came to Oregon by way of the Isthmus of Panama. While he was somewhat popular in politics, he never became conspicuous until 1886 by the Democrats for governor. He was elected by 44,000 majority, although the remainder of the Republican ticket received nearly 10,000 majority. In 1890 he was re-elected. He was brought before the country in '92 on account of his refusal to meet President Harrison at the state line when the latter was on a visit to the Pacific coast. He was again much talked about in '96 when he told President Cleveland to "attend to his own business."

A WAR IN SIGHT

Ticket Agents and General Agents Have a Little Difference.

Trouble Is Over the Distribution of Railroad Folders.

Rumor That Louis W. Hill May Become Great Northern President.

There is war on between the ticket agents of Duluth and Superior and some of their superior officers—the general agents. This strife has been fomenting under the surface thus far, but is due to bubble to the top about Monday. At this time the interstate distributing agency expects to begin business on both sides of the bay, while the Duluth-Superior distributing agency shows an intention to hold the fort against all comers.

The Duluth-Superior distributing agency was formed by the general agencies a number of years ago to maintain an orderly system of railroad folder racks in all the ticket offices, hotels and public places in the two cities. Before that time it was impossible most of the time to get a desired folder except the one issued by the road in whose office application was made for it. Racks were bought and installed and a system was inaugurated of keeping them regularly supplied with the folders of all roads that became subscribers to the service.

The service ran along during the dull years, and it is claimed seldom made more than enough to pay expenses, often less. It became a marked convenience to travelers, for they could generally find the folders they wanted without going far for them.

Some little time ago the ticket agents of the two cities got together and tried to buy the privilege. They said they had been urged to do this by some of the outside lines themselves, who complained that the racks were not kept properly supplied with folders. The ticket agents found the system could be bought, but they considered the price too high. The result was that they decided to go into the business themselves in competition with the old service. Racks were ordered in Chicago, and they are expected to arrive daily.

The outside roads pay a certain monthly fee for the service, and the ticket agents claim that while there isn't much money in the matter, it is a perquisite that should by right come their way, inasmuch as they are directly identified with the passenger business. They claim also that the outside lines favor giving what little "velvet" there is in it to the ticket agents rather than to the general agents.

Eight ticket agents on both sides of the bay are interested in the new association, the secretary of which is Union Depot Ticket Agent Buckley of West Superior. The old association is made up, the tickets agents contend, of only three resident general agents, the other shareholders having moved away. E. A. Whittaker is president and George M. Smith is secretary.

RUMOR AT WORK

Talk of Louis Hill For Great Northern President.

The rumor comes from the Twin Cities that Louis W. Hill, formerly president of the Eastern Minnesota road, is to be made president of the Great Northern system July 1. For some time past Louis W. Hill has been serving as assistant to the president, while his elder brother, James N. Hill, has been vice president of the Great Northern, with charge of operation.

Just how much truth there is in this rumor nobody can say at this time and this distance. It is a certainty, however, that the Great Northern people are looking for some changes July 1. Naturally, in the shifting about Louis W. Hill will be likely to be provided with a new official title with the Great Northern system. If he is promoted above his elder brother, James N., it will occasion some comment. The elder brother was working in the shops at West Superior and later was operating the Eastern Minnesota road before his brother was out of school.

Still, it has always been said that the younger son had the genius for traffic management, while the elder chose to confine his efforts to the operating department. It seems to be understood that Louis Hill has done what his father considers some exceptionally clever work in arranging for the large ore traffic the Great Northern is carrying, and it is presumed that he has shown his hand in other ways in connection with the parent system itself.

In addition to the Great Northern's absorption of the Eastern Minnesota July 1, it is said to be the intention of President Hill to also take into the present system the Montana Central, Willmar & Sioux Falls, Duluth, Watertown & Pacific, and, in fact, all proprietary lines now controlled by the Great Northern. This financial coup will be effected at the close of the present fiscal year. Arrangements to that end are now being made. The Great Northern management is planning a complete reorganization of the system.

HEAVY TRAFFIC

Duluth-Chicago Business Is Running High.

Passenger traffic between Duluth and Chicago has been exceptionally heavy of late. It is seldom that the Omaha fast mail does not start out without a sleeper three-quarters full out of Duluth. If business keeps up, it is said another sleeper will have to be made a regular thing from here. The same condition is said to be true of first-class travel in the day coaches and chair car. A good part of the way, oftentimes, there has been so much business that the "S. R. O." sign has been hung out, and the aisles in the cars have been well crowded until a point was reached where another car would be taken on.

The Northern Pacific-Wisconsin Central train is also well filled going South, while a great deal of Chicago business goes by way of the Twin Cities and the various limited trains running out of St. Paul. An Eastern passenger man who was in the city the other day said that more fine trains and as fine trains run between Chicago and St. Paul than anywhere else in the country.

MEANS MORE FARE.

Faster New York-Chicago Service Will Raise Fare.

Northwestern Passenger Agent McNaughton of the Erie road, who is in Duluth for a few days, says that if the Pensylvania and Vanderbilt lines put on 20-hour service between New York and Chicago, as it is reported by a Chicago paper to be their plan, it will necessitate the payment by passengers on those trains of $6 excess fare over the rate charged by the Erie and other differential lines.

The Central and Trunk lines have a passenger agreement, which has been ironclad for a number of years anyway, whereby all other roads but the two mentioned became differential lines. They claimed and were allowed the privilege of naming a rate $2 less from Chicago to New York than the standard lines. On the other hand, they agreed for their part to maintain a 28-hour service, while the standard lines were allowed to put on a 24-hour train. Below 24 hours the standard lines were to charge $1 an hour excess fare.

The rumor that the 20-hour schedule is to become effective does not mean by any means that the 17-hour plan is to be carried out. It means simply that the schedule in effect on both the New York Central and Pennsylvania during the World's fair year and for a short time afterward is to be restored on the same basis. It has been shown that that schedule can be maintained physically, and it is believed the traffic will now warrant that speed.

A Splendid Newspaper.

The Chicago Chronicle is in the field with a new illustrated weekly supplement, a copy of which is delivered free with The Sunday Chronicle. The illustrated Weekly is an exceedingly creditable production. It is of the size and general appearance of the long-established illustrated weeklies, and in the quality of the paper used, in the abundance of half-tone pictures produced, and in mechanical and editorial excellence generally, it compares very favorably with the best of them. The Chronicle's illustrated Weekly supplement is noteworthy also in the fact that its illustrations are timely and, therefore, possess a news value which the public will not fail to appreciate. So far as we have observed the matter the enterprise of the great Sunday newspapers has not taken a more rational and enlightened departure than this in many a day. The Sunday Chronicle itself is a newspaper of very superior quality and is well worth its price. Purchasers who receive in addition and without extra cost a finely illustrated weekly cannot very well resist the conclusion that they are getting something really valuable for nothing. It is gratifying to observe that the demand for The Sunday Chronicle has increased materially since this feature was added.

HANDSOME NEW TRAIN GOES ON

Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic Railroad's Magnificently Equipped Boston Limited Train Arrives Sunday For First Time.

Sunday morning the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic road will run into Duluth for the first time on its Boston Limited schedule one of the most handsomely equipped trains in the country. It will be brand new and of the latest and most luxuriant style and accommodation from the engine to the observation platform of the rear sleeper. And the equipment will be the property of the railroad from pilot to the red signal light at the rear. The sleepers have been built expressly for this train and for the railroad, which tonight will bid good-bye forever to the Pullman service it has been having for years.

The same equipment will be run on each night train, so that passengers over the "Straight-Away Line" will always be assured of the best that is to be had.

The train is electric-lighted and steam-heated throughout. The incandescent current for the lights will be furnished from a direct-connected generator in the baggage car, and the locomotive will supply the steam for all purposes. In architecutre the cars are all of the most modern type, with oblong stained and leaded glass windows for ornamental purposes, and very large square windows in the body of the cars. The equipment consists of two first-class sleepers of the most modern and richly-appointed type, a first-class coach finished in almost as costly a style as the sleepers, a second-class coach and a baggage coach, all painted in the standard South Shore vermillion, lettered in gold, and of uniform style from front to back.

All the cars making up the train are equipped with the Gould wide vestibules and couplers, and Allen paper, steel-tired wheels, which are the acme of modern car-building art.

One great beauty of the new sleepers is that they are four inches higher than the standard sleeper, which allows two inches more head room for both upper and lower berths. People who have often cracked their heads in getting into their berths will appreciate this. The sleepers, which were made by the Barney & Smith company, Dayton, Ohio, are equipped with standard steel platforms and the Barney & Smith anti-telescoping device, which make the frame work practically indestructible in case of accident.

The interior architecture is of the Empire period, but instead of brass, which was originally employed with it, the builders have used marquetry or inlaid work for ornamenting the woodwork. The main room, corridors and toilet rooms are done in St. Jago mahogany, and the state room in prima vera or white mahogany. The seats are made with curved ends, an innovation in sleeping car building. The windows are half elliptical in form, with tapering arches beautifully inlaid with marquetry and supported by corbels. The glass is rich cathedral, heavily leaded. In order not to detract from the window ornamentation, ceiling decorations have been omitted and a soft green has been substituted. Wilton carpets, frieze plush window shades and draperies of a delicate green harmonize with and complement the shade of the rich St. Jago mahogany. Each berth and seat are fitted with a reading electric light, and the builders claim the cars are the acme of the modern car-building art.

INTERIOR SOUTH SHORE'S NEW SLEEPERS.

The day coach is, of course, lighted with electricity, something almost unknown on trains that do not charge excess fare. It is finished in Mexican mahogany. The seats are of the high-back type, upholstered in the richest plush obtainable. It has toilet rooms in each end fitted up as finely as if it were a Pullman car.

The second-class coaches carries out the same general style of interior finish as the first-class car, except that it is finished in quarter-sawed oak instead of mahogany. The seats are upholstered in rattan. It is lighted with electricity, and toilet rooms are provided at each end. The day coaches were made by the American Car and Foundry company, of Jeffersonville, Ind.

ESCAPED.

Two Men Get Away From Fort Sheridan Prison.

Chicago, May 31.—Frank H. Warren and Edgar Wallum, two general prisoners at Fort Sheridan, have escaped. The men, who had been taken out to work, sprang on William Brown, the sentry, who had them in charge, disarmed him after a struggle and then fled, leaving him insensible.

Both prisoners were serving long terms for desertion and had been sent to Fort Sheridan from some other post.

Scouts were sent out in every direction after the refugees and they scoured the country for over two hours, but without success. The affair is the second of the kind that has happened at the post in less than a month.

GLUCOSE PLANT.

Rumors of Erection of One at Waukegan.

Chicago, May 31.—The announcement has been made that a $3,000,000 glucose plant is to be erected at Waukegan, Ill., independent of the Corn Products company. It was said by A. H. Kersting that a syndicate already had been formed with a $3,000,000 capitalization and that enough money already has been raised to begin the erection of a modern glucose factory.

C. M. Warner, of Syracuse, N. Y., former president of the United States Sugar Refining company of Waukegan, is said to be at the head of the new syndicate. Associated with him are E. R. Chapman and Mr. Kersting. Mr. Kersting was connected with the National Starch company until that concern was merged with the Corn Products company.

AN EVENTFUL DAY

How Happiness Came Into a Clouded Life.

After Months and Years of Suffering, This Woman Is Now Able to Tell An Interesting Story.

"It was an eventful day for me," said Mrs. Mamie McLean, of No. 205 E. Congress street, Detroit, Mich. "I looked into the future and saw health and happiness in store for me.

"I had had a gloomy life," she continued. "My entire girlhood was saddened by ill health, the result of a cold contracted at a critical time in my thirteenth year. Months and years of suffering followed and doctors did not help me. My blood had turned to water and the natural functions of my sex had ceased. A noted specialist in the diseases of women who was treating me said my case was hopeless and that I could not live more than a few years at the most.

"I was so weak that I could not walk across the room, I had not the slightest appetite, my feet and hands were always cold and I was miserable and unhappy. I was wasted away to a mere shadow; I looked frightful and no medicine that I took did me any good. I tried to be resigned to my fate, but it was hard.

"Then came the eventful day. An old friend of our family came in and told me so confidently that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People would cure me that I began to hope and life looked brighter. I started taking the pills and I soon could see that they were were doing me good. My flesh began to feel warm, my color to come back and I felt stronger. Improvement was gradual but sure. I continued faithfully with the medicine and soon my functions became normal and health came back. My friends thought my recovery was almost a miracle and the physicians who had given me up for death were forced to admit that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills had done what they could not do.

"I am now, as you can see, a sound, healthy woman. I cannot express my gratitude, but can only say that I owe my life to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People."

No discovery of modern times has proved such a blessing to women as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. Acting directly on the blood and nerves, invigorating the body, regulating the functions, they restore the strength and health in the exhausted patient when every effort of the physician proves unavailing. These pills are sold in boxes at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, or direct by mail from Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

Romance of the Kakabeketchetwan

The pretty falls at the first entrance to the Winnipeg river from the Lake of the Woods are visited by all the tourists, campers and holiday seekers, says the Winnipeg Free Press. Here on a Sunday afternoon numbers of youths and maidens come to listen to the roar of the thundering waters. Out from the town along the line of railway to the picturesque bridge that spans the river or along the pretty road that leads from the town to the pontoon bridge, gay little knots of children or their more sober elders wander to sit in the cool shade of the high wall that shuts the western sun from the falls on a sultry afternoon.

Here now the hand of man has succeeded in disfiguring to some extent the landscape and the rush and roar of the turbine wheel and whirr of the electric belts mingle with the sound of the rushing water.

Years have passed since poor old Jacques Brillion dwelt in solitude upon the portage du rat d'eau. He was of Lower Canadian origin and had visited the Northwest as a voyageur at the time of the troubles between the rival companies of the Great West, and had seen something of the boundless resources of the prairie, had seen the pretty farms and comfortable homes upon the Red river, and hither he longed to bring his Nanette.

Years of patient labor and hard work upon the portages enabled him at last to accomplish his ambition. Together they worked their passage and that of their sturdy little lad up the Ottawa and along the shores of the great lakes to Fort William with a great company of fur traders. The rhythmic motion of the paddles and the quiet moon-lit lake was disturbed only by the monotonous cadence of the boat songs.

At Fort William the great company of traders dispersed to their different destinations, and in a smaller party and with lighter and more portable canoes a small band of pioneers and traders to the Northwest continued their journey.

Happy days were those for Jacques and Nanette, for they could be with one another from morning till night, and watch their little garcon. He was but a wee merry lad of 4 years, with dark brown eyes.

He learned to sit during the day at the bottom of the canoe beside his mother, but when the canoe landed to prepare meals or camp for the night, he ran about gathering flowers or chasing the butterflies.

Through that great chain of lakes and rivers that is now traversed by the lines of the Canadian Northern railway the little party of canoes went slowly but surely on. Down the Rainy lake to where the village of Fort Frances is situated and down the placid stream of the Rainy river.

Here the ax of the sturdy pioneer had not as yet encroached upon the primeval forest. The lumberman was still unknown and the phantom of the "Keenora" was only seen in the still watches of the night when the moon made a pathway upon the river. Across this pathway a great white ship was seen to glide and disappear around some bend in the river. It was the Great Manitou visiting thus the haunts of his children.

The river was soon traversed, and across the great bosom of the Lake of the Woods the little band proceeded and then through a myriad of islands to the falls of laughing water (Kakabeketchewan). The portage was now reached which has given its quaint name to the adjoining town. Portage d urat d'eau (Rat Portage). Here they were to camp for the night. The canoes in advance had already been portaged to the lower waters of the Winnipeg.

There was no indication as yet of the pretty town that was in after years to crown the banks of the bay through which they had just passed, which now with its myriads of lights on such a night looks down and sparkles in the water below and where now the waters of the bay on a summer's night are dotted here and there with canoes and boats full of glad and joyous hearts, was solitude.

The canoeman at the bow paddle was a half-breed between whom and Jacques had been a feud of long standing. He now, smarting under some rebuke just administered, was sullen and morose as he stepped from the canoe upon the Portage.

The little lad was sleeping peacefully on his mother's knee as the prow of the canoe grated upon the gravel at the portage, but was roused by a smart stroke from the paddle of the bete, who had now landed. An alarmed cry from both mother and the lad brought Jacques on the instant to the side of the half-breed, who stepped back drawing his hunting knife. With one bound fierce and swift Jacques had dealt the coward a blow from which he staggered and fell. In falling he rolled over the small bank to the water, where the canoe was securely fastened. With one stroke of his knife and a push the canoe was in mid-stream bearing down its freight, so precious to Jacques towards the falls. Not a moment was to be lost. Up the bank Jacques rushed forward to intercept the canoe.

Nanette, with the presence of mind born of dangers encountered, grasped a paddle and struggled for her child's safety. All might have gone well had not the half-breed, thirsting for further victims and smarting under the blow just administered, pursued and grappled with him. Up to their waists in the water they surged and struggled, and while they did so the canoe swept past to swift destruction. With one glance at his loved ones shooting the rapid a fierce thirst for the life of the savage possessed him.

Supple, sinewed and strong as steel, with the screams of his Nanette and his little son ringing in his ears, he fought like a fiend. The bully now thoroughly cowed, struggled to get free, but in vain. With one mighty plunge the two went in the stream together, locked in one another's arms and then together over the falls.

The waters sang their loudest and ran their swiftest as they bore these two locked in death's embrace under the shadow of the moon-lit rock and over the falls.

With a plunge they were hurled into the depths but the would-be assassin, now the victim, was torn from the grasp of the Frenchman by a rock against which they were dashed, and when Jacques, half dead, came to the surface he was alone. He was pulled out by a rescue party attracted to the scene by the screams of the woman and child.

All bleeding and torn, Jacques swooned as he was dragged up the bank. After much care from a Jesuit priest, Father Francis, who was of the party he was brought back to life.

The bodies of Nanette and little Jacques, locked in one another's arms, were afterwards recovered and buried by Father Francis and the little party, but that of the half-breed was never found.

Unable to travel and now in a high fever, Jacques was left behind in the care of Father Francis, who looked after him as he would a child.

Weeks passed by and Jacques at length awakened from his delerium, and slowly, under the kindly administrations of Father Francis, recovered his health.

Here Jacques dwelt and still the memory of the old man lingers around the falls though fifty years or more have gone since he passed to his account.

He lived by fishing and trapping and occasional parties of trappers or travelers left him supplies until at length he joined his Nanette and little Jacques, whose graves he had watched and tended for so many years.

Accurate Treatment of Men's Diseases.

The longest established, most successful and reliable specialist in diseases of men, as medical diplomas, licenses and newspaper records will show.

I guess at nothing. My understanding of men's diseases is so sufficient that I have no need to resort to guess work. To men's diseases alone I have devoted my entire attention for many years. I have closely studied them in every possible phase and complication. I believe there is no case that I cannot accurately diagnose. My diagnosis is the foundation of my treatment. It determines the course to pursue. As the cure progresses I carefully note developments and vary the remedies accordingly. I employ original and distinctive methods of treatment, but they are not set methods. They are pliable to meet the conditions in individual cases, and their use calls for the most delicate prescribing. That they are correct, scientific and rational methods is conclusively proven by the cures they produce.

"WEAKNESS"

That disorder commonly known as "weakness," has for years and generations baffled the efforts of physicians, yet to this very day a majority of doctors are attempting to overcome it by methods that have been in constant use and that have constantly failed for half a century. They dose the system with powerful stimulants and tonics calculated to restore nervous forces or strength that is not and never has been lacking, with a result that the functions are temporarily excited to the positive detriment of the patient. Weakness, we will call it such for convenience just now, is only a symptom resulting from a chronically swollen and inflamed prostate gland, and is curable by local treatment only. Either early dissipation or some improperly treated contracted disease is responsible for the inflammation in most instances, though accidental injury, strain, etc., may produce the same result. I have permanently cured thousands of cases of prematureness, loss of power, which demonstrates the absolute accuracy of my understanding and treatment of the disorder. In years I have not met with a single failure, and I have entire confidence in my ability to cure all cases that come to me for treatment other than that which I have perfected can completely and permanently restore strength and vigor.

VARICOCELE

Many men afflicted with varicocele are endangering their general health, their manly power and even life itself by allowing the disorder to remain uncured. Varicocele results from partial paralysis of the delicate nerve fibres that have a part in controlling local circulation of the blood. The muscular coating of the veins being deprived of nervous communication and control become inactive, weaken and relax. The blood vessels expand from the pressure within, the circulation in the parts become sluggish, and frequently stagnant pools form in little nooks and pockets that constantly enlarge as the relaxation continues. The possibility exists that clots may form in these stagnant pools and then pass out into the general circulation. Should one find lodgment in the valve of the heart the result might be instant death, or should it be carried to the brain, general paralysis will follow.

I guarantee to cure varicocele in one week by a method that involves no cutting or ligature, or caustic. No other physician employs a like method, and so thorough is my work that there need not be the slightest fear of a relapse into the old condition. Those who have been long afflicted with varicocele will never realize the injury it has caused until they feel the vim, energy and buoyancy of spirits that a complete cure will bring.

CONTRACTED DISORDERS

To but partially cure a contracted disease is almost as dangerous as to allow it to go untreated. Unless every particle of infection and inflammation is removed, the probability exists that the disease will gradually work its way into the general system. all greater is the danger of the prostate gland becoming chronically inflammed, which always brings partial or complete loss of power. Perhaps 25 per cent of the cases of so-called "weakness" are a direct result of some improperly treated disease. During the past five years I have treated over 600 cases of contracted disorders and have effected an absolutely thorough and safe cure in each instance. There have been no relapses or undesirable developments whatever and my patients have been cured in less time than other and less thorough forms of treatment require in producing even doubtful results.

STRICTURE

My treatment for stricture removes the necessity for surgical operations, even in severe cases of long stanuing. I do no cutting or dilating. No other physician employs my methous of overcoming this disorder, so the service I offer you is original and distinctive. Do not give up hope because others have failed. I will cure you and the cure will be a prompt and painless one. LUTES' LAUNDRY, 808 East Second St.

OF CHOLERA.

Lieut. O. H. Rask, Formerly of Duluth, Dies In Philippines.

Lieut. Olaf H. Rask, formerly a well-known Duluth newspaper man, is dead in the Philippines of cholera. A cable message from Cavite reports his death at Bacoor May 29. He was buried at that place.

Lieut. Rask was employed on the News-Tribune in this city for several years some time ago, and he was well known and popular here. Removing to the Twin Cities he engaged in newspaper work there, and later took the management of What to Eat, when that magazine was launched. He had a commission in the Fifteenth Minnesota regiment, and after his discharge he passed the examinations and received a commission as lieutenant in the regular army. He was assigned to the marine corps, in which he was located at the time of his death.

"Lieut. O. H. Rask was to all intents and purposes a resident of St. Paul, when he entered the marine corps. He had lived in St. Paul and Minneapolis for about twelve or fifteen years prior to that and had a wide acquaintance in newspaper and public circles. When he came from Wisconsin, the state of his birth, he attached himself to the editorial department of the Minneapolis Tribune, and at different times was also connected with the Minneapolis Times and Journal. About six years ago he became a member of the staff of the Pioneer Press of this city, and while on the staff married the society editor of that paper, Miss Marie Coolidge. Later Mr. Rask became advertising manager of What to Eat, a monthly publication edited and owned by the late Gilbert Pierce and his sons. This was just prior to the breaking out of the war with Spain.

"Mr. Rask was always possessed of the martial spirit. He was one of the leading members of the National Guard of the state, and had held non-commissioned and commissioned posts in that organization. When the war broke out he offered himself, forsaking his newspaper and magazine pursuits. He was most fortunate enough to secure a commission in the first three regiments which went into service from this state, but was appointed a lieutenant in the Fifteenth Minnesota, of which Col. Shadrew was the first colonel. Later upon the death of Col. Shadrew, Lieut Col. H. A. Loonhauser took command, and during all that long and trying period in which the Fifteenth was scourged by typhoid fever, Lieut Rask worked day and night for the men of his company.

"He was well liked by his men and respected for his desire to be absolutely fair and impartial.

On the return of the regiment from Georgia to St. Paul, Lieut. Rask found civil pursuits had lost their charms. He wanted to be in the service of his country. The only field of activity was in the Philippines, and the most favorable avenue back to active service seemed to be through the marine corps. With the influence of the Minnesota delegation in congress Lieut. Rask secured a lieutenancy in the corps, and was assigned to recruiting duty in Brooklyn and afterwards in Pittsburg. Owing to the imperative need of more officers in the corps, Lieut. Rask, about a year ago, was sent to the Philippines on active duty, to his great delight.

"Lieut Rask was a striking officer, being tall, magnificently proportioned and of dignified demeanor. He was uniform-up kind and in high spirits."

A Sabbath School.

The ladies of the Idash Israel congregation assembled at the residence of Mrs. Max Zalk and organized a society for the establishment of a Sabbath school in their newly erected synagogue. Forty members were enrolled and the following officers elected: President, Mrs. I. L. Cook; vice president, Mrs. Joseph Polinsky; treasurer, Mrs. Max Zalk; secretary, Mrs. Shapiro; trustees, Mrs. Newsbaum, Mrs. Oreckowsky and Mrs. Welnberg. The president made an excellent speech, extoling the principles the organization has undertaken to inculcate, and defined phases for the society's progress. Joseph Shulett, of Minneapolis, also spoke, praising the ladies for their benevolent organization. A handsome sum was paid for initiation fees. Monthly meetings will be held hereafter.

Distress After Eating

Nausea between meals, belching, vomiting, flatulence, fits of nervous headache, pain in the stomach, are all symptoms of dyspepsia, and the longer it is neglected the harder it is to cure it.

Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pills

Radically and permanently cure it—strengthen and tone the stomach and other digestive organs for the natural performance of their functions.

Accept no substitute for Hood's.

"I had dyspepsia twenty-five years and took different medicines but got no help until I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. Have taken four bottles of this medicine and can now eat almost anything, sleep well, have no cramps in my stomach, no burning and no distress." MRS. WILLIAM G. BARRETT, 14 Olney St., Providence, R. I.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Krumsieg returned from their wedding trip Monday and have gone to housekeeping at 1014 East Third street. They were married at Rochester, Minn., on May 21. The following account of the wedding was given in the Olmstead Conuty Democrat:

"The nuptials of Miss Emilie A. Adler and Theodore M. Krumsieg were celebrated with elaborate appointments last night. It was one of the most brilliant weddings of the year and a happy event in all its details.

"As the bridal procession entered the church, Mrs. Louise Siekert, who presided at the organ, played the sweetly solemn music of the Lohengrin march. The bridesmaids entered first, they being Misses Rose Jensen, of Winona; Dora Vihstadt, Sophia Roeder and Ella Siekert. They were dressed in becoming gowns of Parisian lawn trimmed in lace and white satin. A short distance behind them appeared the maid of honor, Miss Clara Krumsieg, of Milwaukee. She wore a pretty costume of white organdie with ribbon and lace trimmings. Her bouquet was composed of lilies of the valley. Miss Adler, in a very handsome wedding gown, came next. The dress was of white Duchess, combined with liberty silk to form an artistic creation. She wore a wedding veil to complete the charming effect of the gown. Her only ornament was a brooch of diamonds and pearls, the gift of Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Adler, of Milwaukee. The bridal bouquet was white roses.

"The bride walked with her father, T. C. Adler, as she approached the altar, where the officiating clergyman, Rev. E. F. Haertal, of Chicago, was in waiting. The bridegroom, accompanied by his best man, Carl Krumsieg, of Chicago, entered the church by a side aisle and met the bridal procession as the altar was reached. Rev. Mr. Haertal, who is a brother-in-law of the bride, performed the marriage ceremony with impressiveness.

"As soon as the vows were taken by the bride and groom, the wedding party was seated and the choir of fourteen voices sang a beautiful wedding anthem. In the rendition of the selection, Fred Witzke sang the solo part and the Misses Lulu and Ella Siekert, a duet. The organist then played the Mendelssohn wedding march, and Mr. and Mrs. Krumsieg, followed by the bridal party and relatives, left the church. The office was crowded to its utmost capacity and many expressions of admiration and good-will were heard as the bride passed out.

"At the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. Theodore C. Adler, 706 West Zumbro street, a reception was held immediately at the conclusion of the ceremony at the church. There were seventy guests, nearly all of them relatives of the contracting parties, in attendance."

Wednesday evening, June 11, the Duluth Male Glee club, C. W. Weeks, director, will give its closing concert of the season, and the event is looked forward to with much anticipation by Duluth's music lovers. The club is Duluth's youngest musical organization, but at its first concert last winter achieved such success that the rehearsals were prosecuted with renewed vigor, and some good work in male chorus singing may be expected. The organization includes in its membership many of Duluth's best vocal soloists, and will compare in respect to tonal quality and musical ability favorably with organizations of cities much larger than Duluth. The club will be assisted by Frederick G. Washburn, violinist, of this city, and Ada Markland Sheffield, dramatic soprano, from Chicago, who comes highly recommended as an artist, and whose success in the leading musical centers of the country during the past season has been very exceptional. The Duluth Male Glee club hopes for the undivided support of the citizens of Duluth at this concert, to the end that it may be possible to maintain a club that can vie with any in the state, and of which the city may feel proud.

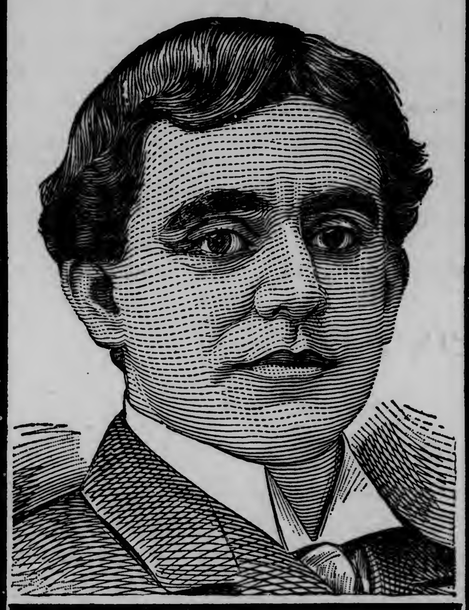
KNOX IS BETTER.

Washington, May 31.—Attorney General Knox is slowly recovering from the cold he contracted a short time ago. He had a comfortable night and although he is still quite sick, his condition is reported tobe improved.

A Judge's Recovery.



"PE-RU-NA IS ONE OF THE BEST TONICS I EVER TOOK."

JUDGE FRANCIS DEAN SYRICK.

"I AM NO LONGER SUBJECT TO COLDS," SAYS JUDGE SYRICK.

Judge Francis Dean Syrick, of Richmond, Va., is a prominent attorney of Washington, D. C. In a recent letter written from 1341 L street, Washington, D. C., he says:

"I have for some time been troubled with a malarial condition of the system thus making me susceptable to colds and rheumatic conditions.

"A friend recommended Peruna to me some time ago and I commenced taking it and after a few days I felt the beneficial effect of the medicine. I am going to continue taking it for I can say without hesitancy that it is one of the best tonics I ever took."---FRANCES DEAN SYRICK.

THE SECRET.

How Doctors Protect Themselves From Contagious Diseases.

Doctors rarely catch contagious diseases. Almost everybody knows this, but few know how they escape. Many believe that the doctor has some charm or antiseptic which protects him. Dr. Hartman lately made the truth of this matter public, that all might realize its benefit. Contagious diseases are conveyed by minute organisms known as disease germs. These germs find their entrance into the system through the mucous membrane. If the mucous membrane is healthy, they cannot get into the system. If the mucous membrane is affected by catarrh the germs find easy access. Catarrhal secretions furnish exactly the material upon which they thrive and multiply. To get rid of the catarrh and thus preserve the mucous membrane healthy, is the only way to be safe from contagious diseases. This explains why it is that some people catch diseases easier than others.

Every one is exposed just the same. Not every one, however, falls a victim to contagious diseases. A disease germ cannot enter the system through a perfectly healthy mucous membrane. Doctors know this and therefore guard against it. This is all the secret there is about it.

The best cure or preventive known to the medical profession up to date for catarrh in all its conditions is Peruna. During the uncertain weather of springtime it is an unnecessary hazard for any one to neglect to guard himself from taking disease, by taking Peruna. Send for free catarrh book. Address The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, Ohio.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

DIES IN WEST.

George W. Sherwood died suddenly in Southern California last Wednesday.

He was an old-time Duluthian, who left this city in the summer of 1900 on the strength of an alleged spiritual message from his deceased wife, telling him to leave Duluth immediately.

The message was said to have been delivered him by a Mrs. Jennie Moore, a spiritualist friend of Mrs. Sherwood, and who at the time was living in the Sherwood home with her husband.

Mr. Sherwood removed to Santa Cruz, Cal., and the Moores followed.

About the only property in Duluth that Mr. Sherwood left was what is known as 313 West Superior street. A few weeks ago this was sold to Robert Fitzgerald for $20,000, of which $6000 was a mortgage.

There was some slight delay in the final settlement of the deal and last week urgent messages were received to have the $14,000 in cash due Mr. Sherwood, forwarded to Santa Cruz without delay.

In the meantime the Santa Cruz bank notified a local bank that George W. Sherwood was dead and that a man and woman, answering the description of the Moores, had presented an order purporting to have been signed by Mr. Sherwood shortly before death, turning the money over to them.

Yesterday Mr. Sherwood's niece and nephew, Mrs. George Thompson and Theodore Sherwood, were notified of the uncle's death, and the mysterious couple that sought his money in the Santa Cruz bank. They wired the bank to hold the money pending a thorough investigation.

Mr. Sherwood came to Duluth about thirty years ago and although he and his wife had very little money to begin with they soon accumulated a fair fortune through real estate speculations. Mrs. Sherwood became much interested in spiritualism and in that way met Mrs. Moore, the medium, who was her nurse during her last illness.

OF CHOLERA.

Lieut. Olaf H. Rask, formerly a well-known Duluth newspaper man, is dead in the Philippines of cholera. A cable message from Cavite reports his death at Bacoor May 22. He was buried at that place.

Lieut. Rask was employed on the News-Tribune in this city for several years some time ago, and he was well known and popular here. Removing to the Twin Cities he engaged in newspaper work there, and later took the management of What to Eat, when that magazine was launched. He had a commission in the Fifteenth Minnesota regiment, and after his discharge he passed the examinations and received a commission as lieutenant in the regular army. He was assigned to the marine corps, in which he was located at the time of his death.

"Lieut. O. H. Rask was to all intents and purposes a resident of St. Paul, when he entered the marine corps. He had lived in St. Paul and Minneapolis for about twelve or fifteen years prior to that and had a wide acquaintance in newspaper and public circles. When he came from Wisconsin, the state of his birth, he attached himself to the editorial department of the Minneapolis Tribune, and at different times was also connected with the Minneapolis Times and Journal. About six years ago he became a member of the staff of the Pioneer Press of this city, and while on the staff married the society editor of that paper, Miss Marie Coolidge. Later Mr. Rask became advertising manager of What to Eat, a monthly publication edited and owned by the late Gilbert Pierce and his sons. This was just prior to the breaking out of the war with Spain.

"Mr. Rask was always possessed of the martial spirit. He was one of the leading members of the National Guard of the state, and had held non-commissioned and commissioned posts in that organization. When the war broke out he offered himself, forsaking his newspaper and magazine pursuits. He was not fortunate enough to secure a commission in the first three regiments which went into service from this state, but was appointed a lieutenant in the Fifteenth Minnesota, of which Col. Shadrew was the first colonel. Later upon the death of Col. Shadrew, Lieut Col. H. A. Leonhauser took command, and during all that long and trying period in which the Fifteenth was scourged by typhoid fever, Lieut Rask worked day and night for the men of his company.

"He was well liked by his men and respected for his desire to be absolutely fair and impartial.

"On the return of the regiment from Georgia to St. Paul, Lieut. Rask found civil pursuits had lost their charm. He wanted to be in the service of his country. The only field of activity was in the Philippines, and the most favorable avenue back to active service seemed to be through the marine corps. With the influence of the Minnesota delegation in congress Lieut. Rask secured a lieutenancy in the corps, and was assigned to recruiting duty in Brooklyn and afterwards in Pittsburg. Owing to the imperative need of more officers in the corps, Lieut. Rask, about a year ago, was sent to the Philippines on active duty, to his great delight.

"Lieut Rask was a striking officer, being tall, magnificently proportioned and of dignified demeanor. He was uniform-up kind and in high spirits."

A Sabbath School.

The ladies of the Adash Israel congregation assembled at the residence of Mrs. Max Zadk and organized a society for the establishment of a Sabbath school in their newly erected synagogue. Forty members were enrolled and the following officers elected: President, Mrs. I. L. Cook; vice president, Mrs. Joseph Polinsky; treasurer, Mrs. Max Zadk; secretary, Mrs. Shapiro; trustees, Mrs. Newshuim, Mrs. Orockowsky and Mrs. Weinberg. The president made an excellent speech, extolling the principles the organization undertaken to inculcate, and defined phases for the society's progress. Joseph Shulett, of Minneapolis, also spoke, praising the ladies for their benevolent organization. A handsome sum was paid for initiation fees. Monthly meetings will be held hereafter.

Distress After Eating

Nausea between meals, belching, vomiting, flatulence, fits of nervous headache, pain in the stomach, are all symptoms of dyspepsia, and the longer it is neglected the harder it is to cure it.

Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pills

Radically and permanently cure it—strengthen and tone the stomach and other digestive organs for the natural performance of their functions.

Accept no substitute for Hood's.

"I had dyspepsia twenty-five years and took different medicines but got no help until I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. Have taken four bottles of this medicine and can now eat almost anything, sleep well, have no cramps in my stomach, no burning and no distress." MRS. WILLIAM G. BARRETT, 14 Olney St., Providence, R. I.

IN SOCIAL CIRCLES

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Krumsieg returned from their wedding trip Monday and have gone to housekeeping at 1014 East Third street. They were married at Rochester, Minn., on May 21. The following account of the wedding was given in the Olmstead County Democrat:

"The nuptials of Miss Emilie A. Adler and Theodore M. Krumsieg were celebrated with elaborate appointments last night. It was one of the most brilliant weddings of the year and a happy event in all its details.

"As the bridal procession entered the church, Mrs. Louise Siekert, who presided at the organ, played the sweetly solemn music of the Lohengrin march. The bridesmaids entered first, they being Misses Rose Jensen, of Winona; Dora Vihstadt, Sophia Roeder and Ella Siekert. They were dressed in becoming gowns of Parisian lawn trimmed in lace and white satin. A short distance behind them appeared the maid of honor, Miss Clara Krumsieg, of Milwaukee. She wore a pretty costume of white organdie with ribbon and lace trimmings. Her bouquet was composed of lilies of the valley. Miss Adler, in a very handsome wedding gown, came next. The dress was of white Duchess, combined with liberty silk to form an artistic creation. She wore a wedding veil to complete the charming effect of the gown. Her only ornament was a brooch of diamonds and pearls, the gift of Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Adler, of Milwaukee. The bridal bouquet was white roses.

"The bride walked with her father, T. C. Adler, as she approached the altar, where the officiating clergyman, Rev. E. F. Haertal, of Chicago, was in waiting. The bridegroom, accompanied by his best man, Carl Krumsieg, of Chicago, entered the church by a side aisle and met the bridal procession as the altar was reached. Rev. Mr. Haertal, who is a brother-in-law of the bride, performed the marriage ceremony with impressiveness.

"As soon as the vows were taken by the bride and groom, the wedding party was seated, and the choir of fourteen voices sang a beautiful wedding anthem. In the rendition of the selection, Fred Witzke sang the solo part and the Misses Lulu and Ella Siekert, a duet. The organist then played the Mendelssohn wedding march, and Mr. and Mrs. Krumsieg, followed by the bridal party and relatives, left the church. The edifice was crowded to its utmost capacity and many expressions of admiration and good-will were heard as the bride passed out.

"At the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. Theodore C. Adler 706 West Zumbro street, a reception was held immediately at the conclusion of the ceremony at the church. There were seventy guests, nearly all of them relatives of the contracting parties, in attendance."

Wednesday evening, June 11, the Duluth Male Glee club, C. W. Weeks, director, will give its closing concert of the season, and the event is looked forward to with much anticipation by Duluth's music lovers. The club is Duluth's youngest musical organization, but at its first concert last winter achieved such success that the rehearsals were prosecuted with renewed vigor, and some good work in male chorus singing may be expected. The organization includes in its membership many of Duluth's best vocal soloists, and will compare in respect to tonal quality and musical ability favorably with organizations of cities much larger than Duluth. The club will be assisted by Frederick G. Washburn, violinist, of this city, and Ada Markland Sheffield, dramatic soprano, from Chicago, who comes highly recommended as an artist, and whose success in the leading musical centers of the country during the past season has been very exceptional. The Duluth Male Glee club hopes for the undivided support of the citizens of Duluth at this concert, to the end that it may be possible to maintain a club that can vie with any in the state, and of which the city may feel proud.

HONEST DOCTOR

Speaks of Coffee Drinking.

About coffee drinking, Dr. Hewet says: "I have the best of reasons for naming coffee as among the most dangerous of slow poisons. My own personal experience outside of the general experience gained by my practice has taught the truth.

"At about 16 I became a member of a young people's society whose pledge barred the use of intoxicants, tobacco, tea and coffee, until the age of 21. I kept my pledge and early temperate habits were formed. Up to about my 30th year I was an athlete; no one had better health or spirits.

"A short time after passing 30 I began the use of coffee at breakfast, with an occasional cup at evening parties. The first symptoms of ill health I remember came soon, and later sore mouth and stomach trouble. Finally well-marked dyspepsia supervened. My bowels sympathized, of course, also my nervous system became impaired. Dizziness attacked me, and tremulant hands rendered writing exceedingly difficult. My diet had to be restricted. Experienced medical advisers forbade all fruits.

"Several attacks of gastritis troubled me, and bowel complaint became quite frequent. The shadow of melancholia menaced me and caused me to wonder why a man of my lineage, strength and endurance and temperate habits should be thus afflicted.

"Eminent specialists named it 'miasm,' others as noted said 'microbes.' I now say, 'coffee arabica.' Why? Because for the first thirty years I did not drink coffee and enjoyed good health, the second thirty years coffee drinking became a habit and illness more than kept pace with the indulgence.

"I am now past 60 years of age. About eighteen months ago I saw a shrewdly written statement of Postum Cereal Coffee. I gave it careful reading and thought, and as an experiment substituted Postum for Java and Mocha. For the first three days of the change I felt keenly the loss of the stimulant, after that the nutrient quality of the drink more than compensated the deprivation, and an astonishing change came in recurring hunger three times daily; I could scarcely wait for meals, a sensation I had not had for more than thirty years.

"Now my health is excellent. I eat fruits of all kinds and food as my appetite demands. I am regaining my nervous tone and my strength is increasing daily. Except my change from coffee to Postum I have made no change in my mode of living.

"Do you wonder that I name coffee as among the most dangerous of slow poisons?

"I believe there are thousands suffering as I suffered with a better excuse for ignorance than I can offer." A. C. Hewet, M.D., 491 West Adams street, Chicago, Ill.

A Judge's Recovery.

JUDGE FRANCIS DEAN SYRICK.

"PE-RU-NA IS ONE OF THE BEST TONICS I EVER TOOK."

"I AM NO LONGER SUBJECT TO COLDS," SAYS JUDGE SYRICK.

Judge Francis Dean Syrick, of Richmond, Va., is a prominent attorney of Washington, D. C. In a recent letter written from 1341 L street, Washington, D. C., he says:

"I have for some time been troubled with a malarial condition of the system thus making me susceptable to colds and rheumatic conditions.

"A friend recommended Peruna to me some time ago and I commenced taking it and after a few days I felt the beneficial effect of the medicine. I am going to continue taking it for I can say without hesitancy that it is one of the best tonics I ever took."---FRANCES DEAN SYRICK.

THE SECRET.

How Doctors Protect Themselves From Contagious Diseases.

Doctors rarely catch contagious diseases. Almost everybody knows this, but few know how they escape. Many believe that the doctor has some charm or antiseptic which protects him. Dr. Hartman lately made the truth of this matter public, that all might realize its benefit. Contagious diseases are conveyed by minute organisms known as disease germs. These germs find their entrance into the system through the mucous membrane. If the mucous membrane is healthy, they cannot get into the system. If the mucous membrane is affected by catarrh the germs find easy access. Catarrhal secretions furnish exactly the material upon which they thrive and multiply. To get rid of the catarrh and thus preserve the mucous membrane healthy, is the only way to be safe from contagious diseases. This explains why it is that some people catch diseases easier than others.

Every one is exposed just the same. Not every one, however, falls a victim to contagious diseases. A disease germ cannot enter the system through a perfectly healthy mucous membrane. Doctors know this and therefore guard against it. This is all the secret there is about it.

The best cure or preventive known to the medical profession up to date for catarrh in all its conditions is Peruna. During the uncertain weather of springtime it is an unnecessary hazard for any one to neglect to guard himself from taking disease, by taking Peruna. Send for free catarrh book. Address The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, Ohio.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

DIES IN WEST.

George W. Sherwood died suddenly in Southern California last Wednesday.

He was an old-time Duluthian, who left this city in the summer of 1900 on the strength of an alleged spiritual message from his deceased wife, telling him to leave Duluth immediately.

The message was said to have been delivered him by Mrs. Jennie Moore, a spiritualist friend of Mrs. Sherwood, and who at the time was living in the Sherwood home with her husband.

Mr. Sherwood removed to Santa Cruz, Cal., and the Moores followed.

About the only property in Duluth that Mr. Sherwood left was what is known as 313 West Superior street. A few weeks ago this was sold to Robert Fitzgerald for $20,000, of which $9000 was a mortgage.

There was some slight delay in the final settlement of the deal and last week urgent messages were received to have the $14,000 in cash due Mr. Sherwood, forwarded to Santa Cruz without delay.

In the meantime the Santa Cruz bank notified a local bank that George W. Sherwood was dead and that a man and woman, answering the description of the Moores, had presented an order purporting to have been signed by Mr. Sherwood shortly before death, turning the money over to them.

Yesterday Mr. Sherwood's niece and nephew, Mrs. George Thompson and Theodore Sherwood, were notified of the uncle's death, and the mysterious couple that sought his money in the Santa Cruz bank. They wired the bank to hold the money pending a thorough investigation.

Mr. Sherwood came to Duluth about thirty years ago and although he and his wife had very little money to begin with they soon accumulated a fair fortune through real estate speculations. Mrs. Sherwood became much interested in spiritualism and in that way met Mrs. Moore, the medium, who was her nurse during her last illness.

PLAYS AND PLAYERS

"When We Were Twenty-One" Has Been Changed and Improved—Dramatic Company All Next Week.

Tonight at the Lyceum Nat C. Goodwin and his beautiful wife, Maxine Elliott, will appear in Henry V. Esmond's play, "When We Were Twenty-one." Since its original presentation it has been greatly improved as an acting play. In its original form the comedy was in a measure praised, but many critics found fault with the act—a scene in which represented a famous supper club in London—a Bohemian resort. This third act has been entirely rewritten, and the play is said to contain no jarring note now.

The role assumed by Mr. Goodwin, that of Richard Carewe, is a pleasing study of personalities, and contains much wisdom. His deep, rich voice and natural acting lending themselves to the portrayal of a middle-aged bachelor, who is ever ready to aid those entrusted to his care. Miss Elliott will give to the character of Phyllis Erricson, a ward of Carewe's, a beautiful coloring. She will infuse into it a quick, sweet spirit, and is said to treat it with a delicacy of touch, a correctness of conception, and renders it gracious with inherent gentleness.

The cast numbers some twenty odd people. It contains many of the original players, among them Mr. Neil O'Brien, C. L. Crauford, F. H. Tyler, Frederick Tiden, Florence Haverleigh, Gertrude Gheen and Alice Ingraham. The stage settings are in keeping with the high plane of this drama, beautiful furnishings and handsome decorations are carried by the company to aid in the settings.

KING DRAMATIC COMPANY.

The King Dramatic company, which has been playing at the Lyceum throughout the present week except this evening, will continue here all of next week. New plays will be presented and on Monday evening "Faust" will be given. It is promised that it will be given a handsome production from every point of view.

A MORMON PLAY.

An Epoch In Theatrical History Is Promised.

The rehearsals of the new Mormon play "Corianton," now in progress in Salt Lake City, are being watched with interest by theatrical managers throughout the country, as much is expected of this peculiar play. It is well known that wealthy Mormons are back of the enterprise and the production is now nearing completion under the direction of Joseph Haworth, the actor whose long association with "Quo Vadis" fits him for that responsible position. It is now thought the play will be in complete shape in time for the Elk's national reunion, which takes place in Salt Lake City in August.

Mr. Haworth will play the leading male role, while his chief feminine support will be Agnes Rose Lane, former reading lady with Richard Mansfield, who some time ago embraced the Mormon faith.

Orestes H. Bean, a son of George Bean, who was Indian interpreter for Brigham Young, is the author of the play. He said the other day:

"The characters of the cast are taken from the Book of Mormon, but the play is in no sense a propaganda of the Mormon church. It bears about the same relation to the book of Mormons that "Ben Hur" or "Quo Vadis" do to the Bible.

"The scene of the first act is in the hall of Justice in the Aztec temple. The second act takes you to Ieantum's garden, where Corianton first meets Zoan-ze-Isabel and falls a victim to her charms and wiles. Zoan-ze-Isabel's palace is the scene of the third act, which is the strong act of the drama. In this act the woman turns traitor to her people for love of Corianton. The fourth act has a portico setting which overlooks the city of Zoradehma.

"The play is built around the incident in which the prophet Alma chastises his wicked son Corianton for his infatuation for the scarlet woman Zoan-ze-Isabel, who is the heroine of the drama. She was a Lamanite, while he was a Nephite, and the characters are nearly all Aztecs.

"Alma's second son, Shibelon, is also a character in the play, but his oldest son, Heleman, is not mentioned at all.

"The play dates back to a period 73 years before Christ, and the scene is laid in South America on the Magdalena river in Colombia. There can yet be seen the ruins of the ancient people of this continent. Dr. Le Plongeon, the most eminent French explorer, declares that the people whom we call Aztecs were originally of Jewish origin, and in those early days traded with the Phoeneclans.

"Resting our data on his conclusions we have designed the costumes after the old Hebrew, Egyptian and Phoenecian styles, a commingling of all, with the characteristics of the Aztecs mentioned. This makes an original and striking costume, varied and exceedingly beautiful. The scenery will be Aztec, showing their arches and spires, or pyramids, because it is said they were the originators of the pyramid.

"One novel feature will be a ballet of 60 persons."

ANNIE M. CLARKE

The Death of a Well Known Actress.

The Boston Transcript of May 22 tells as follows of the death of a well known actress: Miss Annie M. Clarke, of Julia Marlowe's company, and well known in Boston as the accomplished leading lady of the Boston Museum stock company for many years, died in Chicago at 4 o'clock this morning of pneumonia, at the home of Mrs. Stewart, of 79 Michigan avenue. She was taken ill at Cleveland about a week ago and went from there to Chicago for rest and medical attendance, and there was every hope for her speedy recovery. Frequent messages had been received by Boston friends and all supposed that her recovery was certain until last night word came that a change for the worse had taken place.

Miss Clarke was born in Boston in 1845, and it was by the advice and through the influence of Miss Adelaide Phillipps that she began her professional career when a mere child. For many years she played at the Boston Museum. Her last appearance at the Museum was on Thursday afternoon, May 26, 1892, on the occasion of a testimonial offered by her many loyal friends and admirers. She appeared as Suzanne in the second act of "A Scrap of Paper," and Peg Woffington in the third and fourth acts of "Masks and Faces."

After leaving the Museum, Miss Clarke was a member of the short-lived stock company at the Grand opera house in 1893; of the the Manola-Mason comedy company, and at the opening of the season of 1896-'97 became a member of Charles Frohman's forces, appearing in support of Olga Nethersole, playing Mme. de Thauzette in "Denise," the role created in Paris, Jan. 19, 1885, by that great artist, Mme. Blanche Pierson, who has no peer in the ranks of the Comedie Francaise. It was a role to which Miss Clarke was especially adapted. In the spring of 1898 she joined Richard Mansfield's company and appeared as Mrs. Annie Dudgeon in "The Devil's Disciple" and Frau Schmidt in "The First Violin." She was a member of the stock company at the Herald Square theater, New York, during the summer of the same year.

On Feb. 28, 1900, she appeared at the Hollis Street theater as Mrs. Harter, wife of the minister, in "Barbara Frietchie." During the summer of that year she appeared at the Tremont theater as Tabitha in "The Son of Carley-croft." Bessie Blaisdell in "A Classical Cowboy," Mrs. Macfarlane in "Engaged," and Mrs. Jerkin Tubbs in "Pink Dominoes." Her last appearance in Boston was with Julia Marlowe at the Colonial theater on Dec. 21, 1901, in "When Knighthood Was in Flower," in which she played Queen Katharine.

Miss Clarke's repertory included the simplest parts in melodrama and the most difficult characters in tragedy, and it would be a hard task to find any well known play in which she had not appeared. "I have in my day," she once said, "played Roxana (Triplet's child), Kitty Clive, Mabel Vane and Peg Woffington in 'Masks and Faces.' Perhaps I shall end by playing Mrs. Triplet. Then, in 'The School for Scandal,' I was Maria long before I was Lady Teazle. In 'Oliver Twist,' I have been Oliver, Rose Maylie and Nancy Sykes, and so on through a long list."

GOSSIP OF THE RIALTO.

Mrs. Fiske's Revival of an Ibsen Play.

New York, May 31.—If Henrik Ibsen had met Mrs. Minnie Maddern Fiske before he wrote "A Doll's House," one would not have wondered at her remarkable presentation of the heroine of that play. Mrs. Fiske's revival was by far the most important theatrical event of the week, and she must have been delighted at the result. Seldom, if ever, has it been the fortune of any actress to play to an audience containing such noted critics and to win from them the generous applause that was given to her. Besides the critics of the daily papers, William Dean Howells, Edmund Clarence Stedman, Bliss Carman, Oliver Herford and John Kendrick Bangs were among the literary lights who joined in giving Mrs. Fiske nine curtain calls. Her presentation of Nora Helma was perfect, while Max Figman as the selfish, self-centered husband gave her more able support than she has received from him in any other play of her repertoire.

Ohio has another aspirant for the honors of the stage that have been won by two other of her daughters, Mrs. Leslie Carter and Clara Morris, in the charming person of Miss Pauline Van Buren, of Columbus. She has just closed her season with Blanche Bates in "Under Two Flags." Miss Van Johnston has ordered some $4500 worth of decorations for the first evening, and the total cost before the doors are opened will be in the neighborhood of $7000. Duss has engaged thirty of the best musicians obtainable to augment his band, and is confident that he has an organization that will favorably compare with Ballenberg's and Bellstead's.

The value of money in shaping theatrical enterprises was never more apparent than in the lightning change performed at the Casino last week. Now the Sires are out and the Shuberts are in to stay without further thought two seasons. Last week the sires had placed their figures to quit at $20,000, but neither the Bixby estate nor the Shuberts were willing to pay more than than half this sum. The Sires went ahead and directed George Lederer to make ready a new production and then quietly called the attention of the landlord to a most peculiar state of affairs. It seems that the landlord Buren is a Titian blonde, who does not depend upon the glory of her hair for theatrical prominence. Her work with Miss Bates has won strong commendations from that actress and from David Belasco, and she will be seen to much greater advantage next season.

From Economy, Penn., comes a man who means to take New York by storm with plenty of money and absolute disregard of consequences in spending it if he can win the metropolis. "Duss" is the only name he gives, and from every blank wall and theatrical sign board available it is now staring New Yorkers in the face. Duss is president of that sect known as the Harmony society. Duss himself is said to be worth anywhere between $1,000,000 and $10,000,000. He is likewise a musician, and comes here for recognition. It is safe to say that no other musician in the history of this city has ever knocked at its gates so boldly and with greater confidence. "Duss and His Incomparable Band" has been spread on posters for three weeks, and he will give forth his music for sixteen weeks to come at the St. Nicholas rink, in the heart of the city. For his introduction he has taken the Metropolitan Opera house for tomorrow night. He told his manager, R. E. Johnston, that his pocketbook is open and to go ahead, could not accept rent from the Sires without legally recognizing the lease, which they disputed, and which would give the Sires possession of the building for some ten years to come. The Bixby people did not relish the proposition of allowing the Sires to stay there for a year without rent and quickly came to an agreement with the Schuberts whereby the Sires received $20,000, packed up and got out. "A Chinese Honeymoon" will be seen at the Casino just as soon as repairs ordered by the building department can be made to that playhouse.

• • •

Mr. Mansfield has set speculation at rest regarding his forthcoming production of "Julius Caesar" by announcing that he will play Brutus in that production. Many had expected his choice would be Cassius. Arthur Forrest is to be the Marc Antony.

• • •

"The Chinese Honeymoon," the latest of the English musical comedies to be brought out in America, is hailed as a second "Florodora." After its run in Philadelphia it goes into New York for the summer. Next season two companies will be sent on the road in it.

• • •

FOOTLIGHT FLASHES.

Donnelly and Girard will be seen this summer in vaudeville.

Crimmins and Gore will star next season in "A Warm Match."

"A Great Hero," a new melodrama by John A. Stevens, was recently produced at Cleveland.

"Kinb Dodo" probably will have a run at the Shaftesbury theater, London, next season, as arrangements to that end are now being made by Henry W. Savage.

A. H. Chamberlyn will handle the London Comedy company, which will offer "The Other Man's Wife" for a tour this fall, with Mr. Reeves Smith featured.

"The Holy City," a Biblical production, now in preparation, will be one of the many new attractions sent out under the direction of Hurtig & Seamon next season.

Corse Payton has secured the Park theater, Boston, for five years from Lotta Crabtree. the lease dating from next August. Mr. Payton's regular policy will prevail.

Jerome Sykes was operated on for appendicitis last week at a private sanitarium in New York. He is in a comfortable condition, and it is announced that he will recover.

Beerbohm Tree has engaged Ellen Terry to play Mistress Page, and Mrs. Kendal to play Mistress Ford, in the coronation production at Her Majesty's theater of "The Merry Wives of Windsor."

F. C. Whitney's production of Arthur Shirley's dramatization of Tom Gallon's tale of English life, "Tatterly," received its first production in America at the Park City theater, Bridgeport, Conn., on May 19, with John Kellerd in the title role.

It has been decided to present Mark Twain's "Huckleberry Finn" on the stage. Klaw & Erlanger have secured the dramatic rights and the piece will be presented early in the coming year, with Arthur Dunn in the title role.

"The Major and the Judge," a new musical comedy, by Will B. Cressy, will be sent on the road by Hurtig & Seamon at the beginning of next season. Tom Lewis, Sam J. Ryan, Maud Hurtli and many other popular faborites will be in the cast.

May Irwin has reconsidered her farewell to the stage, and will tour next season in a new farce comedy, opening at the Bijou theater. This announcement sets at rest the rumors that Miss Irwin would become a member of Weber & Fields' company.

Julia Marlowe evidently has postponed her productions of "Electra" and "Dolly Madison," as arrangements have been made for an elaborate production next autumn of "Princess Flametta," by Catulle Mendes, which evidently is to be made the feature of her season.

Franklin Fyles has just completed a drama under a joint contract with Charles Frohman and David Belasco, which is to have a Belasco production. By arrangement with Mr. Belasco Mr. Fyles' "Drusa Wayne" is to follow "Zaza" in a summer season which Florence Roberts will play in San Francisco. Another of Mr. Fyles' successes, "Kit Carson," will be given a spectacular production next season.

Charles Frohman has made a contract with Mrs. Langtry for the latter's return to America next season. Her engagement, which will be limited, will begin at the Garrick theater, New York, in January next. She will appear there in "Mademoiselle Mars," the new drama with which she opened her London theater, and in which she has won her latest success. The entire big London production will be brought here. Following the Garrick theater engagement Mrs. Langtry will make a tour of the principal cities.

SENIORS ARE NOW ON EASY STREET

Their Examinations Are Over and They Are Happy ---Baseball Team After State Championship---Notes of the Week.

The seniors had all of their examinations during this week and there is no more cramming for them. They are through with their work for the year and delight in standing around the corridors flaunting the fact in the faces of the worried, struggling under-classmen.

The three lower classes will have their examinations beginning with Tuesday of next week. They will last two days, closing Wednesday afternoon, so that when the school assembles on Wednesday evening to enjoy the class night exercises all of the year's work will be a thing of the past to every one save the instructors, who will be able to spend many weary hours still over the examination papers.

The honor pupils are busy with the instructors in the declamatory art. Their sweet voices fill the assembly hall daily as they struggle to strike just the right pitch to strike fire into the hearts of the hearers on commencement evening.

The program for the last few events of the year is as follows:

Tuesday and Wednesday, June 3 and 4—Examinations three lower classes.

IN ATHLETICS.

Baseball Team Gunning For State Championship.

Brainerd's fickleness badly upsets the schedule of the high school baseball team. This week has been looked forward to as one of the best in the entire season for the team. They have been in training long enough to be in excellent condition, and they feel that they certainly would have been successful in taking the scalps of the Brainerd boys again if they had been given a chance. It is the last Saturday before the school year ends, and consequently the last chance to play a game in which the whole student body of the school will be together to supp port in a body.

The men have only had one trip out of town this year and that only to Ironwood, and as they consider the traveling around the country one of the greatest pleasures connected with high school athletics they were greatly disappointed when news came from Brainerd that they would be unable to go there and play. Aitkin could not accommodate them to a game on such short notice, so they were forced to lie idle.

One or two games, it is expected, will be played after the school term ends. The men hope to meet either the St. Paul Central high school or the Minneapolis North Side high during the next two weeks.

The championship of the northwest lies between these two schools. They play a game together during the next week, and the plan of the local boys is to play the winner, thus capturing the championship if they are able to win.

The Duluth high school, largely owing to Capt. Cummings' excellent work in the box, is making an excellent record for itself among the high school teams of the Northwest.

The Twin City schools are beginning to look upon Duluth as a very dangerous rival, and from all appearances the next year will furnish some of the best high school athletic contests ever seen in this city.

HAVE HIGH JINKS.

Sophomores Winding Up Year With Strenuous Times.

The high school sophomores have been leading an exceedingly strenuous life during the last week. First they lent their energies to defeating the juniors in the girls' basketball game; then just to show the juniors that they did not amount to anything any way, they took orange and black ribbons—the junior colors—and laced their shoes with them. This, of course, was a little more than the once bellicose third-year men could be expected to stand. So Wednesday night just after the sophomore class meeting let out, the crowd of departing sophs met a correspondingly large crowd of enraged tigers, who attacked them ferociously, throwing them down on the cold stone steps and ripping the offending shoe strings from their pedal extremities.

The juniors were not even satisfied with taking their own colors from this degrading position, but proceeded to pull some of the blue and white ribbon which the sophomores had persisted in flaunting before their faces since the basketball game at the armory came off.

Then when they had finished with the juniors the sophs tried to beat the freshmen in an oratorical contest. When they failed, the event ending in a draw, they naturally got belligerent and Thursday they attempted to wrest a little yellow cane from the hands of the freshman tribe.

But they were doomed again not to get the satisfaction they craved. After ten minutes of the hardest kind of fighting the event ended in another tie. That is, the judges, who were all juniors, by the way, were unable to decide whether one of the scrappers, who had succeeded by the most truculent efforts, in getting two hands on the cane, was a sophomore or freshman, and as the young man in question could throw no light on the matter, the event was called a tie. It will be tried all over again at some future time.

GRADUALLY RECOVERING.

American Beauty Roses Resuscitate Junior Girls.

The junior girls are beginning to rally from the despondency into which their failure to win the basketball game with the sophomore damseis threw them.

The fact that appreciative young men of their class presented them on the morning after the game with a bunch of beautiful American Beauty roses probably had something to do with this.

The girls certainly tried hard enough to win to be worthy of all of the smypathy and flowers that the young men of their class can shower upon them.

Basketball for young women will probably be indulged in by the high school girls again next year and then the seniors—'03, will be seniors then—will have a chance to pay off the old score.

The sophomores are, of course, delighted with the outcome of the game. Their opinion of their own prowess increases with such rapidity that their hats may not fit after a time.

They are determined to retain the ascendancy and will certainly put up a good strong game the next time the two classes meet.

There is one detail on which the juniors congratulate thmeselves in connection with the game. The sophomore coach was a junior, while the juniors were coached by a senior. So, they argue, the sophomores owe their success to junior ability after all.

Notes of the Week.

The Zenith will be out about next Wednesday.

• • •

Elaborate preparation has been made by the juniors for the junior-senior repception. It will be one of the finest that has ever been given by the high school students.

• • •

Those who have ordered the high school caps will probably get them about the first of next week.

• • •

The sophomores held their last class meeting on Wednesday. The business of the year was closed up.

• • •

The entire student body was photographed Tuesday morning for publication in the little magazine, "Where Rails and Water Meet," published by the Marshall-Wells Hardware company.

Phew! Salts and Castor Oil!

Why take sickening salts or repulsive castor oil? "Goes through you like a dose of salts" means violence, grips, gripes, gases, soreness, irritation, and leaves your stomach and bowels weak and burnt out. Might just as well take concentrated lye. Then there's castor oil, disgusting, nauseating truck that your stomach refuses unless you disguise the taste. Fool your own stomach, eh? Don't ever believe that anything offensive to your taste or smell is going to do you real good. Nature makes certain things repulsive, so you will not take them. Force yourself to nauseous doses, and you ruin your digestion, weaken your bowels, destroy your health. On the other hand see what a delightful, palatable, perfect modern laxative, liver regulator and bowel tonic you find in

Positions Due to Better Team Work At the Bat Than Is Shown By Their Opponents—Seventeen Shut-Outs.

A study of what might be called good use of base hits discloses the fact that the Pittsburgs and Chicagos, first and second respectively in the National league race, are fully deserving of their positions, and that it is clever work at the bat rather than luck that accounts for their high positions. These two teams have won more games in which they have been outbatted by their opponents than any of the others. In fact, each has won more games of this kind than all the other league teams put together, the Chicagos having won ten and the Pittsburgs seven, while the total for the remaining six teams is six. As the Pittsburgs and Chicagos have played all of the other teams, and it is reasonable to suppose that they have not always encountered poor fielding by their opponents, the inference is that they have been doing better team work at the bat than their opponents, in short, that they have been playing that part of the game more scientifically.

Alertness on the bases, being on the qui vive to make all the bases possible on a hit, an understanding which is not only theoretical but practicable between batter and base runner, ability to place hits, the bunching of hits, these are matters which count in stick work. Evidently the Pittsburgs have men who can use their heads while at the bat as well as hit the ball hard. The Chicagos are not a team of formidable stickers like the champions, but the records show that they, more than any other team, have been able to make the most of what hits they have made. Doubtless much of this is due to the shrewd management of Selee, who not only is a first-class man at picking up young players, but who knows how to teach them to play the game. No doubt luck has cut some figure when the outbatted team wins so frequently, but luck is an element which generally smiles more on the stronger teams. When a team can win right along with fewer hits than its opponents, it is not playing haphazard ball any more than it is weighted down with complicated but not practical systems, signals and such.

The National league clubs have gathered together a crop of seventeen shut-outs for the present season. Chicago was the most successful in administering "whitewash" to their opponents, with five such games to their credit, followed by the New York with four, Pittsburg with three, Brooklyn and Cincinnati with two each and Boston with one. Philadelphia and St. Louis have as yet failed to shut out an opponent.

In addition to giving the most "whitewashes," Chicago also failed to score in more games than any other club, having clean rows of "goose eggs" in five games, the same number that they gave their opponents. Brooklyn and Philadelphia were each shut out in three games; Boston and New York, each 2; Cincinnati and St. Louis, each 1 game. Puttsburg has not yet been shut out.

The shut-out pitchers who succeeded in retiring their opponents without any runs were Taylor, Chicago, who pitched three shut-out games; Hahn, of Cincinnati; Kennedy, New York; Mathewson, New York; Phillips, Pittsburg, each two games; Willis, Boston; Newton, Brooklyn; Kittson, Brooklyn; Menefee, Chicago; St. Vrain, Chicago; Leever, Pittsburg, each one game.

* * *

In the American league for the same period, which was one week less playing time than in the National league, there were twelve shut-outs. Of this number St. Louis administered four, Chicago and Cleveland each three, Detroit and Athletics each one, while Baltimore, Boston and Washington have failed to shut out an opponent.

The clubs which received shut-outs were Cleveland, Detroit and St. Louis each three games, Chicago two, Washington one, while the Athletics, Baltimore and Boston have not yet been shut out.

The successful shut-out pitchers were Griffith, Chicago; Powell, St. Louis; Harper, St. Louis, each of whom pitched two games of this class. Plank, Athletics; Garvin, Chicago; Siever, Detroit; Wright, Cleveland; Joss, Cleveland, and Taylor, Cleveland, each had one shut-out to their credit.

* * *

There have been seven extra-inning games in the National league thus far. One game of thirteen innings, three of twelve and three of ten. Of this number six were fought to a conclusion and one was a tie, Brooklyn and New York each won two extra-inning games, Chicago and St. Louis each one, and Chicago and Cincinnati played a tie game of twelve innings.

The clubs which lost extra inning games were Boston, Brooklyn, Cincinnati, New York, Philadelphia, St. Louis, each one game. The winning pitchers whose nerve and ability to stand the strain pulled out strong after the ninth inning were McCann, Brooklyn; Newton, Brooklyn; St. Vrain and Taylor, together, Chicago; Evans, New York; Thillman and Sparks, together, New York; Popp, St. Louis, each, one game. Taylor, Chicago, and Hahn, Cincinnati, pitched in the twelve-innings tie game.

The losers were Pittinger, Boston; Newton, Brooklyn; Phillips, Cincinnati; Kennedy, New York; White, Philadelphia; Yerkes and Wicker, St. Louis, together, each one game.

In the American league there were four extra-inning games. One game of seventeen innings and three of ten innings. The winners were Athletics, Detroit and Washington, each one game; Chicago and St. Louis one tie game of seventeen innings. The losers were Baltimore, Boston and Chicago, each one game.

The winning pitchers were Hastings, Athletic; Yeager, Detroit; Orth, Washington, each one game. Callahan, Chicago, and Donohue, St. Louis, pitched in the seventeen-innings game.

The losers weer Dineen, Boston; Shields and Howell, together, Baltimore; Pintt and Patterson, together, Chicago, each one game.

When good old Rip Van Haltren was carried off the field at Pittsburg with a broken leg the dean of the college of league play ceased to make baseball history. Van is the sage of the big class. He made his league debut with Chicago back in '87, and he came from California as a southpaw pitcher. There is but one break in the record of continuous service of fifteen years—the season he went with the Players' league. This marked his sixteenth season in major league harness. There are several American leaguers who antedate Van, for the National veteran was a youngster in knee trousers and full of California prunes long after Deacon Jim McGuire, Tom Daily and Jimmy Ryan had cut their eye teeth in fast company. With George Van Haltren out of it there are four players in the National in line to succeed him, four who began their major careers in '88—one year after "Old Rip Van" first woke 'em up in Chicago. Three of that quartet are in Cincinnati and two wear the red. Jacob Beckley, Billy Hoy and Charley Farrell, who started in Pittsburg, Washington and Chicago respectively, and Billy Hollman, who began in the Quaker City and is once more with his old love, comprise the four, and it would be a question of day and month to determine who, after Van, is entitled to the rank of patriarch of the big family.

Who is going to ride in the sprint cycle races this season? is the question now being asked in cycling circles. The query is a most natural one, in view of the evident epidemic among the flyers to follow pace rather than trust to the occasional winning of a place in a short distance race.

The National circuit this year will show quite a few new faces, many of them being recognized as the crack amateurs of former years.

A summing up of the flyers who have, for the time being at least, given up sprint racing for the middle distance races shows that the short distance class has lost some of its best performers.

According to those who have had experience with the uncertainties of the match-making game in motor-paced events, the expense of motor machines, the maintenance of the pacing crews and general railroad expenses, the newcomers will soon be disillusioned. For a winner the motor-paced specialty has its charms, as he gets his price and is sure of securing all the enjoyments he wants. This is not the case with the others.

In looking over the field it will be seen that Floyd McFarland, Albert Champion and Tom Hall, managed by Kennedy, will all follow pace this season; Rutz, Leander and Freeman have already signed with Ross Klosterman to ride behind pace at Baltimore and Washington. This trio will be remembered as having done such creditable work at the recent indoor meet in this city.

W. Fenn, who promises to surprise the followers of pace this season; Lake, Cadwell, Hunter and Joe Nelson will all follow pace under the guidance of F. EJ Spooner. Otto Maya, Semar (of France), McLean and McConnell, the ex-amateur champion of Massachusetts,, will also try their luck in the middle distance game, with Frank Waller as manager. Down at Atlantic City Arthur Irwin will have under his especial care Harley Davidson and Boake, of Canada; Bob French and Oscar Babcock.

Bobby Walthour, whose riding during the last few weeks down South gives him an equal chance in the championship race, will also be an aspirant for motor-paced honors. With all these riders of note back of pace, there will be plenty of room for newcomers in the sprint events.

Spike Sullivan has clinched his match with Jabez White, the English lightweight, which is to take place at the National sporting club, of London, the latter part of June. Sullivan will sail next week, and when he reaches the other side he intends to take up his training quarters with Tom Sharkey. This will be Sullivan's first attempt in England since 1898, when he defeated several of the British aspirants.

Eddie Wheeler, Brooklyn's utility infielder, has won the distinction of being the most honest ball player in the country. Manager Stroebel has made the discovery. When the Brooklyn's were in Boston Wheeler asked Hanlon to let him go to Toledo on the condition that he return to Brooklyn next year. In the meantime he had corresponded with Stroebel and the latter sent Wheeler half a dozen telegrams. When Hanlon refused to let Wheeler go, and the player sent Stroebel $2 to cover the cost of the telegrams Stroebel had sent. The latter thereupon called Wheeler an honest man, and intimated that he would refund the money. Up to the present, however, Wheeler has not received the coin.

DUN'S REVIEW

Encouraging Factors Outweigh Elements of Labor Troubles.

New York, May 31.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says: Ease in the money market, favorable crop prospects and confidence abroad all continue ruling factors which outweigh the disturbing elements of labor conflicts and unreasonable weather for retail trade at many points. Effects of the depressing influences are less keenly felt because they are believed to be only temporary, and confidence is expressed that with the resumption of work and normal temperature there will be a turn to the liberal distribution of merchandise.

Despite this the large yield of wheat and high prices for both resulted in the greatest value for the two crops ever recorded, which means that the agricultural sections are prosperous, and other idustries must share the good fortune by increased sales of products. Collections are prompt as a rule, and payments through the principal clearing houses are well maintained.

Notwithstanding speculation there was an increase of 1.2 per cent at New York compared with last year's exchange. Returns as to transportation show that losses in grain movement are being more than made up elsewhere, railway earnings thus far reported for May showing a gain of 6.5 per cent over last year and 19.0 per cent over 1900.

Efforts to place contracts for 100,000 tons of pig iron, deliverable in the second quarter of 1903, indicate the confidence of the leading consumer as to the future of that industry. There is no cessation of activity at the mills, and finished products are framed to importune consumers as rapidly as possible.

No improvement is reported at New England boot and shoe centers where the shops are still running only about half time. There is a little more activity in the grades that declined last week but no indication of recovery in prices, and other varieties tend downward. Salesmen are booking a smaller percentage of orders at the South than is usual at this season. Local retail trade has been more active, but jobbing business continues slow. Recent advances in leather are maintained with belting butts freely purchased. Imported hides are scarce and strong, but domestic packer hides are more quiet.

Etocks of textile fabrics are not accumulating, although the markets are extremely quiet. Domestic jobbing trade is fairly satisfactory, but exports of cotton goods are small. Print cloths are dull and unchanged with the situation unsettled as to new prints for the fall. Clothing manufacturers are purchasing woolen goods in moderation only, and larger deliveries by the leading company increases the disposition towards conservation.

Prospects are bright for a large yield of cotton. Dispatches have been received of correspondents, located in all parts of the cotton belt, and the returns are unanimously encouraging.

Grain quotations made a decided advance early in the week, which was not easily explained, except on the basis of light supplies in sight. This element was not new, however, receipts having decreased very materially for many weeks in comparison with last year's movement. Subsequently the gain was lost in option trading, although cash corn was firmly held.

Failures for the week numbered 191 in the United States against 148 last year, and 20 in Canada against 27 a year ago.

IN COPPER DISTRICT

Passing of the Osceola and Tamarack Dividends.

South Range Mines Proving All Ever Claimed For Them.

Large Reduction In Working Force of the Isle Royale.

Houghton, Mich., May 31.—(Special to The Herald)—The decision of the directors of the Osceola and Tamarack companies to pass their semi-annual dividends is, of course, a disappointment to shareholders, but is scarcely a surprise. The financial showing made last year was not a good one, indicating the payment of dividends unearned. This was due very largely to following the mistaken policy of storing production, with the consequent necessity of selling the larger part of the year's output at 11 to 12 cents per pound, instead of the price of 17 cents that ruled for the greater part of the year. As Tamarack and Osceola shares are largely held for investment, the dividends will be sadly missed by many shareholders. It is possible that the Tamarack may pay a dividend next fall, but in justice to itself the Osceola cannot well make any profit disbursements this year. The Osceola is now producing largely from its Kearsarge mines, and only sparingly from the Osceola proper, which means that costs of making will be considerably reduced. The mine has an excellent plant throughout, and is in the hands of an experienced and capable local management, while the Eastern management is scarcely likely to repeat the mistaken policy of last year.

It is stated locally that the Champion mine made sixty pounds of mineral per ton of rock last week from the rock crushed. This would be not less than forty pounds of refined copper per ton, or 2 per cent, and would put the Champion at the head of all amygdaloid mines, with the Trimountain a good second and Wolverine, Quincy and Baltic following, in the order named. The so-called "South Range" mines are proving all that has ever been claimed for them, and are certain to become important factors in the production of the district during the next two years. Eventually these three mines, the Baltic, Trimountain and Champion, should be making so much copper as the Calumet & Hecla, but it will take some years to make the mine openings and furnish the machinery for production upon such a colossal scale.

The Isle Royale's retrenchment in forces has cut the pay roll to the bone, and it is doubtful if more than 300 men are now employed. The mine is making about 200 tons of mineral per month, running 70 to 72 per cent refined copper, so that a conservative estimate of monthly production would be 400,000 pounds of ingot, worth about $50,000. As the mine is now running, this copper is being made for probably $35,000 to $40,000 per month, showing a good profit, if the copper is being sold at present market prices. The important point is whether the mine can keep three stamps running with selected rock on its present force, with all dead work suspended. This can be done for a time, but new ground must be opened in advance in a short time or the stamps cannot be fed.

The plans of the Victoria company will not be changed by the death of the late Governor Dunstan, who was president of the corporation. The Victoria has been admirably handled from the start and the utmost economy has been exercised in every department. With the great power secured at nominal cost from an electrical plant at Glenn Falls, the mine and mill can be operated more cheaply than is possible at any other property in the lake district. These advantages of economy and cheap power will give the Victoria a big start in the race, and make the mine a much more promising property than would be the cause otherwise.

The new one-stamp mill of the Phoenix is to be in operation next winter, if all goes well. This is to be operated by water power, and will save heavy fuel costs. While the Phoenix is a small mine, and must remain such so long as developed solely on fissure veins, it is a rich one, and ought to prove a money-maker.

The new mines that are building mills in this district are being sorely tried by the delays experienced in securing structural material and machinery. The delay in furnishing machinery is even greater than that experienced in the delivery of steel, and is proving a great disappointment to many ambitious mine managers.

The force of the Calumet & Hecla company is probably but a little more than 5,000 men at present, as compared with nearly 7,000 names on the payrolls two years ago, notwithstanding which the mine is stamping more rock and making more copper than ever before. Costs have been greatly reduced of late, and the mine is earning handsome profits on 12½ cent copper.

The electrical tramming in the Quincy mine last fall has proven all that was hoped, and the economy of electric over hand power is so marked that additional tram lines are being installed. The Adventure mine, which has the same eastern management as the Quincy, is to install electric lines underground, and is now awaiting the machinery, which was to have been delivered some weeks ago.

The mines are rushing coal shipments and storing the cargoes as rapidly as received. Any shortage in coal supply would prove a serious matter to the big mines, which use from 100,000 to 300,000 tons each per annum.

"A" shaft of the Centennial is not down 2,000 feet, and will be sunk to the depth of the half mile as rapidly as may be. The Centennial management is very reticent regarding its milling plant, but a fine site is owned opposite the Calumet & Hecla mills on Torch lake, and it is probable that a satisfactory arrangement might be made with the Arcadian for the use of two stamps at the mill of the latter, when they are released by the completion of the Trimountain mill, within a short time.

The Osceola shaft of the Tecumseh is now in good copper ground, and has apparently struck the copper chute which makes southward in No. 6 shaft of the Osceola mine, and which is much the best part of the old Osceola workings at the present time.

At the annual meeting of the Calumet & Hecla Copper company the old board of directors was re-elected, with one exception, and development will be continued along the present lines. This is a corporation owned mainly by local capital, and a very large and promising mine is being developed, in the Bisbee district of Arizona.

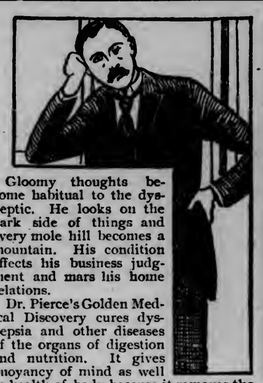
The mills of the Lake copper mines are rapidly replacing the old style round tables with the modern concentrating tables of various patterns, mainly Wilfley and Overstrom types. The new table sare less costly, are kept in repair more easily, and efect a far closer concentration than the old devices. The milling practice of the district has made very marked advances within the past few years, and this is reflected in the decreased losses shown in tailings. It is rather surprising that none of the mills of the district have as yet installed automatic samplers for their sands.

The new process of reworking tailings recently tried at the Calumet & Hecla sands is said to have proven a success in every particular. If this be true it is probable that an extensive plant for reworking the sands will be installed near the mills. As the big mills are turning out above 5,000 tons of sands daily, with upwards of 25,000,000 tons of old deposits, the plant will necessarily be much the largest in the world, if built to handle everything that comes from the mills.

The so-called "branch vein,", from which so much is hoped, has been cut again by the Michigan, in the eighth level of "A" shaft. While this vein is narrow it is remarkably rich, and carries copper in enormous masses, as well as barrel work and stamp copper.

Work at the Arnold is practically suspended, only a few men being employed.

HORACE J. STEVENS.



Gloomy thoughts become habitual to the dyspeptic. He looks on the dark side of things and every mole hill becomes a mountain. His condition affects his business judgment and mars his home relations.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures dyspepsia and other diseases of the organs of digestion and nutrition. It gives buoyancy of mind as well as health of body because it removes the physicial cause of mental depression.

It enables the perfect digestion and assimilation of food, and the body is strengthened by nutrition which is the only source of physical strength.

"I was afflicted with what the doctors called nervous indigestion. Took medicine from my family physician to no avail," writes Mr. Thos. G. Lever, of Lever, Richland Co., S. C. "At night would have cold or hot feet and hands, alternately. I was getting very nervous and suffered a great deal mentally, thinking that death would soon claim me. Always expected something unusual to take place; was irritable and impatient, and greatly reduced in flesh. I could scarcely eat any thing that would not produce a bad feeling in my stomach. After some hesitation, I decided to try a few bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Pellets.' After taking several bottles of each, found I was improving. I continued for six months or more, off and on. I have to be careful yet, at times, of what I eat, in order that I may feel good and strong. I fully believe if any one suffering with indigestion or torpid liver or chronic cold would take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Pleasant Pellets' and observe a few simple hygienic rules, they would soon be greatly benefited, and with a little perseverance would be entirely cured."

STATE OF MINNESOTA, COUNTY OF St. Louis.—ss.

In Probate Court, Special Term, May 16, 1902.

In the Matter of the Estate of Henry E. Harris, Deceased:

On reciving and filing the petition of Grace Harris, of the county of St. Louis, representing, among other things, that Henry E. Harris, late of the county of St. Louis, in the state of Minnesota, on the 11th day of May, A. D. 1902, at the county of St. Louis, died intestate, and being an inhabitant of this county at the time of his death, leaving goods, chattels, and estate within this county, and that the said petitioner is the widow of said deceased, and praying that administration of said estate be to Grace Harris and Julius Abrahamson, granted;

It is ordered, that said petition be heard before said court, on the 10th day of June, A. D. 1902, at ten o'clock a. m., at the probate office, in the court house, in the city of Duluth, in said county.

Ordered further, that notice thereof be given to the heirs of said deceased and to all persons interested, by publishing this order once in each week for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing, in The Duluth Evening Herald, a daily newspaper printed and published at Duluth, in said county.

Dated at Duluth, Minnesota, the 16th day of May, A. D. 1902.

By the Court,
W. G. BONHAM,
Judge of Probate.

ORDER FOR HEARING PROOF OF FOREIGN WILL—

State of Minnesota, County of St. Louis—ss.

In Probate Court, Special Term, May 17, 1902.

In the Matter of the Estate of William D. Himmelreich, Deceased:

Whereas, certain writings purporting to be duly authenticated copies of the last will and testament of William D. Himmelreich, late of Lewisburgh, Pennsylvania, deceased, and the probate thereof by the Register of Wills of Union County, Pennsylvania, have been delivered to this court;

And whereas, Ogden R. Vorse has filed therewith his petition, representing among other things that said William D. Himmelreich lately died in said County of Union, Pennsylvania, testate, possessed of certain real estate, situated in said County of St. Louis, Minnesota, and that said petitioner is the surviving executor named in said will and praying that the said instrument may be admitted to probate, and that letters testamentary be to him issued thereon;

It is ordered, that the proofs of said instrument, and the said petition be heard before this court at the Probate Office in said county, on Monday, the 9th day of June, A. D. 1902, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, when all persons interested may appear for or contest the probate of said instrument;

And it is further ordered that notice of the time and place of said hearing be given to all persons interested, by publishing this order once in each week for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing, in the Duluth Evening Herald, a daily newspaper printed and published at Duluth, in said county.

Dated at Duluth this 17th day of May, A. D. 1902.

By the Court,
(Seal.) W. G. BONHAM,
Judge of Probate.

Troubles of the Cuban Republic.

For some reason or other the best friends of Cuba among the Americans do not have a very optimistic feeling in regard to the future of the republic and predictions are freely made that the island will be bankrupt within the next nine months and that appeals will be made to the United States government for financial assistance long before that period expires. The new government will begin to accumulate debts from the very start, as stated before in these columns the expenses of government will materially increase now that the United States officers have left, and new expenses for the support of an army, a small navy, diplomatic corps and other adjuncts, must be met. The trouble is that Cuba has practically no resources to draw on. The tariff rates are already high and to add to them would be to reduce importation, with the result that the revenues would fall off instead of increase. The whole country is mortgaged right up to the limit of its value and the people cannot stand further internal taxation. Interest rates on loans are already enormous, being as high as 15 and 18 per cent on good real estate security. The pawnbrokers charge 10 per cent a month, or 120 per cent a year for loans, and do a thriving business at that unheard of rate. No new capital is being invested in the island, everybody being more or less suspicious of the new government, and uncertain as to its success. One discouraging feature is the lack of interest displayed by the masses of the people in the future of the republic. There is a lack of industry and ambition among the people and they much prefer and do take life easy rather than work. With these facts in view it will be seen that the outlook for Cuba is not over bright.

The Bill to Retire Hobson.

Naval Constructor Hobson has finally succeeded in getting the senate committee on naval affairs to report favorably the bill providing for his retirement, although the regular naval board refused to recommend it. It is claimed by Hobson's friends that his eyesight is in very bad condition, owing to the exposure he endured while on duty at Manila, but a board of naval officers refused to condemn him as unfit for the service, which would otherwise have transferred him to the retired list, with an annual pension of $2100. This would have left him free to follow a business calling, or even to go into politics, as was recently announced he had an intention of doing. So he has, to his distaste, it is said, been lately ordered to the shipyards of Lewis Nixon, at Elizabethport, N. J., to supervise the work going on there for which Nixon has contracted with the navy department. Hobson has been on several posts of duty in the line of his profession since the Spanish war, but has remained for some reason or other but a short time at each place where ordered. He was advanced for his bravery to the rank of captain in the corps of instructors. Hobson graduated with star honors at Annapolis and for a short time was on duty at the Brooklyn navy yard under Constructor Fernald. Hobson did well for his country during the war with Spain, but that is no reason why he should be retired unless for cause and the examining board says there is no cause. No favoritism should be shown in the case of Hobson.

THE ONTARIO ELECTIONS.

The people of the Canadian province of Ontario have decided that they want a continuance of the Ross administration. The election took place on Thursday and the results are already known: the liberals won by a majority of six. The Ross government has been in power since 1898, and the Liberal party has had an uninterrupted reign of thirty years in Ontario provincial affairs. One of the chief campaign arguments of the Whitney party was that it is time to give another party a chance. The leaders were worthy of each other's steel. Hon. George W. Ross has been for years the power that has staved off Liberal defeat. He is a splendid speaker and has behind him the power of the Dominion government with its immense patronage. J. P. Whitney, from being editor of a little country weekly, has risen to the foremost position in his party in the Ontario house.

The Conservatives attacked the record of the Liberal government on several important grounds. Among these were the debt increase of $5,800,000; the promise of something like $7,000,000 to railway promoters; the sacrifice of 6,500,000 acres of land to railway companies without adequate return; the virtual gift of 15,000 square miles of pulp limits to friends of the administration, without open tenders; waste in the expenditure of public money; and election corruption which the government never sought to punish. The prohibition question also played some part in the Ontario campaign. Hon. G. W. Ross has always been regarded as a prohibitionist, but his program for putting such a law upon the statute books is regarded by temperance men as a roundabout way of killing prohibition. Mr. Whitney is generally regarded as for high license and strict restrictions.

In spite of the strong fight of the Conservatives on the points above mentioned, the people have decided to continue the Ross government, for the present at least.

EXTRAVAGANT PROJECTS.

Members of the house of representatives seem to be growing a little uneasy, first, over their salaries, and, secondly, over the lack of office accommodations furnished to the honorable members of the lower body of congress. Dispatches from Washington say they will make a strong effort to better their conditions. The dispatches say, further, that Page Morris will introduce a bill providing for the increase of the pay of representatives and senators, from $5000 to $7000, and will provide that this change shall take effect on March 3, 1903. Mr. Morris, it is said, has been selected to perform this task because the move can be made with good grace by him as he is to retire at the close of the present session.

Two projects are under consideration in relation to more office room for congressmen. One of these is to add the building to the central portion of the capitol. Another is to erect a separate building. At the present time only the chairmen of committees have offices in the capitol. In the senate side quite the contrary is the case. There the choicest offices and those most beautifully decorated and closest to the senate chamber are reserved for the chairmen of the important committees. Across the broad capitol grounds the senate has rented a large five-story building, and there the Democratic senators and the new senators who have not secured desirable committee places have their offices. It is the wish of representatives to have their own membership as well provided for. Pressure will be brought to bear upon the speaker to secure consideration for both of the measures indicated. Even so conservative a representative and so jealous a guardian of the public treasury as Mr. Cannon believes the offices should be provided for representatives. It would perhaps be too much to say that those who are to push bills hope for complete legislation at the present session. They will, however, seek by their agitation next week to create favorable sentiment for both propositions with a view to future results.

Both of these schemes are unnecessary and should be frowned upon. If the congressmen do not like their salaries let them resign. There are men of equal or more ability who are willing to serve their country for $5000 a year. As for the office proposition, if a start should be once made there is no knowing when congressmen would want the government to furnish them with homes. Both methods should be choked off at once.

A TURKISH REVIVAL.

It is rather surprising to learn that there are signs of a real literary revival in Turkey. In the current Forum, Dr. Henry Otis Dwight says that after looking through the literature in the Constantinople book shops, which is not written in a genuine living language, one does not fail to believe that a revival of literature is certainly impending in Turkey. Possibly even bystanders may find means of fostering its development. Where, as in that country, writers have not knowledge adequate to their equipment, and are still groping for subjects harmonizing with the needs of the people, such a revival of literature must be greatly influenced from abroad. The modern book shops of Constantinople contain many French works. They offer in Greek numbers of works from the best publishers in Athens. In Armenian they give to those who can master the musty monkish dialect and pay the rather heavy cost a considerable series of useful books from the Armenian monastery presses of Venice and Vienna. The American mission at Constantinople, too, publishes some works that are widely read. It does not limit its attention to religious works, but issues school books, and, so far as its rather limited means allow, books of general interest. It is a warm ally of all who strive for a literary style intelligible to the common people; and the weight of its influence is considerable, since it uses as far as possible the talents of native authors, and has unequalled facilities for bringing its publications before the people of every province in the empire.

The literary revival is still "impending" only. The intellectual fate of the young people taught to read, the ideas that will rule the rising generation, the form of culture chosen by the young writers who seek to prepare themselves for their work, and, in short, the elevation and growth of the whole nation seem largely to depend upon what new books these people absorb while groping their way into ability for moulding thought. Of course, the ultimate shaping of their destiny must rest with themselves. Natives of the country will lead, for good or for ill. But, as Dr. Dwight says, it is a point for interesting study that, for a time, the shaping of the development of a new literature in Turkey is in the hands of any men of any nation who know the needs of the people of Turkey, and who know how to make books which will fill those needs in a language understood by the commonest of the people.

CIVIL WAR BATTLES.

A reader of The Herald has written for information. He says that he and a friend were talking over scenes on the battlefields, and during the course of the conversation became engaged in an argument as to the most number of soldiers killed in any one engagement during the civil war, including both Union and Confederate.

At the battle of Gettysburg, lasting three days, the Union losses were 23,186 and the Confederate loss was estimated at 30,000. These figures include the killed, wounded and missing.

At Chickamauga the Union forces lost 16,326 and the Confederates 20,500.

At the two days' battle of the Wilderness the Union losses were 18,000 and the Confederate losses reached a total of 11,000.

EVILS OF ASPHALTISM.

Apropos of the movement on the part of some property-owners to have East Superior street paved with asphalt, the experience of other cities is worthy of careful study. The Herald has quoted the experience of several places where asphalt has proved a failure, and now the Des Moines News comes to hand with a story of how Sioux City has been caught in the tentacles of the asphalt trust, and is suffering all the evils of asphaltism.

It is stated that there are gaping holes in the asphalt paving of the Sioux City streets and transit over it is torturing. It is beyond repair. The only thing that will suffice is resurfacing. But when application is made to the company to make good, the city is blandly informed, "Read your contract." A clause of that contract reads, "Resurfacing shall not be demanded unless the sruface shows wear to the extent of one-fourth of its thickness." The company says the wear does not show one-fourth. It is right. The pavement has disintegrated. And the company does not guarantee against disintegration.

In short, the whole pavement may be full of holes and gullies, into which asphalt is easily cut, and be entirely impassable, and if a couple of rods at one end do not show a wear of one-half of an inch of the two-inch surface, the city has no recourse. Asphalt contracts are peculiar, as many cities have learned.

In St. Paul they have found it impossible to compel the asphalt companies to repair the streets that have disintegrated and are now full of holes. Ten per cent of the price for laying the pavement was reserved to guarantee repairs for a certain number of years, but as this sum is insufficient to put the pavement in good shape, and the contractors refuse to fulfill their agreement, the city finds it necessary to take money from the general fund to perform the work. Why should not Duluth profit by these experiences?

A story about the late William M. Evarts, which is believed new to print, is told by Adrian H. Joline in his "Meditations of an Autograph Collector," just published. It is that on one of his later anniversaries Senator Hoar wrote to Evarts, congratulating him on his length of years, and the old lawyer replied that he reminded himself of the old lady who, arriving at her 13th page, asked her correspondent: "Please excuse my longevity."

Senator Mitchell, of Oregon, is a diplomat. The other day he invited the whole senate to enjoy a big Oregon salmon with him at the senate restaurant, and the invitation was accepted. A half hour later the senators again took up the affairs of state. Senator Mitchell said there was a little bill on the calendar he would like to have passed. The bill provided for an assay office at Portland, Ore. The bill was read and passed without a word of comment.

Some mean correspondent sends word from The Hague that Queen Wilhelmina eats too much. When in health, he says, she eats six meals a day, and he avers that she possesses an inordinate fondness for sweets and rich foods, both solid and liquid. Her physicians think, he says, that this is one reason for the severity of her recent illness. This sounds very much like lese majeste.

Once more "Bill" Brown, one of the most renowned Populist chiefs in Kansas, is a candidate for the legislature. Four or five years ago, when he was chairman of the committee on railroads in the state assembly, he won fame by this remark in reference to a road in Pratt county: "Mr. Chairman, the road ain't got no terminal at ary end."

The delegates to the Ohio convention apparently regarded Mr. Hanna's candidacy for the presidential nomination as a settled matter.

Historic traditions are being rapidly destroyed. The cry of Combronne at Waterloo was not what Victor Hugo said it was. And now it is said when Ethan Allen captured Ticonderoga he did not demand surrender in the name of Jehovah and the continental congress, but said: "Get out of that, you old rat!"

The movement among the real estate agents in Minneapolis to remove the "For Sale" signs from vacant lots in the city should be followed in Duluth. The signs are very unsightly and it is questionable whether they are of any value as advertisements.

The additional tax upon bank checks proposed by the British chancellor of the exchequer for war purposes has been abandoned, but the tax on the bread of the poor is evidently to remain a part of the imperialistic budget. It may carry the Tory government down to defeat.

About the only way Delaware can secure representation in the United States senate is by electing a Democratic legislature. "Gasman" Addicks still demands "complete surrender" by his Republican opponents.

And it is said that President Roosevelt carries a loaded revolver when he goes riding. Cranks should beware, as he knows how to use it.

Mrs. Herman Oelrich's parrot died and was given a grand funeral a few days ago, and Newport society was deeply stirred.

The St. Joe News thinks it was Hopkins choice when Charles Hopkins, an Iowa boy of 18 years, married a woman of 64.

The large sums of money spent by Americans attending the coronation ceremonies will help the Englishmen to pay the war expenses.

The result of the state election in Oregon next Monday will be awaited with interest. Indications favor the Republicans.

Andrew Carnegie has been made an honorary member of the London Plumbers' guild. How does he expect to die poor now?

Tom Johnson and Mark Hanna both live in Cleveland, and it would be an odd state of affairs if they were opposing presidential candidates.

Perhaps when Cuba gets deeply into debt, she will apply for admission to the Union.

If it be true that "May showers bring June roses," Duluth should have plenty of roses next month.

The age of billion-dollar congresses has passed away, and now two-billion-dollar congresses are the thing.

A white man was lynched in Missouri recently. Negroes must be getting scarce.

THE GRADUATION ESSAY.

Saturday Evening Post: The school graduation essay is at our doors. Worse than this, the joke of the newspaper humorist concerning the school graduation essay is already beginning to be sounded.

The burden of the humorist's complaint is that the young men and women in their essays attack problems which are beyond them. True. But it is well to attack problems which are beyond us. Aim high, says the seer. Hitch your wagon to a star, says the other seer. The graduating young man who writes of the Mystery of Human Existence need not be made the subject of ridicule even though he may not entirely clear up the mystery. Would the humorist have him write on "Stock Watering as a Money-Making Investment? Return, Oh, humorist, to your plumber's bill pleasantry and your lost-umbrella joke. The world is too much with us; getting and spending we lay waste our powers.

To the thoughtful observer the subject chosen by the young man leaving the high school or academy seems of much less importance than the way he handles it. If he puts his thoughts in good English, and delivers them clearly and frankly, let us not inquire too closely as to the newness on the strict value of the ideas. He stands a better chance after he leaves school of acquiring ideas of worth than he will of picking up a flexible command of his mother tongue.

SECULAR SHOTS AT PULPIT

Somerville Journal: The New Jersey minister who says that all the women will go to heaven and all the men to the other place, is a man, isn't he?

St. Louis Globe-Democrat: Notwithstanding the troubles in China and the kidnaping of Miss Stone, the Presbyterian board of missions collected more money last year than ever before.

St. Louis Post: The opinion of a clergyman that the earthquakes are the death throes of satan is encouraging. It is to be regretted, however, that the old rebel has been so long in dying. Earthquakes have been known for thousands of years.

Washington Post: We all along felt that the Southern Methodists would effect some arrangement with their consciences which would enable them to accept the money which was secured from the government by the aid of professional lobbyists and rather worldly methods.

Baltimore American: The death of the young theological student who was refused a license to preach because he cast doubt on the authenticity of Adam and Eve, and who was said to have had his end hastened by worry in consequence, shows that the capacity of our first parents for trouble-making was not buried with them.

Boston Transcript: It is made a matter of news that two pews in one of the most fashionable and wealthy Washington churches were recently sold for $2750 and $1600 respectively. When we compare this with the $75,000 paid for a seat in the New York stock exchange it shows where the most people are looking for their treasure.

Chicago Chronicle: Is there any fabrication so silly that it will not be believed by some one? Here we have a clergyman of Pontiac, Ill., assuring the Presbyterian general assembly that Chicago saloonkeepers maintain a sort of alcoholic kindergarten where children are fed "doctored" candy so that they may acquire a taste for liquor. What must be the intelligence of a man who will credit such a story and who will assume responsibility for it by retailing it before a distinguished gathering?

Mortal Peril of Flying.

Portland Oregonian: "It ain't such a thundering slight of fun when you come to light," was Darius Green's only objection to flying, and the pertinence of the observation has never been surpassed even in these days of airships. The one unconquerable thing that stands in the way of aerial navigation is the mortal peril of the occasional accident.

Give the Child a Chance.

Chicago Post: It is proposed to have the age limit of pupils in our public schools changed from 6 to 4 years. The next suggestion will probably be that the children be permitted to be born in school. Is a child to have no time to be a child? Is its formal education everything. The real trouble is that most children are sent to the public schools too soon.

Love Me, Love My Dog.

Washington Post: Perhaps the mighty Crumshell will insist upon the European officials showing Potts the deference due real heroes. It is almost a personal matter with Crumshell.

He Doesn't Have It Long.

Nashville American: An honest man has no business in Wall street, says John W. Gates.

A Soothing Poultice.

Saturday Evening Post: When in doubt try to calculate how much greater the other fellow's troubles are than your own.

DOMESTIC PLEASANTRIES.

Detroit Free Press: R. U. Wright—They say Miss Antique has a past.

Miss Cutting—Yes, but she denies about fifteen years of it.

Brooklyn Life: He—It seems strange I should be so much in love with you, when three weeks ago we hadn't met.

She—Oh, it often happens that way.

Philadelphia Press: Mother—How often have I told you not to allow that young man to kiss you?

Daughter—I don't know, ma, but certainly not as often as he has kissed me.

Somerville Journal: Kate—Dolly says Jack kissed her last night.

Laura—She does, does she? Well, she must have asked him to.

Chicago Post: "I want your daughter," said the young man aggressively.

The old man was shrewd.

"Have you got her?" he asked.

"I have."

"Then take her."

Washington Star: "Suppose I were an absolutely perfect woman," she remarked sharply. "Do you know what you'd do then?"

"No," answered her husband. "What?"

"You'd growl because you had nothing to growl about."

Philadelphia Catholic Standard: "Want to marry my daughter, eh?" said the old gentleman. "Ain't you the fellow that was talkin' of goin' on the stage?"

"Well, yes, I did think of appearing before the footlights if—"

"Young man," said the old gentleman, rising menacingly, "you'd better start disappearing before the foot lights."

Detroit Free Press: Mr. Mack—If I find an eligible young man what shall I tell him about you, Miss Amy?

Miss Amy—Oh, tell him I'm very accomplished and agreeable—tell him you saw me running a lawn mower.

MAY AND JUNE.

I.

May comes, day comes,
One who was away comes;
All the earth is glad again,
Kind and fair to me.

May comes, day comes,
One who was away comes;
Set his place at hearth and board
As they used to be.

May comes, day comes,
One was was away comes;
Higher are the hills of home,
Bluer is the sea.

II.

June comes, and the moon comes
Out of the curving sea,
Like a frail golden bubble,
To hang in the lilac tree.

June comes, and a croon comes,
Up from the old gray sea,
But not the longed-for footstep
And the voice at the door for me.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

New York Press: Vanity is food, drink and clothes to some people.

You can always tell a married man by the way he wonders why other men are.

The man who boasts that he cannot be flattered is flattering himself when he says it.

Most men who only keept from sliding down the ladder of fame imagine they are making successes.

No matter how shallow a man is he may pass for a deep pool if he can keep people from throwing in pebbles to sound it.

Origin of a Famous Expression.

Portland Oregonian: "My dastard uncle," said Hamlet, "has killed my father. Let me consider a suitable punishment."

Just at that moment a 10, 20 and 30 actor came out of the stage door of the theater across the street and hastened toward a neighboring sandwich parlor.

"Aha!" muttered the astute prince. "I'll make him sit through a melodrama!" and suiting the action to the word he proceeded to prepare for the wretched king the most horrible torture known.

It was the dramatic critic who wrote the show notice of that performance who originated the expression, "There's something rotten in Denmark."

Exactions of the Coal Trust.

Chicago News: The atrocities committed by the coal roads not only against the consumer of coal, but against the independent mine owner are endurable only because there has been no escape from them. Robbery by excessive freight rates, a hard and fast combination by which the price of coal is fixed arbitrarily without regard to the laws of trade and all the other abominations that go with the workings of a bandit trust have been revealed by the testimony presented to the industrial commission. They are, indeed, matters of common knowledge and common experience. It is this grab-all trust that works the miners at starvation wages and refuses to consider their reasonable requests. It is the capsheaf of trust criminality, the most conspicuous of all the robber combines. It is impossible that the government can continue to let this trust enjoy fair weather. The anthracite coal road outrage calls for prompt and effective treatment and cannot be ignored our put aside for attention at some time later. It should be attacked at once.

A Ping Pong Parody.

I cannot ping the old pongs,
I pung six months ago.
For Tendosynovitis has
O'erwhelmed me with its woe.
To serve at all I cannot, and it fills me
with such pain,
I cannot ping the old pongs,
Perhaps may not ping again.

I cannot ping the old pongs
Without a ping or two.
My shinbone muscles all are swelled,
I know not what to do.
And tho' I'd dearly love to play the dear girl just one game,
I cannot ping the old pongs,
My working leg is lame.

I cannot ping the old pongs,
But visions come again
Of bisque balls swiftly flying,
Of friends almost insane,
Who, when these earthly fetters shall have set their spirits free,
Will sit on clouds ping-ponging
To all eternity.

Familiarity With Ancients.

San Francisco Call: Senator Dolliver recently referred in debate to an authority whom he called "Ed Burke" and it took the grave senators fully fifteen minutes to catch on to the fact that he was talking about Edmund Burke.

DR PRICE'S cream BAKING POWDER

Good health depends mostly upon the food we eat.

We can't be healthy if we take alum or other poison daily in our food.

Dr. Price's Baking Powder is absolutely free from alum. It is made from pure cream of tartar and adds to the healthfulness of the food.

NOTE.—Alum baking powders induce dyspepsia, liver complaint and kidney trouble. Alum may not kill, but undermines the health, and ill health makes life miserable.

Fables By George Ade

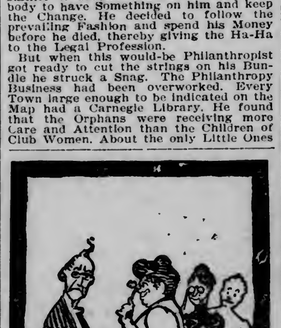
(Copyright, 1902, by R. H. Russell.)

Once there was a Multi-Millionaire who felt jealous when he saw Carnegie throwing $20 Gold Pieces at the Squirrels, while Coal-Oil Johnny Rockefeller was handing his pet University another Million every time a new Student came in out of the Tall Grass and Matriculated.

He saw that a Very Rich man who wishes to be Respected must fill his Clothes with Currency and go out and slather it around and holler for everybody to have Something on him and keep the Change. He decided to follow the prevailing Fashion and spend his Money before he died, thereby giving the Ha-Ha to the Legal Profession.

But when this would-be Philanthropist got ready to cut the strings on his Bundle he struck a Snag. The Philanthropy Business had been overworked. Every Town large enough to be indicated on the Map had a Carnegie Library. He found that the Orphans were receiving more Care and Attention than the Children of Club Women. About the only Little Ones who got into the Country in the Summer were the Homeless Waifs. As for Colleges, they had multiplied so rapidly that all through the Middle West it was practically impossible to get Harvest Hands. The Poor Workingman showed no inclination to go against the Free Reading Room and the Cheap Lectures on Astronomy, for he had the Price in his Pocket and preferred to play Seventy-Seven in some German Place where they served a Hot Lunch.



STUDIED SOCIAL CONDITIONS.

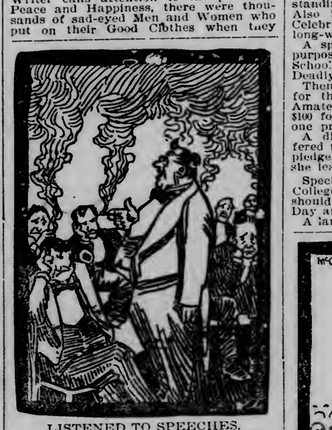
It began to look as though the Benevolent Millionaire would have to burn his Money or else leave it to the usual Nephew who lived on High Balls and Musical Comedy.

"Surely there is Suffering somewhere in this World," said the perplexed Millionaire. "Some one is waiting for a Helping Hand. Now to find him."

He began a careful Study of Social Conditions and soon discovered that the real Sufferer, the mute and patient Victim who was getting the Hooks oftener than any one else, was the Gentleman who wore the High Collar and carried in his Hip-Pocket a little Work on Etiquette and Good Behavior.

The poor Reptile whose Wife got up in the Morning and grabbed the Paper to see if the Family was mentioned, he was the banner Patsy of all Creation and he was the Boy that was praying for some one to come along and throw him a Life-Line.

By further investigation the Multi-Millionaire was horrified to learn that here in this smiling Land of Plenty, where the Roses bloom in June and the Editorial Writer calls attention to the prevalent Peace and Happiness, there were thousands of sad-eyed Men and Women who put on their Good Clothes when they would rather not do so, who went out when they would rather stay at Home, who Ate when they were not hungry, Drank when they were not Thirsty, Conversed by the hour with People who bored them, listened to Speeches they did not want to hear, Whooped it up for Amateur Performances when they were absolutely punk, applauded Vocal Music that was too fierce for words, fondled the Infants that they wanted to throttle and read Historical Romances that caused them to have Charley-Horse Dreams.



LISTENED TO SPEECHES.

"Oh, why should we send Relief Ships to Martinique when there is so much Misery right here in our principal Residence Streets?" asked the philanthropic Millionaire.

So he founded and endowed a Society for the Relief of those who are Invited Out. The Purpose of this glorious Organization was to prove that Entertainments should entertain.

As the first Move, the Benefactor invited all the well-known Citizens to a Formal Dinner in honor of a Statesman who wore Medals for talking against Time. All the Local Orators who were accustomed to paying for their Plates by telling the same Stories that used to go so well in the Birch and Backus Days were up at the Head Table. A feeling of Sadness seemed to brood over the large Assemblage until it was discovered that in front of each Plate was a Card saying that anyone attempting to make a Speech would be thrown out on his Neck. Three or four of the Spell-Binders were temporarily stunned, but the Main Bunch laid their Faces down among the Cut Flowers and wept for Joy. The Dinner proceeded with tremendous Enthusiasm. There were no dark clouds on the Horizon, threatening a Wind-Storm. No one was wondering how long the Mayor or the Congressman was going to Spout or whether they had Manuscripts concealed on their Persons. The Orchestra played Coon Songs without any Interruption from the Chairman. No one said anything about the Feast of Reason and the Flow of Soul. The Man with the Megaphone Voice cut no Ice whatsoever for they had him sewed up. Every one went home feeling good.

Next day no less than forty grateful Persons stopped the Reformer on the street and bade him Godspeed in his Noble Work.

The next Thing the Society did was to offer a Cash Bonus to anyone giving a Reception at which there would be no standing in Line and shaking Hands. Also it offered annual Salaries to all Celebrities who refrained from reading long-winded Paper to helpless Clubs.

A special Fund was set aside for the purpose of having Children in the Public Schools taught, by means of Charts, the Deadly Effects of the Lap Supper.

Then the Society offered a Bounty of $2 for the Scalp of any Person guilty of Amateur Theatricals and a Reward of $100 for the Body, dead or alive, of any one proposing a Lady Minstrel Show.

A diamond-encrusted Brooch was offered to every Young Woman who would pledge herself not to sing anything that she learned at the Conservatory.

Special Endowments were offered to Colleges on condition that Graduates should not be permitted to arise on a Hot Day and quote from Emerson.

A large Sum was set aside to secure the passage of a Law prohibiting the sale of Flutes to any one except a German employed in an Orchestra.

ORATING ON A HOT DAY.

Society Leaders were quietly bribed to circulate the Report that Party Calls were no longer fashionable.

A Hall of Fame was established for Bridal Couples that refused to take Presents and cut out the Reception at the Home of her parents.

Then the Multi-Millionaire inaugurated a Grand Movement for the final Emancipation of those who wear Dress Clothes. He worked on the Legislature to set aside three days in every Week for the private use of those who want to do as they please, without being pulled and hauled. Anyone who broke in on these days with Invitations were liable to prosecution, the Penalty being a Fine or Imprisonment, or both.

By the time this practical Reformer had spent a couple of Millions helping the unfortunate Upper Classes to throw off the Shackles, he was the most popular Character in the Country.

His heroic Example induced many weak and faltering Souls to swear off the Entertainments that had been slowly but surely leading them toward the Foolish House.

After he passed away his Statue was set up in every Park and his Birthday was observed in the Public Schools with a Half-Holiday instead of a program of Recitations and speeches.

GRANDSTAND BURNED.

Structure at Hawthorne Track, Chicago, Destroyed.

Chicago, May 31.—The grand stand at Hawthorne race track was destroyed by fire last evening, half an hour after the last race of the day had been run. Nearly everyone but the employes had left the track and no one was hurt.

The fire started in the cupola of the main building and gradually worked downward, giving ample time for saving the horses in the paddock as well as affording an opportunity for the escape of a few straggiers who occupied the stand. The estimated loss is $75,000.

Before the fire was under control the paddock and betting ring were in ruins. The loss will exceed $100,000.

There still remains seven days of the present meeting and arrangements are being made to transfer the racing to one of the other tracks. New buildings will be erected for the next meeting which commences the latter part of July.

BRIEF TELEGRAMS.

N. E. Graves, a mining man, shot and killed his wife at their home at Salt Lake, Utah, and then fatally shot himself. Graves shot his wife in the head twice, killing her instantly, and then shot himself in the temple. No cause is known. Graves formerly lived in Denver.

While preparing to fire a Decoration day salute at Wichita a gun belonging to Battery A, Kansas state artillery, exploded prematurely, wounding three members of the battery. George Hatter, of Peck, was fatally hurt; Burt Davis, of Wichita, was dangerously wounded, and G. W. Thomas, also of this city, was seriously hurt.

Pat Meagher, the well known steeplechase jockey, was killed Friday at the track at Toronto. He was riding St. Sulphice in the steeplechase and while taking the jump opposite the grand stand his mount fell, Meagher being underneath. The horse rolled over him. Meagher's back was broken.

Miss Alice Hay, daughter of the secretary of state, was thrown from her carriage Friday, owing to the horses being frightened by a passing car, and suffered injuries that were painful, but not serious.

In a signed statement Chancellor E. Benjamin Andrews says he intends to remain with Nebraska university several years, unless the regents decide otherwise or his health fails. The statement follows a report that he had been called to the University of Wisconsin and might accept.

Miss Bessie P. Ware has been acquitted on a charge of murdering her divorced husband, John D. Ware, who was a prominent business man at Boston. He was shot and killed in his room in June last.

The three men who were wounded in a fight with officers at Yankton, are believed to be members of a gang which has been robbing South Dakota banks. A supply of burglars' tools was found in their possession.

Earl Bradt, of Sparta, won the interscholastic championship at Madison with a recitation entitled "The Convict's Soliloquy." Miss Laura Rich, of Princeton, was second; Miss Euretta Kimball, of Janesville, third, and Miss Marjorie Roberts, of Milwaukee, fourth. Fifteen high schools were represented.

An unconfirmed report from Edmonton says that forty Galician immigrants, who were storm-stayed at Edmonton, started for Victoria, eighty-five miles down the Saskatchewan river, on a raft. About twenty miles below Edmonton the raft capsized and twelve of the immigrants were drowned.

PULLED

From Automobile After Paying No Attention to Mishap.

New York, May 31.—Edward Copeland Wallace, a millionaire iron merchant of this city, was dragged out of his automobile by the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Lovatt, of Spring Valley, Rockland county. Just outside of Nyack the automobile so frightened a spirited horse behind which were Mr. and Mrs. Lovatt, that it bolted, throwing them both out. Mrs. Lovatt's left arm was broken and she was so bruised and shaken up that her condition is serious.

Wallace paid no attention to the Lovatts after they had been thrown from their road wagon, but went whizzing on at great speed. Lovatt telephoned ahead and Wallace was stopped several times. He said the accident was a trifling one and was allowed to pass on.

Then Lovatt called up his son's house, which is next to his own at Spring Valley. He told his son John that his mother, perhaps was dying, as the result of the accident. John said the automobile would not pass him. He got a farm hand and, between them, they built a barricade of beams, boxes and barrels across the turnpike.

Leaving the farm hand to guard the pass, John went down the road to await the enemy. When the machine came rushing along young Lovatt stood in the middle of the road and shouted to stop. The machine kept right along and Lovatt made a flying leap over the dashboard and grabbed Mr. Wallace by the throat. As the machine slowed up he dragged his prisoner to the ground, and then after the tussel had ended in favor of the younger man, Mr. Wallace was marched to the house, where the farm hand guarded him while Lovatt sent for the authorities.

Mr. Wallace said he regretted the accident exceedingly, and that he had stopped when signaled. Mr. Lovatt excitedly denied this, and Judge Fisher held the automobile owner on two charges, exceeding the speed limit and refusing to stop when signaled by a man driving.

BALLOONIST MEETS DEATH.

Kingston, N. Y., May 31.—Harry Hicks, an aeronaut, was killed at a summer resort near here yesterday. He had been engaged to make daily balloon ascensions, and this afternoon was booked for his first exhibition. When the balloon had reached an altitude of about 3000 feet, Hicks commenced the descent by means of a parachute, going slowly to about 800 feet above the Hudson river. For some reason he lost his hold and fell, striking his head on a sandbar in the river. Hicks was a nephew of Charles Kabrick, well known as a balloonist.

The Whirl Of Politics

The appointment of Mrs. G. Fred Stevens as surveyor general of logs and lumber for the Duluth district, to succeed her late husband, is characterized in Duluth as one of the nicest things the governor ever did. It is generally looked upon as a particularly graceful and tactful act, and it has met with the complete approbation of all classes, politicians as well as patrons of the office. It is generally conceded that Mrs. Stevens will fill the office most capably and satisfactorily.

• • •

While the governor is generally given the credit for not having done it for political purposes, it is good politics, too. There was every appearance of a nasty little scramble for the office. There were supplicants out hustling for the job on the day that the office became vacant, and it is said that by Saturday night there were ten applications for the position. The way it was settled was something none of these applicants could criticise, whereas if one of them had been appointed doubtless some of the rest of them, at least, would have had knives out for the governor.

Another point is that as the appointment is only for the unexpired term, there is still hope for others. They can get out and hustle for the governor, and if he is elected they may indulge themselves in the hope that they will be rewarded for their faithful labors in his behalf by the appointment for the next term. All of which makes a tidy little lot of political capital for the gentleman from Winona.

• • •

Anybody that thinks the candidacy of Jesse L. Jellison, of Cohasset, for the Republican congressional nomination is a joke might just as well disabuse their minds of that idea, for it is very much mistaken. As an evidence of good faith, the Cohasset statesman has deposited with the secretary of state his certificate of candidacy, and he has accompanied it by the proper amount of money, which removes the matter very far from a joke—to Mr. Jellison. He has also been negotiating for the use of the Armory in Duluth for a political speech on that popular topic, "The Issues of the Day."

• • •

So now there is company to cheer the heretofore lonely way of J. Adam Bede, who seemed doomed to have the field all to himself in the Eighth district. Mr. Bede has not ceased to campaign, and seriously, of course the Jellison candidacy is not looked upon as important by anybody but Mr. J. So now that there is hardly any possibility of there being any other candidate, and a pretty clear certainty that even if there should be any other candidate he would have to spend all his money before the primaries, because he would get no chance to liquidate after it, the Bede outlook is particularly rosy and pleasant.

• • •

The Halden campaign for the Republican nomination for state auditor is progressing well. This week Mr. Halden issued a circular that is being sent to voters throughout the state, in which he shows the stand he has taken as auditor of St. Louis county on the taxation of iron mines. A number of papers and politicians in the southwestern portion of the state have abandoned Sam Iverson and jumped to the support of the gentleman from Lac Qui Parle within a short time. This is a clear advantage to Halden, for the fight is likely to be confined pretty well to Iverson and Halden, and support that Jacobson gets away from Iverson is a gain for Halden.

• • •

The Democratic county committee met Wednesday evening at the St. Louis hotel and fixed upon June 19 as the date for the primaries at which delegates will be selected to the county convention that will meet June 21 and select forty-five delegates to the state convention that will meet June 25 and nominate a set of state officers. It will also scrape together about all the available platform material, forcing the Republican convention up against the crime of plagiarism.

• • •

Editor H. G. Hays, of the Sleepy Eye Dispatch, spent some little time in Duluth recently as a juror in United States court, and when he went back home he wrote some very readable sketches of life in the Zenith City. He also penned this pointed paragraph on the St. Louis county candidate for the state auditorship:

"If the Republicans of the state do the right thing by Duluth—give Odin Halden the nomination for state auditor—they will do a whole lot towards electing the ticket. Duluth wants Halden nominated and that great city and county deserve something. Enthusiastic support of the ticket in that city and county means 5000 more Republican votes all along the line, and this enthusiasm is guaranteed by Halden's friends. Don't make the mistake of giving everything to the south at all times. The north will not stand for it."

• • •

The Aitkin Independent, in chronicling a recent visit of Odin Halden to Aitkin, said rightly that:

"This end of the state is especially friendly toward Mr. Halden, who is regarded as the Northern Minnesota candidate and one with the demonstrated ability to fill the position with honor."

• • •

The Aitkin Republican breezily sums up the congressional situation as follows:

"We have never heard of J. Adam Bede being an adept at the game called 'poker,' but he seems to be a pastmaster of 'freeze-out.' He has frozen out all the embryo candidates for congress. As the Brainerd Tribune remarked, 'we are glad of it.'"

• • •

The Eveleth Star hopefully remarks that:

"There is a disposition among the Republicans at Duluth to do the right thing with the range Republicans this year."

"The iron ranges have kept by their Republican vote, the county and district in the Republican column since 1896. And yet Duluth has not shown any too generous a spirit toward the ranges."

• • •

The Star also says that "politics are taking a lull and the people are not displeased." They is not.

• • •

Ole Mauston, of Aitkin, is another possibility in the Fifty-second district senatorial contest, and the Carlton County Vidette reports that he has been at Carlton sizing up his chances.

• • •

In denying that it had announced the candidacy of W. W. Shulean for the legislature in the Isanti-Anoka-Mille Lacs-Sherburne district, the Cambridge Press very frankly says:

"Mr. Shulean may or may not be a candidate, but no announcement of his intentions has been made in these columns and it is not likely to be until the usual fee of $5 is forthcoming. No advertising in that line goes in this campaign without cash. If any of our readers see the transcendent merits of local candidates for political honors lucidly set forth in these columns at any time before the primary elections in September, they may rest assured that the said hungerer for office has paid for his advertisement. If any such man should not care to use the columns of the Press for this purpose, he has the alternative of personally visiting every voter and of telling him that he is running for office."

• • •

A "well known" Duluth politician, in talking with the Virginian, stated that he did not think a range man would be able to get a county nomination this year, and gave his reasons as follows:

"The great trouble with you people up there is," he said, "that you cannot agree among yourselves what you want. Each town on the range wants to furnish a candidate. If all got the nomination, of course, Duluth politicians would be left out in the cold, and their health would not permit that. We are willing to give two offices to the ranges, and if you people can get together and give united support to your candidates there will be no occasion for this talk about the ranges not having proper representation. As it is, however, you get to fighting among yourselves and Duluth candidates carry off the plums."

• • •

The Aitkin Independent rises to inquire:

"Gee whiz—where does Roland Hartley live, anyway? A few weeks ago he was talked of as a senator from Cass Lake, and now he is a possibility for the mayoralty of Minneapolis."

• • •

The Eveleth Star promises that the iron ranges will roll up a much larger Republican vote this year than the city of Duluth.

• • •

The latest name mentioned for the Republican nomination for congress in the Eighth district is that of Capt. Alexander McDougall. Capt. McDougall, because of his familiarity with the needs of the lake marine and his acquaintance in Washington, would be peculiarly well fitted to go to congress from this district, his friends say, but it is doubtful if he could be prevailed upon to run.

There is ample evidence that the people who have been looking for a candidate to oppose J. Adam Bede have not relaxed their efforts. F. E. Sarle, who was mentioned by the St. Paul Globe as a perspective candidate, returned to Duluth yesterday and announced that he was not a candidate. It is known, however, that he had the matter under consideration, and that he has taken some pains to look the ground over. The statement from him that he is not a candidate would indicate that he had not found so much encouragement as he expected.

The opposition to Bede is still working, and there are other names under consideration. It is beginning to look as though there would still be a Duluth candidate in the field, according to the intimations that members of the opposition are dropping.

• • •

Says the Grand Rapids Magnet:

"O. Halden, Northern Minnesota's candidate for state auditor, is receiving encouragement every day, and not alone from this section of the state. Many of our exchanges from the more southern parts speak very favorably of him."

• • •

"Cards are out," as the society editor would say, announcing the candidacy of W. W. Butchart for the Republican nomination for sheriff. They bear the fair, round visage of the former sheriff.

Odin Halden, Northern Minnesota's candidate for state auditor, has also issued a neat card bearing his photograph on one side. On the other there is a table giving the representation in the state Republican convention from each county of the state.

A Healthy and Sound Body Will Enable Us to Battle Against the Wrongs and Injuries of Our Enemies.

Pain's Celery Compound

Banishes Disease, Establishes Health, and Gives Us Physical Strength to Maintain Our Place In Life's Conflict.

Many of us find life hard and full of pain. While we cannot well avoid the sufferings that result from wrongs and injuries, we can keep ourselves from the pains and ravages of bodily ailments and diseases, and maintain that full measure of health that will enable us to meet the wrongs that assail us from day to day.

If you are run down, fretful, despondent, irritable, sleepless, be assured you are becoming physically impaired and weakened. If the relaxed and sluggish action of the excretory organs has loaded the blood and body with poison, producing headache, rheumatism, neuralgia, kidney and liver troubles, then disease is encircling you in its chains.

Prompt use of Paine's Celery Compound will save the weakened parts of the body from yielding to disease. The great medicine saves weak and enfeebled nerves from prostration, and removes every feeling of exhaustion and despondency. It cures and saves those who are bound by disease and suffering and gives them a new lease of life.

Ex-Alderman Fred G. Brenner, of Troy, N. Y., a popular and esteemed citizen who thanks Paine's Celery Compound for his present rugged good health, writes for the benefit of weak, nervous, and dyspeptic sufferers; he says:—

"For several years I suffered from nervous troubles; I could not sleep well; nerves seemed to be weak; I had dyspepsia, and was all run down. My appetite began to fail me, and I was discouraged. A friend of mine recommended me to take Paine's Celery Compound. I took two bottles and began to feel better, and by the time I had taken four bottles I was a well man. I have to thank Paine's Celery Compound for my rugged good health today."

WORLD OF LABOR

Large Labor Union In the State Just Organized.

It Includes Two Thousand Sawmill Workers of Stillwater.

Strenuous Week For the Duluth Retail Clerks' Union.

Scheduled labor meetings:

Painters and Decorators, Tuesday 18 West Superior street.

Cigarmakers' union meets Wednesday at 18 West Superior street.

Structural Steel Workers Wednesday at 31 West Superior street.

• • •

The largest labor union ever organized in the state of Minnesota, if not the entire Northwest, made application to the State federation yesterday.

The new union consists of 2,000 sawmill employes of Stillwater who recently had difficulty in securing a reduction in their working hours. The men organized under the direction of the State federation organizers and will be represented at the coming convention. It will be the banner union of the state, but even at that is not entitled to more than five delegates in the state convention.

• • •

This has been a strenuous week for the Retail Clerks' union. Its pickets in front of the Van Guard Clothing store have been assaulted and the union has been carrying on an aggressive campaign against clothing stores that fail to keep out of business on Sunday.

E. D. Dickey, a man that properly belongs in the heavy-weight class when it comes to fighting, made a desperate assault on Pat Roach, a representative of the Clerks' union. The big man slipped up behind Roach and knocked him down and only the quick action of the police prevented serious trouble, as several men started after Dickey. He was arrested and fined $7.50. Later he paid another $7.50 for assaulting F. J. Sullivan, another picket.

• • •

It is said the Clerks' union has evidence against some twenty merchants that have been keeping open on Sundays and will soon start prosecutions. Joe Sheehy's campaign in the same direction is in no ways connected with the movement of the clerks and the motives are widely different.

• • •

The dance of the licensed tugmen at the armory on Thursday night was a success in every way. The men forgot all about the tug trust and their grievances, and went in for a good time. They and their friends enjoyed it.

• • •

M. J. Ryan, former grand president of the Licensed Tugmen's association, and father of the organization, was suspended pending an investigation. Mr. Ryan is now local chief engineer of the tug trust.

• • •

The Carpenters' union will elect five delegates to the Rochester convention on Tuesday night.

• • •

W. H. Palmer will represent the cooks and waiters of Duluth at the state convention.

• • •

Thomas Salo, a member of the Molders' union, died Tuesday at the Duluth Red Cross hospital, as the result of an operaion. He was 45 years of age and a very popular man.

• • •

Delegate Smith, of the Plumbers' union, has been chosen to represent the Building Trades council at Rochester.

LABOR NOTES.

Toledo cigarmakers won their demand.

Boston elevator men have the eight-hour day.

The United States produces 29 per cent of the world's coal.

The Canadian Pacific railway trackmen received a raise in wages as a result of arbitration.

All the labor measures before the Massachusetts legislature were killed in the senate last week.

The Flat Janitors' Protective association is to receive a charter from the American Federation of Labor.

Detroit street car men, as a result of an arbitration, were awarded a uniform rate of 28½ cents an hour.

Mrs. C. J. Smith will supervise the construction of the lake channel in the St. Louis fair grounds for her husband.

It is told that the gross membership of the labor organizations who are connected with the American Federation of Labor exceeds 1,000,000.

The electrical workers' employers in the city of Winnipeg have all signed an agreement with the Electrical Workers' union to employ only union men.

Judge Seawell, of San Francisco, has denied the petition of W. A. Cole and the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America for an injunction restraining the Building Trades Council of San Francisco and its members from maintaining an alleged boycott against the plaintiff.

Copies of the union label for woodwork for which state registry has been recently obtained, have been forwarded by the Kings county (N. Y.) district of the Brotherhood of Carpenters to the headquarters of the brotherhood in Philadelphia; with the view of inducing the general executive board to urge general use of the label throughout the United States.

The Bridge and Structural Ironworkers' union have won strikes in Pittsburg, Cleveland, Wheeling, W. Va., and Buffalo. In Pittsburg and Wheeling the ironworkers were receiving 40 cents an hour and working nine hours a day. By winning the strike they now receive 47½ cents an hour, and have the eight-hour day. In Buffalo the increase secured is from 35 to 45 cents an hour, and in Cleveland from 40 to 47½ cents an hour.

The decision rendered by Judge Beattie, of Orange county court at Newburg, N. J., that the eight-hour law is unconstitutional, has aroused the workingmen to fighting pitch, and they have resolved to co-operate with the state commissioner of labor in an effort to have the court of appeals reverse Judge Beattie's ruling, which in substance was that it is unconstitutional for the legislature to arbitrarily limit the length of a day's work.

DULUTH'S NEIGHBORS

VIRGINIA.

Virginia, May 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Mountain Iron baseball boys, decked out in overalls and coats to match came over Sunday afternoon with a fair team of players and were determined to win from the locals. The game was actually the best seen in this city since the days of Isbell and Klein, in 1896, and the score was kept down throughout the game. Harrington, who pitched for the Eveleth nine last year, and Frank Donnelly, of Virginia, and Burke, Vermon and Jenkins for Mountain Iron, constituted the batteries. It was a pitchers' battle and Harrington won. The score stood 6 to 2 in Virginia's favor at the end of the ninth. A return game will be played at the Mountain soon.

At the regular meeting of the local nerie of Eagles Sunday afternoon last, the worthy president, R. Patterson, was presented with a beautiful diamond ring. The ring was made especially for him and is a past president's ensigna.

Herbert Burchell is recovering from his typhoid fever attack and will be out in a few days. At the meeting of the local Maccabees Monday evening it was decided to arrange for a benefit dance for Mr. Burchell, who, owing to much sickness in his family, is in porr circumstances financially. The opera house has been secured and Monday evening next the ball will take place.

CLOQUET.

Cloquet, May 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—The ball game yesterday afternoon between the Blaine high school team from Superior, and the Cloquet boys, was given to the former by a score of 9 to 8. On the seventh inning the score stood 5 to 4 in favor of the home team, when a dispute arose over a decision of the umpire who was cheap right and the Superior boys left the diamond in high dudgeon. However, Professor Cobb, who was playing with the home team, in order to please the patrons of the game, got them back again, and persuaded the umpire to concede his point. The consequence was that Superior won out in the last three innings. But don't make any mistake, our boys play ball.

Thursday was the warmest day of the season. So hot was it, that a man employed by Brooks-Scanlon company died from sunstroke. He was only a few days from the old country, and worked all morning piling lumber. After quitting for dinner he was found unconscious on the way to his boarding house. Dr. Harrington was called and found the temperature 110 degrees and he died shortly after. A HARD STRUGGLE

Many a Duluth man finds the struggle hard—
With a constantly aching back—with distressing urinary trouble—with aches and pains of a dozen different sorts.

Daily existence is simply one long hard fight—
But there's no need to keep it up.
Kidneys are making all the trouble.
They're sick—need help.
Why don't you give it to them.

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

cure sick kidneys—make aching backs well. We don't ask you to take our word for it—Duluth people will tell you that it's true—Duluth people have been cured—are being cured every day. You can't doubt their testimony—It's positive—persistent—It's the testimony of home folks that couldn't be false.

Here's one statement that will interest you:

Mr. M. McLean, of 122 Second street east, first mate of the steamship Bon Voyage, says: "There was a constant dull, aching through the small of my back, over the kidneys. The kidney secretions were unnatural and irregular and too frequent in action. I could not rest well nights and was generaly run down. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills highly recommended that I concluded to try them, and got a box at W. A. Abbett's Drug store. They helped me from the very start and soon freed me from all aches and pains and rendered the action of the kidneys healthy and normal."

TO BLOCK THE SALE

West End Business Men Go After Northern Pacific Again.

Object to Its Purchase of Duluth Transfer Railway.

Several West End Matters Engage the Club's Attention.

Steps have been taken to investigate the legality of the sale of the Duluth Transfer railway to the Northern Pacific company. The matter is now in the hands of the state warehouse and railroad commission and the commission has given assurance that it will be fully investigated.

The initiative in the matter has been taken by President C. O. Nelson, of the Business Men's club of the West End, who has already had correspondence with the state warehouse and railroad commission. The absorption of the belt line was discussed at a meeting of the club last evening and it was the sense of the members that the move is a bad one for the interests of Duluth.

President Nelson's letter was sent the railroad and warehouse commission May 28 and read as follows:

"Enclosed you will find a clipping from last evening's Herald. The Northern Pacific Railway company has blocked all competition and with one move destroyed a system that was supposed to be for the best interests of the shippers of this city and the other railroads that are here now and others that may come here in the future."

Yesterday President Nelson received the following reply:

"Your favor enclosing the clipping regarding the purchase of the belt line by the Northern Pacific railway is received. The same will be taken under advisement by the commission and we will notify you later as to what steps they have any authority in the premises or not."

The letter was signed by C. F. Staples, one of the commissioners. Aside from the general discussion of the transfer by the members of the club, no definite action was taken, it being decided to await the result of the investigation by the commission. In case the commission reports that the sale is illegal under the statute it will be urged that the matter be taken into the courts.

The West End club is also confident that the matter will be taken up by the Duluth Commercial club and by the city council as the Transfer railway is one that will affect the interests of the city at large.

President Nelson says that when he was a member of the city council about ten years ago the promoters of the belt line railroad came before the council with the proposition for the system, setting forth in glowing colors what a benefit it would be to the business interests and the people of Duluth. He says that the council took enough interest in the project to send a committee to Chicago and other cities where there is a belt line in operation to investigate its merits. The committee reported favorably and Duluth got its belt line system.

Little information was to be had at the meeting last evening regarding the ordinance passed by the city council relating to the Nemadji boom, but Secretary R. D. Haven was instructed to look up all of those having any bearing on the matter. Some of the members of the club felt sure that the belt line railway was not granted all its privileges in Duluth without some guarantee that it would always be maintained as a neutral line and not to be absorbed by one of the railroad lines coming into the head of the lakes. Others thought it likely that the promoters of the scheme to get the belt line here in the first place were men who were too shrewd enough to prepare for just such a move as has been made.

There was considerable discussion by the Business Men's club last evening over certain West End abuses. One of the matters discussed was the practice of the lumber companies in that part of the city of piling wood, slabs, wood and lumber along all the West End roadways. It was argued that since the fire limits have been changed the lumber companies have been monopolizing the vacant property along the streets until now it is practically impossible to get people to buy lots and build homes in the West End for the reason that the surrounding premises are being used for a wood or lumber yard. Another complaint made was that the roadways to Lincoln Park, one of the beauty spots of the city, are lined with piles of mill wood and slabs and that they not only present an unsightly appearance but give a bad impression to visitors who are in the city and wish to go to the park.

The sentiment of the West End business men is not antagonistic to the lumber interests of the West End, for their value to that part of the city is fully appreciated, but it was argued that the fire limits should be extended clear to West Duluth, if necessary, in order to keep the piles of wood and lumber within the proper limits.

Complaint was made by several members of the club that there is a certain establishment in the West End where horses are put on sale, that should receive the attention of the humane officer. These members testify that they have witnessed the abuse of horses by people connected with the establishment, until, in one case, interference was necessary. It was also stated that the humane officer has been notified of the case, but that up to the present time, nothing had been done. It was suggested that the abuse be called to the attention of the West End member of the humane society and that he be asked to take steps to have the people who are said to be abusing the animals placed under arrest and prosecuted under the laws provided for such cases.

The club now has its headquarters in the large front room on the second floor of the Normanna building at the corner of Twentieth avenue west and Superior street. The meetings will be held every Friday evening, but the club room will be open every day and, with one or two reservations, every evening during the week and the members of the club will have a place to drop in and visit or discuss matters of mutual interest. Secretary R. D. Haven has opened an office in the room and will be there most of the time. It was suggested that every club member as well as all West End people that have matters of news interest drop in and leave the items with Mr. Haven.

The club is growing steadily in membership and the prospects of its future success are very bright. There are at the present time some twenty-five or thirty prospective members to sign the charter.

Secretary Haven was instructed last evening to send out cards to all members and to all business men that are not members to attend the meeting next Friday evening in order that they may be brought into touch with the methods of the club. All business and professional men and property owners are eligible for membership to the club and the invitation is general whether they are or are not reached by a postal card.

RHEUMATISM

CAN ONLY BE CURED THROUGH THE BLOOD

Your rheumatism is just like all others, and for the same reason that they are not cured, you are not cured. There is only one Guaranteed Cure for rheumatism in the whole world today, and that is MEDERINE. Everything else sold for rheumatism is simply "recommended," while MEDERINE has an absolute, bonafide guarantee that it will do the work quickly and thoroughly and not leave a tinge of it behind. There is no mistake about this, for this company is not giving money away for nothing. MEDERINE acts directly and specifically through the blood, and the blood only. It eliminates every trace of blood impurity, goes right to the seat of the trouble and at once removes the cause. We have hundreds of testimonials on file from people who were cured by MEDERINE after paying enough for other "cures" to buy a farm. The longer you trifle with rheumatism the worse it will be for you, therefore do not delay. Write MEDERINE REMEDY CO., West Superior Wis., for their system of treatment. All letters answered.

High Art In Angling

Pursuit of the Brook Trout—The Things That Make It a Science Dear to the Angler.

Down through the breaks of the mountainside or through the yellowish green woods goes the glass-clear creek on its way to the big river or the great lake, and darting over its shallows or lying hidden in its pools or shouldering up its surface as they rush upon their prey are the brook trout, perhaps the handsomest and certainly one of the most pugnacious of American fish, says the New York Sun.

The waters have been released from the ice-grip and the spring season is in its heyday. Perhaps the angler may get better sport in the sultriness of August; surely no fishing can surpass that which will come to him in early October; but the trout that he catches now will be worth more than all subsequent trout because they are the first after the passage of the long winter months.

Trout will fight harder and seem more beautiful because the angler has been out in the open since the storms of November came. The spring fish is the better fish for the reason that the blue-winged teal—first of all the autumn flyers—is the best-flavored duck in the world, being sauced with long continued duck hunger.

The trout may be taken with the angle worm; in fact, that is often a killing bait. If found when hoeing upon gravelly shallow water it may even be tickled and lifted into the basket, though the number of men who have done this or seen it done is small. But first of all and above all the manner of taking trout is with the fly.

In himself the brook trout is not the most valuable of our game fishes. One that weighs a pound will not display the savagery nor afford the sport of a four-pound red-eyed bass. But the trout is associated more directly with fly fishing and is correspondingly valued, because fly-fishing is the most scientific of all fishing.

Expertness in this form of the craft is the ultimate goal of every ambitious angler. He begins with a bent pin and thread when a small boy; he goes from the pin to the hook and float and line; he goes from still fishing to bait-casting with a short stiff rod and a frog or minnow on the hook; he goes from bait casting to fly-casting.

Once he has joined the great brotherhood of the fly he remains of the caste until he dies, and he progresses only along the line of excellence in that art. He may still take excursions into bassdom with a bait rod; he may troll for blue-fish when the cat-boat leans far down and the rail slices the white caps like a knife; he may squat in the shade and catch crappies for the pan, but these are merely excursions into other provinces of anglerdom; he returns in a little while to the long limber rod and the cobweb line and the gaudy filling of tinsel and feathers which he calls a fly. Once a fly fisher always a fly fisher, and he is not really happy as anything else.

The sport is absorbing and relentless in its grasp upon the mind, for of all forms of fish-luring it gives most room for individual skill, invention and perfection. Into it the personal equation most largely enters.

It is to angling what whist is to cards, what Shakespeare, or the Bible, is to literature. A man may have spent thirty consecutive spring and autumn seasons in casting the fly, yet on his thirty-first he will see something new and learn something new.

Its surprises are inexhaustible and it has no rule that may not be broken with profit occasionally. There is, for instance, the dictum that on dark days bright-colored lures should be used and on bright days only the sober drabs, grays and browns will prove effective. Yet every angler of standing can recall days when the sunlight flashed on the water and only the red blue, green and yellow monstrosity known as the Parmechance Belle would prove effective and, per contra, days that were dark and dreary when the Dusty Miller almost matched the water in hue and killed trout after trout.

From this comes the fact that the longer a man is a trout fisher and the wider his experience the more willing he is to acknowledge that he knows little about it and is still trying to learn.

The sport is a sport in the highest sense of the term because it calls for the exercise of all the qualities which go to make up the sportsman. The successful man must be intelligent, patient, enduring, good-tempered, industrious and in the highest degree skillful, woodwise, weatherwise and waterwise.

He must know where the trout are and what will tempt them; he must know the false strike from the true. He must know exactly the moment when the barb should be sent in. He must know the inner lining of the trout's mouth and how much strain it will stand ere the sharp hook tears from its hold.

He must know how to direct the struggle so that sharp rocks and brushwood will be avoided. He must know how to give and take line while maintaining a taut line. He must know just what his tackle will stand. He must know how to make the current fight with him, instead of against him. He must know dozens of other things each of them separate from the mere knowing how to make a cast.

That, indeed, is the simplest part of fly fishing, and a reasonable mastery of it may be acquired by any well-muscled man who is willing to keep on trying in spite of repeated failure.

The outfit is cheap enough. An eight-dollar rod, a seven-dollar reel, a four-dollar line and a dollar's worth of assorted flies are all that will be needed. They may be had at any of the sporting goods paces, and in reputable shops the price insures the quality.

Books may be had upon the art of fly-casting, but they will teach a man how not to cast, just as books on the art of wing shooting will teach him how not to hit.

The receipts of Demosthenes for successful oratory was "Action! action! action!" The receipt of Napoleon for war was "Audacity! audacity! always audacity!" The receipts for fly-casting is "Practice! practice! practice!—practice in the back yard, practice on the lawn, practice in any open space of the parks, practice in camp, practice on the stream." So only may a man fit himself to stand that test of perfection which is to place the fly within a three-foot circle four times out of six at a distance of fifty feet.

Better for the tyro than all the books ever written is an hour a day spent in casting and reading. Better than this is an hour spent at a fly-casting tournament, for there will be seen the masters of the craft doing their uttermost the one against the other.

He will there learn from object lessons how to stand, how to make his coils, how to bring the line forward, how to recover, just the psychic moment at which the wrist impulse is communicated, just that other moment when the line is extended full length behind and must be brought to the front with a steady, smooth powerful motion.

He will see men send the light line and fly considerably more than a hundred feet. The chances are that he will never be able to do this, no matter what his labor.

Every man cannot become a high-class fly caster any more than every man can become a high-class billiard player, but a reasonable degree of proficiency may be attained by any one and there is consolation in the fact that exceedingly long casts are of no special advantage to the fisherman. There are not two occasions in a year when he will be asked to do more than sixty feet.

Indeed, the fly-caster who takes away the first prize in a tournament is generally a poor angler. He has put in so much time getting distance on the sward that he has had no time to study fishes, fish-land and fishermen.

The beginner must remember that accuracy is preferable to distance every time and he will find in his practice that as he gets accuracy he is also getting distance. When he is able to hit his hat once in three casts at twenty feet he will discover that he is able to get out thirty feet of silk without a tangle, that his reel is not overrunning and that really he is able to reach across or nearly across any trout stream within his knowledge.

In fly fishing the word accuracy means not only that the fly shall lang upon or near to the spot at which it is aimed, but also that it shall land properly, which is to say that it shall land like an insect drifting down to or alighting upon the surface. This is as important as anything within the whole range of the art, because if it is a very young or idiotic trout that will leap at a fly which falls as if it were a brick, insects do not fall so.

As a French cook knew more than 300 ways of cooking eggs, so a skilled fly caster knows 300 ways of doing the necessary things. He knows which to use when the surface above the trout—get it there noiselessly, quickly and lightly.

For instance, there is the wheel cast, in which the line travels along the water in a series of loops as a boy trundles a hoop; there are the straight forward casts to right or left, made with the line coiled upon the hand, or with the line extended to the rear; the overhead cast and the side cast; the cast to cover distance over a wide still pool and the cast to get under an overhanging bank that is brush-clad; the cast to get out a quantity of line when there are branches close behind the angler and the flip cast, which is made by holding the fly firmly between the forefinger and thumb of the left hand, bending the rod half double and releasing the fly. With this cast the inexpert may hook the ball of the thumb three times out of five.

For the most part the angler will need to know only how to cast forward to the right or left. He will find that when branches grow above him or the banks of the stream are thick with brush, he cannot cast with any satisfaction and the expert who does so will have more pains than fish.

There is one cast practiced considerably where woods are thick and limbs share the stream, and it is not, properly speaking, a cast at all. It consists in unreeling the line and permitting the fly to float down stream for a hundred feet if necessary.

It will often take a fish when it has disappeared around a curve and then the fisherman has the added excitement of not knowing where he is hooked until he has fought his way down to a point where he can see. For this trick a buoyant fly is needed, one with a cork body being preferable.

Nine times out of ten a floating fly is better than one submerged. There are days when trout will feed upon drowned insects, but they are not many.

On such days a fly six inches under the surface and drifting freely will attract, but the man with the rod must be careful to let it go unchecked. The trout expects a drowned fly to go as anything else drowned goes. Certainly he does not expect it to check with no apparent reason, much less to start upstream.

On hot days in the later spring many insects, because they are sickened by the sun, or have reached the term of their lives or are sleepy and cross lie upon grass or weeds near the edge of the stream and fall into the water. So it is a favorite device of anglers to cast the fly so that it shall strike upon the earth within six inches of the edge of the bank above some deep pool. Then a slight jerk lands it upon the water and is given a convulsive kick or two if there is a trout below the chances are that he will rise with a rush and his jaws widely opened.

There are times, of course, when no fly will lure the fish. This may happen from a variety of causes, but generally it is due to the fact that there is an abundance of food and most of the trout have their bellies full.

On such days when every fly in the book has been cast without result the angler may have recourse to the lessons of his boyhood. It will do him no harm to try an angle worm if he can get one, or a fat white grub from a decaying log.

Brightly winged grasshoppers are good when hooked through the tail and permitted to flutter violently on the surface. For big, old, wise trout far down under the black water there is nothing else quite so good as a young field mouse.

As hooked through the skin of the back it makes its way pitifully across, there comes a lightning dash almost straight upward, and the impetus of the great fish carries him so far that the red spots upon his side shine as clearly as a thumbnail. When he strikes the water with a splash the mouse is well down in the gullet and the hook should be doing its duty. It is possible that such a trout may have caught two or three field mice during as many years and knows how good they are.

Typewriter Company to Extend Works.

The fact that shrewd observers consider the condition of the typewriter business a good index of the general commercial situation lends an added interest to the recent announcement of the Remington Typewriter Company that they propose to extend the capacity of their works at Ilion, N. Y., to nearly double their present production. New buildings are to be erected, and increased facilities of every description are to be put into service with all possible speed to provide for an increase in the Company's business, which, although steady for a number of years in succession, has lately assumed proportions altogether unprecedented in their previous history. That this great concern, the largest of its kind in the world, with its highly organized system touching the commercial world at all points of the country, should plan extensions on such a magnificent scale, affords a most satisfactory indication of the sound condition of the nation's material interests.

JUVENILE FASHIONS

Pretty Clothes For the Little Folks Displayed In the Stores.

Simplicity Far From Being the Distinguishing Feature of Children's Clothes At Present—Frills On Every Hand.

New York, May 28.—The woman who sighed to have children in order that she might dress them will have additional cause for sighs. A round of the shops reveals many sights in the way of pretty juvenile clothes, and the heart of the beauty-loving, domestic woman, with maternal instincts, fairly yearns for a child upon which to gratify them.

Of course, simplicity ought to be the ruling motive, the one conspicuous feature of children's dresses, yet it is not, and in an inspection of the newest and latest wardrobes for boys and girls—small and not so small—one is impressed, not with the plainness, but with the frills.

Little dresses, all in white, sheer, and so frail that they must be sent to the cleaner to be renovated, sell at $25 and up; and modest ones bring $10 and $12.

Put away somewhere there are cheaper garments, but the woman with money to buy finds the more expensive ones so absolutely irresistible that she falls a victim to them.

A woman with enough, but not too much, declared that she had solved the problem of dressing her little girl of 4.

"She is dressed either very beautifully or very plainly—I go to extremes. I put her in gingham in the morning and in mull in the afternoon. That gives her best clothes a chance to rest and provides her with something for day wear."

In the order of importance lace ruffles come first in the present styles. They vary according to the gown upon which they are placed, and can be fine or heavy, expensive or cheap. The lace is gathered along one edge and is used as a trimming. One row of ruffles above the other, until the dress is trimmed, is about the simplest and certainly the most fashionable way of decorating a little girl's dress. The ruffles can be undulated to make a design.

The little boy of the times is put into trousers so early that a consideration of his dresses is hardly worth while. Her older brother of 10 years ago was kept in dresses until he was 8 or 9. The small boy of today wears trousers at 3, and even at 2, if he is able to walk.

Very cunning the little man looks in his grown-up clothes, and much more comfortable is he than though he were kept in kilts and a sash until half grown.

In very many families the little boy is put into long trousers at once, and there come beautiful little sailor suits with bell ankles and bell tops. There is a blouse jacket. A chemisette is worn.

But this haste for long pantaloons is not advisable from an economic standpoint, for the trousers must be very long and, alas, they wear out quickly; so that the little lad of 3 goes through his trousers around the ankle in a few days' time, making the whole suit shabby.

The short trouser suits that show the knickerbockers and jackets are the best and are worn by the well-dressed lads of society. There are so many varieties of these that the little boy can always have an assortment, and he can come out one day with a sailor's blouse and knee breeches, and the next in a Russian suit with knickers.

The peasant suits are very becoming to a boy, specially to a chunky child, for the coat is long and gives him height, where he might look too fat.

An accepted style, a model upon which many of the boys' suits are built, shows the baggy knickers pulled up over the knee, but blousing below it. The coat is long and straight, a peasant blouse, and comes very nearly to the knees. There is a belt which is pulled low in front. The sleeves are very full at the top, but with a deep cuff. There is a turn-over collar, faced with white, and a striped chemisette.

The question of washing comes up first and foremost in the planning of a child's clothes. Unfortunately, there is no solution other than that of tubbing.

At least a suit a day, with three thrown in extra for emergency, are about the sum and substance of the small boy's necessities, if he be kept neat and pretty. It is a saving of labor to make these suits three at a time, off the same piece of linen.

Shoes have taken a step in the line of progression and the small boy has them in soft leather, made very large for him, and warranted to wear three or four weeks. The best shoes are those that lace and have wide soles. Tips protect toes and the heels are foxed.

Hygiene demands that spring heels be worn as long as possible and that the boy be given shoes that are at a size too big for him, for they not only wear better, but far more comfortable to the foot that grows every second of the child's life.

There are so many varieties of coat to be worn that the knicker trousers that one hesitates to specify any one as the prettiest. By far most popular is the coat that is built on the pleasant blouse lines, which are long and straight, with a belt that buttons in the front with a plain pearl button.

The variation comes in style of sleeve, which may be tight or baggy, and in the cut of the collar with square corners, or a French collar cut in a deep scroll design.

For those that find the white washable suits too expensive there are charming possibilities in the pink and blue cheviots and in the checks. There are lovely ginghams which can be made into Russian suits and worn with plain collars and belts. A suit in pink check gingham with a belt of plain pink cheviot and a collar of pink, and wide pink cuffs, was the prettiest seen at a lawn party where the hostess gathered together every child within reach.

Little girls are so poetic in movement and take to their clothes so naturally, that the problem of dressing them is solved by the fact that they look well in anything. Yet it is a satisfaction to give them new and becoming dresses.

A little party dress of white mull was trimmed with Valenciennes lace and insertion. The whole was made over a pale blue silk slip. The neck was high and the yoke tucked with heavy cream medallions of lace set in just above a lace bertha.

The trimming of this little waist alone would take any woman a week, using up all her spare time. The sleeves were trimmed at the top with medallions of lace over tucks, with little lace ruffles below, and were tiny works of art in themselves, requiring the utmost care and patience.

The waist of this little dress was very long and the skirt was very short. It was trimmed with rows of lace and lace insertion festooned around the bottom and extended almost to the sash, which was of liberty blue satin tied in a loose bow at one side. The little girl who wore this was a grandchild of William C. Whitney.

The little boy who escorted this young woman wore a Russian blouse of pink chambray with collar and shield of white pique, with stitched bands of chambray.

The prejudice against dressing children in silk is wearing away. The silks are washable, and this seems to stamp them with the approval of those who dress children. Then there is the prettiness which undoubtedly belongs to silk and which seems to be the property of no other material. Little colored silk slips are in every small girl's wardrobe, and from a dress standpoint, the more she can have of them the better.

SHOWING NEW OLIVINE NECKLACE.

The summer girl will revel in beads, that is, she will wear necklaces with both high and low gowns. This one of the pretty green olivine is considered very chic and is certainly becoming to a fair face. The bertha effect shown on the low gown is a separate piece of Honiton lace to be transferred from one corsage to another at will. It is one of the prettiest novelties of the season.

Miss Nan Stahlberg

Miss Nan Stahlberg
Secretary of the West Side Valkyrie Singing Club of Chicago.

IF every woman in the land today sick with female troubles could be brought to realize that a medicine exists that would restore her to health, there would be few homes that would not resound with rejoicing. Barren wives, invalid mothers, sisters and daughters furnish American homes with much of their bitterness and sorrow. That there is such a medicine has been proven by the reported relief of over a million suffering women. Thousands of them have taken the trouble to personally write to The Chattanooga Medicine Company of their cures. They tell how Wine of Cardui has strengthened the weak girl and prepared the apprehensive wife for motherhood, how it has quickly cured mothers and women of every age and station of all kinds of female ills.

One of these cures is that of Miss Nan Stahlberg, of No. 448 West Fifteenth Street, Chicago, Ill., who is well known as the Secretary of the Valkyrie Singing Club. She occupies a very prominent position and many suffering women will be brought to know and appreciate Wine of Cardui by what she writes:

"Wine of Cardui is certainly a boon to women and as my experience with it has been most gratifying I am glad to speak a good word for it. About two years ago I caught a severe cold at the time of menstruation and it stopped and discontinued for several months. I had very severe pains at the time with bearing-down pains and headaches almost constantly and I did not care whether I lived or died. I lost flesh and added about ten years to my age. After I had about given up hope of ever getting well my attention was called to your Wine of Cardui. One bottle helped me and six cured me."

Could any woman ask more in the way of relief than Miss Stahlberg secured? This same relief is in the reach of every woman in this land today. No one is too poor to buy health in a bottle of Wine of Cardui. Thousands of women who go to specialists and spend thousands of dollars in the fruitless pursuit of health finally come to Wine of Cardui and secure relief. Wine of Cardui is the simple remedy that relieves female suffering. Wine of Cardui never fails to benefit. It is peculiarly adapted to regulating menstruation and reinforcing weak women. Druggists all over the country are selling thousands of bottles of Wine of Cardui every day. No one is too poor to buy it, yet no amount of money could buy a better medicine. Wine of Cardui has endeared itself to the 1,000,000 women it has relieved. They love the name "Cardui" and they write the following letters to show the world what they think of this medicine:

Mrs. Mary Cline, Stilesboro, Ga.:

"Your medicines have done me more good than any that I have ever tried. My son from Chattanooga brought me a bottle. After being confined to my bed for nine weeks it got me out of bed and I gained 23 pounds."

Mrs. Pearl Philpot, Muskogee, I. T.:

"I was married two years and had no children. When my monthly periods would come I would have pains in my back, head, legs and bearing-down pains in my bowels. I would nearly have fits. My husband got me a dollar bottle of Wine of Cardui and it did me so much good. No tongue can tell how much good it did me. Since I have taken Wine of Cardui I have given birth to two children. One is dead but the last one is living. It is just three months old and the prettiest thing I ever saw. I took the Wine before confinement and I was just sick one hour. I am in better health than I ever was before. My age is 18 and I weigh 128."

Why not go to your druggist today and secure a $1.00 bottle of Wine of Cardui?

WINE OF CARDUI RELIEVES ALL "FEMALE ILLS".

RED VEILING GOWN.

In an economical way they are not so bad, for the colored slip not only sets off the dress prettily, but it lines it, and there is no necessity for the very elaborate lace underwear which would otherwise be worn.

Shoes and stockings, as far as the small maid is concerned, have taken a step. She may wear black shoes and stockings, if so please her, or she may wear all white ones. Besides these there are colored ones subject to her choice. Blue shoes and blue stockings are in good taste, and baby pink can be worn by a girl of 6. Bronze, too, is in good style and all the shades of gray.

At a child's party quite an innovation was noticed in the wearing of tan shoes and hose, with dresses of white mull and lawn, and even with little silk dresses. These tan shoes were made of soft, pretty leather, and the hose exactly matched. Charming effects were produced where the lining of the dress was in yellow to match the tan shoes and the stockings.

So it will be seen that, while white is the thing, colored shoes are also fashionable, and one can dress one's child in them without criticism, or without sacrificing the child's social position; for dress makes the child almost as much as it makes the woman.

The elbow sleeve is to be deplored and admired in the same breath. From a standpoint of health it is not so good, for one catches cold in the bare arms, but it is pretty and comfortable, and, maybe, the child can be trained to it. Moreover, the elbow sleeve is economical, for the under parts of the sleeve soil first, and the little elbow waist keeps clean twice as long as its long-sleeved mate.

Khaki cloth, in medium and light weights, is used for children's clothing. The girl's coat is made out of it and the boy's full suit.

A small boy's Russian blouse was in khaki cloth, with shield of white pique. The collar was piped with the same material.

A little girl's double-breasted coat was built of khaki cloth, with large smoked-pearl buttons. There was an embroidered shield upon the sleeve.

That great problem, the washtub, is largely assisted toward a pleasant solution by the application of flat trimming instead of the use of tucks. Bands of insertion, laid on perfectly plain, without cutting out the material underneath, are very decorative, and they launder better than tucks or ruffles.

There are plenty wash guimpes that are used in the same way, and which may be put on in graceful shapes. Belts are made of them, and little stocks, not very high, are buttoned in the back of the neck.

WHITE GOWNS.

The Smart Dresses For the Months.

There is a legend that no woman is ever happy until she has worn a white dress. Through the whole of the gentle spring she awaits the day when she can put it on and when, in the first blush of flowering summer, she actually does don it and sally forth her joy is complete.

A white dress, the perfectly smart pedestrian one, consists of a skirt of white duck or drill and a white shirt-waist. It is quite swell to wear a hat crowned with colored flowers with this and tan gloves.

This is the white outing girl, and if she prefers a pale pink waist, or heavy lawn, it takes nothing away from her smartness. The white skirt, with the colored shirt, will be worn not a little this summer, and it is pleasant to learn that the very pretty and always much admired white etamine is such a fashionable goods this year, and is capable of such a variety of treatment. If you want it made up with ruffles and lace as a summer dress, then all right. There are plenty of models. But it is so much smarter to tailor it.

A tailored etamine was made upon the long sheath lines just as plain as can be. But there were panels of stitched etamine put on down each side of the skirt, each four inches wide, each stitched along the edge, each used as a wide strapping. The stuff was doubled so that it appeared more like a parcel of cloth, solid, than one of open texture.

There is a white zibiline, very light in weight, but one must not invest in it unless one has many gowns. Those white cloth dresses are apt to prove a snare for the girl who must be economical. They so soon soil, and when soiled they are so soon gone completely.

There are two classes of women who look very well in white. One is the big, fat woman, with plenty of figure. This woman finds in white a merciful friend, softening her outlines and making her appear graceful.

The other woman is the very small woman, she whom one calls petite. White gives her height and dignity, and asists her in the matter of a "presence." It also gives her that fairylike look which is the privilege of the small woman.

White, since it is the color of summer, is the one to be advised to all who would dress well. There is something about it which makes it ever appropriate and one does not wonder that public women like Mrs. Roosevelt and the women of the cabinet choose white in preference to yellow or green or even turquoise blue.

In selecting there are many pretty and new fabrics from which to choose. The white cotton goods open up a great field and the lace stripes, the linen stripes, the satin stripes and the beautiful little stamped white figures all make variety.

The white crepe goods will always be liked because they make up so dressily. To trim them there are very neat hem stitchings that can be bought by the yard, and there are goods that come with a little cording running through them.

It looked at the first of the season as though none but the martyrs and the millionaires could enter the fashionable world. All gowns were so elaborately embroidered, so intricately appliqued with lace, so profusely tucked and so wonderfully squared off, with the inserts made out of the daintiest linen bits, that it seemed as though a woman's whole time would be spent upon the creation of one gown. To achieve even one creation it looked as if she would have to work interminably week in and week out.

But all perplexities disappear before the softening finger of time, and so with the dress perplexity. As soon as the actual summer goods came in and were spread out upon the counters one began to notice the abundance and beauty of the machine-made fabrics.

One lovely bit of goods, just a plain white cotton, costing not much, shows tiny rows of pin tucking with machine hem stitching set in between the groups of tucks. Such a material is already trimmed and is already to be made up into a waist.

The daintiest of summer gowns is made from a material that is a pale yellow, the color of old lace. It has a cording running through it and is soft and creepy. At wide intervals there is a little puff of the goods. All this is in the material itself. It requires no trimming except the little bit of lace which goes on all things.

Lace is used more elaborately in some cases than it need be. There is a wide girdle of it pointed top and bottom, front and back. The neck shows a band of lace and a lace point comes down to the bust. The sleeves are finished with an elbow puff with a band of lace at each side of the puff.

The deep flounce around the foot is in plain goods tucked at the top and released at the bottom to make the necessary flare and there are little bands of goods at the head of the flounce with hem stitching along each band.

While white is made up with all simplicity it is a sort of studied simplicity, which is by no means plainness.

The question of a lining is a perplexing one to the woman who dresses in white, for the lining costs more than the gown, and to line a 15-cent cotton means something when viewed from the standpoint of the pocketbook.

As for the lining, it is a matter that cannot be ignored. All, or very nearly all, of the summer goods are transparent and the lining is distinctly visible, painfully so sometimes.

Of course it is possible to use the plain cotton linings, just as one would with any other gown. But these linings do not show up well and they add nothing to the beauty of the dress.

If you cannot afford to line well, then do not get a transparent dress, so the modistes advise; and they send their customers back to exchange dress patterns that show the lining too plainly.

But the prettiest gowns for the house and many of the best gowns for the street do "show through," and the lining question must be tackled boldly.

Here is the advice of a very fashionable dressmaker, who designs and executes for the wives of millionaires:

"I begin at the very beginning," says she, "and make my linings first."

"Mrs. A.," mentioning the wife of a famous millionaire, "will not buy silk linings and one does not blame her, for in the summer they are not durable; and a substitute that looks just as well must be provided.

"For this woman and for many others among my patrons I make very stylish and wholly beautiful linings of the finest of lawn. The waist is low in the neck and is made like a corset cover, sleeveless. It washes nicely and is made separate from the gown.

"For the skirt I make not a petticoat, but a perfect fitting, perfect hanging dress skirt. It has its flounces, which is very full, and it has its sweep length. It would do very well, indeed, for a gown.

"When the dress is to be put on the lining is first donned and hooked. Then the dress is put on, bodice and skirt. A perfect fit is secured and the effect is lovely.

"I make up linings in all colors of the finest of lawn and in wash mull, and in the thin goods, following always one model, and my patrons have four and six of them, and often more, according to the size of the wardrobe.

"The secret is in making both waist and skirt so that they look like gowns, not like corset cover and petticoat. My patrons could attend a dinner in a lining. Of that I am positive."

The ethereal girl is the one who dresses in the fairy goods. These come delicately soft and thin, yet crisp, and they are designed for the making of afternoon and plazza gowns.

There is quite a fad now for the gown that is stiff and starchy, not soft and clinging, and the mulls and linens seem designed for this sort of treatment.

While the esthetic and artistic gown, the "slinky" one, that twists around one's feet and gives one height, is in fashion, it is undoubtedly true that the crisp, sheer one is also in style and the afternoon maiden can see them both and take her choice.

It is generally agreed among those who make dress and its designing a life study that the stiff, crisp linen and the delightfully perky lawn with its starched effect are both meant more for country wear, for hotel plazzas, when one can keep one's self in picture attitudes, than for the street.

These little dresses are trimmed with valenciennes usually, or with the softest and finest of summer laces, and are made with the lace set in the skirt and with lace set in the waist. There is usually a baby-like yoke upon such a waist, and this is completde with a juvenile ruffle of lace. Around the foot is a dear, crisp little flounce. The elbow sleeves are finished with a little lace ruffle.

Miss Simplicity will dress in white this summer, with the white waist buttoning down the back; she will have a yoke bordered with a lace ruffle and her stock will be little more than a lawn band with lace along each edge. Her skirt will be very simple and rather full. It will be finised with a very fluffy little lace flounce and she will wear a sash.

It is a fine summer for the woman who wants to do her own dressmaking, for in the newest of dress fabrics are seen those that have lace set in after the most delicate ways.

There are the mulls—though they are a little bit expensive—that have really nice lace set in to form a sort of design, large irregular diamonds and little swirls of lace. You have to pay the price, but think of doing the work yourself.

The foulard asserts itself summer after summer, and you fall a victim, though you don't know why. Foulard is never a very dressy goods and it is never very cheap. But it is, oh! so very ladylike. In a summer foulard one can face the world if it is made up prettily.

There are foulards and foulards and many ways of making them.

A certain elegant importing establishment of Gotham makes a specialty of them. They are in Chinese blue, old gold, tobacco brown, navy blue, black and in many shades of green, making a great variety. All show the figure upon a white ground or the white figure upon a colored ground—the unmistakable foulard sign.

MISS LAURA HOWARD,

President South End Ladies' Golf Club, Chicago, Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound After the Best Doctors of Chicago Had Failed to Help Her.

Such letters as the following must surely convey conviction to the hearts of all women that the great claims that Mrs. Pinkham makes for her medicine must be based upon positive evidence.

Is it reasonable, think you, that we could hire such women as Miss Howard to speak well of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound just for commercial reasons? Impossible! and it is an insult both to her and to Mrs. Pinkham to suggest such an idea; therefore, let every woman read this letter and believe, for it is as genuine in every particular as the eyes with which you read these words.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all women who are ill to write her for advice. Address Lynn, Mass., giving full particulars.

MISS LAURA HOWARD.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I can thank you for perfect health to-day, and gladly do I acknowledge it. Life looked so dark to me a year or two ago. I had constant pains, my limbs swelled, I had dizzy spells, and never knew one day how I would feel the next. I was nervous and had no appetite, neither could I sleep soundly nights. Eight bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, used in conjunction with your Sanative Wash, did more for me than all the medicines and the skill of the doctors. For eight months I have enjoyed perfect health. I verily believe that most of the doctors are guessing and experimenting when they try to cure a woman with an assortment of complications, such as mine; but you did not guess when you mixed your Compound; you evidently know what you are giving suffering women and are sure of what it will do. How I wish all suffering women could only know of your remedy; there would be less suffering and many thousands more happy and healthy women in America."—LAURA HOWARD, 113 Newberry Ave., Chicago, Ill.

O, my sisters, I do pray you to profit by Miss Howard's experiences; just as surely as she was cured of the troubles enumerated in her letter, just so surely will Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cure every woman in the land who suffers from womb troubles, inflammation of the ovaries, kidney troubles, nervous excitability, and nervous prostration; remember that it is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that is curing women, and don't allow any druggist to sell you anything else in its place.

$5000 REWARD.—We have deposited with the National City Bank of Lynn, $5000, which will be paid to any person who can find that the above testimonial letter is not genuine, or was published before obtaining the writer's special permission. Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

MOTHER'S FRIEND

SENATORS DISAGREE

As to Conditions That Existed In the Philippines.

Senator Hoare and Spooner Have a Little Clash.

Spooner Continues His Argument In Favor of Bill.

Washington, May 31.—At the conclusion of routine business in the senate today—the body having convened at 11 a. m.—consideration of the Philippine government bill was resumed.

Mr. Beveridge (Ind.) presented certain excerpts from the testimony taken by the commission, arranged carefully with reference to certain phases of the Philippine question, and requested that they be printed in the Congressional Record. Mr. Beveridge explained that they covered particular points in the testimony arranged in logical sequence, and he thought it was perfectly fair and just. Mr. Hoar suggested that he thought a compilation of the kind presented ought to have the sanction of the Philippine commission, and he moved that the matter be referred to that commission. Mr. Beveridge said that the widest latitude had been afforded to the minority in the publication of matter in the Record, and he thought it scarcely fair that objection should be made to his request.

Mr. Allison hoped Mr. Hoar would withdraw his motion, and indicated some criticism of the Massachusetts senator's action. As Mr. Hoar would not withdraw his motion, Mr. Beveridge withdrew his request, announcing that later he would read the matter, if necessary, to get it in the Record. In resuming his speech begun on Thursday, Mr. Spooner referred to a statement of Mr. Hoar, a minute before, that there ought not to be sides in this Philippine debate. One trouble, one of the weaknesses of the discussion and one of the wicked elements, he said, is the fact that there had been and were now sides in this question. He thought there ought to be no "sides." "It is," he said, "a question which belongs to the American people. It is a problem of delicacy and some danger and a weapon of no man's of no party. The interest of all men in public and private life is to get at the truth without private opinion or party strife.

"I have not been in favor of permanent dominion over the islands," said Mr. Spooner, "but I do not mean by that that I have been in favor of the United States running away like a coward or abandoning a people who have come under our protection or surrendering them to tyranny, anarchy and chaos."

He said he had never been able to contemplate with equanimity the admission of the Philippines as a state or states. Nothing was dearer to him, except his home ties, than that this government should be confined to this continent.

"No question of imperialism," he said, "had been raised in this problem, except for party purposes.

"There never before has been an instance," he declared, "where a portion of the American people have sought, incessantly, and I think unfairly, to put this country in the wrong and to stain the honor of the country with dishonor. They had formed a narrow and squint-eyed view of every question of fact."

He said the United States never would seek war, but if attacked we had the power to resist attack and when the time came to dictate terms of peace the United States might demand and accept ceded territory that is inhabited without first securing the consent of the inhabitants.

Mr. Spooner declared that there was little or no similarity between the conditions in Cuba and those in the Philippines.

"Those senators," he insisted, "who cannot see the difference between the Philippines and Cuba, have some sort of mental strabism."

An attempt had been made to show that the reconcentration camps established by Gen. Weyler in Cuba had been imitated by the United States in the Philippines, "but the only testimony in support of that statement is testimony from ambush, with all traces of identification destroyed."

"If we had left Spain in control of the islands," said Mr. Spooner, discussing our taking of the islands, "never, never, as long as we live would some portions of our people have ceased to denounce us for having sailed away from Manila, like a batch of cowards, leaving the Filipinos to come again under the tyranny of Spain or, still worse, to lapse into anarchy, civil war, murder, loot and violence."

Mr. Spooner pointed out how harmful the division upon the Philippine question among Americans was, and declared the division was largely for party purposes.

"If congress had recognized the independence of the Filipinos instead of being there as we are now, with a title which the supreme court of the United States says is complete, which the senate has accepted as complete, which congress paid for as complete, which the world recognizes as complete, which gives us the power to do what is generous and noble and right and uplifting to that people, we would be there on the shifting sands of contract with a farmer tyrant. I think that God has saved us from that unutterable folly. It would have been worse, infinitely worse, than the proposition to recognize the republic of Cuba which would have subjected us to an order to leave Cuba any day.

Later Mr. Hoar inquired if the inhabitants of the Philippines were not a people where there were millions of men acting together, who raised an army, selected a general, turned Spain out of all of the territories, except only the city of Manila and who had decided upon a constitution, republican in form.

"They would be a people," replied Mr. Spooner, "if that were true."

"It is true," said Mr. Hoar.

"I deny it," insisted Mr. Spooner.

"I deny that there is a more than superficial truth in it."

WORK OF TRAMPS.

Young Man Shot and Thrown From Train.

Chicago, May 31.—F. R. Kentou, son of C. R. Kenton, a shoe manufacturer of Milford, Conn., is at the county hospital with a bullet wound in his abdomen from which it is believed he will die. Kenton was riding on a Chicago & Eastern Illinois stock freight last night. He was attacked by two men, believed to have been tramps. He was shot and robbed of a gold watch and $30. The robbery completed, the tramps threw the insensible form from the train which was running at a rate of twenty miles an hour. The assault occurred near Momence, Ill.

BUENCAMINO

Tells House Committee That Filipinos Love the Americans.

Washington, May 31.—Felipe Buencamino, formerly of Aguinaldo's cabinet, was before the house committee on insular affairs today. He said his country, the Philippines, was like a sick man convalescing from a dangerous illness. It was still bleeding from the wounds of war. Its aspirations were those of Washington, liberty and justice, under American sovereignty, which they loved. They looked to congress to give them a just and liberal government. He detailed the facts connected with the early uprising of the Filipinos.

Aguinaldo was an idol and the people believed him when he told them that Dewey had promised them independence. He reviewed all that had been done since the outbreak and spoke of the gradual extension of American authority and practical pacification of the greater part of the islands. There were now 800 municipalities established and they had proven satisfactory. Under the Taft system he said the Filipinos have greater liberty than they would have enjoyed under Aguinaldo's government had it been established. Gov. Taft was now the ideal of the people, he said the people of the islands would like to have their political status fixed, whether there are American or Filipinos. He believed that they should be Americans. The happiness of the people depended on American sovereignty.

Representative Jones of Virginia called attention to the fact that Sixto Lopez differed with Buencamino, and said the minority wanted to have Lopez summoned. Several Republicans protested because Lopez had not been in the islands in recent years. There was some discussion between the members of the committee of a warm character.

"I did not think it would so offend the minority to have this witness praise the American troops," said Chairman Cooper.

"I resent that insinuation," said Mr. Williams (Miss.).

"And his remark is not in accordance with facts," said Mr. Patterson (Tenn).

The motion to summon Lopez was lost by a party vote.

The committee then took a recess until 2 p. m.

A NAVAL PROBLEM

Question of Submarine Torpedo Boats Is Giving Trouble.

Feud Between Staff and Line Officers of the Navy.

The Fighting Men In Favor of the Submarine Boats.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, May 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—Submarine navigation, which once lived only in the brilliant imagination of Jules Verne, and that famous child of his genius, "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea," is now an established fact and it is this fact that is giving the house committee on naval affairs considerable difficulty in determining whether it shall equip the United States navy more formidably by increasing its number of submarine torpedo boats after the type of the Holland and the Adder. This question has again revived the old feud between the staff and line officers, only more bitter, a feeling that was somewhat abrogated after the passage of the naval personnel bill giving the staff officers a rank which they had never enjoyed before, but which has broken out again in the consideration of submarine boats. The fighting men of the navy, like Admiral Dewey, whose star is a fixed planet in the galaxy of American heroes for his achievements not only at the destruction of the Spanish fleet in Manilla bay, but during the dark, trying days that followed; Capt. "Dick" Wainwright, who ran amuck among the Dons at Santiago with his little boat the Gloucester, and Lieut. Caldwell, Dewey's flag lieutenant, who stood on the bridge of the Olympia when she steamed over the enemy's mines and torpedoes in the water of the Eastern archipelago, all declare for submarine torpedo boats. These men, who know the destructive qualities of such boats, through thir intimate acquaintance with them, argue that they are a valuable and necessary adjunct to the Aemrican navy and as engines of war possess annihilative powers carrying intimidation to the fleet of an enemy no matter how powerful.

Opposed to these officers are Admirals Melville and Bowles, members of the board of construction, which practically dominates the policy of the navy department. Both Bowles and Melville, from the lofty attitude of theoretical reasoning, cannot see the efficacy of submarine boats as naval weapons. Especially is this true of the latter. Bowles admitting in a recent hearing before the house committee that if it was obligatory on him to adopt such craft, he would prefer the Holland boats as being most up to date. Admiral Melville compares submarine boats to mosquitoes buzzing around the ears of a commander, annoying but not destructive. He gives a most remarkable explanation of England's reason for adopting these vessels which he terms "sneaks of the sea." He stated to the committee on naval affairs that it was solely for the purpose of diverting the minds of the English people from the terrible disasters the British empire was suffering in South Africa. Capt. Sigsbee, of the board of construction, is in favor of submarine boats and says that they carry a moral influence that is simply tremendous.

Such was the statement of Admiral Dewey before the naval affairs committee in 1900. Among many other things, he said: "If they had had two of these things in Manila I could never have held it with my squadron. The moral effect, to my mind, is infinitely superior to mines or torpedoes or anything of the kind. With those craft moving under water it would wear people out. With two of these in Galveston, all the navies of the world could not blockade that place." In discussing this subject recently Representative Loudenslager of New Jersey said: "If I wanted expert konwledge on the engines or the machinery of a war vessel I would go to Admiral Melville. If I desired thorough information as to its construction, Admiral Bowles would be the man; but should I want enlightenment as to her fighting abilities and what she could do at sea, warring against an enemy, there would be no man more competent to express an opinion than Admiral George Dewey or Capt. Richard Wainwright, and they both say the submarine boat is what the American navy needs. Fact has proven more in this world than theory ever did or ever will. Dewey and Wainwright deal in facts."

There will be one notable change, at least, in the senate of the Fifty-eighth congress. John P. Jones, who has been a conspicuous figure in the upper branch almost since the days of the admission of the state of Nevada, has come to the conclusion that it is about time for him to retire, and has so announced. He will undoubtedly be succeeded by Francis G. Newlands, who has represented the same state in the house of representatives for a long period. Mr. Newlands has been an industrious and indefatigable advocate of the policy of irrigation for years. In season and out Mr. Newlands has worked for this one end. He is a broad-minded, liberal man in his views, but he realizes, as do most of the men from the arid regions, that the salvation of millions upon millions of acres of land now absolutely useless can be accomplished only by a national irrigation policy. It begins to look, too, as though this purpose will be an accomplished face before the end of the present congress. Opposition in the house of representatives has gradually diminished until at last the leaders have decided to give the advocates of irrigation an opportunity to get their bill up for consideration. No man has worked more faithfully than has the representative from Nevada, and probably no state in the Union will receive greater benefit than Nevada from the establishment of an irrigation scheme under the federal government. It is largely due to his work in this direction that Mr. Newlands today is the logical successor to Senator Jones.

Mr. Newlands' membership of the ways and means committee has made him a notable figure in national affairs. He has a thorough knowledge of tariff and financial legislation, and while devoted to an athletic life, he is a close student of current events, with the ability to express himself forcibly and clearly. His elevation to the upper house of congress will add to the list of strong men in that branch of the national legislature.

* * *

Rather an interesting story is told of a very prominent senator, which goes to show how some people after a long term in congress can get about anything they want. This senator has for many years been in the habit of using the house bath rooms whenever he felt the need of a refreshing bath. Conveniences of this kind are provided in the senate but it has long been recognized that the attendants of the senate baths understand their business better than those in the upper branch of congress. Some time ago in the plan of reconstructing the interior arrangements of the house and its offices, the old-fashioned solid marble tubs were removed. And as there was no known use for them they were broken up in order that they might be more conveniently carted away. Porcelain tubs of the finest kind have taken the place of the old marble tubs and they give entire satisfaction to everyone except the senator above mentioned. He insisted upon having a marble tub and in order to oblige him a new one, beautifully carved, has been ordered for his particular benefit. It is doubtful that a single member of the house, that is, unless he was one of the so-called leaders, could have secured such a concession, but the senator has a "pull" and get anything he demands.

* * *

There have been a great many inquiries from nurserymen throughout the country concerning the free distribution of nursery stock by the department of agriculture, because the seed distribution has grown from a very small matter to enormous proportions—the total number of packages of seed distributed annually by the department now is, in round figures, 20,000,000 packages or 3,500,000 papers. It appears, however, that the supply of trees distributed among congressmen is by no means large and there is no indication at present that there will be any marked growth of the folly department of the government. Each member and senator now has fifty small trees at his disposal each year. These trees are mostly varieties of nuts not purchased from nurserymen. The idea appears to be to experiment as to the advisability of taking up this branch of agriculture, if it can be called agriculture, in the various states and territories. There is at present no need for nurserymen to take alarm at this innovation by Secretary Wilson, but it must be remembered that thirty or forty years ago when the seed distribution first began the value of the "quota" for each representative was little if no greater than the value of the trees now placed to his credit annually. And there is, of course, danger of a growth of this new department in government charity.

Voodoo of St. Vincent

Negro Inhabitants of the Ill-Fated Island Believe the Use of Her Money Caused All the Trouble.

"I allus tol' 'em, they be sure nuf goner if they tech that Voodoo money." The old negro sat slowly spelling out of the evening paper the latest menger news of the disaster on St. Vincent island, his old home. Scarce a negro in the West Indies but is saying the same thing today.

Waxing ever fatter, uglier and richer, for many years there lived just outside of Kingston, on St. Vincent, the high priestess of the Voodoo worshippers. Thither by stealth came the negroes from all over the West Indies—came also, they tell you, white planters seeking charms and lucky spells. There were still others, who landed quietly by night and bore away little vials of slow-working poison, or, perhaps, merely innocent-looking splinters, whose slightest scratch meant death; then, presently, the papers would record the sudden end of some harsh overseer "from fever." The hand of the law never fall upon her—it is not pleasant to execute justice when you know that tomorrow morning's coffee will be filled with powdered glass—and in good time she died, her spirit carried up Souffriere by Zombi, so they say, and there dumped in.

Much wealth she left, for her "magic" was always of the most expensive kind. Many a poor devil ruined himself to meet her extortions. But, strange to say, no heirs appeared to claim it. It was Voodoo, and not an African on earth would touch it.

So finally the government of St. Vincent stepped in where others feared to tread and confiscated it. Now, Voodoo or no Voodoo, it certainly is true that from that day the already tottering fortunes of St. Vincent hastened swiftly to their fall. The negroes emigrated to Barbados, to the states, to anywhere away from that island. Sugar fell in price slowly but surely, and sugar was St. Vincent's mainstay. Arrowroot, the next staple of importance, fell equally. Desperate measures were taken to remedy matters; whole estates were condemned and cut up into little parcels, to be divided among the negroes. The ruin, gaunt what life the place possesses. But in St. Vincent only a few withered crones sat mumbling to themselves for lack of company—a handful of charcoal burners, few yams, a shriveled bite of sickly fruit, such were the contents of their baskets. Of customers, at least while we were there, no sign! Saddened beyond expression by these signs of ruin that filled the little town of pleasant memories, we set out for the journey up Souffriere, starting up the rock road back of the town, we passed the fine Botanical gardens, a green oasis in a barren land; higher up, the road led to the backbone of the peninsula through the open meshes. In the old days this juice was saved to poison arrow tips. Now it is carefully thrown where it can do no harm.

The still moist pulp next is dried thoroughly and then rolled into pancakes some two feet wide and thin as paper, which are baked on heated stones, or, if the family is well-to-do, on iron plates. One old woman hideous beyond belief, her straight black hair hanging in tangled masses round her, complained bitterly because, forsooth, the cakes were rolled and there were no hot stones.

Ah! Had she but known! Soon hot stones were to rain, as if from heaven, on her, crushing her poor old body into even more hideous form. Soon the soft white ashes were to fall like a smothering sheet on everything, burying forever beneath it the last hopes of a brighter day for the island cursed with the Voodoo spell.

Further back the higher hills still lay, green and beautiful, but for miles around the town the Voodoo curse, indeed, lay heavy on the land. And the town itself! The pitiless tropic rain had washed the gay-hued houses to a dingy gray—here and there a patch of color clinging like rouge upon a corpse.

Shutterless and empty, many a house stared as with the sightless eyes of the dead out on the deserted bay, green fungus, like grave mold, spreading over them.

The long pier tottered on its rotting piles, seeming scarce able to support the weight of the handful of listless negroes that flocked out to see the mail boat anchor—now grown to be an event not to be missed. Ashore, the ruin was more apparent. Only the police station, which, next to the jail, was always the finest building, maintained a certain smartness, covering its crumbling walls with white-wash, as the proud old soldier carefully inks his ragged buttonholes.

In the streets, rutted and gullied by many a rainy season, the green grass grew almost unchecked. Down Middle street, as the main thoroughfare is called, the dust of years had gathered on the narrow little shop windows—making their dim interiors gloomy beyond description.

The unusual sound of footsteps brought each merchant eagerly to the door, only to gaze gloomily at our retreating backs. A crowd of eager darky boys flocked around us, begging fruitlessly for a penny. But saddest sight of all was the old market place, the heart and center of every West Indian town, where, be it only to talk scandal, negroes congregate, the place possesses. But in St. Vincent only a few withered crones sat mumbling to themselves for lack of company—a handful of charcoal burners, few yams, a shriveled bite of sickly fruit, such were the contents of their baskets. Of customers, at least while we were there, no sign! Saddened beyond expression by these signs of ruin that filled the little town of pleasant memories, we set out for the journey up Souffriere, starting up the rock road back of the town, we passed the fine Botanical gardens, a green oasis in a barren land; higher up, the road led to the backbone of the peninsula through the open meshes. In the old days this juice was saved to poison arrow tips. Now it is carefully thrown where it can do no harm.

The still moist pulp next is dried thoroughly and then rolled into pancakes some two feet wide and thin as paper, which are baked on heated stones, or, if the family is well-to-do, on iron plates. One old woman hideous beyond belief, her straight black hair hanging in tangled masses round her, complained bitterly because, forsooth, the cakes were rolled and there were no hot stones.

Ah! Had she but known! Soon hot stones were to rain, as if from heaven, on her, crushing her poor old body into even more hideous form. Soon the soft white ashes were to fall like a smothering sheet on everything, burying forever beneath it the last hopes of a brighter day for the island cursed with the Voodoo spell.

Further back the higher hills still lay, green and beautiful, but for miles around the town the Voodoo curse, indeed, lay heavy on the land. And the town itself! The pitiless tropic rain had washed the gay-hued houses to a dingy gray—here and there a patch of color clinging like rouge upon a corpse.

Shutterless and empty, many a house stared as with the sightless eyes of the dead out on the deserted bay, green fungus, like grave mold, spreading over them.

The long pier tottered on its rotting piles, seeming scarce able to support the weight of the handful of listless negroes that flocked out to see the mail boat anchor—now grown to be an event not to be missed. Ashore, the ruin was more apparent. Only the police station, which, next to the jail, was always the finest building, maintained a certain smartness, covering its crumbling walls with white-wash, as the proud old soldier carefully inks his ragged buttonholes.

In the streets, rutted and gullied by many a rainy season, the green grass grew almost unchecked. Down Middle street, as the main thoroughfare is called, the dust of years had gathered on the narrow little shop windows—making their dim interiors gloomy beyond description.

The unusual sound of footsteps brought each merchant eagerly to the door, only to gaze gloomily at our retreating backs. A crowd of eager darky boys flocked around us, begging fruitlessly for a penny. But saddest sight of all was the old market place, the heart and center of every West Indian town, where, be it only to talk scandal, negroes congregate, what life the place possesses. But in St. Vincent only a few withered crones sat mumbling to themselves for lack of company—a handful of charcoal burners, few yams, a shriveled bite of sickly fruit, such were the contents of their baskets. COLORED Man Will Be Ordained Priest at Baltimore June 21.

Baltimore, May 31.—The June ordinations at the Cathedral which will take place June 21 added interest from the fact that the second colored man ever ordained to the Catholic priesthood in this country will receive holy orders on that day at the hands of Cardinal Gibbons. The colored candidate is Rev. J. Harry Rorsey, a student at St. Joseph's seminary. He was raised to the diaconate last fa.. by Bishop Alfred A. Curtis.

The first colored man ordained in this country was Rev. F. R. Uncles in the cathedral, Dec. 13, 1891. Father Uncles, who is a member of the Josephite order is now stationed in Delaware. Another colored priest, Father Loton, who died a few years ago in Chicago from the effects of the heat, was ordained abroad.

J. Harry Dorsey was born in this city twenty-eight years ago and was educated in St Paul, Minn., under Archbishop Ireland. Father Dorsey will labor among his own people.

CONFIDENT.

Payne Thinks Cuban Bill Will Pass the House.

New York, May 31.—Congressman Sereno E. Payne, chairman of the house committee on ways and means, who is in this city, said regarding national legislation: "I am confident that the house will pass the Ray bankruptcy bill at an early day. I think that before congress adjourns, the house will pass the senate Cuban reciprocity bill, calling for a 20 per cent reduction of the tariff on Cuban goods imported into this country."

"What are the prospects of the Nicaragua canal bill?"

"I am certain that it will be disposed of in one way or another before the adjournment of congress," said Mr. Payne. "I apprehend also that the senate will vote on the Philippines bill on Tuesday next, and immediately afterward it will come to the house and will be passed promptly."

JUMPED TRACK.

A St. Paul Street Car Strikes a Woman.

St. Paul, May 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—A Mississippi street and West St. Paul car refused to take the switch at Seventh and Wabasha streets this morning and leaving the track plunged entirely across Seventh street on the pavement.

Mrs. A. B. Jorklund, living at 2422 Fifth avenue south, Minneapolis, who was waiting on the corner for another car, was struck and painfully but not seriously injured.

The passengers on the car which left the track were shaken up, but none of them were injured.

Albert Hochmeier, 8 years old, was run down and injured late yesterday by a street car. The injuries were so severe that his right leg had to be amputated when taken to the city hospital.

The child was playing at the corner of Cortland and Magnolia streets and attempted to run across the street in front of a Hamline and Jackson car. The boy was caught by the fender, but rolled underneath.

AT MADISON.

Wisconsin State Athletic Meet at Randall Field.

St. Paul, May 31.—A Madison, Wis., special to the Dispatch says: The city is filled with youthful athletes from all over the state, ready for the field meet at Camp Randall this afternoon. Nearly all of the thirty-eight teams entered had arrived this morning. Heavy clouds threatened, but all the events will be run off if possible. The cinder tracks for sprints and bicycle events are heavy, and no new records in these are looked for. The contest will be close and no one is willing to pick the winner in advance.

The inter-scholastic oratorical contest this morning was won by Herman Canfield, of Sparta high school; Royden Kester, of Beloit, second, and Frank Holt, of Janesville, third.

CONSERVATIVE

Was Elected By the District of Manitoulin.

Toronto, May 31.—Manitoulin, reports from which were missing, has elected a Conservative. The new house will stand 51 Liberals and 47 Conservatives, giving the government a mapority of four. the government a majority of four. in the last house.

LOST BOTH LEGS.

South Madison Man Run Over By Train.

Madison, Wis., May 31.—While walking on the tracks along the shore of Lake Monon, Henry Gherke, a mason living at South Madison was struck by a passenger train early this morning. Both legs were cut off and he will probably die. Gherke was confident the train was on another track and paid no attention to the warning whistle.

HINCKLEY MAN KILLED.

Elmer Stanchfield Run Over By Fast Freight.

St. Paul, May 31.—A Hinckley, Minn., special to the Dispatch says: Elmer Stanchfield, a resident of Hinckley, was killed by the fast freight last night by falling between the cars. He was badly cut to pieces.

FOR REVENGE.

Cincinnati Man Was Killed By Unknown Parties.

Cincinnati, May 31.—Michael O'Donnell, smith for the Emerson-Carriage company, was assaulted last night by unknown parties and died today. As O'Donnell continued at work, he was recognized as the leader of those opposing the impending strike, and it is supposed that his murder was due to revenge. He leaves a widow and five small children.

HEIRS TO A FORTUNE.

St. Paul, May 31.—Fergus Falls, Minn., special to the Dispatch, says: C. E. Barnes, the Singer Sewing Machine agent of this city, has received a telegram announcing the death of his grandmother at St. John, Mich. She leaves a fortune about $35,000, and Mr. Barnes states that he and a cousin are the only heirs.

JOSEPH SCHWAB PRESIDENT.

New York, May 31.—Joseph Schwab, of the United States Steel corporation, has been chosen, according to the World, as president of the new $30,000,000 consolidation of steel foundries, which will be known as the American Steel Foundries company. The paper mentioned asserts that the office will pay $50,000 salary. Mr. Schwab is at present traveling in Europe.

MOTION DENIED.

St. Paul, May 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—Judge Brill today denied the motion of the defendant in the suit of Dr. Schadle, and C. H. P. Smith, for a directed verdict. The attorneys proceeded with their closing arguments.

DEMOCRATIC COUNTY CONVENTION AND PRIMARIES.

A Democratic delegate convention for the county of St. Louis, state of Minnesota, will be held on Saturday, June 21st, 1902, at 1 o'clock in the afternoon of said day, at the city hall, in the city of Duluth, in said county, for the purpose of selecting forty-five delegates to the Democratic state convention, to be held in the city of Minneapolis on Wednesday, June 25th, A. STRENGTH IN WHEAT

Receipts at Chicago and Northwest Points Were Light.

Much Interest In Wind Up of Corner In Oats.

Chicago, May 31.—The closing day of the May deliveries in grains opened rather uneventful today. July wheat opened a shade to ¼@⅜c up at 72¾c to 72⅞c on firm cables and a fair trade. Argentine shipments for the week were very low at 332,000 bus, compared to 1,169,000 bus last year and strengthened both Liverpool and this market. Other conditions were about unchanged. July dopped early to 72⅜c, sold to 72⅝@72⅝c and steadied at 72⅝c. Corn gave no early support to wheat. Receipts were small here at 21 cars, for two days, one contract grade; Minneapolis and Duluth reported two days' arrivals at 371 cars, a total for the three points of 392 cars, against 122 one day last week and 418 for two days last year.

Pressure on corn and the good crop prospects depressed July until it sold at 41¾c and closed easy ⅛c down at 42⅛c.

July corn started firm, a shade up to a shade down at 42¼c to 42⅝c and sold up to 42⅞c on firm cables. Trade, however, was dull and the receipts for two days large at 512 cars with liberal contract gradings. This started good selling and July stumped to 42⅝c.

Bears again started activity in the corn pit on the estimate of 500 cars to arrive Monday. Stop loss orders were met and bulls believe in no fear that a big movement would continue for some time. July sold to 41¾@42c and closed weak 34@⅜c down at 41⅝c.

There was much interest in the oats pit at the opening to witness the wind up in James A. Patten's corner in May oats. The usual condition in oats were bearish and July opened unchanged at 26⅞c and sold to 27c and declined to 26⅝c. May, however, started 2⅝c higher at 86c and sold at 86¾c. Traders considered this price evidence sufficient that all shorts would have to settle with the bull leader. The highest price at which May sold this season was 47⅝c. Mr. Patten secured most of his long line, which has been estimated at 10,000,000 bus, around 37c. Receipts were 291 cars.

Mr. Patten came personally in the pit and when he saw he had the shorts pinched bid the price up 6c to 49½c. May settlements for large amounts were made on the advance. May closed cornered and strong 5⅝c higher than yesterday and at the top price on record at 49½c.

Provisions were quiet. The advice of commission men at the house to country correspondents not to allow farmers to ship in live stock during the teamsters' strike here has curtailed shipments, and held hog prices up fairly. This strength today started prices about unchanged and July rose 2½c and sold up to $10.17½, pork opened unchanged at $17.05 and fluctuated up and back 2½c; July lard unchanged at $10.— and sold up to $10.17½, and July ribs 2½c up at $9.05@.15.

Close: Wheat, May, 72⅜c; July, 72½@¾c; September, 70½@⅝c; December, 73⅝c. Corn, May and June, 41c; July, 41⅝c; September, 39c; December, 40¼c. May (1903), 43⅝c. HENRY CLEWS

Reviews the Course of the Stock Market This Week.

New York, May 31.—The coal strike and the holidays—the latter involving a three days' suspension of business on the stock exchange—acted as a decided deterrent upon stock market operations. A confident undertone appeared owing to the strong support developed on every recession, but speculative activity seemed inclined to wait for more favorable opportunities. Much depends upon the outcome of the strike, a prolonged struggle should result, the effect would be unfavorable to the general market. If, on the other hand, an early cessation of hostilities should happen, the market would be relieved of a weight which bears on other than coal stocks. One thing is certain, public opinion will not indefinitely endure with patience a struggle which threatens to temporarily deprive them of one of the necessaries of life. Interruption of our coal supply is a menace to various industries that will not be quietly accepted, to say nothing of private hardships that may be enforced by a prolonged shut-down.

Aside from the strike, the most important influences on the market are the crop situation, the money market and peace prospects in South Africa. Needless to say the crop outlook outranks all of these influences, even the strike, which is only a passing element. Fortunately crop prospects are favorable. The cold snap delayed agricultural operations somewhat, but did no serious injury. Beneficial rains have fallen over large areas, checking drouth; so that winter wheat is in improved condition and early spring wheat is doing well. A large corn acreage seems inevitable; the high prices resulting from last year's shortage having greatly stimulated planting and driving farmers "corn crazy" in some sections. A repetition of last year's deficiency would be simply ruinous and seems beyond possibility. The wonder is that crop losses made so trifling an impression upon general business or upon the railroads, and there is every prospect that the agricultural classes will not be called upon the year to endure the losses suffered last year. Cotton crop reports are also favorable in spite of a slight reduction in acreage.

As for the money market, the outlook is more assuring. Bank reserves are rising owing to the influx of funds from the interior and a further contraction of loans. Relief in the latter direction is most needed and most probable. The great expansion of loans during the last few months has been chiefly due to the operations of big borrowers and syndicates. Some of the deals of the latter have been completed or are approaching consummation, thus releasing large sums and explaining to a considerable degree the sharp fluctuations occasionally seen in the loan account. On March 1 loans stood at the highest point on record, $938,000,000, and the surplus reserve at $9,975,000. A week ago loans stood at $870,400,000, a contraction of $67,000,000 in three months, while surplus reserve had been to $14,000,000. The latter is still a rather slender margin considering the tremendous expansion of various sorts which exists, but the tendency is in the right direction and rising reserves may be expected for some weeks to come; unless a rampant speculation develops, of which at present there are no symptoms, except it be a desire for such on the part of those who have too many stocks on hand for their own comfort and pleasure.

A good deal of interest is shown in the probable effect of the cessation of the Boer war on the American market. In the long run it cannot help being beneficial. The first effect, however, may be for British speculation to spend considerable energy upon Kaffir shares, after which it will probably overflow into Americans. The war has been costing England at the rate of about $400,000,000 a year; and the release of such vast sums from destructive purposes to flow again into the legitimate channels of industry and investment must act as a powerful stimulus that cannot be confined to the London market. British capital is always forced to go beyond its native land, and it is not all improbable that the liking for American securities may revive in view of the wonderful records they have been making. The chief obstacle will undoubtedly be foreign prejudice against American financing.

Railroad shares are firmly held owing to good earnings and the various mergers in prospect. A feature was the advance in Canadian Pacific, attributed by some to buying for consolidation purposes, though this is not confirmed. The industrials are generally neglected and wisely so. More and more of them are making unsatisfactory annual reports, notwithstanding the activity of trade; and it seems only a question of time when overcapitalization will have to be wiped out through the old-fashioned methods of liquidation and reorganization. As the trust problem promises to be a vital political question ere long, the industrials can hardly be considered favorites from either the investment or speculative standpoint.

When the coal strike approaches a settlement we may look for a more active market; and if this is followed by good crop reports and easy money we may look for better prices. The market offers good trading opportunities, there being a fair division of opinions without settled tendencies in either direction. The big men are still persistent bulls on the situation, and if conditions permit they are sure to use their influence in that direction. For the present, however, the market is a sale on good rallies and a purchase only on decided breaks. HENRY CLEWS.

ACTRESS DESTITUTE.

Ada Gray Found Alone In Little Cottage.

New York, May 31.—Ada Gray, a noted actress in her day, but now a helpless invalid, has been found alone and almost destitute in a little cottage at City Island. Neighbors who discovered her plight had her removed to the Fordham hospital, and she probably will be cared for out of the actor's fund.

Miss Gray had been in the home for incurables at Fordham for two years, suffering from locomotor ataxia. The actor's fund provided a place for her and she appeared to be contented until about two weeks ago, when she left there and made her home in the cottage where she was found. She was taken to the hosuital in a semi-conscious state, but it was said later that her condition was more hopeful.

NO LIVES WERE LOST.

Chicago, May 31.—Officials of the Hawthorne race track, whose grand stand burned yesterday, said today that no lives had been lost in the fire. "Chicken" Pete Rack, the stable boy reported killed, had gone to Harlem track before the fire. Detectives are working on the theory that the fire was the work of incendiaries.

NEWS OF THE LAKES

Capt. Carl Johnson Buys an Interest In Ralph Tow.

Big Bank of Logs on Rice's Point Has Been Moved.

Working of Making Land For Northern Pacific Docks Begun.

Capt. Carl Johnson has purchased a fourteenth interest in the steamer P. J. Ralph and tow consisting of the barges Harold and Connelly Bros., and he sails the latter named barge. The tow cleared last Thursday on the second trip of a three-trip contract for Chicago, and at present rates the freight of the three boats will bulk $7000. Capt. Johnson was for years in the employ of Capt. James Davidson, of Bay City, as master of the barge Pretoria and others.

LOGS ARE MOVED.

The 40,000,000 feet of logs banked along Rice's Point as far as the Northern Pacific bridge last winter by Alger, Smith & Co. and Duncan & Brewer, have all been rafted and towed away to various mills. The Northern Pacific had served notice on the mill companies that the banking ground had to be cleared of logs and trestles by June 1, to make room for intended improvements on that bay front, and there was tall hustling on the part of raftmen to escape the heavy penalty that was to begin on the above date. Jeffery Bros. did the towing with the tugs Gilbert and Jeffery. Capt. Jack Shea has charge of the Alger-Smith logs and with an extra crew of men, rouzed them in and made them up into rafts. The work was rather difficult to perform in so short a time owing to ice at the bottom of the rollway. Dynamite had to be used to do the work during the time limit of the notice, but Capt. Hank had his 26,000,000 feet all out of the way a few days before the time fixed.

Peter Gallagher had the contract to float and raft the 14,000,000 feet belonging to Duncan & Brewer. He also finished his work well within the limit, but on the evening of Aug. 31 day he had the last log in the water he met with the accident related in The Herald at the time.

IS WORKING.

The tug Gladiator, recently purchased by Merrill & Ring, is making regular trips between Split Rock and the mill in West Duluth. She has already towed 6,000,000 feet of the 40,000,000 to be rafted this season. Capt. John Jegery, who is master of the Gladiator, is an experienced outside log man.

CORA A. CLEARS.

The full-rigged three-masted schooner Cora A. cleared Thursday with lumber for Chicago. She came up with a cargo of land plaster for the Warehouse and Builders Supply company, of West Superior. The Cora A. is one of the few remaining craft propelled by wind. She was in port for about a week and every shipper got a glimpse of her rigging sighed as he was reminded of the times that are passing into history.

CAPTAIN SHOWED NERVE.

The captain of the steamer Douglas Houghton displayed a nerve of the "do we" order at the moment when he saw that a million bushels in his boat and the interstate bridge was inevitable, as he was leaving port last Thursday. There was a strong current running down the river and the steamer was compelled to go rather fast, which fact the bridge tender evidently failed to notice, for he let a car pass over the bridge. When the captain saw that car enter the draw he saw also that a collision was unavoidable, and at that moment he signaled his engineer to go ahead strong in order to bring his stern around to hit the draw as nar the end as possible, and when within a few feet of the draw, which was now swinging from him, he signaled to back up strong in order to soften the blow. If he had backed up in the first place the stem of the Houghton would have hit the middle abutment and probably knocked the draw over into the water. But the captain's quick and good judgment let the bridge off with but slight damage. The boat was coming so fast and was so close to the bridge that vessel men say the conductor should have refused to cross the draw in spite of the permit of the tender.

ARE MAKING LAND.

The dredge company began Friday to tow dump scows to the site of the proposed improvements by the Northern Pacific of its bay front at Rice's Point. The filling in for the proposed docks will require considerable material and will save the dredge company towage out in the lake during rough weather unless the filling has to be done within a certain time.

EFFECT OF THE STRIKE.

The tug strike drags wearily on. In the meantime the tug business at this port is gradually going out of existence. So that if the strike lasts much longer, a good big chunk of the tugman's occupation will be gone. As a rule, steamers no longer require tugs unless it is to assist them out of slips and point them down stream. The three tugs now in commission together with two steam barges and one independent tug are taking care of what is left of the towing business at this harbor very nicely.

SOME CHARTERING DONE.

Chicago, May 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—Some chartering is being done today at 1¾ cents for wheat and 1¾ cents for corn. Among the boats placed was the Robert M., s for wheat. The demand for boats seems able to take up the supply.

HARLOW'S BODY FOUND.

Toledo, Ohio, May 31.—The body of Capt. William R. Harlow, of this city, who was drowned last fall in the Detroit river in a collision between the tug Christian and the steamer Albright, was found yesterday near Amherstburg. Last Tuesday a body that had been found near the scene of the disaster and identified by the brother of Capt. Harlow, was buried in the family lot here as that of Harlow. It is now thought that the body buried here Tuesday is that of the colored cook of the Christian, who was also drowned at the time of the accident.

Many Opportunities For Those Who Would Buy, Sell, Exchange or Rent Any Kind of Real Estate Are Offered in The Herald Today

IMPORTANT!

Read carefully and consider well what in time may prove the most valuable opportunity of your life.

THE ARIZONA-UTAH PARAFFINE OIL CO. Incorporated under the laws of the territory of Arizona, capital stock 1,500,000 shares at the par value of $1.00 per share, of this stock 492,000 shares have been set aside by said company for developement purposes only. The points of the Arizona law are:

First—It makes by statue the stock absolutely non-assessable and whatever price is paid for the stock constitutes the full paid value.

Second—Stockholders are not liable for the company debts. The company only being liable for its debts. The company owns 2800 acres of land in the heart of the Green River Oil Fields in Utah which has been carefully selected by Mr. J. A. C. Freund, the manager of the company, who is an expert on oil lands, and who has spent twelve years in all the important oil fields in the country.

The Utah oil fields have passed the experimental stage—three wells will be shipping oil as soon as a pipe line is constructed, estimates to furnish forty barrels each per day of the finest lubricating oil, worth from $6.00 to $8.00 per barrel.

The officers of the company are men of high standing and responsibility.

I have personally examined the lands of the company and from indications and oil seepages of a very strong character surrounding the same on all sides I am confident that oil is underlying the land. 150,000 shares of the treasury stock has been placed in my hands for sale at TEN CENTS PER SHARE, and I am now ready to receive subscriptions on same. Prospectus and order blanks will be mailed upon application. All remittances should be made payable to the Merchants Bank of Duluth. They have consented to act as trustee and all stock will be delivered through them.

QUIET WEEK IN REALTY CIRCLES

Transfers Run Into High Figures But Deals Are Scarce---Industrial Developments Drawing Attention to Western End of City.

With an extra holiday to cut it short, and the first favorable weather that has prevailed for some time, which has allowed people to turn their attention actively to other pressing business duties, the week ending today has been anything but an active one in real estate. That is, if you speak of the situation from a general point of view. If you choose to measure the market by the summary of the recorded transfers for the week, then it is a different matter. The sale of the property of the Duluth Transfer Railroad company to the Northern Pacific Railway company, which was recorded on Tuesday, adds in itself $550,000 to the aggregate considerations of the transfers.

• • •

This transfer, as we pointed out in The Evening Herald in its report of the transaction, is chiefly important in its bearing on the future of Duluth. It is a cheering fact that another party has sufficient faith in the prospective greatness of this city to make such a large investment as half a million dollars in property, much of which lies so that it is at this time quite unproductive, even though it is situated so that ultimately it must be in great demand for traffic. That is cheering in itself.

On the other hand, the investor, who is familiar with the fact that the Northern Pacific already has predominatingly large holdings of terminal property here, through early land grants and absorption of other lines enjoying the same perquisites, might be inclined to fear as to the effect of another combination. The effect of this latest absorption promises, however, to be of material benefit to industrial enterprises that may be located, or may desire to locate, along the line of the old Transfer road. Formerly, on business transferred from other lines over the Nothen Pacific tacks to points on the Transfer tracks, a transfer charge was charged by each road—both Northern Pacific and Transfer. Under the new arrangement, it is understood, this trasnfer charge will be consolidated, and in the total considerably reduced. On business taken from or delivered to the Northern Pacific main line, for or from the old Transfer line points, the former transfer charge of the Transfer company, which is the center of the city amounted to $1.50 a car, will be wiped out altogether. The absorption will wipe out also the additional transfer charge that other lines had to absorb in competitive business originating at points on Duluth Transfer. How far this reduction will be carried by the Northern Pacific has not been fully outlined. There is little doubt, however, but that the absorption will in a general way prove of considerable benefit to the district heretofore served by the Duluth Transfer. It will result, too, in a more aggressive policy for the district referred to, looking toward the building up of small industries along the right-of-way, which is 150 feet wide along the bay shore from Thirtieth of Thirty-fifth avenue west to about Sixty-fifth avenue west.

Architects report a continued improvement in the outlook for lighter building operations. Houses are going up all over the city, at the present time, but particularly in the East End. Several important plans that have been withheld for alterations or further consideration are being given their final shaping, and several new commissions for plans for costly homes have been placed the past week.

Radcliffe & Hill will put out for figures next week plans for a home for W. H. Bruin, at the northwest corner of London road and Fifteenth avenue east. It will be of frame, and a square house of modified colonial design.

• • •

It has already been decided that the new Frerker building which is being erected on Superior street between the Spalding and Manhattan buildings will go higher than was originally planned. Arrangements have been closed for adding a fourth story for the use of the Spalding hotel, and negotiations are now proceeding looking toward running the building up to seven stories in height. In the latter event the Spalding hotel would lease the four upper floors. The Commercial club will occupy the second and third floors.

• • •

The Duluth Corrugating and Roofing company has purchased the 50-foot corner lot adjoining its plant on East Michigan street and will put up an addition to the original building this fall. The new structure will be 50 by 90 feet, and will meet, for a while at least, the requirements for additional business capacity.

• • •

H. H. Hanford reports the purchase through the E. D. Field company of the double brick house on Seventeenth avenue east just below Superior street, for $4100. The former owner was the Granite Savings bank of Philadelphia, and the property is bought for the purpose of making a rescue home in connection with the Bethel. Mr. Hanford reports that the interstate company is selling some property right along, and that the movement is fairly well maintained from week to week.

• • •

One dealer reports considerable activity in West End hill property.

• • •

Capt. Triggs, who recently returned from the East, says he believes that manufacturers are about ready to look toward Duluth, on account of the legitimate inducements that are held out to them here. He adds that his trip East was very satisfactory; that he went solely in the interest of manufacturing developments here, and that some of the parties at the head of large iron and woodworking concerns will be here during the summer to investigate the situation and make their final decision as to locating here. The inducement that seemed to attract the most attention was the promise of cheap power at this location.

• • •

The Lakeside Land company has sold two lots on London road, near the fish hatchery, to J. C. Bush for $1000. He will build a home. A lot on Forty-third avenue east has also been sold to Nell Beaton for $400. This will also be improved with a residence. Secretary J. B. Greenfield is leaving for a ten-days' trip to Philadelphia to consult the controlling interests in the Lakeside company and determine the company's policy for the immediate future.

• • •

Quite a little cottage-building boom at Washington Harbor on Isle Royale is going on. Thus far the building has been done on the island in the harbor known as "Johns' island." This island was bought by G. G. Barnum, who has finished a cottage thereon. Mr. Andrews, of Minneapolis, is building another cottage on the same island and R. C. Ray has completed one for his own use. Ward Ames is going down to the island the coming week to look up a location for a summer home. A deal is in progress for the acquisition of the log house owned by the English corporation that owns much land on Isle Royale, which is also located at Washington Harbor, but a hitch in the negotiations has forced a delay of the consummation of the transfer.

• • •

Continued speculation is indulged in concerning the ultimate results of the purchase of the West Duluth blast furnace by interests identified with the steel corporation. Already, coke, coal and limestone in considerable quantities are being laid in for the operation of the plant. Little is said about the policy of the company that acquired the furnace, though meanwalle repairs and every necessary preparation is going forward for blowing in the furnace. The transfer of the plant was formally recorded the first of the week. As noted by The Evening Herald at the time, the consideration was $150,000, and a mortgage filed at the same time as the deed gives security for $100,000 of the purchase price. This is supposed to be merely a temporary expedient in order to facilitate the immediate beginning of operations, as the men who bought the plant are known to possess resources sufficient many times over to handle an investment of this character.

• • •

In this connection, it is said the purchase of the blast furnace by its present owners was a matter of only a few weeks' previous thought. It has previously been noted that another party had earlier been given an option on the purchase of the furnace. This option was taken in the interest of an independent manufacturer in Pennsylvania. His engineer was unable to come out to look over the furnace before the option expired, and learning this ten days before the option expired it was sought to get an extension. The option was not extended, but immediately after its expiration the property was sold to the present owners. Far from disconcerting the other intending purchaser, seriously at least, it is intimated that he intends still to look over the situation here for the manufacture of steel, and perhaps for the manufacture of pig iron. How true this may be time and its developments alone can tell.

• • •

A few dealers are inclined to look upon the lull of the last two or three weeks as premonitory of summer dullness. These are in the minority, however. The majority of the trade regard the situation at present as simply the inevitable rest after a stress. They declare that the fast pace of most of January, February, March and April and part of May could not be kept up with healthful consequences to the market. It is pointed out also that the boom in trade was largely due to the fact that plenty of snaps could be offered to intending buyers. It was easy to find snaps without looking hard for them. Now, most of these easy snaps have been picked up. It is necessary now for dealers to replenish their lists with property that is considered an especially "good buy." It is declared by most dealers that it is not difficult to find buyers for property that looks like a good bargain. In a way, it is considered by some that the zest for buying was added to considerably during the spring by the fact that many of the buyers wanted houses to live in. They thought they could buy at very low prices, and many wanted to stop paying rent. There is no doubt but that this was quite a large element in the market. But it is also known that the wants of this faction have not yet been satisfied, though they may have been temporarily appeased. The coming of autumn will find many people ambitious to own their own homes still among the ranks of the unsatisfied.

• • •

As far as actual closing of transfers is concerned, the reports of dealers are somewhat varied. Some find the week to have been a fairly satisfactory one. Others found it reasonably quiet. On the whole there were probably more that found it less active than the week before. Still, taking the consensus of opinion among the trade, the conclusion is inevitable that from the attitude of the owner and seller the market is in a firm position with a looking-up prospect. There are far more buyers than sellers on the basis of values that has obtained during the past month or two. Consequently, there is no question but that the outcome must be ultimately a higher level of prices. It is pointed out that every material influence since the opening of the new year has made for an appreciation of values of real holdings. There has never been before in the same period in the history of Duluth such an accumulation of material developments to aid in the upward trend of prices. An increase of almost 50 per cent in the iron ore production of this county over last year; the fact that about two-thirds of the ore mined in the Lake Superior region will come from St. Louis county; following so closely upon the centering here of the headquarters of all Lake Superior mining interests and the removal here of their operating departments, and the building of a $385,000 building to house the offices of the Steel corporation's mining offices was sufficient, added to the immense increase in general lines of trade to afford a legitimate basis for the prosperity that has occurred in the real estate market. This prosperity has, in fact, resulted from necessity. People came here who must have houses to live in. The only way to get desirable houses was to buy or build them. People formerly residing here became able to own their own homes, and finding reason to take fresh faith in the future of their city, they, too, joined the home-buying movement. The people of moderate resources set the movement fairly on its feet; those of larger capacity are coming into the situation as factors, more slowly, as is quite natural, but they are already a part of the market. Building operations on every hand, increasing in their scope, rather than diminishing as the projects earlier begun, are completed, bear testimony to the enforced broadening of the situation.

• • •

The Highland Canal and Power company has instituted proceedings this week to condemn property necessary to be acquired for the construction of their canal and power system. This company is the one that is composed of some of the most solid men in Duluth, and which proposes to furnish electrical power to the industries of Duluth for $35 and less a year per horsepower, according to the amount used by each consumer. This is less than half the cost per horsepower generated by steam, and it is believed that the completion of the system will revolutionize present industrial conditions and growth in Duluth.

• • •

The deed to 313 West Superior street, running from George W. Sherwood to R. F. Fitzgerald, was filed during the week. The consideration was $20,000. It will be remembered that The Evening Herald announced this transfer, and that subsequently the purchaser brought suit to compel the former owner to close the deal or pay $2000 damages.

UNANIMOUS RESPONSE

By Firemen and Pumpmen to Strike Order.

Clerks and Non-Union Men Pressed Into Service.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., June 2.—The strike of the engineers, firemen and pumpmen employed in the anthracite coal collieries for an 8-hour day at higher wages was inaugurated at 7 o'clock this morning. There are conflicting reports as to the number of men that quit work. All mine workers' officials claim that fully 90 per cent of the men obeyed the strike order, but the companies dispute this figure.

The mining superintendents of the big coal companies say that reports received from their own collieries and those of individual operators show that the pumps, as a rule, are in operation today. The admit that a great majority of the firemen quit work and that large numbers of pumpmen and engineers also refused to report, but add that in nearly every operation enough men were on hand to fill the strikers' places.

The entire region was reported to be very quiet today, which condition greatly relieved the apprehension that has prevailed for the last few days. It is the belief of both sides, however, that the struggle has just begun, and there is no telling when or where an outbreak will occur. That there will be some disturbance is not doubted.

A local authority says there are employed in the 357 collieries in the anthracite region 1070 engineers, 3200 firemen and 1425 pumpmen.

According to the custom of the unions in the coal regions, each "local" had a committee on duty at daybreak. Their duty principally was to find out the number of men who reported for work, and wherever possible to get their names. These committees reported to their locals, and the work of persuading those who went to the mines today to stay out will begin tonight.

Nearly every mining operation is surrounded by either a high board fence or a barbed wire barrier, and it was, therefore, next to impossible to get a "line" on what was being done within the enclosure.

It was a busy day in the general offices of the big coal companies in this city. The entire office forces were on duty at an early hour prepared for any emergency. In each office a set of clerks was detailed to receive reports from the collieries, and each report was immediately turned over to the superintendent for action. None of the companies was willing to give out figures. One superintendent expressed the sentiment of all when, in refusing to give out figures, he said:

"We do not care to show our weakness, neither do we want to betray our strength."

At noon President Mitchell issued the following statement: "Reports received from every important mining community indicate that where the 8-hour day has not been conceded, fully 80 per cent of the firemen, pumpmen and engineers have ceased work. The number will be materially increased tomorrow. In some sections mine workmen have positively declined to perform the work of engineers, firemen and pumpmen. In some places foremen have manned the pumps and clerks have also been urged to perform this labor.

"A perfect army of irresponsible men have been employed by the coal companies to act as coal and iron policemen. The employment of these men is uncalled for. I am sanguine there will be no overt acts on the part of the strikers."

In reply to a question after issuing his statement, Mr. Mitchell said he knew of no mine that is being flooded as a result of the action of the union today.

In explanation of the first sentence of his statement, Mr. Mitchell said that several of the individual operators had conceded the demands of the men during the past ten days, but that not one of the big companies had done so.

Hazelton, Pa., June 2.—There has been an almost unanimous response in the Hazelton district on the part of the engineers, fireman and pump runners to the strike order of the executive board of the United Mine Workers. At the offices of some of the companies whose operations are in isolated portions of the district the officials, when called up by telephone, said they did not know how many of their men had quit. The mine workers have not yet received any definite figures at their headquarters, so an accurate estimate at the number of strikers cannot be given until later in the day. All the companies whose men deserted their posts promptly filled the places of the strikers with non-union men, brought here from Philadelphia, and their agents say the operation of the pumps will not be interfered with by reason of the strike.

Everything is quiet in the region thus far today. There will be a special meeting of the Clerks' Protective association tonight to urge the local merchants to offer their sympathy and

PACKERS MAKE GAINS

Chicago, June 2.—The beginning of the second week of the strike of the teamsters of the big Chicago packing establishments found the packers with a little the better of the situation. After the coup of yesterday whereby the packers replenished all their meat stations about the city with the exception of Fulton market, the strikers were somewhat perplexed as to the next move to make.

This morning early non-union men continued the work of yesterday and carted considerable quantities of meat under heavy police protection. The strikers in turn are expecting the ice and coal drivers to come to their assistance. Fear has been expressed over the possibility of a clash when the union and non-union men come in contact, but Mayor Harrison has taken precaution to prevent any rioting.

The situation at the stock yards remains rather stable because of the action of commission men in advising stockmen to restrict shipments. Much anxiety is expressed over the curtailed meat supply at the big hotels and fish and poultry are being used as much as possible.

CAR SMASHES AN AUTO

New York, June 2.—Four persons have been seriously injured—two of them fatally, it is feared—in a crash at Rockaway beach between an automobile and a trolley car.

The injured are: William Collar, of Manhattan, legs and arms lacerated; A. Gilmore, of Manhattan, cut on head, face and arms; Mrs. A. Gilmore, of Manhattan, internal injuries, small chance of recovery; Dorothy Strassman, 8 years old, of Manhattan, head crushed.

All of the injured were in the automobile party, which was piloted by Mr. Gilmore, acting as chafferur.

The auto, moving at a high rate of speed, approached the Long Island railroad crossing at Wainwright place.

Darting along the tracks at the same moment sped a crowded trolley car, en route for Rockaway park. Efforts of the motorman and chaffeur to stop were futile, and the car struck the automobile.

Like a thing of cardboard the heavy machine was tossed into the air fully fifteen feet. Its occupants were hurled headlong in all directions, and the machine was sent crashing through a stone wall.

Rebounding from the impact, the trolley car was thrown from the track, while its panic-stricken passengers were tossed together under a downpour of shattered glass from lamps and windows.

Many were bruised and cut, but all on the trolley escaped serious injury. The four occupants of the automobile lay bleeding and unconscious where they had fallen.

Little Dorothy Strassman was found face downward among the debris of the stone fence. Her head was crushed and she barely breathed.

Mrs. Gilmore, who has been an invalid for years, sustained internal injuries which leave but little hope of saving her life.

No arrests followed the accident.

JOCKEY VAN DUSEN BUMPED

Vienna, June 2.—An American jockey named Van Dusen, of St. Louis, who rode Hazafi, the favorite, in the Austrian derby which was run yesterday, was summarily and permanently suspended on charges of bumping and crossing. It is alleged Van Dusen endangered the lives of four jockeys. This decision prevents Van Dusen from riding anywhere in Europe and the United States. Van Dusen said to a representative of the Associated Press that he was at a loss to understand the charges, asserting that his riding had been perfectly straight, the race was won by Llubar, an outsider.

SENTENCED FOR FLIRTING

New York, June 2.—Police Justice Marshall, of Mount Vernon, has sentenced Alice Myers, a young woman of that place, to sixty days in the county jail for flirting with a builder of Port Chester by telephone.

Several months ago the builder met Miss Myers. She looked up his telephone number and was, his wife alleged, continually ringing up his house and asking him to meet her. Usually the telephone was answered by his wife, who exhausted every effort to find out her husband's admirer's name.

Miss Myers' attorney secured her release on a writ of habeas corpus.

THE SOUTH AFRICAN WAR IS BROUGHT TO A CLOSE

Peace Terms Very Favorable to the Burghers Have Been Signed By All the Boer Leaders and British Generals.

No Tax For the War Is to Be Imposed on the Transvaal---The Whole British Empire Joyfully Celebrating the Event.

TERMS OF PEACE.

London, June 2.—The demand for accommodation in the house of commons this afternoon to hear the statement of the first lord of the treasury and government leader, A. J. Balfour, was unprecedented.

Mr. Balfour arose at 2:40 p. m. and announced the terms of peace in South Africa, as follows:

The burgher forces lay down their arms and hand over all their rifles, guns and ammunition of war in their possession, or under their control.

All prisoners are to be brought back as soon as possible to South Africa, without loss of liberty or property.

No action to be taken against prisoners, except where they are guilty of breaches of the rules of war.

Dutch is to be taught in the schools, if desired by the parents, and used in the courts, if necessary.

Rifles are allowed for protection.

Military occupation is to be withdrawn as soon as possible, and self-government substituted.

There is to be no tax on the Transvaal to pay the cost of the war.

The sum of £3,000,000 sterling is to be provided for restocking the Boer farms.

Rebels are liable to trial, according to the law of the colony to which they belong. The rank and file will be disfranchised for life.

The death penalty will not be inflicted.

London, June 2.—Peace has been declared after nearly two years and eight months of a war which tried the British empire to its uttermost and wiped the Boers from the list of nations.

The war has come to an end with Lord Kitchener's announcement from Pretoria that he, Lord Milner and the Boer delegates had signed "terms of surrender." This announcement had been anticipated for several days, and it was definitely forecasted in these dispatches; but its receipt Sunday afternoon took the nation by surprise, as everybody had confidently believed that the house of commons would hear the first news today. The edge of the anticipation with which Great Britain awaited the promised statement in the house of commons from Mr. Balfour, the government leader, was still further dulled by the following message from King Edward to his people, which was issued after midnight:

"The king has received the welcome news of the cessation of hostilities in South Africa with infinite satisfaction and his majesty trusts that peace may speedily be followed by the restoration of prosperity in his new dominions, and that the feelings necessarily engendered by war will give place to earnest co-operation on the part of his majesty's South African subjects in promoting the welfare of their common country."

How greatly King Edward's insistence that peace in South Africa be secured prior to his coronation influenced the present agreement will probably not be known until the private memoirs of the present regime are given to the public.

A despatch from Utrecht, Holland, to the Daily Mail says Mr. Kruger was informed shortly after 9 o'clock last night that peace had been declared. He had been asleep. "My God," he said, "it is impossible."

Mr. Kruger and his entourage, the dispatch continues, hope to be permitted to return to the Transvaal. This, however, is quite unlikely.

The news which Great Britain has been patiently awaiting came characteristically on an entirely pacific understanding sunday afternoon, when London presents a deserted appearance.

Very late Saturday night a dispatch was received from Lord Kitchener, in which he said the Boer delegates were coming to Pretoria, that they had accepted Great Britain's terms, and that they were prepared to sign terms of surrender. Mr. Broderick, the war secretary, personally communicated this message to King Edward, who was at Buckingham palace. But the government declined to take any chances and nothing concerning the receipt of this message was allowed to leak out. At about 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon the war office received the following dispatch from Lord Kitchener, dated Pretoria, May 31, 11:15 p. m.: "A document concerning terms of surrender was signed here this evening at half past 10 o'clock by all the Boer representatives, as well as Lord Milner and myself."

The clerk on duty at the war office transmitted this message to Buckingham palace, where King Edward was lunching. At about 5 o'clock word was received permitting the publication of this message, and the small notice which was stuck up outside the war office consisted of a copy of Lord Kitchener's cablegram. A similar notice was put outside of the colonial office. Beyond these two skimpy bits of paper London knew nothing of the great event. In the clubs, hotels and the newspaper offices, which were almost all deserted, the momentous news was ticked out on the tape. Then like wildfire, at about 6 o'clock, London awakened to the fact that the South African war was over. The inhabitants of the East End flocked to the mansion house, the Mecca to the boisterous patriotic, be up town in time to see the lord mayor of London, Sir Joseph C. Dimsdale, come to a balcony and announce that terms of surrender had been signed in South Africa. Amid many cheers the lord mayor made a short speech, in which he expressed his hope that London would show its appreciation of the good news by behaving itself decently and in an orderly manner. "Let us," said the lord mayor, in conclusion, "now pray for a long and happy peace."

At this stage the assembled crowd yelled lustily, and at the instance of the lord mayor gave hearty cheers for King Edward, followed by others for the men who had died in South Africa since the war commenced.

By 8 o'clock last night the news had become generally known. A few belated extra editions of newspapers were peddled about the streets, but before their appearance the enterprising hawkers, who for a long time past had kept union jacks, feathers and horns laid in anticipation of the present occasion were much in evidence. Long after midnight the national flags were waved indiscriminately by well meaning roysterers. There was scarcely an omnibus or a cab which was not adorned with the national emblem. Impromptu processions marched up and down Strand and Piccadilly. Sporadic cheers and much horn blowing atoned for the silmness of the crowds, which, had their volume been greater, would doubtless have rivalled "Mafeking night." As it was, the demonstrations of the night resulted in a genial and harmless sort of jubilation, which continued long after midnight.

BRITISH CELEBRATE.

Extreme Joy Is Felt Over Close of War.

London, June 2.—With the exception of Ireland, practically the whole of the United Kingdom is holiday making today, in honor of the conclusion of peace in South Africa. The streets everywhere are thronged with people, who every now and then relieve their overstrung nerves by an outburst of hoarse cheering, or by braying penny trumpets. The tone of King Edward's message to the people, and the absence therein of any note of exultation, seems to have set a good example, and, while giving free vent to their own satisfaction, the British are showing small desire to jeerow over their late enemies. Flags and bunting are everywhere displayed, church bells are ringing, salutes are being fired and there is general jubilation on all sides. Crowds of suburbanites poured into London at an early hour and converged to the usual centers, the Mansion House, Royal Exchange, Trafalgar Square, etc., and quickly bedecked themselves with tiny flags, buttons and badges. At intervals, some enthusiast starts singing 'God Save the King,' which is taken up by the happy throngs, and is heard for miles through the neighboring streets, from one end of the metropolis to the other.

The earliest demonstrations on the Stock exchange, where the members arrived an hour earlier than usual, commenced with the bidding up of South African securities and consols. On the official opening, "God Save the King" was sung by all present, and a dispatch was sent to Lord Kitchener as follows:

'The members of the London Stock exchange join with the rest of the empire in rejoicing at the happy end of the lengthened campaign. Peace with honor is a fitting prelude to peaceful coronation celebrations. Heartiest congratulations to your lordship and the brave boys with you.'

The members of the Stock exchange then marched to the Mansion House and serenaded the lord mayor, Sir Joseph C. Dimsdale, and afterwards resumed business, but without much heart in their work.

Later in the day a levee at St. James palace and a cabinet meeting in Downing street attracted immense crowds. Thousands of people awaited the arrival of the cabinet ministers and the scenes which greeted the popular favorites have not been equalled in many years. Many of the ministers wore court dress, on account of having to be present at the levee, which added to the attractiveness of the occasion. It is almost needless to add that Joseph Chamberlain, the colonial secretary, came in for special attention from the masses. The police were unable to hold them in bounds and the crowds surged around Mr. Chamberlain's carriage, hurrahing and shouting congratulations until the colonial secretary escaped within the building.

On the adjournment of the cabinet meeting the crowds repaired to Buckingham palace and St. James palace, and further relieved their feelings by cheering the king and other notabilities who attended the levee, at which the United States ambassador, Joseph H. Choate, and all the members of the embassy and a number of special coronation envoys were present.

Telegrams received from all parts of the provinces testify to the extreme joy felt by all classes at the conclusion of the war. At many places the magistrates discharged all the prisoners charged with light offenses. A singular fact is that the first news of the conclusion of peace was received at Windsor, by telephone, from Berlin and Paris.

Many of the provincial exchanges closed at lunch time, and the children at the schools everywhere were dismissed.

Great torchlight processions are being arranged for tonight, and illuminations which were in the course of preparation for the coronation are being hurried on, so that they can be lit up tonight. It is also thought will be extremely improbable that it will be possible to bring many troops home in time for the coronation.

SOME OF THE RUSES

Adopted By War Correspondents to Send News.

New York, June 2.—Some interesting stories are told in this morning's papers of the ruses adopted by correspondents to dodge the press censors in South Africa in letting their editors keep informed of the progress of the peace negotiations, says a Herald dispatch from London.

The Daily Telegraph, for instance, received from Bennet Burleigh, on Whit-Monday, a cablegram with the word "Whitsuntide greetings."

When the dispatch arrived without any official delay the first idea was that the transmission of such a message at full rates from the seat of war, was a somewhat superfluous demonstration of politeness.

A little reflection, however, seemed to indicate the significance of the particular season at which the sociable sentiment was expressed.

The editor turned, however, to the prayer book—knowing Burleigh is well acquainted with holy writ—and, reading over the gospel for Whitsunday, came upon the sentences:

"Peace I leave with you, My peace I give unto you. Not as the world giveth, give I unto you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid."

"When we received Mr. Burleigh's message to his brother in Glasgow: 'Returning—Tell Lawson, we felt,' says the Daily Telegraph, "that the moment had arrived, and we might fairly take the public into our confidence.

"The Daily Mail had a most ingenious arrangement. It was a simple device, purporting to send mining market news, whereas it was in reality a code telling all about how the peace negotiations were progressing.

"Here is verbatim the first of a long series of cables:

"Regarding purchase gold farm Paxfontein. All necessary parties to contract now. Pretoria, whither Alf gone get better price; have every reason believe venders wish sell."

The simplicity of the device renders explanation almost unnecessary. Of course the particular instance was but an isolated success of a scheme devised to meet all possible contingencies, but it worked excellently. It barely needs the translation. "Alf" is Lord Milner. The vendors are, of course, the Boers. "Paxfontein gold farm" is the synonym for peace.

LEYDS IS PLEASED.

Paris, June 2.—Dr. Leyds, the European agent of the Transvaal, who had been in Paris for a couple of days, was informed late yesterday evening of the conclusion of peace in South Africa, but he refused to credit it. The news seemingly was an unpleasant surprise to him. This morning, however, a messenger from the foreign office brought him official confirmation of the press reports, and Dr. Leyds immediately decided to proceed to Utrecht, Holland, for which place he departed at noon. When questioned as he was leaving his hotel here, Dr. Leyds declared he was pleased with the news, but he declined to make a statement, except that he admitted he was quite ignorant of the conditions of the surrender, though he felt certain they were favorable to the Boers.

INSPECTION.

Meat Inspector Condemns Some High Priced Beef During May.

A choice uppercut in the spare ribs is what the meat inspector of the health department handed the beef trust during the month of May.

Three hundred pounds of beef, thirty pounds of heart and twenty pounds of ribs were confiscated as not being worthy of exhorbitant prices.

The inspector also went after 180 pounds of onions and 20 pounds of pie plant.

Such was the report submitted at the monthly meeting of the board of health this morning.

Health Commissioner Robinson reported that the department inspectors quarantined thirty houses during the month. Nine were quarantined on account of smallpox, ten for diphtheria and eleven for scarlet fever. One hundred and thirty-two rooms were thoroughly fumigated.

In addition to this the department served 788 notices to remove garbage, inspected 280 stables and 153 cellars.

During the month there were eighty deaths, of which five were stillborn and thirteen were of persons that contracted disease elsewhere, but died here, so that the death rate for the month is only to be estimated on a total of sixty-two deaths.

The meeting of the board was largely routine. All health inspectors were retained for another month except one that the commissioner suspended early in the month.

BATTLE WITH YAQUIS

A Battalion of the Mexican Army Has a Desperate Encounter With the Indians, Killing Many of the Savages.

Tucson, Ariz., June 2.—A battalion of the Mexican army commanded by Gen. Lorez, head of the army in Sonora, fought a desperate battle with 300 Yaqui Indians on the afternoon of May 29 at El Tanque, a small place not far from Hermosillo. A messenger arriving at Hermosillo brought only meager details of the fight. Forty Yaquis were killed and twice that number wounded. The Mexican army lost fifteen men. The Yaquis escaped towards the Carmatian mountains, leaving their dead and a large supply of ammunition and arms were captured. Excitement is running high at Hermosillo and business is practically suspended, many of the merchants joining the volunteer army.

SWITCH WAS THROWN

Bad Wreck on Northwestern at Otis, Iowa, Resulting In Serious Injury to Two and the Bruising of Five Others.

Des Moines, June 2.—Two persons were badly injured and five others were bruised in a wreck on the Chicago & Northwestern, at Otis, seven miles from Cedar Rapids, at 1 o'clock this morning. A westbound passenger train was on the siding waiting for an eastbound train to pass. The brakeman threw the switch before the eastbound train was clear, derailing the last sleeper and hurling it against the westbound engine.

Eight or ten people in the sleeper at the time were bruised but only five received injuries of any consequence, and only two were seriously hurt.

The seriously injured are: Dr. G. D. Cook, of San Francisco, en route to Hamburg, Germany; C. S. Serefzhjohsky, a noted Russian scholar from Kazon college, Russia, returning home from a trip around the world.

Both are badly bruised and cut on the head and face from broken glass, but will recover.

WILL LIVE APART HEREAFTER

Paris, June 2.—A dispatch received here this afternoon from Monaco confirms the report published by the Petit Journal this morning that at the instance of the prince of Monaco the courts of the principality have decreed the judicial separation of the prince and princess of Monaco, who was formerly Alice, dowager duchess of Richelieu, a daughter of Michael Heine, a banker of New Orleans, La.

SAYS HE IS MARRIED TO HELEN

New York, June 2.—A man wearing a volunteer soldier's silver shield, with two cross bars, and bearing the inscription, "J. H. Anderson, captain, Company K, Fifth Indiana Volunteer cavalry," has been arrested and is being held at White Plains pending an examination by alienists for annoying Helen Gould. Anderson has written Miss Gould dozens of letters, in which he declares he married her ten years ago. The prisoner is 64 years old, and says his home is in Kansas.

CARRIER PIGEONS

Will Announce Opening of Minneapolis Elks' Fair.

Henry Flynn sent a couple of carrier pigeons to Minneapolis yesterday afternoon, which were to be used today to advise Duluth Elks that the Minneapolis Elks' street fair had formally opened.

The pigeons were to be released at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The distance over the course they would take is computed at 150 miles, and Mr. Flynn hopes his birds will make it by 5 o'clock this afternoon, which will be at the rate of fifty miles an hour. They will be handicapped by the foggy weather, especially through the wooded district, owing, it is said, to the fact that the birds have never been through the country before and went down in an express car, which would prevent them from getting their bearings.

This is the first time the pigeons have been used for inland work here. They have been employed for considerable work on the north and south shores of Lake Superior. One made a journey from a point 39 miles north of Ontonagon to Duluth, a distance of 175 miles in three and a half hours. Two did better when released at Pie island, making the 200 miles in two hours and twenty minutes. Two that were sent from Baptism river flew the 59 miles to Duluth in sixty minutes.

'Tisn't safe to be a day without Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil in the house. Never can tell what moment an accident is going to happen.

VERANDA GAVE WAY

Knights of Columbus Hurley Trip Has Unfortunate Incident.

Veranda Collapsed and Duluth Men Were Among Injured.

J. Zuger, J. J. Callahan and a Superior Man Receive Injuries.

The collapse of a hotel veranda at Hurley yesterday injured several Duluth and Superior people.

Jeremiah F. Callahan, of 13 Eighteenth avenue west, had a shoulder dislocated and was otherwise injured.

James C. Donnelly, of West Superior and well known in this city, was quite badly hurt internally.

Yesterday a new lodge of the Knights of Columbus was instituted at Hurley. About one hundred knights from Duluth and West Superior took part in the ceremony.

In the evening, while waiting for the train, the Duluthians and others crowded out on the hotel veranda. The structure gave way without a moment's warning, letting the crowd down a distance of sixteen feet very suddenly.

Twenty-five men were dropped into a bowling alley underneath the veranda and it was in the jam that the head of the lakes men were injured.

For a time it seemed that the accident would be attended with fatal results, but after the wreckage had been cleared away and the mass of men disentangled, it was found that Mr. Donnelley's injuries and a number of cracked ribs and arms and a few sprained ankles were the most serious injuries.

Every man that went down was injured some and it was a badly battered up crowd that returned to Duluth early this morning.

Dance at Oatka this evening—Lisbon Orchestra.

EAGLES!

MEETINGS.

Frank W. Higgins Here to Attend Those of His Companies.

Frank W. Higgins, of Olean, N. Y., and Frank Sullivan White, of New York, arrived in the city this morning to attend the annual meeting of the four corporations in which they are largely interested—Olean Land company, the Higgins Land company, the Guarantee Land company and the Higgins Wild Cat company. These companies are large owners of iron lands on the Mesaba range, and several very large mines have been discovered already on their properties.

"We have come up simply to attend the annual meetings of our companies," said Mr. Higgins this noon. "There is no news in our visit, nor does anything of a special nature call us here.

"Business in the East is in most prosperous condition. I don't think that a cessation of industrial activity is looked for as yet on account of the strike in the anthracite collieries. If the strike continues, that would naturally be the result, in some degree at least. Anthracite coal has advanced materially in price in the East on account of the shortage. Bituminous coal, which has come to be quite largely used where anthracite was formerly exclusively consumed, has also advanced largely in price. It is quite generally 50 cents a ton higher than before the strike began, and at some points has risen to $1 higher than it was.

"Financial conditions as well as the general trade situation in the East reflect the general prosperity of the people. Money is in good supply for loans, and if anything I think bankers are increasing their line of discounts.

"As to real estate conditions in the West and Northwest, that is something I expect to learn about here. The general impression in the East is that the West is coming along finely. I couldn't speak authoritatively as to the chances for a large movement of Eastern money to the West for investment. Of course, there are plenty of opportunities in a speculative way at home, but some people would prefer real estate as a safer investment."

GASOLINE LAUNCH EXPLODES.

St. Paul, June 2.—A Fergus Falls, Minn., special to the Dispatch says: A gasoline launch on Long lake, ten miles north of here blew up while the engine was being repaired and Casper Zimmerman, the Erhard blacksmith, was seriously injured and it is feared he will not recover. The launch was in the boat house at the time and the boat house and boat were totally destroyed.

TO IMPRESS THE PUBLIC.

New York, June 2.—In order to impress upon the public the iniquity of child labor the organized labor bodies of New Jersey will, according to the World's special from Trenton, exhibit throughout the state twelve children whose ages range from 8 to 10 years, taken from the glass factories at Minoketa.

THREE DOORS EAST OF LAKE AVENUE.

AT WEST DULUTH

It is rumored in West Duluth that parties have been looking over this end of the city with a view of establishing a steel rail plant here. Since the work of repairing the blast furnace has been started there have been numerous stories afloat of other industries that would also be started here to use the product of the furnace and the last rumor may be of the same nature as the others. There is, however, one business man in West Duluth who is said to have some information on the subject, but he says that his information is of such a character that he cannot give it out.

WATER PLANT PURCHASE.

One of the principal things that will come up this evening at the council meeting that is of special interest to the people of West Duluth is the matter regarding the proposed purchase of the West Duluth water plant. City Engineer Patten will present a report to the council teling what the plant can be bought for. This report is in accordance with provisions in the new charter of the city. Notice of the proposed purchase of the plant will be published in the papers at least six weeks before the proposition is submitted to the people.

THE CLUB BANQUET.

There was a committee meeting Saturday evening of those members who are making arrangements for the annual banquet of the West Duluth Republican club, on the evening of June 18. The list of speakers is not ready to announce, as the committee has not yet received definite word from those asked whether they will be able to attend. The tickets for the banquet have been left with Judge Stone in Stewart's hall.

HIT BY A TRAP.

Charles Smith, of the West end, was struck on the head by one of the traps in an ore car, at the Missabe docks Saturday afternoon and received a severe cut in the head. He was unconscious when picked up. Smith was under the car making some repairs when the trap fell.

ROADS ARE BAD.

Ransom Metcalfe returned Saturday from a trip to the Little Fork country, where he took a party of four or five settlers in the interest of the Little Fork Colonization association. Mr. Metcalfe says the roads are very bad for getting into the Little Fork country, but it is all right after one gets there. Those who have already settled are getting along finely and are well pleased with the country. It is expected that there will be another party to go out there very shortly.

WEST DULUTH BRIEFS.

The Modern Samaritans of West Duluth will entertain at another of the organization's popular ladies' night this evening. A program and social amusements will be in order, not forgetting the refreshments.

It is understood that Rev. Mr. Lowry, formerly of Chicago, Ill., has been, or will be, extended a call from the Westminster Presbyterian church. Rev. Mr. Lowry has been a theological student at one of the Chicago schools and it is said that this will be his first charge.

A. F. Rockwell, who formerly lived in this part of the city, arrived this morning from Cloquet, on a business trip. Mr. Rockwell has been engaged in the steam laundry business at Cloquet and he is said to be about to sell out his interest to Duluth parties.

The remains of Michael Murray were shipped to Mapleton, Minn., for burial yesterday.

The body of Raymond McNulty, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McNulty, were shipped last evening to Marquette, Mich., for burial. The boy died last November.

L. A. Duncan has gone south on a trip.

George C. Morrison and family have removed from 107 Central avenue to 1116 Garfield avenue.

Thomas Brett, of Waseca street, was surprised by a party of friends from Bay View Heights and West Duluth Saturday evening.

West Duluth's mounted policeman will be Ole Turvick. He has been on duty in the department at this end of the city and received the appointment to the new job. There is a large amount of territory for a mounted officer to cover.

SMOKED OUT.

True Story of Why Mark Twain Quit the River.

St. Louis, Mo., June 2.—"What Caused Mark Twain to Leave the River, or Why a Great Humorist Did Not Become a Second Jim Bludso," is one of the books that has never been written by Samuel L. Clemens or any one else. So far as known, the story has never even appeared in print, although it is vouched for by several of the old river men who have the yarn-spinning habit.

According to these authorities Mark Twain never became a full-fledged pilot and never stood a night watch alone. In other words, while he had a pilot's license, his mastery of the great river craft on which he rode was always limited by the understanding that an older and more experienced head was within easy call. This was no discredit to the young pilot.

On the occasion in question, it matters not what the year or boat, the steamer to which young Clemens was attached as cub pilot was bound up stream with a heavy cargo of cotton. At the officers' table the first day out from Natchez, Miss., the talk turned upon what to do in sudden emergencies, and especially in case of fire on a steamer loaded with cotton. The matter was discussed in all its bearings, each of those present giving his ideas upon the subject. Mark Twain, like most of the others, held to the notion that it was the pilot's duty in such an emergency to emulate the now famous Jim Bludso and "hold her nozzle to the bank till the last galoot's ashore."

Among those at the table was the assistant engineer, a young man whose experience of life had taught him to doubt the ability of human nature to carry out the projects of its more boastful elements. He went below at the same time Mark Twain went aloft, but the two continued to think of the conversation just closed. The more the engineer thought about it the less credit he was disposed to give to the cub pilot's scheme.

As every one knows, the pilot house and engine room of a steamboat are connected, not only with bells for signalling, but with a speaking tube, through which the important functionaries who operate above and below can discuss the weather and politics in their spare moments. The mouth of the tube at the upper end is but little larger than the human mouth, but in the engine room it has the shape of a funnel as big as a half-bushel measure. While the assistant engineer was pondering the emergency question he was also wiping off a portion of the machinery with a bunch of cotton waste, and as he reached the mouth of the speaking tube it was the work of but a moment to touch a match to the inflammable material in his hand and thrust it far into the tube.

No one saw the act, but everybody on board heard from it in about a minute. Mark Twain, alone in the pilot house and still pondering the dire things he had heard from the older hands about the horrors of burning steamboats, especially when they happened to be loaded with cotton, was horrified to see smoke pouring from his end of the speaking tube. There was but one thought in his mind. The boat was on fire. Dropping the wheel, which spun around and around at left his hand, he grasped the rope by which the big bell was sounded and began pulling like a sexton, at the same time raising his voice in a cry of "Fire," "Fire," "The boat's on fire!" Here the officers of the boat and the passengers are said to have found him, after hurriedly ascertaining that the alarm was false, still valorously determined to "save the ship." The boat, relieved of the rudder's guidance, had in the meanwhile swung around in the current and dashed full speed on a sand bar, from which it required half a day to drag her. And Mark Twain, having lost his nerve, left the river.

BIGAMOUS.

Mary Johnson Says Erick Linni Married Two Women.

Mary Johnson is the plaintiff in a peculiar suit brought Saturday afternoon against Erick Linni, also known as Erick Hendrickson.

She sues for annulment of a marriage between them that she says is void, but she also sues for divorce in case the marriage is held good.

She says they were married in West Duluth Nov. 26, 1900, and the marriage was all regular in every respect except that she claims Linni had a wife living at the time.

The first wife, whose name is Lisa Linni, and who lives in Michigan, heard of the expected marriage, and started for Duluth to head it off. She arrived at the plaintiff's residence on the very day of the marriage, but too late to stop the ceremony. The plaintiff claims that when he saw his first wife Linni disappeared, and the plaintiff says she has never seen or heard of him since.

The plaintiff seeks to have the marriage annulled, and if it is held to be legal, she asks for a divorce on the ground of desertion and non-support. S. D. Allen is her attorney.

GOES TO JAIL.

John Wallace to Pay Fine and Also Do Labor.

Judge Ensign this afternoon sentenced John Wallace, convicted of keeping a blind pig at Mesaba, to pay a fine of $100 and spend thirty-five days in the county jail at hard labor.

Wallace was indicted twice for this offense. Two men bought whisky from him May 2, and there was an indictment for each one. The jury that tried the first indictment acquitted Wallace, and the jury that tried the second case convicted him.

In passing sentence, Judge Ensign said that he could not agree with the verdict of acquittal that the jury in the first case returned.

Alexander Tifer, who was convicted of assaulting Herman Greenwald with a cant hook in Holleran's saloon on St. Croix avenue, was sentenced to the penitentiary on the reformatory plan.

DAMAGE IS DONE

Heavy Rain Storm Causes Much Loss In Some Places.

Panton & White Hit Hardest, Water Getting Into Their Store.

Nearly an Inch of Rain Falls Within Twenty Minutes.

The heavy rain storm last night caused about $10,000 worth of damage in Duluth.

Fully half that amount was sustained by Panton & White. The rain beat in through the heavy canvas protecting the second floor and thoroughly soaked the fine stock of carpets, white goods, underwear and the like.

Reports from the various departments invaded by the rain indicate that the estimate of $5000 damage is very conservative.

The Panton & White building is being enlarged by two additional floors. The contractors, to carry on the work, found it necessary to remove the roof, and in order to protect the store from rain, Saturday night covered the building with every available covering. The rain, however, beat through the heaviest canvas.

During the storm Mr. Panton got out a large force of men to stop all leaks possible. This action probably saved the firm a much heavier loss.

The damage was not visible this morning, however, as the wreckage was removed before the store opened for business.

The fine new building of the Yale Laundry company on First street and First avenue east was damaged to the extent of about $1000 by the washing away of a retaining wall.

Other buildings in course of construction were damaged more or less by the rain. Public and private buildings in all parts of the city were slightly damaged.

The basement of the St. James school on Twentieth avenue west is flooded with about six inches of water today. The water ran into the basement through windows which were two feet from the ground.

In the East End large windows in several houses were broken by hail during the early part of the storm.

All avenues that are unpaved were badly washed in places. Several tons of mud that had washed down the hillside was removed from Superior street during the morning, bringing forth another argument in favor of paving all avenues through the business district as far up the hill as Second street.

The twenty-four inch storm sewer on Third avenue east was unable to handle the rush of water and burst at a point about 100 feet north of Superior street.

The rainfall over the head of the lakes region, as recorded at the Duluth weather office, was 2.37 inches for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 o'clock this morning. The heaviest fall of rain occurred from 4:30 to 4:50 o'clock this morning, when the precipitation in the twenty minutes was .85 inches. The heavy falls of rain occurred between 3 and 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, 1:15 to 1:30, 3 to 3:30, and from 4:30 to 4:50 this morning.

While the rain was general over the lake region, the northwest, the central valleys and the southeastern states, yesterday afternoon and last evening, the precipitation was heavier at Duluth than at any of the other sixty-one stations of the weather bureau scattered over the country. The rainfall here was considered excessive, but it was not the heaviest that Duluth has experienced for the same period of time on many former occasions.

The temperature yesterday and last evening ranged from 46 to 60 degrees.

The forecast indicates continued warmer weather, westerly winds and probable showers.

OPEN ON SUNDAY.

John Holleran, Saloonkeeper, Pays a Fine.

John Holleran, proprietor of a saloon in the Paradise alley district, paid a fine of $30 and costs in police court this afternoon for keeping open on Sunday.

About 6 o'clock yesterday morning Frank Wiley was knocked down and robbed in this aloon by Dan O'Leary. The bartender tried to prevent the robbery, and did all he could to assist the police, but the fact that the place was open at that time led to the complaint and fine.

It seems that O'Leary got Wiley into the fight, and when he had him down went through his pockets, taking a small sum. O'Leary was later arrested by Detective Irvine and is now in custody pending an examination.

SENATORS

Are Urged to Pass Certain Legislation By President.

Washington, June 2.—Senators Proctor, Nelson, Gamble and Kittredge were at the White House this forenoon on an invitation, and had a conference with the president in regard to pending legislation. The subjects discussed were the Cuban reciprocity bill and the prospects for canal legislation this session. The object of the conference was to urge upon the senators the necessity for unanimity of action and the real necessity for legislation on these subjects at this session. Another conference will be held this evening at the White House with other senators in the hope that members of the senate can nbe gotten together on these matters and legislation speedily enacted.

As to the canal bill, it is known that the president would reluctantly accept the responsibility imposed by the Spooner amendment of selecting a route, but he would much prefer that congress select the route itself.

MACADAM.

City Engineer PattonLikes That Pavement Better Than Ever.

City Engineer Patton returned yesterday from the East, where he has been inspecting paving and conduit systems with a view to furnishing valuable information in making necessary improvements in this city.

Mr. Patton examined all kinds of paving in many cities and winds that tar or bituminous macadam is giving the best of satisfaction for residence streets.

Among the cities where he saw practical demonstrations of use of this new paving were: Port Huron, London, Ontario; Hamilton, Toronto, Geneva, N. Y.; Syracuse, Cambridge, Mass.; Pawtucket, R. I.

In the latter city Mr. Patton says he saw an avenue considerably steeper than Third avenue west between Superior and Second streets, that was paved with tar macadam. The paving had been done for more than five years and there was scarcely a scratch on it. Teams came down this steep avenue on a run, so sure was the footing.

It has been suggested that Duluth go in for the manufacture of this kind of paving, using the native trap rock, and thereby cheapening the cost of paving very materially.

Mr. Patton made a careful investigation of the Baltimore conduit system, said to be the most perfect in the United States. The knowledge he obtained from this inspection will be used in building the Duluth system, which is expected to do away with the dangerous overhead wires in the business district.

RECRUITING.

Naval Recruiting Station Has Been Opened For Week.

A United States naval recruiting station was opened this morning in the federal court room on the top floor of the postoffice building. It will be open until Saturday of this week, when the officers in charge will go to Fargo, N. D., to recruit.

The recruiting party is comprised of Lieut. W. L. Littlefield, Dr. J. G. Field, Boatswain J. J. Killin, Warrant Machinist Frederick Ruth, Chief Gunner's Mate Stanley Dunleiak, Hospital Steward F. W. Hathaway, Yeoman C. E. Parker and Hospital Apprentices William Heinzel and H. F. Bougey.

The party has been traveling since last fall and has enlisted over 3000 men in the navy.

Although the office was opened only this morning, several applications were made before this noon. No examinations have yet been made. It was stated this noon that the recruiting officers have had a number of applications from young men who have been in this country, but a short time, who are physically qualified, but who may not enter the navy. The government is very strict regarding the requirement that applicants must be citizens of the United States. First citizenship papers are not sufficient to qualify a man.

The party expects to enlist a few men here before Saturday evening. All those enlisting w... be transported free of charge to some one of the United States war vessels while the apprentices will be sent to the naval training station at Newport.

The term of enlistment is four years. The age limit for apprentices are from 16 to 17 years of age; for landsmen from 18 to 25 years and for other classes from 21 to 35 years. ...se pay runs all the way from $9 per month for apprentices to $55 per month for first-class machinists.

All machinists, electricians and firemen are required to pass an examination as to their knowledge in their respective branches of trade and seamen have to pass a physical examination only.

The building and addition to the navy of new war vessels has necessitated the recruiting of a large number of able-bodied men. The government holds out the promise of advancement for meritorious service, as many of the petty officers will be advanced to places on the new war vessels.

IRON ORE TRAFFIC

Shipments For May Nearly Eighteen Hundred Thousand Tons.

Does Not Quite Double the Ore Movement In April.

Missabe Road Runs But Little Below the Iron Range.

Ore shipments from the St. Louis county iron mines in May were more than double the aggregate in May of last year. The movement last month approximated 1,800,000 tons. In 1901 it was 850,000 tons. It was not quite double the movement in April, when 973,000 tons were moved.

It has been estimated that the volume of the ore movement from all points on the great lakes in May would be almost 3,500,000 tons. The figures for the ports in the Duluth mining district would indicate that this total is a little high, unless the new Clergue mines make a very substantial contribution to the movement.

The movement by roads, as compared with 1901, the figures for the Duluth & Iron Range and the Eastern Minnesota being subject to minor correction later, are as follows:

	1902.	1901.
Duluth & Iron Range..	702,079	350,560
Duluth, M. & N.....	616,448	264,179
Great Northern	475,000	235,589
Total 1,793,527		850,868

The movement for the season to date as compared with 1901 shows a material gain, as follows:

	1902.	1901.
Duluth & Iron Range..	931,155	264,177
Duluth, M. & N.....	1,236,717	452,378
Great Northern	690,000	235,589
Total 2,857,872		953,444

It is expected that a much better record will be made next month, even should the tug trouble continue. It is claimed at lower lake ports that more trouble has been experienced on account of the inability of the railroads at the lower end to get the ore away from the docks than from delays resulting from dispatch of boats. Arrangements have now been made, it is claimed, whereby the roads running from docks to furnaces will furnish a supply of equipment adequate to the demands of the iron ore movement. The roads were more short of engines than cars, it is said, and they have promised to meet in some way the demands made upon them in concert by the iron ore men.

DAMAGES.

Charles Blackberg Wants $10,000 For Loss of Three Fingers.

A small section of a sawmill, comprising a few chain belts, a wicked-looking buzz saw and enough timbers to hold it together, was an exhibit in court room No. 1 this morning, when the case of Charles F. Blackberg against Hubbard & Vincent to recover $10,100 for personal injuries was taken up.

Blackberg went to work for Hubbard & Vincent in their sawmill Feb. 14, 1902, and four days later he met with the accident. He says he was directed to replace a link belt which had slipped and that he was ordered to reach his hand into the moving machinery to do the work. He claims that he was hurried in doing this by his employers, and that the company was negligent in sending him into danger in that manner. At any rate, he says he lost three fingers of the right hand, and otherwise damaged the hand so that he does not look forward to being able to do much with it any more. So he wants the jury to give him $10,100 damages. John Jenswold, Jr., is his attorney.

The company alleges contributory negligence, claiming Blackberg's accident was due to his own carelessness. Howard T. Abbott is the attorney for the defendant.

A jury was drawn this morning, and the case was on trial at noon.

Judge Dibell's court this morning was engaged in hearing the harrowing details of an eviction case wherein Frank Quinn is plaintiff and Lane McGregor and Anna M. Willard are defendants. Quinn claims $500 damages because he was thrust out of a flat at 622 West Superior street, which he had rented and on which he held a lease. Not only was he put out, but he claims that the defendants first removed half the building, taking away the stairs that led to his flat and incidentally carrying off the partition between the two halves of the building, leaving some of his rooms exposed to the elements. He charges also that the defendants set off an explosive under the building, forcing him to flee with his family to a place of safety. While he was away, he claims they came in and threw out their possessions and tore down the remainder of the building, as they wished to use the ground for the erection of a new building.

Quinn claims that he was paying $10 a month rent and making $50 a month in renting rooms, and that he also had worked up a trade in a patent medicine there that netted him $10 a month. Alexander Marshall is his attorney, and H. B. Fryberger is attorney for Mrs. Willard, who owns the property, and Lane McGregor, who is her Duluth agent.

The case of William Johnson against J. J. O'Brien and D. D. York was given to the jury this morning.

CANCELLED CONTRACT.

Strikers Force Great Northern Hotel to Submit.

Chicago, June 2.—The most serious and at the same time one of the most hopeful phases of the teamsters' strike, developed today.

The Great Northern hotel, one of Chicago's largest hosteiries, was cut off from its ice supply in the morning, because it patronized Irwin Bros., who sell meat for the big packers. This pressure had been threatened by the strikers and the hotel at once cancelled its contract with the big interests and will obtain its supply through minor packers who have signed the union agreement. Strikers say this is simply one token of their strength and a forerunner of their ultimate victory.

On the other hand, arbitration promises to solve the strike question and bring difficulties to a speedy termination. Today Frederick W. Job, chairman of the Illinois state board of arbitration, was in conference with Secretary Tarley of the National Teamsters' union for over an hour preparatory to bringing the teamsters and both the packing interests and the State street department stores, whose drivers are dissatisfied, into an amicable agreement. Mr. Job intimated that he had already interviewed the packers who are holding out against the union.

SUSTAINED.

Supreme Court Upholds Decision of Minnesota Court.

Washington, June 2.—Justice Brown of the supreme court today delivered the opinion of the court in the case of the Minneapolis & St. Louis railroad vs. the state of Minnesota relative to the right of the railroad and warehouse commission of that state to fix the rate of transportation of hard coal from the city of Duluth to some Western points in the state, sustaining the state's contention in that respect. Exception was taken by this and other railroad companies to the action of the commission in fixing a joint rate for a commodity upon more roads than one, as beyond the power of the commission, but the court held that as the roads were operating upon the same basis before the rates were reduced it was legitimate for the commission to make the reduction apply to all. The rate fixed also was complained of as calculated if applied to all other classes of freight to reduce the revenues of the road below the point of running expenses. The reply to this contention, Justice Brown said, was found in the fact that the rate applied only to coal. The case was decided by the supreme court of the state of Minnesota in support of the action of the committee and that decision was sustained by today's decision.

GRADUATES

Hear Baccalaureate Sermon By Rev. Alexander Milne.

Rev. Alexander Milne, pastor of Pilgrim Congregational church, delivered the annual sermon to the graduating class of the Duluth high school in the High School Assembly hall last evening. This opens the exercises of commencement week. Wednesday the class day exercises will be held, and Friday evening the commencement exercises will close the week, the school year, and the public school careers of the sixty-six members of the senior class that will be graduated this week.

The exercises at the Assembly hall last night were very interesting and successful, and there was a fair audience, in spite of the miserable weather. The members of the graduating class occupied reserved seats in a body in the center tier of seats.

The quartet from Pilgrim Congregational church sang admirably, and Miss Clara Hector sang a solo beautifully.

Mr. Milne took his text from Genesis 1:27-28, which verses tell of the creation of man, of God's commands and gifts to him and of his dominion over the things of this earth. Mr. Milne said in part:

"The last day of the academic year is called commencement day. It is a very singular thing that the ending should be designated by a word that means the beginning. In the university of Cambridge the day on which the bachelors, masters and doctors receive their degree is known as commencement day because the candidates for academic honors begin to wear their new dignities from that day. From the colleges the word passed by natural extension of application to the academies and schools of lower grade, even though they confer no degrees. Thus we are here tonight, on the last Lord's day of the school year, yet commencement Sunday.

"The book of Genesis tells us that man is of the divine image. We should be thankful for the proclamation of this great truth, for it is the basis of all progress of thought, science, literature and art. It makes a possibility of all these things. Without it there never could have been such a thing as civilization, and neither morality nor religion could have come into being without it.

"A conflict is set before man, and life is a battle, not a parade. Man's work is to subdue the earth, replenish it, and to have dominion over all its creatures and forces. There are oppositions to be overcome, forces to be controlled and enemies to be slain. The first page of the Scriptures declares what President Roosevelt has described as 'the strenuous life.' The Bible is the book for the strong and the brave, and it makes an appeal to the heroic spirit.

"The world is no place for dreamers, or seers of visions, unless it be of work done or of triumphs to be won. There is little room and small respect for the dilettante, who talks about the ethical value of blue china or goes into raptures over the pleasing product of an idle hour. The men who have won the world's respect and who have fought humanity's battles are the ones who have the world's respect. History tells us what splendid work has been done, what magnificent battles have been fought. The world is what it is because of the labor and struggles and noble sacrifices of those who counted not their lives unto themselves, who despised ease and feared not death. Our inheritance of freedom and civilization is blood-bought. It is sprinkled with the blood of the bravest and best. The law of war and sacrifice, even unto death, is written all over it. We inherit all that warriors have won, that martyrs have died for, that statesmen have planned, that the great multitude of earth's poor toiled and suffered to make possible.

"Life means toil and battle, but there is no ground for discouragement and fear. He who gave us the work and thrust us into the war will give us strength to fight and work. The memory of a great struggle or a heroic deed fills life with a great gladness. Men rejoice to think of any strong part they have played, to have fought a good fight, to have had a part in some mighty deed for freedom and humanity. The key to the significance of man's life is not found in material realities, but in these spiritual realities which are the soul of man. Strenuous endeavor and immovable trust are the grounds of the high success and noble victory. There is no failure or defeat to the loyal follower of Christ.

"It is an honor and a privilege to speak to the members of the class of 1902. We are gathered here tonight, descendants of many countries, and our heritage is the best and noblest. There are things yet to be done. It is foolish to think that we Americans have nothing to do. In this country there are many opportunities, here where men and women work on a common basis in solving the many problems. To men of all races, faith, hope and courage are needed to win success."

HURONIC

Fine New Steamer of Northwestern Line Arrives Here.

The new steamer Huronic of the Northwestern Transportation company, of Sarnia and Collingwood line, made her first appearance in this harbor yesterday. She lay at the Northern Pacific dock most of the day, and was visited by many people.

The Huronic is considered to be the best piece of workmanship that has been turned out of a Canadian yard. She was built at the new Collingwood yard, and of which Capt. Alex McDougall, of this city, is one of the chief owners, and is of all steel construction.

A notable feature that strikes the observer at once is the fact that there are two cabin decks, the extra one surmounting the usual promenade deck, and affording a second promenade deck, with a promenade of usual width. In this way about 120 staterooms are obtained, with ample cabin and dining room space. The cabins are finished in white, the cafe in English oak and the smoking room aft on the upper deck in oak and leather.

The Huronic carries about 1000 tons more freight than the older vessels of the fleet. She makes about 17 miles light and 13 to 14 miles with freight cargo. Everything aboard was made in Canada.

Heretofore, it is said, Canadian engine builders have not been able to make much of a showing for themselves, but the Huronic's triple-expansion engines were greatly admired yesterday by engineers. They are about 26 by 42 and 46. The Huronic is 235 feet long, has 43 feet beam and is 27 feet deep. Hr gross tonnage is 3330 and net tonnage 2211.

Scientists Report Soufriere a Dangerous Spot For Explorers.

New York, June 2.—Assistant Curator Hovey, of the American Museum of Natural History, Professor L. A. Jaggar, of Harvard university, T. M. MacDonald, owner of an estate near Chateu Belair, Island of St. Vincent, and others have made a partial ascent of St. Vincent's Soufriere, says a Herald dispatch from St. Lucia.

Mr. Hovey said, regarding his trip: "The old crater of the Soufriere was the center of the disturbance. We found another crater, which was a half mile deep. There was a small boiling lake at the bottom of this crater.

"We found no evidence of molten lava having been erupted, but the Soufriere emitted vast quantities of ashes and cinders.

The volcano is still active and is a dangerous spot for explorers. Reports reached us on our return here that another eruption took place at an early hour this morning. There was a decided earthquake disturbance. The summit of the Soufriere was illumined by a fiery vaporous mass.

Annual Meeting of the Turners Held at Menominee.

Menominee—The convention of the Wisconsin district of the North American Turnerbund selected Milwaukee as the convention city for next year. Milwaukee will also be the seat of the executive of the district for the coming year. The biennial turner festival will be held in Marquette in 1903. A turners' day at New Holstein will be arranged during the summer to foster good fellowship. The committee on by-laws recommended two slight changes: That the convention shall take place yearly between April 1 and June 1; however, four weeks before the federal meeting the term of office of the executive shall commence July 1 instead of April 1. Both recommendations were carried. An agitation in favor of free text books was started and the matter referred to the executive. The committee on practical turning recommended to leave all changes of the order of turning for turner festivals to the federal meeting at Davenport. The report of the committee on the revision of books was adopted without change or debate. The committeee on federal matters recommended to send twelve delegates to the convention of the turnerbund and allow them $15 each. One ballot was cast, which fell against the admission of women, and delegates were instructed to follow this division in Davenport.

Sault Ste. Marie—Harold Chalmers, an actor connected with the Santry Long company, now playing in this city, is thought to have committed suicide, as he has been missing since May 24. On last Friday night, at Cheboygan, Mich., Chalmers and Mrs. Grant Mallory, also of the Santry Long company, were together in the room of Mrs. Mallory, when the latter's husband appeared upon the scene, and a stormy time ensued, but with no serious consequences. On learning of the affair, the management of the company discharged both Mr. Chalmers and Mrs. Mallory the next day. Chalmers disappeared and nothing has been seen or heard of him since. It is thought he ended his existence by seeking a watery grave.

WHITE, FLUFFY DOGS

Are the Fad In New York Society.

New York, June 2.—Society has a new fashion in dogs. White, fluffy dogs are now all the rage among New York's exclusives. Mrs. John Jacob Aster, who is still in town, started the fad. When she goes for a drive in her brougham a little white poodle that matches her boas sits on the seat beside her. Other society women soon took up the fad. Now nearly every carriage you see, on the avenue or in the park, contains its little white, fluffy dog. The only ornament allowed the dog is a white or colored bow around its neck. It used to be thought quite swagger in Upper Tendom to match your dogs with your horses. But since the new fad began society has lost its Canichess, King Charles spaniels and other canines of the darker breed.

FOURTH OF JULY

Commercial Club Directors to Consider Matter of Celebrating.

Plans For Club's Quarters to Be Given Consideration.

Arrangement of Dining Room Floor Proving Somewhat Puzzling.

The celebration of the Fourth of July will be the chief matter of business to come before a special meeting of the directors of the Commercial club to be held in the club rooms in the Torrey building late this afternoon. There seems to be a general sentiment that the national birthday should not be allowed to go by without proper observance. Mayor Hugo has advised Secretary Preston that the city has $300 in funds that were appropriated for last year's celebration and which was not expended, which will be available if the Commercial club decides to take up the matter. Many people are the more anxious for a celebration of the Fourth this year because bad weather last summer prevented the carrying out of the plans that had been prepared.

Among other matters to come before this afternoon's meeting will be revised floor plans for the club quarters in the new Frerker building. The third floor plans have practically been agreed upon. The upper of the two floors to be leased by the club is much more susceptible of arrangement to the satisfaction of all that have been consulted in the matter. The second floor plan, however, has been somewhat difficult to lay out. There is a general desire that all the Michigan street frontage on this floor be devoted to either the large or the large and small dining rooms, so that the fine opportunity for a view of the lake and harbor may be fully taken advantage of.

On the other hand, if this plan is carried out, it interferes materially and to disadvantage with the arrangement of the rest of the floor. The result has been that the architect, John De Waard, has submitted the two floor plans, which will be considered this afternoon and probably decided upon.

One plan provides for a main dining room with 24 feet frontage on Michigan street, and extending back 63 feet to the reception hall, desk and staircase. The rest of the Michigan street front would be taken up with a kitchen. In point of convenience, this plan seems in the minds of many to have the greatest advantage.

Just at the rear of the kitchen is the private or ladies' dining room, which is 21 by 24, and just back of that the ladies' reception room, 12 by 19. The kitchen would be 28 by 24, with a store room adjoining. Both dining rooms would be entered from a square reception hall, almost at the top of the stairway. On the Superior street frontage would be a secretary's office in the west corner, with a coat room adjoining the secretary's office in the east corner.

The other plan, which contemplates devoting all the Michigan street side to the large dining room, leaves the extreme Superior street arrangement unchanged, but provides that entrance shall be from a long narrow hall. The private dining room, 16 by 16 feet in size, would immediately adjoin the hall on the east, and a small reception room would adjoin the dining room. The main dining room would be 48 by 36 feet and would occupy all of the lake prospect from the Michigan street windows. The kitchen would remain on the west side of the floor, but be moved back of the main dining room.

The objections that are raised to the latter floor scheme are that, while it improves the main dining room, it sacrifices everything else to that end. The rest of the arrangement, it is considered, is much poorer than in the other design, not only in point of convenience, but in dimensions. It is argued by the partisans of the other plan that the main dining room will seldom be used except at luncheon and for banquets.

The third floor of the building will have an assembly room on the Michigan street front 44 by 48 feet in size, equipped with a fireplace. Two private rooms will open off the main room, and connected with it by folding doors, which may be opened, throwing the two into one room as a card room 29 by 30. The Superior street front has a billiard room 36 by 48, which will allow sufficient space for three ordinary billiard tables, and one of standard size for championship games, as well as four pool tables.

THE DAKOTAS.

Freight Train Runs Away at Englewood, Killing One.

SOUTH DAKOTA.

Deadwood—A runaway freight train made a terrific run from Englewood down the eight-mile slope toward this city Sunday and ten cars piled up on top of one another in a ditch near Piuma. One man was killed and two others seriously injured. The dead man is Charles Freeman, an employe of the Burlington & Missouri River railway at Englewood. When the train reached Kirk Station the engineer lost control and it came on toward Deadwood at a 70-mile clip, gaining speed at every moment. At Pluma it struck a safety switch, and the ten cars filled with coke were hurled into a ditch. The main line and that of the Deadwood Central were blocked for several hours.

NORTH DAKOTA.

Fargo—The building trades strike which has been in progress here for three weeks, is over. The contractors will pay the wages demanded by the men, but refuse to recognize their union, and will employ either union or non-union men, as they please.

The Father Brings Home His Stolen Child.

New York, June 2.—W. A. Taylor, of Cincinnati, and his young daughter, Margaret, who was kidnaped by her aunt and taken to Italy, were passengers on the steamship Kaiserin Maria Theresia, which arrived today from Genoa and Naples. Mr. Taylor said he had no trouble in securing his child. She was in good health and spirits, he said.

NO TRUTH IN IT.

Kansas City, June 2.—Stuart A. Knott, president of the Kansas City-Southern railroad, stated today that he had no knowledge of the reported deal by which J. Pierpont Morgan and John W. Gates are said to have gained control of that property. "I know absolutely nothing about any such deal than what I have read in the papers," said President Knott to the Associated Press. "I do not believe there is any truth in the report."

SUES FOR DIVORCE

Mrs. Aspinwall-Knapp Wants Freedom From C. D. Knapp, Jr.

Make Their Home In Chicago Where Suit Is Brought.

Mrs. Knapp Charges Unfaithfulness and Names a Corespondent.

A divorce suit involving two persons formerly well known in Duluth was begun in Chicago Saturday when Cora A. Dorwin-Aspinwall-Knapp filed a bill of complaint in a suit for divorce from Clyde D. Knapp, Jr., on the ground of adultery.

The couple were residents of Duluth at the time of their marriage in Hudson, Wis., Jan. 20, 1896. Mrs. Knapp was known at that time as Mrs. Aspinwall, and she was the daughter of Col. W. E. Dorwin, then a contractor in this city. Col. Dorwin is now in the investment business at 259 La Salle street, Chicago.

Mrs. Knapp was a singer, and she was very well known here. Mr. Knapp was for some time a clerk in the First National bank, but soon after his marriage he removed from the city, locating at Minneapolis. He lived also in Philadelphia, and moved to Chicago about two years ago, where he engaged in the private banking business as a member of the firm of C. D. Knapp, Jr., & Co. According to Mrs. Knapp's story, he has lived in New York since Dec. 27, though he has been at the Annex in Chicago for several weeks.

In her bill Mrs. Knapp charges adultery, and names "Mary Jones" as corespondent. This name is said to be fictitious, and it is stated that it is used to conceal the identity of a young woman living in Kingston, N. C. Mrs. Knapp alleges in her bill that her husband has an income of $10,000 per year, and she asks for alimony and solicitor's fees.

When seen by a Chicago Tribune reporter, Mrs. Knapp confirmed the allegations in her bill of divorce.

"Yes, it is true that I have filed suit," she said, "and I will be able to prove what I assert in regard to Mr. Knapp's actions. Mr. Knapp's treatment of me has been anything but what it should have been. Still, I don't care to say anything further against him at the present time."

"Do you know positively that he is guilty?" she was asked.

"My proof is so strong that it cannot be questioned," said Mrs. Knapp. "I was in New York last Easter time and it was then that I learned how my husband has been acting. Since then I have been living apart from him. He has lived in New York since Dec. 27, but has been at the Annex for several weeks."

Mr. and Mrs. Knapp are described in the Chicago reports of the case as prominent members of South Side society.

The case will have considerable interest for the many Duluth people who knew both parties.

AMUSEMENTS.

"WHEN WE WERE TWENTY-ONE."

The Lyceum was packed Saturday evening when Nat Goodwin and Miss Maxine Elliott presented "When We were Twenty-One." This presentation of the play was under much more favorable conditions than characterized its last production here. At that time Mr. Goodwin was suffering from injuries received in a bicycle collision the day before playing here, and it was with difficulty that he could play at all, much less do himself and the part of Richard Carew full justice. Saturday evening he was himself and Duluth theater goers never saw him to better advantage. The character of Richard Carew fits him well for it not only permits the full use of his peculiar abilities as a comedian but also contains much that is quietly affecting and sympathetic, and in the expression of this form of character Mr. Goodwin has won fame no less deserved than in his comic roles.

Another respect in which this appearance was much more favorable was from the fact that the objectionable third act of the original play has been entirely eliminated and a new act written. This third act in the original play was laid in a London supper club, a resort frequented by the half world of England's metropolis. Thither Carew went to save his young ward from the notorious woman with whom he was infatuated. The scene would be revolting at any time because of the dissolute life which it presented, but in this play, following two very quiet and pretty acts, was so jarring that from one end of the country to the other it was condemned and a revision was imperative. In the new act the scene is laid in the apartments of Firefly, the notorious actress, and the plot is worked out much more delicately and fully as effectively.

Miss Elliott is thoroughly delightful and captivating as Phyllis, a part fully as sympathetic and fascinating as that of Carew.

KING DRAMATIC COMPANY.

Tonight the King Dramatic company will begin the second week of its engagement at the Lyceum theater. "Faust" will be the bill and the company promises an unusually elaborate production of this interesting play, both from the standpoint of scenic equipment and dramatic talent.

MAY WEATHER.

Temperature For the Month a Degree Below the Average.

The month of May just closed was not as warm as the average for the month during the past thirty-two years. The average was 48 degrees, which is one degree less than the mean temperature recorded for the month. The highest temperature recorded was 82 degrees on the 29th, and the lowest 27 degrees, on the 9th.

The amount of precipitation was above the average, being 3.89 inches, while the average is 3.51 inches. There is still a deficiency since Jan. 1, however, and it amounts to 2.10 inches.

The prevailing winds were from the northeast and the total movement was 7661 miles with the highest velocity thirty-nine miles, from the southwest, on the 19th.

During the month there were only 4 clear days. Twelve were party cloudy, and 15 cloudy.

The mean relative humidity for the month was 75 per cent.

A feature of the report that is rather unusual is the record of a total snowfall of 5.5 inches.

Only one remedy in the world that will at once stop Itchiness of the skin in any part of the body; Doan's Ointment. At any drug store, 50 cents.

CHILD DROWNED.

Perished In a Cellar at Mountain Iron.

The 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Marietta was drowned last Thursday in the cellar underneath the store of L. N. Merritt & Co. at Mountain Iron.

The child, an only son, was last seen at about 12:30 in the Merritt store. He was missed later by his mother, and a search instituted. The last trace found of him was at the store, and at about 6 p. m. one of the employes noticed the cellar door ajar, and on looking down discovered the lifeless form of the child floating in the water beneath, the cellar having become flooded to the depth of several feet by the recent rains.

Mr. Marietta and family formerly lived at the Auburn, recently moving to Mountain Iron, from which place the father had left for Buhl Thursday morning to go to work.

MANY FISHERMEN OUT.

Visit Various Fishing Places Around Duluth.

The black bass season opened yesterday, and hundreds of fishermen went in various directions Saturday night. Many parties have been going lately to north shore trout streams, and but ordinary successes have been reported so far, owing to the high water. Deerwood and the Wisconsin resorts, Minong, Gordon, Middlebrook and other places claimed many, while there was a big crowd at the Cloquet river and Island lake. At "Ike's Inn" at the Cloquet river bridge there were twenty or twenty-five rigs of all kinds and descriptions belonging to fishing parties. The several cottages there were all filled, and the river and the lake were coverd with fishing boats. In most cass the catches were not large, though good catches had been made on Friday and Saturday.

FELL FOUR STORIES.

Oscar Johnson Drops Down an Elevator Shaft.

Oscar L. Johnson fell from the fourth floor of the Marshall-wells building to the bottom of the elevator shaft, Saturday afternoon. His right leg was broken in three places and he was considerably bruised. How he escaped death is a matter that puzzles those that saw the fall.

He was ordered off the freight elevator and as he stepped off the elevator shot upward, Johnson fell back and into the shaft. Striking on the sides of the shaft broke the fall somewhat. He is doing nicely at St. Mary's hospital.

Scrofula

It is commonly inherited.

Few are entirely free from it.

Pale, weak, puny children are afflicted with it in nine cases out of ten, and many adults suffer from it.

Common indications are bunches in the neck, abscesses, cutaneous eruptions, inflamed eyelids, sore ears, rickets, catarrh, wasting, and general debility.

Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pills

Eradicate it, positively and absolutely. This statement is based on the thousands of permanent cures these medicines have wrought.

"My daughter had scrofula, with eleven sores on her neck and about her ears. Hood's Sarsaparilla was highly recommended and she took it and was cured. She is now in good health." MRS. J. H. JONES, Parker City, Ind.

Hood's Sarsaparilla promises to cure and keeps the promise.

QUIET IN LUMBER

Some Small Sales Last Week But They Are Few.

Timber Country Thoroughly Saturated By Recent Rains.

Lumber Paper Comments Gallantly on Mrs. Stevens' Appointment.

The past week has witnessed a few sales of lumber, the largest being that of the Lesure Lumber company, which sold its Norway pine lumber out of the season, amounting to between 2,000,000 and 3,000,000 feet. The lumber was sold log run and for $15 per thousand feet. This price is considered top notch for Norway, and much higher than could be procured for the same stock a few years ago.

All of the other sales have been small ones and restricted by the prices asked and the shortness of stocks. It is claimed that there is one lot of lumber being cut by one of the West Superior mills, for which the owner asks $21 per thousand feet. If true, this price is the highest ever asked for lumber at the head of the lake.

Of the thirteen sawmills at the head of the lake, six are running day and night and six days in the week. But one mill, the St. Louis Lumber company's, has stopped operations since the sawing season. The St. Louis mill was shut down last week on account of a lack of logs, but it is expected that the shut-down is only temporary.

Mill men say that conditions are generally satisfactory with them. There have been no labor troubles, such as the Stillwater lumbermen have had in the past week, neither is any anticipated. At Ely the St. Croix Lumber company is cutting on 30,000,000 feet, the expected output of the mill here for the season. Day and night operations have been resumed by the Brooks-Scanlon mill at Scanlon, Minn., the log receipts by water augmenting those by rail over the new road, and the mill is supplied to its full capacity.

There is said to be about 200,000,000 feet of standing timber tributary to the new town that is to be started in section 29-50-15, near the Stevens mine, but the timber is to be cut by mills elsewhere. Smith & Gowan have the contract for logging 50,000,000 feet there, and are working on it. Another town that will be started in section 32-57-22, southwest of Hibbing, is also close to a timber region.

The Chris Mueller Land & Lumber company, of Davenport, Ia., has filed articles with the secretary of state of Minnesota. The capital stock of the company is $132,000. The company is expected to work in conjunction with the Chris Mueller & Sons Lumber company, which has been cutting Northern Minnesota pine at the Davenport mill for several yearse past.

A large number of Pacific coast timber is being used at the head of the lake in connection with the dock construction. Frankman Brothers, of West Superior, used about 10,000,000 feet of Washington lumber last year, and the firm will use a much larger amount this season.

The heavy rain of yesterday afternoon and evening was general over Northern Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan, and a number of the logging streams are out of their banks this morning. The timber country is thoroughly saturated, and in some localities summer logging has been delayed until next month, at least, and longer if the wet weather prevails. The heavy rain has put out some timber fires along the south shore.

The lumber journals are commenting very favorably on Mrs. G. Fred Stevens' appointment as surveyor general of logs in this district. The Mississippi Valley Lumbermen says:

"Minnesota lumbermen are reckoned among the most gallant in the world in their attitude toward the fair sex, and it will therefore cause no surprise when it is known that those engaged in lumbering in the Duluth district will hereafter be presided over by a fair woman surveyor general.

"Mrs. Stevens is well known in the social circles of the Zenith City, and her appointment has caused immense satisfaction there. That she will be able to discharge her numerous duties properly goes without saying. As a matter of fact, the opinion seems to prevail that some of the log owners of the state will purposely divert their logs to the Duluth district in order that they may have them scaled under the direction of a woman surveyor general, so gallant are the lumbermen of the state."

SUMMER COMFORT.

Get Ready For Warm Weather.

By a complete change in breakfast, at this time of the year, one can put the body right to go through the summer comfortably.

Leave off meat, potatoes and heavy body heating foods, and use the food that will nourish the body and give reserve force to the brain and nervous system.

A most appetizing and healthful breakfast can be made on Grape-Nuts and cream, some fruit and perhaps two soft boiled eggs—this meal will furnish full strength and nourishment up to the next and has a remarkable effect on the body during hot weather. Remember the cells of the body you are now building will last you into summer, so be sure and build the kind that tend to keep a cool body and level head.

One pound of Grape-Nuts has more nourishment—that the system will absorb—than ten pounds of meat, without any of the internal heat of meat that a person wishes to avoid during the warm season; its rich, nutty flavor added to the delicate sweet of the grape sugar makes a dish pleasing to the most critical taste.

You receive Grape-Nuts from the grocer ready to serve, as it has been thoroughly cooked at the factory by food experts, and this saves heat from cooking and time and exertion necessary in preparing food.

A change from the old breakfast to one like this will refresh and invigorate the system in a surprising manner and permit you to enjoy the pleasures of summer in a cool, comfortable fashion when your neighbors, differently fed, will be "hot."

HAS BEEN COSTLY

Tug Strike Has Seriously Affected Commerce of the Lakes.

Now In Sixth Week and No Sign of Settlement.

Differences Small But Fight Is Evidently to a Finish.

Five weeks ago last Wednesday at midnight the firemen and linemen employed by the Great Lakes Towing company all over the inland chain of lakes went out on strike because of differences affecting twenty-two of their members at Duluth. Four days later the captains and engineers of the trust tugs in Chicago were laid off because of a meeting in which they had voted sympathy with the striking firemen and linemen. On May 8 all of the captains and engineers of the Great Lakes Towing company tugs at all ports on the great lakes went out because of refusal on the part of the trust officials to concede demands regarding hours of work at Cleveland.

Original differences between the men and their employers were so trifling and the issues were so promptly joined as to indicate the readiness of both sides to contest the matter and have it settled once for all. The demands of the twenty-two firemen and linesmen at Duluth would have made a difference of only $810 in their wages for the entire season. They asked $60 per month and were getting $52.50 per month and board. Before an ultimatum was reached this difference of $7.50 per month had been narrowed to $3.50 per month.

The differences between the captains and engineers or the L. T. P. A. and the Great Lakes Towing company at Cleveland were almost as trifling as the firemen and linesmen's organization at Duluth. The Cleveland men asked every second night and every second Sunday off duty instead of every third night and every third Sunday off as at present.

The strike which started as a puny infant in its own dooryard at Duluth, has grown until it has more or less involved all of the inland commerce of the continent. Thus far it has been conducted on conservative line on both sides, but the forces back of each are too strong to admit of its being thus continued for any great length of time. Ranged on the side of the Great Lakes Towing company are the leading vessel and railroad interests which are interested as stockholders, or in a traffic way. Back of the men is a bond of sympathy which is likely to involve all of the labor organizations of the great lakes.

Thus far the men have had the best of the fight as they are thoroughly organized, determined and intensely loyal. All attempts to create discord in their ranks or disrupt their organization have signally failed. Over 95 per cent of all the licensed tug captains and engineers on the great lakes are members of the L. T. P. A., and they claim that only 10 per cent of their members are employed by the Great Lakes Towing company and that the remaining 90 per cent can easily furnish salaries or employment to those at present unemployed 10 per cent.

Since the failure of the L. T. P. A. to secure an adjustment of their differences at Cleveland, the Great Lakes Towing company has been seriously crippled everywhere, except at the Soo, where the L. T. P. A. ordered a suspension of the strike order so that commerce might not be interfered with through the dangerous shoals and channels and the government canals. Including the seven tugs in service at that point the Great Lakes Towing company has claimed only sixteen out of a total of ninety-seven tugs in service on the entire chain of lakes. The active list was swelled to eighteen, however, on Tuesday and Wednesday, when the tugs Rita McDonald and Hackley were put in service in Chicago. The other ports in which the company claimed to be operating were at Duluth, two tugs; Toledo, four; Escanaba, two, and Huron, one.

In so far as the money differences between the tug combination and its employes is concerned, they are offset ten times over by the damages inflicted on vessels in the Chicago river alone, losses of time on the tunnels and damages inflicted on bridges, piers and docks.

It is estimated that since the strike began the men have lost at the rate of $2,000 a day in wages, while the Great Lakes Towing company has lost at the rate of about $2500 per day.

The losses to commerce are incalculable. Many vessels have been tied up for a week or more at a time, while others have been forced to operate slowly and under expensive difficulties. Small independent tugs have been available in most ports to a number of vessels, but the services of these have been denied to the principal vessel owners who hold tug trust stock, or are interested in seeing its business advanced.

One of the most recent moves in the fight has been based on this discrimination against certain vessel owners. The government inspectors have been called upon to forfeit the papers of those tugmen holding government licenses, and at the same time interfering with the free movement of commerce. These government officials are preparing to cite the offending tugmen here at Buffalo and at Cleveland, to show cause why their licenses should not be revoked. It is expected that if these citations are made the effect will be either to make all engineers and captains withdraw from the independent tugs or force the latter to tow all alike.

Section 4410, under which action is asked in the interest of the towing company, reads as follows:

"If any licenses officer shall, to the hindrance of commerce, wrongfully or unreasonably refuse to serve in his official capacity on any steamer, as authorized by the terms of his certificate of license, or shall fail to deliver to the applicant for such service at the time of such refusal, if the same shall be demanded, a statement in writing assigning good and sufficient reasons therefor, or if any pilot or engineer shall refuse to admit into the pilot-house or engine-room any person whom the master or owner of the vessel may desire to place there for the purpose of learning the profession, his license shall be revoked upon the same proceedings as are provided in other cases for revocation of such licenses."

Under the regulations imposed by the striking employes, vessel owners have been placed in a very uncomfortable position. Taking advantage of the removal of opposition, the independent tugs have advanced their towing charges so arbitrarily at the various ports as to seriously interfere with the profitable operation of craft of all sorts that would not enter into season contracts with them. The latter was commercially impossible, as vessel owners entering into such contracts would be unable to secure the aid of Great Lakes Towing company tugs at the ports where the independents were not represented, or where it might be forced to again retire when the strike was settled.

Vessels having season towing contracts with the Great Lakes Towing company, the line boats, or those with railroad connections, and the boats of the Pittsburg Steamship company, or steel trust, have been barred from independent tug service almost from the first. These have been forced to all sorts of expedients to keep running. Small steamers of the various fleets have been put in service, and where these were not available to take desperate chances in navigating narrow and crooked channels without tugs.

Owners and captains who have succeeded in solving the difficulties of navigating the Chicago river and other streams at various ports all over the great lakes, will be very slow to again seek the services of tugs after the strike is settled. This means a serious permanent loss to the Great Lakes Towing company, no matter when or how the strike is settled.

Much east-bound grain traffic that would in the ordinary course of events have gone by lake has been diverted to the railroads, thus again causing irreclevable loss to the vesselmen.

At the head of the contest in behalf of the Great Lakes Towing company is Cyrus H. Sinclair, the general manager. Representing the Licensed Tugmen's Protective association or the organization of the captains and engineers, is President Charles McCarle, and at the head of the firemen and linemen's organization is President Archie Vallquet.

ENJOINED.

Clerks Temporarily Restrained From Placing Pickets at a Store.

The district court has issued a temporary injunction against the Retail Clerk's union restraining the labor organization from placing pickets in front of the Van Guard Clothing store.

The case will be argued at the special term of court next Saturday and in the meantime the union has ceased its campaign against the store which was declared unfair on account of keeping open after hours and on account of its alleged opening for business on Sundays.

Last week two of the union pickets were assaulted by a runner of the Van Guard store who was subsequently fined quite heavily in the municipal court.

The Van Guard store took the matter of pickets up in the district court and secured the above mentioned temporary injunction, late Saturday afternoon.

The clerks will probably ask the city officers to stop the "runners" in front of stores that are alleged to be violating the law in this respect.

About a year ago a reform movement caused the council to pass an ordinance prohobiting runners for hotels, restaurants and stores without a license. This ordinance is one of the many that is not strictly enforced.

UNIVERSITY WINS.

Business College Boys Are Fast Ball Players.

The Duluth Business university demonstrated that it had a fast ball team by defeating the Blaine high school of West Superior Saturday afternoon.

The Blaine men were never in the game to speak of. Lowe's perplexing slants caused them all sorts of sorrow. On the other hand the future business men rapped the ball in all directions. V. Frazer for the business team had a three-base hit—the longest of the game, but the batting honors were carried off by Dennis, who had four safe hits out of five times at the bat.

The teams lined up as follows:

D. B. U.—		Blaine—
E. Lowe	pitcher	P. Franzeau
V. Fraser	catcher	C. Winstein
J. McPhee	first base	R. Logwe
E. Park	second base	P. Fergusson
C. Dennis	third base	T. Hawkworth

JOHN DUNPHY,

Duluth's Second Oldest Settler, Dies at Advanced Age.

John Dunphy, the second oldest resident of Duluth, is dead. George R. Stuntz is the only living person who preceded him in residence here.

His ending came rather unexpectedly at 11 o'clock Saturday night, and the passing of this noted early settler was received with professions of profound regret by many of the other surviving early settlers.

Mr. Dunphy was born in January, 1814, at Ballyduff, Waterforce county, Ireland. He came to the United States at an early age and later, in the year 1856, he settled in Duluth. George Stuntz is believed to be the only citizen living in Duluth at that time, that still survives him.

In 1858 Mr. Dunphy was elected register of deds and about two years later moved to Twin Lakes, Carlton county, where he was appointed postmaster in 1865.

The postmastership of Twin Lakes, was, at that time, an important and responsible position. There was not a railroad in Northern Minnesota and all the mail was brought up from St. Paul and Minneapolis to Twin Lakes by couriers. It was then distributed to the various towns and villages of this section by Mr. Dunphy.

After serving as postmaster at Twin Lakes for several years, Mr. Dunphy returned to Duluth and was elected judge of probate in 1875. He held this office for three terms being succeeded by Judge Phineas Ayer.

In all his 88 years of life he has been very active until very recently when there was a gradual breaking down of his health.

Mr. Dunphy is survived by a family of grown-up children—Miss Kate Dunphy, a teacher in the public schools of the City of Mexico; Julia Dunphy, Angela Dunphy, James Dunphy, John T. Dunphy and Carl Dunphy.

The funeral service will be held in the Catholic cathedral on Wednesday morning at 8:30 o'clock. It is expected that Miss Kate Dunphy will arrive from Mexico in time to attend the funeral. The interment will be at Calvary cemetery.

WHY? IS ELECTRIC LIGHT BEST

Because it is healthy, clean, pure and brilliant.

HEALTHY— It has no odor. Professor Thompson states that one cubic foot of gas consumes as much oxygen as four adults.

CLEAN— It causes no discoloration of furnishings and decorations in homes.

SAFE— As electric bell work, no danger of suffocation.

CHEAP— By using a little care in turning off lights when not in use it is cheaper than any other illuminant.

Upper lakes—Brisk to high southwest winds, becoming variable on Lake Superior; showers and thunder-squalls.

Minister Equiers' Increased Salary.

It now develops that the delay in getting Minister Squiers to Cuba was due to the greed of that official. He was very anxious to have congress raise the salary of the minister to Cuba to the amount as originally fixed by the president. When the president asked congress to appropriate money to pay the salaries of the new diplomatic and consular officers in the republic of Cuba, he recommended that the pay of the minister be $10,000, and that of the secretary of legation at Havana $2000. The house accepted these figures as liberal enough and promptly passed a bill making provisions of this kind. The measure then went to the senate, where for some unaccountable reason it remained a long time in the committee on foreign affairs. When it was finally reported the cause for the delay was found. It seems that Minister Squiers had been working to have the pay increased, and had not only succeeded in getting $2000 more salary, but had actually got the committee to insert a provision of $2000 a year for rental of a consulate. This is something that congress has always refused to do in the past, and when the bill went to the house it was vigorously opposed by Chairman Hitt of the foreign affairs committee. The conferees knocked off the $2000. The bill was then reported to the senate and adopted on May 16, and Mr. Squiers' name was sent in the same day. This allowed only four days for Mr. Squiers to get his commission and arrive in Havana if he hoped to be on the ground to witness the inauguration of President Palma. It is needless to say that he did not get there. Squiers has made a bad start and has established a rather unenviable reputation by his greed.

Poverty From Drinking.

Some of the arguments made by the honest, but at times misguided temperance advocates are so inconsistent that they really do more harm than good to the cause. An English member of parliament in a recent lecture stated that the working classes spent one-seventh of their income on drink, or four times the amount that would provide them with provisions of ten shillings per week after the age of 65. If tectoralism were general, poverty would disappear. Without scrutinizing the statistical basis of this favorite argument and without disputing the great waste represented by the annual drink bill, the critical reader of the M. P.'s address may point out certain fallacies in the reasoning. This gentleman assumes, as do all controversialists of his persuasion, that the entire amount expended for drink is a total loss to the nation and that the money thus squandered would be expended more profitably, if the people stopped drinking. Both assumptions are questionable. The argument is punctured by the paragraphist of the Liberty Review thus: "Until we cease to find lifelong teetotallers in extreme poverty, we are entitled to hold that though teetotalism, which is but one phase of a generally prudential course of life, may enable a man here and there to escape destitution in old age, it can do little or nothing to affect the general causes which make men rich or poor. If the working classes do spend one-seventh of their income in drink, we must assume that they derive sustaining power from it. Surely the people are not such fools as to part with one-seventh of their incomes without a quid pro quo. It is very easy for Mr. Whittaker, M. P., to take for granted that poverty, or at least destitution, would cease if all men were teetotallers. Probably if his panacea were adopted and poverty still persisted, some other middle-class philosopher would discover that it was owing to the use of tobacco. And again, if tobacco were also disused poverty would be ascribed to the consumption of meat instead of vegetables. There is in reality only one cause of poverty, into which neither beer drinking, tobacco smoking, nor flesh eating enter. And that cause is the absence of wealth."

PEACE IN SOUTH AFRICA.

The welcome news has arrived that the British and the Boers in South Africa have agreed on terms of peace, and the great Boer war is at an end. The result is not unexpected, as intimations from official sources at London during the past week have led to the confident belief that the peace negotiations would be successful. Both sides have made concessions, and the terms of peace must be regarded as quite liberal to the burghers.

The South African republics cease to exist. They become part of the British empire, but they are not to be a crown colony without representative government.

It is announced that military government will be speedily withdrawn, and self-government instituted, which probably means that a colonial government similar to that in Cape Colony will be established.

All the expenses of the war are to be borne by Great Britain, no tax being imposed on the Transvaal for this purpose, while the British parliament will be called upon to vote $15,000,000 for restocking the Boer farms.

Naturally there is great rejoicing throughout the British empire over the final cessation of hostilities and the conclusion of peace on the eve of the king's coronation.

The war has been in progress since October, 1899, and has cost the British people about $1,250,000,000. The cost to the Boers is unknown. The British forces sent to South Africa aggregated 500,000, and at one time there were 280,000 British troops in the field against 50,000 Boers.

A COMPLICATED CASE.

Rather an interesting fight is likely to grow out of the recent decision by the late Judge Bradley of the District of Columbia supreme court, restoring to second-class matter three railroad periodicals, consisting largely of time tables, of which but practically 5 per cent were changed at each issue, the balance being permanent, and which decision was very objectionable to the postoffice department. The judge delivered an oral opinion, in which he said that he should grant a mandamus requiring the postmaster general to restore to the "official guide" and one of the directories their second-class privileges in the mails and an injunction in the case of the second directory, forbidding its exclusion, which had been threatened. Later he is understood to have dictated a similar opinion, with more elaborateness of expression, to his secretary, with the purpose of filing it with the usual formalities as the basis of the writs which were to issue.

But all further proceedings were cut short by the judge's death. He had arisen from a sick bed to attend to this business, and the relapse which followed carried him off. The only evidence anyone had that he had decided the case as he did were the stenographic notes of the court stenographer and of a clerk from the postoffice department, who was present, and the notes made by the newspaper reporters, corroborated by the transcript of his dictated opinion, as made by his private secretary, but never, as far as is known, revised and formally approved by the judge.

As soon as it was made known through the press that the opinion had been rendered, the "official guide," through the American News company as its agent, demanded the restoration to its old privileges. The department refused until the mandamus had been regularly served upon it. Meanwhile the fact leaked out that the judge had not lived long enough to sign his opinion or the orders under it, and the department was instructed by counsel to stand its ground and let the whole question be reargued if need be. It is reported that the attorneys for the "guide" contemplate an effort to procure the writ of mandamus by the indirect amendment of the informalities, on the ground that the case was legally settled when the judge announced his opinion, and that the sequel must in any event have been merely perfunctory. If this claim is made and pushed, there will be a very pretty fight. If not, the whole argument will have to be repeated and another opinion rendered.

The rulings of the postoffice department in regard to correcting abuses of the second-class privilege were carefully made, and for the judicial department to overthrow the executive was disappointing. Perhaps a rehearing would be the best thing that could possibly come of this complicated case.

THE NEXT CONGRESS.

The prediction is now being freely made in Washington that the Democrats will control the house of representatives of the Fifty-eighth congress. It is by no means an unusual estimate at this stage of the campaign. This is because the Democrats have such a natural advantage in contests for the lower house, due to the solidity of the South and the divisibility of the North. Off-year elections such as the coming one usually go against the party in power, and this is emphasized as an argument by those who predict Democratic success this year. Since Grant's second inauguration, the house elected at the mid-term has been every time opposite in political faith to the administration with the exception of Cleveland's first term and McKinley's. These mid-term contests have almost as regularly foreshadowed the results of the next presidential contest. Not since the Democrats carried the house in 1866 has the party successful at the mid-term failed to carry the next presidential election .

It will not do, however, for either side to rely on generalities in forecasting the coming congressional contest. It is different from any other that has been fought since the civil war. There will be 386 representatives elected, of which 193 would be an even half. The South, not including Maryland or West Virginia, will contribute about 118 Democratic representatives. The thirteen distinctly Southern states will have under the new apportionment 125 seats; the Republicans now have nine representatives from this belt, two each from Missouri, North Carolina and Tennessee, and three from Kentucky. Whether the anti-imperialism dispute will be of any help to the Democrats remains to be seen. It looks, however, as though the battle would be fought out on the usual lines with the trust issue predominating.

THE LERCH BARN.

It is surprising that the city authorities have permitted the old Lerch barn to remain for a year a menace to the lives of all people who pass the corner of First street and Fourth avenue west. The barn was placed there in defiance of the city ordinances, and has remained there without the slightest authority of law, projecting across the sidewalk and endangering the safety of the public. If the barn had been worth anything there might have been some faint excuse for permitting the owner to place it there temporarily. But it is absolutely worthless. It could not be moved without going to pieces, and it is in danger of falling on to the street any moment. It is the opinion of the building inspector and architects that it is unsafe and should be be promptly torn down in order to guard against a serious accident, yet the board of public works declines to tear it down as a menace to the public safety.

The Duluth people are wonderfully patient or they would not permit this nuisance to exist. The people of other communities would not tolerate such a state of things, and if the authorities, whose duty it is to look after such nuisances, failed to act they would set fire to the barn and end it all. Perhaps the indignation of those who are compelled to pass this dangerous building daily may excite them to take this course. If they do, they will have the sympathy of all other residents of the city.

In urging a repeal of the tariff on cattle, meat and hides, the Indianapolis News says: "The time must come when a breach will be made in the tariff wall. So far the breach has not been made. Protected trusts sell their products abroad at a lower price than they do at home. But no tariff is reduced, and it does not take a prophet to see that not one will be unless the people rouse themselves and make a demand that even the trusts controlling legislation shall not be powerful enough to withstand."

Duluth shows up well in comparison with other sections of the state in the list of contributions to the McKinley memorial monument fund. The total amount raised in Minnesota was $8889.48, and of this sum Duluth contributed $1534.65.

If President Roosevelt really desired to hit the trusts a serious blow, he would send a special message to congress urging the repeal of all tariff duties on trust made articles.

President Palma's message to the Cuban congress had the commendable quality of brevity. Our own presidents would do well to follow his example in this respect.

THREE QUEENS.

I.

Three queens were my delight.
One was a blonde, and one brunette,
And brown the other's tresses.
I cannot quite determine yet
Which one I cherished most of all,
Or whose caresses
Could most enthrall—
The plump, the lissom or the tall.
Now confesses
A maddening desire for each,
She rose, the lily and the peach,
It may be I will never reach
A firm conclusion,
Or straighten out this cardiac confusion.
I only know,
And tell you so,
Three queens were my delight.

II.

Three queens were my undoing.
Two little blondes and one brunette,
Decidedly alluring.
O, well-a-day I remember yet
How they were welcomed, one and all,
Their looks assuring
Me of a "call"
From other men who played 'em tall,
Big pots securing!
I held them in my larboard hand,
That lovely bunch of women, and
Decided thereupon, to stand
A few more raises,
And so I did; but holy smoke and blazes,
They were n. g.,
Decidedly.
Three queens were my undoing.

MERGER AND COMPETITION

Minneapolis Tribune: We have been told that railroad merger would put an end to competition. Yet there are signs of severer competition among the great railroad systems into which smaller systems have been merged than ever was known among the smaller systems in old days. Combination only broadens competition and sets the principle to working on a larger scale and with more power. Competition never was more sharp among the great trunk systems to the east of us than it has been in the last year or two, though it is not wasteful or destructive. When the additional systems now crystalizing through the union of Southern roads and the efforts of the Gould system to reach the seaboard have been completed, we are likely to see the principle of competition by legitimate means and for legitimate objects more active and powerful than at any time in the history of the country.

There is the same promise in the merger of trans-continental railways into two, or at most three, great systems. This will life competition to a higher plane and give it greater impetus than was possible when half a dozen systems burned up profits in war in one place or time, or oppress the public with intolerable charges in another. These mergers are not so far advanced as those of the Vanderbilt and Pennsylvania systems, but there are already signs of more active and beneficial competition on this higher plane.

Mr. Harriman has just returned from an extensive tour of the Union Pacific system, in which he has talked about the plans of the management with great frankness and a spirit wholly new in the exclusive territory of the corporation. These plans include judicious expansions and energetic effort for development of the country; scientific encouragement of emigration, invitation to industries, special facilities for commerce and all the modern devices by which railroads increase their ultimate earnings by increasing the prosperity of the country. People of the regions exclusively served by the Union Pacific first stand aghast at this announcement of novel purpose; then spring to their own work of industrial or commercial development with a new ardor and elated spirit.

Now this is just the way the northern trans-continental railroads have developed their country and interested their business. They have done this no less to compete with each other than to compete with the Union Pacific, which always has thought it could neglect development of the country for the through trade which fell into its lap without effort. Now that through trade is threatened by the Northern merger, and the Union Pacific has been aroused to give some thought to local development. This promises to Oregon at its western terminus and to the interior states along its line something of the industrial aid and commercial opportunity that the more energetic policy of the Northern roads has brought to the state of Washington. They are half delirious with joy over the prospect.

The merger has compelled the Union Pacific to compete in a bigger way than trans-continental business has ever known. In going after its round the world through trade, the merger has compelled the Union Pacific to adopt the northern method of developing territory. It is interesting but perhaps not profitable, to inquire if the Union Pacific would have introduced its own old, sluggish methods of managing local business into the northern territory had it been successful in obtaining control of the Northern Pacific.

Delay Caused Anxiety.

Washington Post: "I suppose our Western country has furnished more funny things in the epitaph line than all the rest of the world," remarked ex-Congressman Lafe Pence, of Colorado, at the Riggs house.

"I remember one that adorned the cemetery at Leadville in the palmy days of that great mining camp. It seems that in the course of a barroom broil one Jim O'Brien, a well known character, had his existence terminated prematurely. He was a good fellow in the main and not without friends. One of the dead man's associates, in deep grief over his demise, erected a wooden slab over his grave, on which he had written in large letters:

"'Jim O'Brien departed for heaven at 9:30 a. m.

"A local humorist happened along soon afterward and appended the following:

"'Heaven, 4:20 p. m.—O'Brien not yet arrived. Intense excitement. The worst is feared.'"

Meta, The Moon Maid

By Carrie Elizabeth Logan.

(Copyright, 1902, by W. R. Hearst.)

The army in the Philippines held in its obscure depths Harold Gresham, of New York. He wore no shoulder straps, but many of the officers in the vicinity of Carlota, Negros Island, were less conspicuous figures than the tall, handsome, blonde sergeant. An order had been issued to send out a small detachment to locate an active band of insurrectos in the mountain fastnesses. Sergt. Gresham was detailed to accompany the expedition.

Harold sat on the silvery sand of the coral beach and waited for the tiny crescent of the young moon to appear over the cocoanut grove by the sea. Then Meta would come; Meta, who loved to surround herself with mysteries soft as her clinging robes of just cloth.

As the silver flame leaped into the light sky a young girl stood at the opening of the woods. The next moment Harold held in his arms, Meta, the moon maid. He had given her this name because she met him only at moonrise, and usually carried in her belt a curious bolo, the handle of which was mounted with a jeweled crescent.

A period of dark nights had elapsed since their last meting. Meta told him in soft, fluent Spanish that she had been far away in the free mountains that no American could ever subjugate.

He smiled down into the magnificent black eyes, the gift of Meta's Spanish mother. "I shall go into the heart of those very mountains in the gray light of tomorrow's dawn."

A sudden pallor blighted the rose on her olive cheeks. "You, alone, Harold! Ah, you will never come back!"

"I shall not be alone," he assured her.

He wondered at her actions. She sprang from him and beat her breast passionately as though moved by terrible excitement. When she returned her manner was calm and determined, but there was a light on her face he had never seen before. It was a reflection of the flame of liberty burning fiercely in the heart of a Mestiza maid whose father was a Filipino, and the leader of the troublesome insurgent band.

Her purpose, born of intense patriotism, never wavered. As the pale moon lost itself in the cerulean depths, she whispered a farewell to Harold. With her lips to his, she breathed her disappointment that the long stretch of moonlight nights must pass without her lover's greeting.

Every large town in the Philippines has its magnificent church, and Carlota was no exception. Religious services had continued until it was discovered that the great bell was peculiarly active when expeditions started for the interior from the military post stationed in the town. Such campaigning was unsatisfactory, resulting in the siege of empty villages or the annihilation of small detachments of American soldiers. The church was therefore closed.

The men were preparing quietly for their secret march on the morrow, when the bell of the cathedral rang out a clear boom, boom, bang!

"It is a warning to the insurgents," said Lieut. Prue to a junior officer. "Sergt. Gresham take a man and search the church."

The tall young sergeant calmly made preparations to go to almost certain death. Corporal Jones volunteered for duty. The two men took lanterns and entered the darkness of the vast cathedral.

When Sergt. Gresham had flashed his lantern around one of the huge pillars near the door he stationed his companion to guard the only exit. He went alone over every corner of the church, confident that the place of concealment would be one of the twin towers. When he commenced the ascent of the bamboo ladder leading to the belfry he fancied he could hear his heart beat in the stillness. Life is too precious to lose willingly when the heart is young and the fire of love is in the veins. The ascent was one of very great peril. The man who carried a lantern made himself an illumined mark for the wary foe, who, with one sweep of a heavy bolo could cut off the head rising above the wooden platform.

The lantern was close to Harold's pale face as it appeared above the flooring of the belfry. What was that? In vain his keen blue eyes tried to penetrate the intense darkness, but his trained ear had caught a faint gasp. He drew up his arms to fire, but a draught from somewhere swept into the circle of light a woman's skirt. He held his aim and swiftly mounted the ladder. Crouched in a far corner was a small female figure with her face hidden in trembling white hands.

As Harold approached Meta started up and faced him. "Kill me!" she said. "I would have betrayed you to the enemy. I made Francisco promise to bring me your dead body that I might be buried with it."

"Poor satisfaction for me," said Harold, grimly, as he looked into the fierce, hot face of the wild thing he had loved. "So you rang the bell—"

"I did, even your precious life was nothing compared to the liberty of my people. To save you I could not let my father and brother be taken unawares. That little band is the light of liberty in this poor, blood-stained land, and I could not let it be extinguished. I had determined to hold this post desperately, but when the light fell on your golden head I could not strike. So love disarms a woman. It is me, Harold. Do not let them take me. I could not stand the torture of the water cure. I might confess and destroy my country."

Harold bent over her pityingly. He had responded to his country's call but a few months before. Why should he deny her right to love her land? "I shall leave the church door unlocked," he whispered.

Meta, the moon maid, met Harold no more when the crescent hung over the musical sea. The expedition was postponed. The following night he went to the trysting place and found the jewelled bolo on the white sand between two faintly-drawn hearts. "Thus are our relations severed," he soliloquized, as he hid the precious weapon.

THE G. C. STEELE CO.

DULUTH, MINN.

AT THE HOTELS

W. Vernon Booth, the head of the great corporation of A. Booth & Co., and one of Chicago's foremost citizens, arrived at the Spalding yesterday morning on a trip of inspection of the company's property and business here. He was accompanied by H. H. Brigham, the traffic manager of the company and C. W. Turner, traveling superintendent. Mr. Turner has direct supervision of all of the company's business. The three left yesterday afternoon.

Iron range people who spent Sunday at the St. Louis included Mayor Charles Jessmore of Eveleth, and Capt. F. B. Rossom and Joel Tornquist of Virginia.

Mrs. C. L. Kennedy and child arrived at the McKay yesterday from Chicago, to join Mr. Kennedy, who is the new commercial agent of the Milwaukee road.

George L. Burtis and S. J. Cusson, of Ashland, are among the lumbermen who are at the Spalding.

Al G. Ringling, one of the famous brothers who have built up one of the greatest circuses from a 1-horse show that twenty years ago was about as big as a merry-go-round, was at the St. Louis yesterday, with eighteen of his assistants in charge of advance car No. 1. Mr. Ringling was here in the interest of the circus's department of publicity.

Six members of a naval recruiting force arrived at the McKay yesterday, and will open an office today on the third floor of the government building. Lieut. Littlefield, who will have charge of the office will arrive the last of the week. Those in the party include Non-Commissioned Officers F. W. Hathaway, C. E. Parker, W. J. Henzel, H. F. Toomey, Fred K. Ruth and J. J. Killen.

At the St. Louis are George M. Patterson, of Aitkin; J. R. Hooser, Sault Ste. Marie; Bert Jameson, Chicago; Scott Macdonald, St. Paul; William Jensen, Niagara Falls; A. C. Smoothing War's Frowning Front.

Boston Transcript: It is to be feared that the time is not at hand when they shall beat their swords into plowshares and their spears into pruning hooks; nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more." But it is a promise of the return of the day when the republic dictated "peace to the world from ports without a gun" when a fort is turned into a pleasure ground, a transformation which is now consummated by the favorable action of both houses of congress in the case of Governor's island. The groups of children at play and of toilers resting in the harbor breezes will make a finer feature of the landscape than the bullying emblems of war, even when they are old "Columbia's," as useless as blunderbusses.

President Rides Armed.

Washington dispatch to New York World: A messenger from the White House rushed into the room of the chief clerk of the ordinance bureau in the war department.

"Gimme two boxes of cartridges for the president's pistols," he said, hurriedly. A clerk got the cartridges and gave them to the messenger, who galloped strenuously back to the White House. Three minutes after he had given the cartridges to the president the president was on his horse galloping for the suburbs, followed by his orderly and two bicycle policemen. The president carries a pistol with him when he goes riding. He knows how to use it, too, should occasion arise.

Distressingly Ignorant.

Chicago News: Senator Dubois says we pursuits in 150 years what we have already spent in the Philippines. Doesn't he know that this is a great philanthropic war, and that commercialism does not enter into it?

Understands Country's Predicament.

Kansas City Star: President Roosevelt appreciates the assistance given by the French during the American revolution. There were no rough rider regiments at that time.

"Criticising the Army."

Indianapolis News: Those who have foolishly felt themselves called on to defend, not the army in the Philippines, but the outrages with which certain of the officers and men have been charged, must feel, after reading President Roosevelt's letter to Bishop Lawrence, as though they had been wasting their time. There is probably no more devoted friend of the army than Mr. Roosevelt, yet he refuses to think that a thing is right because it is done by a soldier in uniform, or that those who denounce a wrongful act done by a soldier are necessarily hostile to the army.

Heroism Rightly Rewarded.

Chicago Record-Herald: The duke of Marlborough has received the Order of the Garter, probably in recognition of the masterly way in which he handled his chafing dish while campaigning in South Africa.

KILLED HIM.

Marshal Sweiger's Bullet Kills Matt Musick at Soudan.

On Sunday night a week ago Musick and another man and two women were creating a disturbance on the streets of Soudan. Deputy Marshal John Sweiger ordered them to desist.

The two women ran but later came back with reinforcements and attacked Sweiger. He was getting a decidedly terrific beating when he drew his revolver and shot Musick fatally, and another man through the leg.

Musick lived until last Friday. Deputy Coroner M. A. Gleason, of Ely held an inquest over the remains and the jury which was composed of leading citizens of Soudan and vicinity, returned a verdict to the effect that the killing of Musick by Sweiger was justifiable despite the fact that the attacking party was unarmed.

The transcript of testimony of the inquest was not received at a late hour today and pending an examination of this testimony the local authorities are not prepared to announce whether they will abide by the decision of the coroner's jury or not. However, it is probable that there will not be further prosecution of the deputy marshal that did the shooting.

Utility.

De fishin' worm goes walkin'
When de sun begins to shine,
An' de fish he seems a waitin'
For to dangle on de line;
An' you kind o' feels a hungry
Foh jes' some sweet apple dish;
Now, what was summer made for,
If it wasn' made to fish?

De willows is a laughin'
At deir shadows in de crick;
De water is complainin'
'Cause it has to move so quick;
De grass it nuks a pillow
So invitin', by de stream;
Now, what were summer made foh,
If it wasn't made to dream?

Arrogance of the Coal Trust.

Indianapolis News: When the coal operators serve notice that they have nothing to arbitrate and that under no circumstances would the Civic Federation be permitted to interfere, they show that they have no faith in the justice of their cause. Their attitude is not a challenge to the coal miners alone, but to the sense of the people throughout the land. To what length will the arrogance of the trust lead it?

Passed It Up to Time.

Detroit Free Press: Great Britain may have peace for the coronation, but even peace will not erase the bloodstains from the veldt.

A Startling Possibility.

Washington Post: The extraordinary silence of the Hon. Ben Tillman gives rise to the hope that the gentleman may have cracked his crater.

Sets a Good Example.

Kansas City Star: Even the United States may learn something from Cuba. President Palma, with every temptation to be diffusive, kept his first message within the space of a column.

Welcome the Water Cure.

Louisville Courier-Journal: A theory is that irrigation in the arid regions will temper the heat waves sweeping eastward and that rainfalls will be increased. If it could be demonstrated that irrigation would prove a water cure of this kind it would have more friends throughout the country.

By No Means Placated.

Chicago Record-Herald: Henry Watterson wants to have it distinctly understood that he isn't satisfied, even if he does occasionally remain calm for a day or two at a time.

Cuba's Grand Start.

Philadelphia Record: Probably no republic ever started under such favorable conditions as those which the United States created for Cuba. Two years ago, an attempt to establish an independent Cuban government would have been obstructed by ambitious demagogues, with a following of reckless jayhawkers. Thanks to the scrupulous and intelligent labors of America's representatives on the island, President Palma has entered upon his duties free from party opposition.

Striking a Hot Pace.

Washington Post: Cuba has four political parties and a large stock of Web Davises. The material for excitement down that way could hardly be improved upon.

Tussle of Legal Giants.

Philadelphia Ledger: If Attorney General Knox does not think he will have plenty of fighting before he finally conquers the beef trust he is not the lawyer he is supposed to be.

Upper lakes—Brisk to high southwest winds, becoming variable on Lake Superior; showers and thunderstorms.

Minister Equiers' Increased Salary.

It now develops that the delay in getting Minister Squiers to Cuba was due to the greed of that official. He was very anxious to have congress raise the salary of the minister to Cuba to the amount as originally fixed by the president. When the president asked congress to appropriate money to pay the salaries of the new diplomatic and consular officers in the republic of Cuba, he recommended that the pay of the minister be $10,000, and that of the secretary of legation at Havana $2000. The house accepted these figures as liberal enough and promptly passed a bill making provisions of this kind. The measure then went to the senate, where for some unaccountable reason it remained a long time in the committee on foreign affairs. When it was finally reported the cause for the delay was found. It seems that Minister Squiers had been working to have the pay increased, and had not only succeeded in getting $2000 more salary, but had actually got the committee to insert a provision of $2000 a year for rental of a consulate. This is something that congress has always refused to do in the past, and when the bill went to the house it was vigorously opposed by Chairman Hitt of the foreign affairs committee. The conferees knocked off the $2000. The bill was then reported to the senate and adopted on May 16, and Mr. Squiers' name was sent in the same day. This allowed only four days for Mr. Squiers to get his commission and arrive in Havana if he hoped to be on the ground to witness the inauguration of President Palma. It is needless to say that he did not get there. Squiers has made a bad start and has established a rather unenviable reputation by his greed.

Poverty From Drinking.

Some of the arguments made by the honest, but at times misguided temperance advocates are so inconsistent that they really do more harm than good to the cause. An English member of parliament in a recent lecture stated that the working classes spent one-seventh of their income on drink, or four times the amount that would provide them with provisions of ten shillings per week after the age of 65. If teetotalism were general, poverty would disappear. Without scrutinizing the statistical basis of this favorite argument and without disputing the great waste represented by the annual drink bill, the critical reader of the M. P.'s address may point out certain fallacies in the reasoning. This gentleman assumes, as do all controversialists of his persuasion, that the entire amount expended for drink is a total loss to the nation and that the money thus squandered would be expended more profitably, if the people stopped drinking. Both assumptions are questionable. The argument is punctured by the paragraphist of the Liberty Review thus: "Until we cease to find lifelong teetotallers in extreme poverty, we are entitled to hold that though teetotalism, which is but one phase of a generally prudential course of life, may enable a man here and there to escape destitution in old age, it can do little or nothing to affect the general causes which make men rich or poor. If the working classes do spend one-seventh of their income in drink, we must assume that they derive sustaining power from it. Surely the people are not such fools as to part with one-seventh of their incomes without a quid pro quo. It is very easy for Mr. Whittaker, M. P., to take for granted that poverty, or at least destitution, would cease if all men were teetotallers. Probably if his panacea were adopted and poverty still persisted, some other middle-class philosopher would discover that it was owing to the use of tobacco. And again, if tobacco were also disused poverty would be ascribed to the consumption of meat instead of vegetables. There is in reality only one cause of poverty, into which neither beer drinking, tobacco smoking, nor flesh eating enter. And that cause is the absence of wealth."

PEACE IN SOUTH AFRICA.

The welcome news has arrived that the British and the Boers in South Africa have agreed on terms of peace, and the great Boer war is at an end. The result is not unexpected, as intimations from official sources at London during the past week have led to the confident belief that the peace negotiations would be successful. Both sides have made concessions, and the terms of peace must be regarded as quite liberal to the burghers.

The South African republics cease to exist. They become part of the British empire, but they are not to be a crown colony without representative government.

It is announced that military government will be speedily withdrawn, and self-government instituted, which probably means that a colonial government similar to that in Cape Colony will be established.

All the expenses of the war are to be borne by Great Britain, no tax being imposed on the Transvaal for this purpose, while the British parliament will be called upon to vote $15,000,000 for restocking the Boer farms.

Naturally there is great rejoicing throughout the British empire over the final cessation of hostilities and the conclusion of peace on the eve of the king's coronation.

The war has been in progress since October, 1899, and has cost the British people about $1,250,000,000. The cost to the Boers is unknown. The British forces sent to South Africa aggregated 500,000, and at one time there were 280,000 British troops in the field against 50,000 Boers.

A COMPLICATED CASE.

Rather an interesting fight is likely to grow out of the recent decision by the late Judge Bradley of the District of Columbia supreme court, restoring to second-class matter three railroad periodicals, consisting largely of time tables, of which but practically 5 per cent were changed at each issue, the balance being permanent, and which decision was very objectionable to the postoffice department. The judge delivered an oral opinion, in which he said that he should grant a mandamus requiring the postmaster general to restore to the "official guide" and one of the directories their second-class privileges in the mails and an injunction in the case of the second directory, forbidding its exclusion, which had been threatened. Later he is understood to have dictated a similar opinion, with more elaborateness of expression, to his secretary, with the purpose of filing it with the usual formalities as the basis of the writs which were to issue.

But all further proceedings were cut short by the judge's death. He had arisen from a sick bed to attend to this business, and the relapse which followed carried him off. The only evidence anyone had that he had decided the case as he did were the stenographic notes of the court stenographer and of a clerk from the postoffice department, who was present, and the notes made by the newspaper reporters, corroborated by the transcript of his dictated opinion, as made by his private secretary, but never, as far as is known, revised and formally approved by the judge.

As soon as it was made known through the press that the opinion had been rendered, the "official guide," through the American News company as its agent, demanded the restoration to its old privileges. The department refused until the mandamus had been regularly served upon it. Meanwhile the fact leaked out that the judge had not lived long enough to sign his opinion or the orders under it, and the department was instructed by counsel to stand its ground and let the whole question be reargued if need be. It is reported that the attorneys for the "guide" contemplate an effort to procure the writ of mandamus by the indirect amendment of the informalities, on the ground that the case was legally settled when the judge announced his opinion, and that the sequel must in any event have been merely perfunctory. If this claim is made and pushed, there will be a very pretty fight. If not, the whole argument will have to be repeated and another opinion rendered.

The rulings of the postoffice department in regard to correcting abuses of the second-class privilege were carefully made, and for the judicial department to overthrow the executive was disappointing. Perhaps a rehearing would be the best thing that could possibly come of this complicated case.

THE NEXT CONGRESS.

The prediction is now being freely made in Washington that the Democrats will control the house of representatives of the Fifty-eighth congress. It is by no means an unusual estimate at this stage of the campaign. This is because the Democrats have such a natural advantage in contests for the lower house, due to the solidity of the South and the divisibility of the North. Off-year elections such as the coming one usually go against the party in power, and this is emphasized as an argument by those who predict Democratic success this year. Since Grant's second inauguration, the house elected at the mid-term has been every time opposite in political faith to the administration with the exception of Cleveland's first term and McKinley's. These mid-term contests have almost as regularly foreshadowed the results of the next presidential contest. Not since the Democrats carried the house in 1866 has the party successful at the mid-term failed to carry the next presidential election.

It will not do, however, for either side to rely on generalities in forecasting the coming congressional contest. It is different from any other that has been fought since the civil war. There will be 386 representatives elected, of which 193 would be an even half. The South, not including Maryland or West Virginia, will contribute about 118 Democratic representatives. The thirteen distinctly Southern states will have under the new apportionment 125 seats; the Republicans now have nine representatives from this belt, two each from Missouri, North Carolina and Tennessee, and three from Kentucky. Whether the anti-imperialism dispute will be of any help to the Democrats remains to be seen. It looks, however, as though the battle would be fought out on the usual lines with the trust issue predominating.

THE LERCH BARN.

It is surprising that the city authorities have permitted the old Lerch barn to remain for a year a menace to the lives of all people who pass the corner of First street and Fourth avenue west. The barn was placed there in defiance of the city ordinances, and has remained there without the slightest authority of law, projecting across the sidewalk and endangering the safety of the public. If the barn had been worth anything there might have been some faint excuse for permitting the owner to place it there temporarily. But it is absolutely worthless. It could not be moved without going to pieces, and it is in danger of falling on to the street any moment. It is the opinion of the building inspector and architects that it is unsafe and should be be promptly torn down in order to guard against a serious accident, yet the board of public works declines to tear it down as a menace to the public safety.

The Duluth people are wonderfully patient or they would not permit this nuisance to exist. The people of other communities would not tolerate such a state of things, and if the authorities, whose duty it is to look after such nuisances, failed to act they would set fire to the barn and end it all. Perhaps the indignation of those who are compelled to pass this dangerous building daily may excite them to take this course. If they do, they will have the sympathy of all other residents of the city.

In urging a repeal of the tariff on cattle, meat and hides, the Indianapolis News says: "The time must come when a breach will be made in the tariff wall. So far the breach has not been made. Protected trusts sell their products abroad at a lower price than they do at home. But no tariff is reduced, and it does not take a prophet to see that not one will be unless the people rouse themselves and make a demand that even the trusts controlling legislation shall not be powerful enough to withstand."

Duluth shows up well in comparison with other sections of the state in the list of contributions to the McKinley memorial monument fund. The total amount raised in Minnesota was $8889.48, and of this sum Duluth contributed $1534.65.

France is afraid her colonists in Martinique will come to the United States and is anxious to divert them to French Guiana. Her efforts will probably be futile. This is the land of promise to all nations.

President Simon Sam is charged with stealing $8,000,000 from the Haytien treasury when he was president. Perhaps he was trying to solve the question of what to do with the surplus.

If President Roosevelt really desired to hit the trusts a serious blow, he would send a special message to congress urging the repeal of all tariff duties on trust made articles.

President Palma's message to the Cuban congress had the commendable quality of brevity. Our own presidents would do well to follow his example in this respect.

Our naval operations in the Philippines have cost the United States $20,000,000, exactly the sum that was paid to Spain for the islands. It was an expensive bargain.

King Corn's Vast Domain.

St. Louis Globe-Democrat: If all the land planted to corn in the United States this year were massed the area would exceed the British isles, Holland and Belgium combined, or four-fifths of the area of France or Germany, in spite of drouth the corn crop last year fell but little short of $1,000,000,000 in value. The favorable reports from the corn fields is good news for the country.

WHITTLED TO A POINT.

Ohio State Journal: She—Are you going to church with me today, Henry?

Judge: He (American)—My grandfather fell at Bunker Hill.

She (English)—Oh, what a pretty name for a golf link! But how did he happen to fall?

Chicago Tribune: "When I hear a man spoken of as having forty or fifty millions in 'cold cash,'" remarked Uncle Allen Sparks, "I always wonder if he didn't get it by freezing out his competitors."

"Oh, I dunno. Look at the wealthy Baroness Burdette Coutts. She remained a spinster until nearly sixty."

"Yes, but it's all different when you have to."

"How so?"

"Well, you put graved on the roofs of your buildings and wooden pavements on your streets."

THREE QUEENS.

I.

Three queens were my delight,
One was a blonde, and one brunette,
And brown the other's tresses,
I cannot quite determine yet
Which one I cherished most of all,
Or whose caresses
Could most enthrall—
The plump, the lissom or the tall.
My sweet confesses
A maddening desire for each,
As rose the lily and the peach,
It may be I will never reach
A firm conclusion,
Or straighten out this cardiac confusion,
I only know,
And tell you so,
Three queens were my delight.

II.

Three queens were my undoing,
Two little blondes and one brunette,
Decidedly alluring,
O, wellthe I remember yet
How they were welcomed, one and all,
Their looks assuring
Me of a "call"
From other men who played 'em tall,
Big pots securing!
I held them in my larboard hand,
That lovely bunch of women, and
Decidedly, decidedly, to stand
A few more raises,
And so I did; but holy smoke and blazes,
They were n. g.,
Decidedly,
Three queens were my undoing.

MERGER AND COMPETITION

Minneapolis Tribune: We have been told that railroad merger would put an end to competition. Yet there are signs of severer competition among the great railroad systems into which smaller systems have been merged than ever was known among the smaller systems and days. Combination only broadens competition and sets the principle to working on a larger scale and with more power. Competition never was more sharp among the great trunk systems to the east of us than it has been in the last year or two, though it is not wasteful or destructive. When the additional systems now crystalizing through the union of Southern roads and the efforts of the Gould system to reach the sea board have been completed, we are likely to see the principle of competition by legitimate means and for legitimate objects more active and powerful than at any time in the history of the country.

There is the same promise in the merger of trans-continental railways into two, or at most three, great systems. This will life competition to a higher plane and give it greater impetus than was possible when half a dozen systems burned profits in war in one place or time, or oppress the public with intolerable charges in another. These mergers are not so far advanced as those of the Vanderbilt and Pennsylvania systems, but there are already signs of more active and beneficial competition on this higher plane.

Mr. Harriman has just returned from an extensive tour of the Union Pacific system, in which he has talked about the plans of the management with great frankness and a spirit wholly new in the exclusive territory of corporation. These plans include judicious extensions and encouragement for development of the country; scientific encouragement of emigration, invitation to industries, special facilities for commerce and all the modern devices by which railroads increase their ultimate earnings by increasing the prosperity of the country. People of the regions exclusively served by the Union Pacific first stand aghast at this announcement of novel purpose; then sprlug to their own work of industrial or commercial development with a new ardor and elated spirit.

Now this is just the way the northern trans-continental railroads have developed their country and interested their business. They have done this no less to compete with each other than to compete with the Union Pacific, which always thought it could neglect development of the country for the through trade which fell into its lap without effort. Now that through trade is threatened by the Northern merger, and the Union Pacific has been aroused to give some thought to local development. This promises to Oregon at its western terminus and to the interior states along its line something of the industrial aid and commercial opportunity that the more energetic policy of the Northern roads has brought to the state of Washington. They are half delirious with joy over the prospect.

The merger has compelled the Union Pacific to compete in a bigger way than trans-continental business has ever known. By going after its round the world through trade, the merger has compelled the Union Pacific to adopt the northern method of developing territory. It is interesting, but perhaps not profitable, to inquire if the Union Pacific would have introduced its own old, slug-gish methods of financing local business into the northern territory had it been successful in obtaining control of the Northern Pacific.

Delay Caused Anxiety.

Washington Post: "I suppose our Western country has furnished more funny things in the epitaph line than all the rest of the world," remarked ex-Congressman Lafe Pence, of Colorado, at the Riggs house.

"I remember one that adorned the cemetery at Leadville in the palmy days of that great mining camp. It seems that in the course of a barroom broil one Jim O'Brien, a well known character, had his existence terminated prematurely. He was a good fellow in the main and not without friends. One of the dead man's associates, in deep grief over his demise, erected a wooden slab over his grave, on which he had written in large letters:

"'Jim O'Brien departed for heaven at 9:30 a. m.'

"A local humorist happened along soon afterward and appended the following:

"'Heaven, 4:20 p. m.—O'Brien not yet arrived. Intense excitement. The worst is feared.'"

Meta, The Moon Maid

By Carrie Elizabeth Logan.

(Copyright, 1902, by W. R. Hearst.)

The army in the Philippines held in its obscure depths Harold Gresham, of New York. He wore no shoulder straps, but many of the officers in the vicinity of Carlotn, Negros Island, were less conspicuous figures than the tall, handsome, blonde sergeant. An order had been issued to send out a small detachment to locate an active band of insurrectos in the mountain fastnesses. Sergt. Gresham was detailed to accompany the expedition.

Harold sat on the silvery sand of the coral beach and waited for the tiny crescent of the young moon to appear over the cocoanut grove by the sea. Then Meta would come; Meta, who loved to surround herself with mysteries soft as her clinging robes of just cloth.

As the silver flame leaped into the light sky a young girl stood at the opening of the woods. The next moment Harold held in his arms, Meta, the moon maid. He had given her this name because she met him only at moonrise, and usually carried in her belt a curious bolo, the handle of which was mounted with a jewelled crescent.

A period of dark nights had elapsed since their last meting; Meta told him in soft, fluent Spanish that she had been far away in the free mountains that no American could ever subjugate.

He smiled down into the magnificent black eyes, the gift of Meta's Spanish mother. "I shall go into the heart of those very mountains in the gray light of tomorrow's dawn."

A sudden pallor blighted the rose on her olive cheeks. "You, alone, Harold! Ah, you will never come back."

"I shall not be alone," he assured her.

He wondered at her actions. She sprang from him and beat her breast passionately as though moved by terrible excitement. When she returned her manner was calm and determined, but there was a light on her face he had never seen before. It was a reflection of the flame of liberty burning fiercely in the heart of a Mestiza maid whose father was a Filipino, and the leader of the troublesome insurgent band.

Her purpose, born of intense patriotism, never wavered. As the pale moon lost itself in the cerulean depths, she whispered a farewell to Harold. With her lips to his, she breathed her disappointment that the long stretch of moonlight nights must pass without her lover's greeting.

Every large town in the Philippines has its magnificent church, and Carlota was no exception. Religious services had continued until it was discovered that the great bell was peculiarly active when expeditions started for the interior from the military post stationed in the town. Such campaigning was unsatisfactory, resulting in the siege of empty villages or the annihilation of small detachments of American soldiers. The church was therefore closed.

The men were preparing quietly for their secret march on the morrow, when the bell of the cathedral rang out a clear boom, boom, bang!

"It is a warning to the insurgents," said Lieut. Prue to a junior officer. "Sergt. Gresham take a man and search the church."

The tall young sergeant calmly made preparations to go to almost certain death. Corporal Jones volunteered for duty. The two men took lanterns and entered the darkness of the vast cathedral.

When Sergt. Gresham had flashed his lantern around one of the huge pillars near the door he stationed his companion to guard the only exit. He went alone over every corner of the church, confident that the place of concealment would be one of the twin towers. When he commenced the ascent of the bamboo ladder leading to the belfry he fancied he could hear his heart beat in the stillness. Life is too precious to lose willingly when the heart is young and the fire of love is in the veins. The ascent was one of very great peril. The man who carried a lantern made himself an illumined mark for the wary foe, who, with one sweep of a heavy bolo could cut off the head rising above the wooden platform.

The lantern was close to Harold's pale face as it appeared above the flooring of the belfry. What was that? In vain his keen blue eyes tried to penetrate the intense darkness, but his trained ear had caught a faint gasp. He drew up his arms to fire, but a draught from somewhere swept into the circle of light a woman's skirt. He held his aim and swiftly mounted the ladder. Crouched in a far corner was a small female figure with her face hidden in trembling white hands.

As Harold approached Meta started up and faced him. "Kill me!" she said. "I would have betrayed you to the enemy. I made Francisco promise to bring me your dead body that I might be buried with it."

"For satisfaction for me," said Harold, grimly, as he looked into the fierce, hot face of the child thing he had loved. "So you rang the bell."

"I did, even your precious life was nothing compared to the liberty of my people. To save you I could not let my father and brother be taken and shot. That little bond is the light of liberty in this poor, blood-stained land, and I could not let it be extinguished. I had determined to hold this post desperately, but when the light fell on your golden head I could not strike. So love disarms a woman. Is I me, Harold. Do not let them take me. I could not stand the torture of the water cure. I might confess and destroy my country."

Harold bent over her pityingly. He had responded to his country's call but a few months before. Why should he deny her right to love her land? "I shall leave the church door unlocked," he whispered.

Meta, the moon maid, met Harold no more when the crescent hung over the musical sea. The expedition was postponed. The following night he went to the trysting place and found the jewelled bolo on the white sand between two faintly-drawn hearts. "Thus are our relations severed," he soliloquized, as he hid the precious weapon.

AT THE HOTELS

W. Vernon Booth, the head of the great corporation of A. Booth & Co., and one of Chicago's foremost citizens, arrived at the Spalding yesterday morning on a trip of inspection of the company's property and business here. He was accompanied by H. B. Brigham, the traffic manager of the company and C. W. Turner, traveling superintendent. Mr. Turner has direct supervision of all of the company's business. The three left yesterday afternoon.

Iron range people who spent Sunday at the St. Louis included Mayor Charles Jessmore of Eveleth, and Capt. F. B. Rossom and Joel Tornquist of Virginia.

Mrs. C. L. Kennedy and child arrived at the McKay yesterday from Chicago, to join Mr. Kennedy, who is the new commercial agent of the Milwaukee road.

George L. Burtis and S. J. Casson, of Ashland, are among the lumbermen who are at the Spalding.

Al G. Ringling, one of the famous brothers who have built up one of the greatest circuses from a tent show that twenty years ago was about as big as a merry-go-round, was at the St. Louis yesterday, with eighteen of his assistants in charge of advance car No. 1. Mr. Ringling was here in the interest of the circus's department of publicity.

Six members of a naval recruiting force arrived at the McKay yesterday, and will open an office today on the third floor of the government building in Lakeside. Chief Warfield, who will have charge of the office will arrive the last of the week. Those in the party include Non-Commissioned Officers F. W. Hathaway, C. E. Parker, W. J. Henzel, H. F. Toomey, Fred K. Ruth and J. J. Killen.

At the St. Louis are George M. Patterson, of Aitkin; J. R. Hooser, Sault Ste. Marie; Bert Jameson, Chicago; Scott Macdonald, St. Paul; William Lyncn, Niagara Falls; A. C. Kling, Milwaukee; Alex Van Praag, Minneapolis; A. W. Halliday, Sauk Rapids; Charles Hayes, Fitchburg, Mass., and J. E. Whittaker, Oskaloosa.

C. W. Rogers, Chicago; J. J. Van Leuven, Detroit; C. S. Hutton, S. Gauley; Madison Cooper, Minneapolis; H. E. Fletcher, Minneapolis; George Shaw, Chicago; R. M. Weyerhaeuser, Clonnet; V. W. Dodell, Chicago, and Howard Jandorf, New York, are at the Spalding.

Smoothing War's Frowning Front.

Boston Transcript: It is to be feared that the time is not at hand when "they shall beat their swords into plowshares and their spears into pruning hooks; nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more." But it is a promise of the return of the day when the republic dictated "peace to the world from ports without a gun" when a fort is turned into a pleasure ground, a transformation which is now consummated by the favorable action of both houses of congress in the case of Governor's Island. The groups of children at play and of toilers resting in the harbor breezes will make a finer feature of the landscape than the bullying engineery of war, even when they are old "Columbia's," as useless as blunderbusses.

President Rides Armed.

Washington dispatch to New York World: A messenger from the White House rushed into the room of the chief clerk of the ordinance bureau in the war department.

"Gimme two boxes of cartridges for the president's pistols," he said, hurriedly. A clerk got the cartridges and gave them to the messenger, who galloped strenuously back to the White House. Three minutes after he had given the cartridges to the president the president was on his horse galloping for the suburbs, followed by his orderly and two bicycle policemen. The president carries a pistol with him when he goes riding. He knows how to use it, too, should occasion arise.

Distressingly Ignorant.

Chicago News: Senator Dubois says we pursuits in 150 years what we have already spent in the Philippines. Doesn't he know that this is a great philanthropic war, and that commercialism does not enter into it?

Understands Country's Predicament.

Kansas City Star: President Roosevelt appreciates the assistance given by the French during the American revolution. There were no rough rider regiments at that time.

"Criticising the Army."

Indianapolis News: Those who have foolishly felt themselves called on to defend, not the army in the Philippines, but the outrages with which certain of the officers and men have been charged, must feel, after reading President Roosevelt's letter to Bishop Lawrence, as though they had been wasting their time. There is probably no more devoted friend of the army than Mr. Roosevelt, yet he refuses to think that a thing is right because it is done by a soldier in uniform, or that those who denounce a wrongful act done by a soldier are necessarily hostile to the army.

Heroism Rightly Rewarded.

Chicago Record-Herald: The duke of Marlborough has received the Order of the Garter, probably in recognition of the masterly way in which he handled his chafing dish while campaigning in South Africa.

KILLED HIM.

Marshal Sweiger's Bullet Kills Matt Musick at Soudan.

On Sunday night a week ago Musick and another man and two women were creating a disturbance on the streets of Soudan. Deputy Marshal John Sweiger ordered them to desist.

The two men ran but later came back with reinforcements and attacked Sweiger. He was getting a decidedly terrible beating when he drew his revolver and shot Musick fatally, and another man through the leg.

Musick lived until last Friday. Deputy Coroner M. A. Gleason, of Ely held an inquest over the remains and the jury which was composed of leading citizens of Soudan and vicinity, returned a verdict to the effect that the killing of Musick by Sweiger was justifiable despite the fact that the attacking party was unarmed.

The transcript of testimony of the inquest was not received at a late hour today and pending an examination of this testimony the local authorities are not prepared to announce whether they will abide by the decision of the coroner's jury or not. However, it is probable that there will not be further prosecution of the deputy marshal that did the shooting.

Arrogance of the Coal Trust.

Indianapolis News: When the coal operators serve notice that they have nothing to arbitrate and that under no circumstances would the Civic Federation be permitted to interfere, they show that they have no faith in the justice of their cause. Their attitude is not a challenge to the coal miners alone, but to the sense of fair play throughout the land. To what length will the arrogance of the trust lead it?

Welcome the Water Cure.

Louisville Courier-Journal: A theory is that irrigation in the large sections will temper the heat waves sweeping eastward and that rainfalls will be increased. If it could be demonstrated that irrigation would prove a water cure of this kind it would have more friends throughout the country.

Philadelphia Record: Probably no republic ever started under such favorable conditions as those which the United States created for Cuba. Two years ago, an attempt to establish an independent Cuban government would have been obstructed by ambitious demagogues, with a following of reckless jayhawkers. Thanks to the scrupulous and intelligent labors of America's representatives on the island, President Palma has entered upon his duties free from party opposition.

THREE LIVES

Were Lost In Fire That Swept Rockaway Beach.

New York, June 2.—Max Kasten, 32 years old, and Mrs. Lydia McKrow, the same age, lost their lives yesterday in a fire which swept away many buildings at Rockaway Beach. Thomas S. McKrow and his 5-year-old son Frank, Martin Hanson, 28, and Morris Kasten, 75, were injured and taken to a hospital in Long Island City. Several hours later McKrow died and the father was reported to be dying.

The fire started in the frame dwelling occupied by the Kastens. In a short time it spread to an unoccupied brick building and then in succession levelled the following structures: Kasten's hotel, the Collonade hotel, the Casino, Walter's hotel, Sagamore hotel, Burn's hotel, Seaside Avenue museum, the Annex hotel, one story frame hotel, unoccupied; Peterson's hotel, the Mousette hotel.

Other structures damaged were: Harry Gerette's store, Herr Bros.' store, the Morrison stables and Brennan's hotel.

The buildings for the most part were of the frame type usual at the seaside resorts, and the loss is estimated at about $120,000.

After the fire had been controlled the body of a man was found burned to a crisp in one of the buildings. He is supposed to have been a candy maker. A number of persons received slight burns.

The fire is supposed to have started from a pot of boiling candy running over.

VIRILENT CANCER CURED.

Startling proof of a wonderful advance in medicine is given by druggist G. W. Roberts, of Elizabeth, W. Va. An old man there had long suffered with what good doctors pronounced incurable cancer. Everybody believed his case hopeless till he used Electric Bitters and applied Bucklin's Arnica Salve, which treatment completely cured him. When Electric Bitters are used to expel bilious, kidney and microbe poisons at the same time this salve exerts its matchless healing power, blood diseases, skin eruptions, ulcers and sores vanish. SUICIDE CLUB.

A Member Ends His Life In Chicago.

Chicago, June 2.—A letter found in the possession of L. Wachman, a traveling salesman, who committed suicide in a North Clark street saloon early yesterday, leads to the belief that he was a member of a New York Suicide club. Wachman fell dead while being served a glass of beer. Physicians who examined the body declared it was a case of poisoning. A bottle of poison bearing the name of a drug store in a small town in California was found in Wachman's pocket.

The letter which leads to the theory that the suicide was a premeditated affair was from T. Wulff, New York, dated May 25. The missive was written in German and was poorly spelled. From such parts of it, however, as could be understood it gathered that Wulff and Wachman were members of an organization, the members of which pledged themselves to end their lives. One of the passages read: "Will commit suicide at once and I am sorry that we could not be together and end it. I had thought that we could do this business together." Wulff also says that he had left a note under the door of ——— street. The name is not given, but it is believed by the police authorities that the street mentioned may be the headquarters of the suicide club.

The New York authorities have been asked to investigate the matter.

TO CRATER.

Prof. Heilprin Reaches the Summit of Mount Pelee.

Fort de France, June 2.—The National Geographical society has scored a great triumph. Professor Angelo Heilprin ascended to the top of the crater of Mount Pelee Saturday morning, in company with two guides and Mr. Leadbetter. While on the summit several violent explosions occurred, but notwithstanding the ground and angers surrounding him, Professor Heilprin spent a long time making careful observations.

Looking down the crater he found a huge cinder cone. The crater opening is a vast crevasse 500 feet long and 150 feet wide. While engaged in this task the lives of the members of the expedition were continually in danger, and one particularly violent explosion covered Professor Heilprin from head to foot with the viscid matter. He persisted, however, and found, as had been suspected, that there were three separate vents for the volcanic matter.

Meanwhile, Mount Pelee, seeming to resent the intrusion of man into her awful territory, belched out huge volumes of ashes, steam and boiling mud. The professor made the important discovery that the crater of Fallaise has an eruption at the same time as the summit crater and objects precisely the same matter. Both craters showed a new phenomenon during the professor's visit, when mud was thrown up in high columns, while, heretofore, the mud had bubbled or boiled out and flowed downward in streams. There is reason to fear that great damage may result from the outbursts of this mud to the rich plantations still uninjured.

The ascent was made on mules to an altitude of 700 meters, the line of old vegetation. There leaving the mule that had carried him, the professor proceeded on foot to the site of Lake Palmiste. He found the lake completely dried up and crossed the bed, passing up a slope to the crater's edge. This, which had formerly been a high bluff, Professor Heilprin found had fallen into the crater. This is the first important verified topographic alteration noted. Professor Heilprin remained at the summit crater over two hours.

TAFT NOT SERIOUSLY ILL.

Rome, June 2.—The illness of Governor Taft, of the Philippine islands, who is suffering from tonsilitis, is not serious. He is confined to his room by a slight fever which accompanies his sore throat.

"I suffered from dyspepsia and indigestion for fifteen years," says W. T. Sturdevant, of Merry Oaks, N. C. "After I had tried many doctors and medicines a friend persuaded me to try Kodol. It gave immediate relief. I can eat anything I want now and my digestion is good." Max Wirth.

Rheumatism

The liniment bottle and flannel strip are familiar objects in nearly every household. They are the weapons that have been used for generations to fight old Rheumatism, and are about as effective in the battle with this giant disease as the blunderbuss of our forefathers would be in modern warfare.

Rheumatism is caused by an acid, sour condition of the blood. It is filled with acrid, irritating matter that settles in the joints, muscles and nerves, and liniments and oils nor nothing else applied externally can dislodge these gritty, corroding particles. They were deposited there by the blood and can be reached only through the blood. Rubbing with liniments sometimes relieve temporarily the aches and pains, but these are only symptoms which are liable to return with every change of the weather; the real disease lies deeper, the blood and system are infected. Rheumatism cannot be radically and permanently cured until the blood has been purified, and no remedy does this so thoroughly and promptly as S. S. S. It neutralizes the acids and sends a stream of rich, strong blood to the affected parts, which dissolves and washes out all foreign materials, and the sufferer obtains happy relief from the torturing pains.

SSS

S. S. S. contains no potash or other mineral, but is a perfect vegetable blood purifier and most exhilarating tonic. Our physicians will advise, without charge, all who write about their case, and we will send free our special book on Rheumatism and its treatment.

THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., Atlanta, Ga.

WILL HE VETO IT?

The President and the River and Harbor Bill.

Secretary Root Is Strongly Opposed to Certain Provisions.

Omnibus Public Building Bill May Also Be Vetoed.

Washington, June 2.—There has been considerable speculation during the past few days on persistent rumors that have been in circulation that President Roosevelt seriously contemplates vetoing the omnibus public building bill and the river and harbor bill.

No confirmation of these rumors can be obtained from any one identified with the administration. They appear to have no substantial foundation. As near as can be learned in recent conversations with callers at the White House, President Roosevelt has commented upon the liberal appropriations made at the present session and suggested that further appropriations should be scrutinized with the greatest care. In connection with his general observations the president is understood to have referred to the two big omnibus bills as illustrations of the generosity of congress. That he gave any positive indication that he would veto either of them is not credited.

The president has shown unusual independence in scrutinizing bills which come to him for approval. He has vetoed several minor measures and insisted on certain changes in the Indian appropriation bill which were made by the passage of joint resolutions.

As to the river and harbor bill, it is known to contain provisions which were disapproved by Secretary Root of the war department. Mr. Root is a man of positive convictions and when the river and harbor bill reaches the White House the attention of the president will undoubtedly be directed appropriations allowed for projects which Secretary Root regards as unworthy of improvement. That the president will insist upon modifications by resolution is generally expected. A veto would come as a surprise to all and as a shock to many.

The omnibus public building bill, with minor exceptions, is regarded as a well prepared measure. President Roosevelt can hardly take any exception to it. The president, however, some times does the unexpected and should he veto either the river and harbor bill or the public building bill, his action might be resisted by congress.

Particular interest is manifested in the latter measure, as, in addition to the fact that it has been more than two years since legislation of this character has been enacted, its political advantage has been brought to the notice of the administration.

SOUFRIERE

Has Another Eruption Accompanied By Violent Earthquakes.

Kingstown, Island of St. Vincent, June 2.—La Sougriere volcano is still active. Another eruption occurred at 2 o'clock Friday morning. It was accompanied by a thunderous noise and a shock of earthquake, while volumes of dense vapor ascended to such a height that they were visible from Kingstown.

The vapor formed a thick cloud over the crater of the volcano and this cloud was illumined as by fire. In the crater itself the lightning was more vivid than upon any previous occasion. No damage was done and the eruption ceased at the end of an hour. Throughout Friday the crater was capped with dense gray and silver clouds and rain fell heavily this morning on the leeward side of the mountain within a radius of eight miles.

The American scientist, who started to ascend La Soufriere, is still endeavoring to reach the summit. When the volcano was quiet yesterday he reached a point almost half way up on the mountain.

He reports to the fear of the inhabitants that the island of St. Vincent may be destroyed. There are clear indications, he says, that a considerable portion of the leeward district will subside.

Owing to the continuous rain there have been heavy floods in the windward district of the island, and many houses have been washed away or filled with mud.

London, June 2.—Cabling from Rome the correspondent of the Daily Chronicle, says that Cardinal Rampolla, the papal secretary of state, will receive Governor Taft Monday. "I understand," says the correspondent, "from a good source that the American government wishes to deprive the monks in the islands of their immense estates, but instead of going in for spoliation, pure and simple, as some European governments would have done, Washington wishes to indemnify them and President Roosevelt will request the holy see to fix the amount of this indemnity."

New York Engineers Are Considering the Matter.

New York, June 2.—Members of the Safety Association of Engineers and of the Firemen's Executive union are reported to have announced that they intend to assist the striking coal miners by refusing to handle soft coal for use in this city. The union has not yet taken formal action. Should the threat be carried out by the members of the unions, it will mean the closing of many factories and business houses. Anthracite coal has been so scarce that many factories have been compelled to use soft coal.

The two unions named intend to take this action because, they say, their members are arrested for using soft coal and last week one of them being fined $25 for a violation of the smoke ordinance.

CAPT. SMITH RESIGNS.

Waseca Man Is Saved From a Courtmartial.

Washington, June 2.—The secretary of war rescinded the order for the appointment of a court-martial for the trial of Capt. Harry E. Smith, One Hundred and Third company, coast artillery, of Waseca, Minn., on charges of conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman, and by direction of the president has accepted Smith's resignation as an officer of the army.

Capt. Smith was recently examined by the retiring board and recommended for retirement. The secretary disapproves the report on the ground that the officer's disabilities were not due to military services, but were rather the result of personal habits. It was to determine the question that court-martial proceedings were instituted.

Acceptance of the officer's resignation acts as stopped all proposed disciplinary measures and closes the case.

A BARBER COMBINE

Finest Shops In Pittsburg and Allegheny Form Trust.

Proprietors Become Managers and Buy All Supplies Wholesale.

Also Run Their Own Laundry---Great Profits Expected.

Pittsburg, June 2.—The first-class barber shops of Pittsburg and Allegheny are about to pass into the hands of a trust. A charter of the Pittsburg and Allegheny Barber company will be asked for June 16, and the company is now being formed.

From one of the promoters some of the details of the unique enterprise were learned. It is the intention to acquire ownership of all the best located barber shops, those in the principal hotels and business houses, the skyscrapers and the railroad stations. To do this will require the expenditure of about $200,000, as there are at least forty such shops in the two cities. Of this more than a dozen already are under option.

The enterprise is expected to be a most profitable one from the start. Uniform prices will be charged, 15 cents for shaving, and 30 cents for hair-cutting. Shampooing will cost a quarter.

The advantages of a combination of barber shops, it is pointed out, are many, and apparent. In the first place, the new concern will purchase at wholesale all its supplies, such as soap, towels, sponges, cups, brushes, combs, razors, chairs, cash registers, mirrors, hat racks, and the thousand and one other necessaries. This in itself will amount to thousands of dollars each year.

Then, laundry work each year is a big item to barbers. Each man who is shaved has to have one or two clean towels. The barber company will have its own laundry. There will be a central supply house and a general manager will be in charge, whose duty it will be to see that plenty of clean towels are always on hand. He will have supervision of all the shops and thus be able to supply any of them with extra help when it is needed. For instance, in the East End there are occasions when the barbers have particularly busy times, when other parts of the city can spare a man or two owing to slack trade. At present one of the problems confronting the proprietors of barber shops is to secure sufficient help for Saturdays and other "rush" days.

It is the intention to have the present proprietors of the shops retain an interest in the trust. Each will be left in charge of his own shop, acting as manager and looking after the comfort of its patrons. The profits will, of course, all be pooled and each will be a stockholder in the new concern.

Expenses will be cut almost in two by the consolidation, it is predicted. For instance, with one big company owning all the shops, rents can be reduced, longer leases at better terms can be secured, and if necessary shops can be built in sections where profitable places could be established.

To show the possible profits of the enterprise, it was said that one Smithfield shop cleared $6700 last year—and it is not a 15-cent shop either. With forty shops under one economical management all catering to high-class trade, all neat and clean, and with uniform service, so a man can go to any one of them instead of traveling out of his way to find his old barber, the receipts of the combine shops are expected to be much greater in the aggregate than those of the scattered and independent shops of today.

The combine is being backed by a number of men with unlimited capital, it is said. The nominal capital stock is $25,000, to be increased as necessary. The attorney of the combine, J. A. Wakefield, is most enthusiastic over the enterprise and predicts that it will soon have imitators in every city in the country.

George Stephenson,

The invertor of the steam engine, was born in England in 1781. In 1829 he was awarded a prize of £5000 for his first locomotive, the "Rocket."

The improvements upon Stephenson's "Rocket" have been most wonderful during the past twenty-five years, until today we have the ponderous engines which pull the Milwaukee's Pioneer Limited every day in the year between the Twin Cities and Chicago and Milwaukee—the famous train of the world.

Stephenson died at 67 in 1848.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE SALE—

Whereas, default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage which was duly executed and delivered by Charles J. Frederickson and Clara M. Frederickson, his wife, J. F. (or John F.) Fredin and Anna Fredin, his wife, and C. W. Wilson and Augusta Wilson, his wife, mortgagors, to Frank L. Murray, mortgagee, bearing date April fifth (5th), 1894, and which was duly recorded in the register of deeds' office for St. Louis County, Minnesota, on April tenth (10th), 1894, at 1:30 o'clock p. m., in book eighty (80) of mortgages, on page four hundred eighty-four (484); such default consisting in the non-payment of the principal sum thereby secured, with interest thereon from April 5th, 1894, and also in the non-payment of taxes upon the premises described in said mortgage for the years 1894 and subsequent years, which said mortgagors had covenanted to pay in said mortgage, but which became delinquent, and which said mortgagee was compelled to pay, and did pay, as follows: On April 28th, 1899, the sum of $21.96; on May 31st, 1899, the sum of $8.79; on May 31st, 1900, the sum of $7.78, and on May 31st, 1901, the sum of $8.25; no part of which principal, taxes, or interest thereon has ever been paid.

And whereas, there is therefore claimed to be due, and there is actually due, at the date of this notice, upon said mortgage debt, the sum of two thousand seventy-nine and 10-100 ($2079.10) dollars, principal, taxes paid and interest.

And whereas, said mortgage contains a power of sale in due form which has become operative by reason of the defaults above mentioned; and no action or proceeding, at law or otherwise, has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made, said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described therein, situate in St. Louis County, Minnesota, described as follows, to-wit: Lot numbered forty-nine (49), in block fifty-seven (57), in Duluth Proper, Third division, according to the recorded plat thereof; also lots numbered seven (7) and eight (8), in block six (6), in Martin's Division of Duluth, according to the recorded plat thereof, in the register of deed's office for St. Louis County, Minnesota; which premises will be sold by the sheriff of St. Louis County Minnesota, at the front door of the court house in the city of Duluth, in said county and state, on the 19th day of June, A. D. 1902, at ten (10) o'clock a. m., at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and said taxes and interest thereon, and seventy-five dollars attorney's fees, stipulated for in said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated, March 20th, 1902.

MARKET WEAKER

Wheat Opens Lower But Has a Rally Toward Close.

Strength Not Enough to Carry It About Thursday's Close.

Flax Trading Light and the Fall Futures Weaker.

Duluth Board of Trade, June 2.—The wheat market opened weak and lower this morning, nearly all the news being of a bearish character. There were heavy rains in the Northwest which are unfavorable for the crop conditions in this section, but this fact was offset by the excellent weather in the Southwest. The lower cables were another depressing factor. Toward the noon hour the market had a fair rally and finally closed at but little below the closing prices of Thursday.

The Liverpool market closed 3/@3½c lower. The world's shipments showed a falling off, being 7,712,000 bus, against 9,672,000 bus last week and 8,419,000 bus last year, and breadstuffs on passage exhibited a decrease of 1,208,000 bus.

The visible supply decreased 2,027,000 bus last week, as compared with a decrease of 2,348,000 bus, the week previous and 3,132,000 bus last year. The total is now 28,000,000 bus, against 36,932,000 bus last year. Primary receipts were 442,000 bus; last year, 912,000 bus. Shipments, 365,000 bus, last year, 890,000 bus. Clearances of wheat and flour, aggregated, 823,000 bus.

Corn in the Chicago market closed 1-4@½c higher than Saturday and ½@¾c higher than last Thursday. Oats advanced ¼c over Saturday's price. Primary receipts of corn were 655,000 bus, last year, 1,354,000 bus. Shipments were 663,000 bus, last year, 992,000 bus. Clearances were 9000 bus. The visible supply of corn decreased 70,000 bus last week, as compared with a decrease of 757,000 bus the week previous and 1,063,000 bus last year. The total is now 4,227,000 bus, against 16,419,000 bus last year. The world's shipments of corn for the week were 7,807,000 bus, against 4,669,000 bus the week previous, and 6,021,000 bus last year.

Receipts of wheat at Duluth and Minneapolis, 98 cars, and at Chicago, 27, a total of 375 cars, against 274 last week, and 686 last year.

Trading in wheat on the Duluth board was fairly active. The market opened ¾c off at 72¾c, sold at 72¾c at 9:38, at 72⅝-¾c at 9:45, at 72¾c at 10:45, fell to 72⅜c at 11:50, advanced to 73¼c at 12:05, fell to 72⅝c at 12:20, rallied to 73¼c at 12:45, and closed at 73¼-¼c. This was a decline of ⅛-¼c from Thursday's close. The Chicago market closed slightly lower than on Thursday and slightly higher than on Saturday. Minneapolis was ¼c lower than Thursday.

Cash sales were 5000 bus and prices continued at 8c over July for No. 1 northern, 1½c under for No. 2 and 3c under for No. 3.

Flax trading was fairly active and the fall futures were weak. September declining 1½c and October, 1c. September oats fell ⅜c.

Following are the closing prices:

Wheat—Cash, No. 1 hard, 76¾c; No. 1 northern, 73⅝c; No. 2 northern, 71¼c; No. 3 spring, 68⅝c. To arrive—No. 1 hard, 76⅜c; No. 1 northern, 73¼c; July, 73⅛-¼c; September, 70¾-⅞c. Minneapolis—No. 1 northern, cash, 72⅝c; No. 2 northern, 70¼c. Oats—Cash, September, 28¾c. Rye 56c; September, 55c. Flax—To arrive, $1.74; cash, $1.76½; June, $1.74; September, $1.45½; October, $1.41½.

Cars inspected—Wheat, 33, last year, 142; corn, 1; flax, 3. Receipts—Wheat, 15,279; oats, none; barley, 617; flax, 1652. Shipments—Wheat, 363,315; flax, 55,920.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Grains Showed Marked Weakness at the Opening.

Chicago, June 2.—Grains continued in the slump begun last week and at the opening today showed marked weakness again. Cables were lower; the weather in the Southwest was very good and offset any possible evil from heavy rains in the Northwest. July wheat started ¾@⅞c to 1@1¼c down at 71⅝c to 71¼c. Trade was not heavy, but the sentiment was uniformly bearish. Commission houses sold freely, but on fair covering by shorts, July steadied and reacted to 71¾c. Local receipts 27 cars, 2 of contract grade; Minneapolis and Duluth reported 248 cars, making a total for the three points of 375 cars, against 274 last week and 686 a year ago. World's shipments were 7,712,000 bus, against 9,672,000 bus last week and 8,419,000 bus last year. Breadstuffs on passage decreased 1,208,000 bus.

Late business turned the sentiment of the wheat pit. Clearances were very large and the corn crowd was panicky at advancing prices. July wheat rallied well and closed firm, a shade up at 72¾c.

Corn broke in sympathy with wheat and on lower cables. The opening market was dull, but the sentiment engendered by the selling of the local crowd and a few commission houses kept the price weak. The big bull house gave some support to July options, but not enough early to overcome the bearish feeling. Kansas City broke 2½c on July since Saturday and 2c on September, thus having a depressing influence over this market. July opened ⅝c to ⅝c down at 61c to 60¾c, reacted to 61¼c, but dipped again to the early low figure. Later support steadied the price near 61¼c. Receipts were heavy at 523 cars.

In spite of estimated receipts at 523 cars for tomorrow, meagre acceptances in the country and late manipulation on the part of the big bull houses sent July corn shorts to covering with much excitement. The bearish sentiment vanished and prices were shoved up rapidly. July advanced nearly 2 and closed strong, 1@1¼c up at 62¾@½c.

Favorable crop reports and the weakness in other grains depressed July oats at the opening, ½c to ⅝c, at 36¼c to 36c. Receipts were much increased at 352 cars, but covering and some support were aids to the price and July reacted to 36⅝c.

Liberal hog receipts at the yards today depressed the provisions somewhat at the opening. Brokers bought a little to steady the price, but the commission houses sold fairly and the dullness of the trade allowed prices to decline a little. July pork opened 5c down at $17.05, sold at $17.07½ and dipped to $17.02½; July lard a shade down at $10.17½@10.20, and July ribs a shade lower at $9.72½.

Close, wheat, June, 72¾c; July, 72¼c; September, 70¾c; December, 71⅞@72c. Corn, June, 62c; July, 62⅜@½c; September, 58⅝@59c; December, 43⅝c; May, 40¾c. Oats, June, 36c; July, 30⅞@⅝c; September, 27⅝c; new, 29⅞c; December, 28⅜c; new, 30⅝c. Pork, June, $17.17½; July, $17.17½; September, $17.30; January, $16.25. Lard, June, $10.25; July, $10.25; September, $10.27½@10.30; October, $10.20; January, $9.50@9.52½. Ribs, June, $9.82½; July, $9.82½; September, $9.80. GRAIN GOSSIP.

Logan & Bryan, Chicago: Wheat—the market here was dull. A moderate export business was reported and these with large clearances made some covering of shorts. The later strength in corn also helped wheat a little, but the feeling is dull and operations are small and featureless. If there is anything the matter with the weather it is in the nature of excessive rains, but so long as they are not accompanied with great heat, reports of damage are wanting. The outlook still seems, in our opinion, a dull one.

Corn—There was some further selling of July on greatly favorable weather and the liberal arrivals. A good deal of the pressure, however, is from shorts and on efforts to cover. Later the market rallied sharply, particularly for July. Country offerings are again small. The demand is, however, slow. Aside from possibility in cash option, the speculative is featureless. The feature of the market is large scattered short interest in futures.

A. H. Farnum, of Chicago: There is nothing in the situation to advance wheat in the present temper of speculation. The cash situation is strong, but that does not prevent a decline. I can't advise selling wheat short and still it acts like some lower. The receipts of corn are large. Southwest markets are weak. The crowd here is bearish and free sellers. Acceptances last night were moderate.

* * *

Broomhall cables: The total world's shipments of breadstuffs during the past week were 8,592,000 bus, against 8,296,000 bus the previous week and 11,488,000 bus a year ago. Of the above quantity the United Kingdom took the past week 4,824,000 bus. Corn shipments the past week were 3,586,000 bus against 4,613,000 bus the previous week and 6,608,000 bus last year.

MARKET REPORT.

Received over private wire of B. E. Baker, grain and stock broker, 507 Board of Trade, Duluth, Minn.

Chicago, June 2.—The wheat market during the early part of the session ruled weak on selling by local bears owing to disappointing cables from abroad and favorable weather throughout the Southwest, but toward the end of the session the market rallied on covering by shorts and in sympathy with the closing strength in corn. The early loss was all recovered, close was firm, ½c higher than Saturday night. Liverpool reported their market as quiet, ¾d to ⅞d lower for the day. There was a moderate demand for cash wheat here and some business worked for direct export. The seaboard reported a fair business done there for export. The weather abroad continues favorable for the growing crops, and in this country is all that could be desired. The market may get a little more rally, when we think it may do to sell again. Estimated receipts for tomorrow, 35 cars.

The corn market during the early part of the session ruled weak on heavy selling by local bears, owing to favorable weather, large receipts and weakness in the Southwestern markets. There was good buying on the decline and later in the day when shorts tried to cover they found little for sale. Prices sharply advanced, July, 2c, and September, 1½c from the low point, and the close was firm, July 1c higher than Saturday night, September practically unchanged. Foreign markets were weak, Liverpool ¼d to ⅝d lower for the day. Country acceptances on bids sent out during Saturday night were very light. Farmers do not seem disposed to sell on weak markets. Cash demand is rather quiet. It is a manipulated market, and, in our opinion, dangerous to be short, especially on breaks. Estimated receipts for tomorrow, covering two days, 520 cars.

There was a fairly large trade in oats today, the market after ruling weak early in sympathy with wheat, later rallied on covering by shorts and in sympathy with the late strength in corn. The close was firm, July ½@¾c higher than Saturday night. September practically unchanged. Country offerings were light, cash demand was good. The weather generally favorable for the growing crop. Estimated tomorrow, 245 cars.

Provisions opened weaker on large receipts of hogs and the decline at the yards and most of the session ruled weak and lower on liquidation of holders. Later brokers took hold and advanced prices materially, closing at best prices of the day. Outside trade shows some improvement, but is still very small. The labor situation keeps trade away and the leaders can control prices very easily. Stocks in store are likely to be made bullish on hard, as it is said that lots has been shipped by lake that will be taken from stocks, although shipments do not show it yet. Cash trade poor and exports for the past week less than half of last year and receipts of hogs not far behind.

STOCK GOSSIP.

Ridgley to W. H. Laidley & Co.: The market is in a waiting mood and there is nothing much to say beyond what has already been stated in recent letters. Certain stocks are practically sure to sell at a very much higher level before having any material decline, but it may be quite some time before the move begins. Southern Pacific for example will beyond question sell 30 points higher before selling 10 points lower. Union Pacific is another stock which I understand from the very highest sources will sell above 130 this summer. The move in it ought not to be very much longer delayed. Brooklyn Rapid Transit should also do better in the near future. There are a great many bulls on Reading above 90, but Erie below 40 has hardly a friend. It is probable that the Erie railroad system will be made practically a part of Morgan's ship combine of adverse strike news on tap today wait for a 2 or 3 point decline before buying. In case of a sharp rally sell long stock on a scale up.

* * *

J. F. Harris to B. E. Baker: Crop prospects along the Atchison are brilliant. Harvesting is now going on in Texas. If the present prospect in Kansas and Oklahoma is fulfilled and the small grain is practically made, the road will have a magnificent year and the common sell at par, I think. I am a bull on the property.

* * *

Dow-Jones to W. H. Laidley & Co.: In connection with rumors that the Pennsylvania Railroad company has been buying Reading stock through the Northern Central Railway company, it is interesting to note that the $11,462,300 stock of Northern Central Railway company has been listed on the New York stock exchange today.

* * *

S. B. Dickinson to W. H. Laidley & Co.: The prices for the coming week depend largely of couse, on developments in the coal strike, but aside from this the one import fact is that general conditions are making for higher market prices. Railroad earnings, for instance, show increases upon last year's increases. In the reports of the last few days alone for example net increases have been shown in St. Paul of $100,000, Union Pacific of $137,000; Canadian Pacific of $110,000, Reading of $295,000, with Erie over a half million, while Illinois Central, Missouri Pacific, Wabash, Pennsylvania and other systems have fared equally well. Conditions of a transitory nature cannot rule in the face of such facts as these.

THE COTTON MARKET.

New York, June 2.—The cotton market opened steady with nearby months 2 to 3 points higher and late months 2 to 7 points lower. Immediately following the call, prices broke to 8.89 for July and to 8.90 for August. Liverpool was up 1½ to 3 points on summer months in place of an expected decline of 2 to 2½ points on the peace news from South Africa. Late in the first hour prices crept up a point or so, but at best the market was heavy and displayed little real recuperative energy.

Cotton spot closed quiet, 1-16c lower. Middling uplands, 9 7-16c; middling gulf, 9 11-16c; sales, 11,400 bales. Cotton futures closed quiet, June, 8.82; July, 8.82; August, 8.52; September, 8.03; October, 7.87; November, 7.77; December, 7.76; January, 7.77; February, 7.78; March, 7.89.

COPPER GOSSIP.

Houghton to Paine, Webber & Co.: The May product of the Champion is estimated at 120 tons of refined copper and the mineral yield for the month will be from 60 to 69 pounds rock. Lake copper shipments during the past week amounted to 990 tons. Increased lake production has been greatly checked by delay in arrival of refinery for Adventure, Mohawk, Wolverine, Champion, Baltic and Tri-Mountain mines. Bituminous coal receipts have been very small lately.

Boston to Paine, Webber & Co.: The copper visible supply on June 1, 1902, was 24,264 tons, a decrease of 2747 tons since May 1.

* * *

Boston to Paine, Webber & Co.: The publication of a statement showing a decrease during the month of May of over 2000 tons in the visible supply of copper and the sharp rally in the London metal market caused a further improvement in mining stocks today. The volume of trading continued small and it again developed that there were few stocks for sale if the market should continue bullish. On the settlement of the coal strike there should be considerable improvement in the stock market. We are still bullish on the good coppers.

EXCHANGE CLOSED.

London, June 2.—The stock exchange today and exchanges have closed at 1 o'clock today in consequence of the general holiday declared in celebration of peace in South Africa.

MARKET IS FLAT.

London, June 2.—In the stock exchange today the Kaffir and African securities opened active and higher, but heavy realizations all day soon brought prices to below those of Saturday. The market as this dispatch is sent is decidedly flat.

NEW YORK MONEY.

New York, June 2.—Close: Money on call firmer, at 3@5 per cent; closing bid and asked, 3@4 per cent; prime mercantile paper, 4¼@4¾ per cent; sterling exchange, steady, with actual business in bankers' bills at $4.87@4.87¼ for demand and at $4.84@4.84½ for 60 days; posted rates, $4.85@4.88; commercial bills, $4.83⅝@4.84¼. Silver, 51¾c. Mexican dollars, 41¾c. Government bonds, weak; state bonds, strong; railroad bonds, irregular.

LIVERPOOL GRAIN.

Liverpool, June 2.—Corn, spot American mixed old, quiet, 5s 9d. The imports of wheat into Liverpool last week were 36,000 quarters, from Atlantic ports, 1000 from Pacific ports and 22,000 from other ports. The imports of corn from Atlantic ports last week were 14,000 quarters. Following are stocks of wheat and corn in store on quays (railroad and canal depots not included): Wheat, 1,937,000 centals; corn, 488,000 centals.

The following are the stocks of breadstuffs and provisions in Liverpool: Flour 45,000 sacks; wheat, 1,668,000 centals; corn, 603,000 centals; bacon, 11,600 boxes; hams, 2500 boxes; shoulders, 4000 boxes; butter, 2900 cwts; cheese, 17,500 boxes; lard, 3800 tierces prime western steam, and 1170 tons other kinds.

MIDWAY HORSE MARKET.

Minnesota Transfer, St. Paul.—Barrett & Zimmerman report that the trade was in the weaker and slower condition which has gradually inaugurated the market the last two weeks. The very choicest kinds of heavy drafters and delivery horses were not so much effected by the change in the activity, but there was a material falling off in the movement on all classes from good down to the inferior grades. Values:

Drafters, extra	$155@$200
Drafters, choice	125@ 150
Drafters, common to good	100@ 125

CREMATED.

Two Men Perished In An Elizabeth City Fire.

Elizabeth City, N. C., June 2.—The Godfrey brick building was totally destroyed by fire early today and two men perished. The dead:

W. K. CARTER.
BENJAMIN WARD.

The lower floor of the building was occupied by J. R. Bergerson's saloon and the sleeping apartments of Bergersons, Carter & Ward. Young Bergerson had a narrow escape. His room mates were pinned in the blazing room and every avenue of escape cut off. Their charred remains were removed from the ruins this afternoon.

KILLED BY HIRED MAN.

John Malaney, a Wisconsin Farmer, Is Shot.

Waukesha, Wis., June 2.—John Malaney, a farmer residing four miles from Mukwonago, was shot and killed this morning by his hired man, Joseph Minett.,

Malaney's housekeeper was also shot. Jealousy is supposed to have been the cause.

DECLINE IN STOCKS

Canadian Pacific Was Bid Up Early But Fell Off.

Other Western Roads Dropped to Thursday's Level and Below.

Dullness of the Demand Cause of the Downward Tendency.

New York, June 2.—The stock market opened dull and irregular after the three days' suspension of trading. The action of the London market indicated that the declaration of peace in South Africa had been discounted and the acute phase of the anthracite strike was also without effect. The coalers and eastern railroads, however, were inclined to sag, while the grangers and Western roads hardened a fraction. Gains reached a point in St. Louis & San Francisco and in Denver & Rio Grande pfd.

Canadian Pacific was bought steadily, and sold advanced 1¾. The market at other points was rather heavy for a time, but losses were slight and the general movement very narrow.

There was fairly steady at the opening prices, but Delaware & Hudson ran off 1¼ with a recovery. Near 11 o'clock the grangers, Pacific, Southwestern and Amalgamated were bid up above last week's close, but the coalers remained sluggish. Kansas City Southern, Union Pacific and Atchison rose a point and St. Louis & San Francisco, 2¾. Illinois Central and New York, Chicago & St. Louis second pfd lost a point.

Buying orders increased for special stocks which offset realizing in Canadian Pacific and a few other leading railroads. Reading and Erie rallied to Thursday's close and Atchison, Continental Tobacco pfd, St. Louis & San Francisco second pfd, Wabash pfd, Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie, Rubber Goods pfd and Detroit United gained a point or over. Rutland pfd rose 2 points. Business fell away greatly later and prices yielded a fraction all around. Bonds were irregular.

The range of prices was lower owing to the dullness of the demand. The reaction ran to about a point in St. Paul and Continental Tobacco preferred. Woolen preferred rose 1¾. St. Joseph & Grand Island preferred 1¼ and Fuller Construction a point. Trading during the early afternoon was virtually at a standstill and fluctuations were insignificant.

Canadian Pacific lost all of its advance and other Western roads fell to last Thursday's closing level or below. New York Central lost a point and Reading ran off to the lowest. The gain in Fuller Construction reached 2 and General Electric rose 3½ over the last sale price. The closing was dull and heavy.

NEWS OF THE LAKES

Steamer Mataafa Goes Ashore In Fog at Knife Island.

Tug Zenith Is Dispatched to Her Relief at Once.

Three Masted Lumber Laden Schooner Ashore On Tin Shoals.

The reefs of Knife island have claimed another victim. Word was received this morning at the office of the Pittsburg Steamship company that the big steel steamer Mataafa went aground there about 9 o'clock this morning. The Union Towing and Wrecking company sent the tug Zenith, with a wrecking outfit, to Knife island at once. Capt. Joseph Kidd went with her to look into the condition of the steamship and determine her damages, if there are any.

No further information had been received up to a late hour this afternoon regarding the stranded steamer. Dispatcher Harvey, of the Pittsburg Steamship company, said that he had simply received word that the boat was on the reefs and that tugs were wanted. There is, therefore no information as to how the vessel got ashore or how serious her situation may be. It is suspected that there was a leak in the water. She is ashore in the same place that the steamer Tampa struck a few weeks ago.

The Mataafa is one of the fine modern freighters, and she was built in 1899 at Lorain. She is made of steel, and is 430 feet in length. She was acquired by the Pittsburg Steamship company with the other boats of the Minnesota Steamship company.

THE MEN QUIT.

Capt. Jacobs and Engineer Thompson, the new recruits of the tug trust that brought out the tug Abbott a few days ago, barely left their new jobs, and the Abbott is once more in idleness. Capt. Jacobs quit Saturday evening, and he also made up with McCaffrey and Murphy, the two firemen whom he had arrested for assaulting him. He will probably not desire to continue the prosecution against the men, though that is in the hands of the authorities.

LARGEST DAY YET.

Yesterday's list of arrivals at the port of Duluth was the largest in any day since the present season began. Between midnight Saturday and midnight last night, twenty-eight vessels arrived in port.

TUG BROKE DOWN.

The tug Gladiator, bound for Duluth from Split Rock with a raft containing 1,500,000 feet of logs, broke her crank pin yesterday afternoon. The tugs Mystic and Dudley left to bring in the disabled tug and her raft, and the Dudley returned with the tug today.

ASHORES ON TIN SHOALS.

Mackinac Island, June 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—A large three-masted schooner laden with lumber went ashore on Tin Shoals on the north side of Bois Blanc island in the fog last night. The steamer Lorain has just left here to render assistance.

Carnegie Oil Shares

—NOW AT—

10c per share

will be advanced after June 9th to

12½c per share

Reasons for doing so the best in the world. The company has two good oil wells drilled, contracts let for three more wells; has another property near the Simpson well and the Blue Grass, besides the one now being drilled on; drilling shallow wells costs $1.25 per foot; last well drilled came in at 475 and drilled to 490 feet; cheapest drilling in the world and the highest grade of illuminating oil produced; low capitalization; no officers' salaries paid; all monies from sale of stock used to do drilling and equip the property. These are some of the reasons why this stock IS WORTH 12½c PER SHARE AND MORE TOO, and why it will be advanced to from 10c per share. Compare it to the stocks sold by the companies operating in the fuel oil fields. Their capitalizations are twice to five times as large and the price of their stock twice as high. We have the oil and in most cases they have none. The CARNEGIE OIL CO. IS A BUSINESS PROPOSITION, therefore you should not fail to get some of it before it advances in price.

A 40-STAMP MILL is now in contemplation, and may be installed within a very few months. After that dividends may be looked for, as the property is now beyond the speculative point, the latest workings in the mine proving it a decided winner.

THE KNOWING ONES have already purchased liberally of this stock and THEY PARTICULARLY are now asked to increase their holdings before the stock is taken off the market, which is likely to occur with the installation of the stamp mill.

Any and all information regarding the properties of this company will be furnished by N. H. Murray, manager, 210 Trust building, Duluth, to whom checks and money orders should be made payable—by those ordering stock by mail.

THE TERMS IN DETAIL

Arranging For Peace In South African War.

The Details of Surrender Will Be Considered Later.

Terms Seems to Be Very Favorable For Boers.

London, June 2.—In announcing peace in South Africa to the house of commons today, Mr. Balfour presented the following:

"His Excellency, Lord Milner, in behalf of the British government; His Excellency Mr. Steyn, Gen. Brenner, Gen. C. R. De Wet and Judge Hartzog, acting in behalf of their respective burghers, desiring to terminate the present hostilities, agree to the following terms:

"First—The burgher forces in the field will forthwith lay down their arms and hand over all guns, rifles and ammunition of war in their possession, or under their control, and desist from further resistance and acknowledge King Edward VII as their lawful sovereign. The manner and details of this surrender will be arranged between Lord Kitchener and Commandant General Botha, assisted by Gen. Delarey and Chief Commandant De Wet.

"Second—All burghers outside the limits of the Transvaal and Orange River colony and all prisoners of war at present outside South Africa, who are burghers, will, on duly declaring their acceptance of the position of subjects of his majesty, be brought back to their homes as soon as means of transportation can be provided and means of subsistence assured.

"Third. The burghers so returning will not be deprived of their personal liberty or property.

"Fourth. No proceeding, civil or criminal, will be taken against any burghers surrendering, or so returning, for any acts in prosecution of the war. The benefits of this clause do not extend to certain acts contrary to the usages of war, which had been notified by the commander-in-chief to the Boer generals and which shall be tried by courtmartial after the close of hostilities.

"Fifth. The Dutch language will be taught in the public schools of the Transvaal and Orange River colony, where the parents desire, and will be allowed in the courts of law, for the better and more effectual administration of justice.

"Sixth. Possession of rifles will be allowed in the Transvaal and Orange River colony, to persons requiring them for their protection, on taking out a license, according to laws.

"Seventh. The military administration of the Transvaal and Orange River colony, will, at the earliest possible date be succeeded by a civil government, and so soon as circumstances permit representative institutions, leading up to self-government will be introduced.

"Eighth. The question of granting the franchise to natives will not be decided until after the introduction of self-government.

"Ninth. No special tax will be imposed on landed property in the Transvaal or Orange River colony to defray the expenses of the war.

"Tenth—As soon as the conditions permit it, a commission, on which the local inhabitants will be represented, will be appointed in each district of the Transvaal and Orange River colony under the presidency of a magistrate or other official, for the purpose of assisting in the restoration of the people to their homes and supplying those who, owing to war losses, are unable to provide for themselves, with food and shelter and the necessary amount of seed, stock, implements, etc., indispensable to the resumption of their normal occupations. His majesty's government will place at the disposal of these commissions the sum of £3,000,000 sterling and will allow all the notes issued under the law of 1900 of the South African republic and all receipts given up to officers in the field of the late republics, or under their orders, to be presented to a judicial commission, which will be appointed by the government and if such notes and receipts are found by this commission to have been only issued in return for valuable considerations, they will be received by the first named commissions as evidence of war losses suffered by the persons to which ...ey were originally given.

"In addition to the above named free grant of £3,000,000 sterling, his majesty's government will be prepared to make advances or loans for the same purposes, free of interest, for two years and afterwards repayable, over a period of years, with 3 per cent interest. No foreigner or rebel will be entitled to benefit under this clause."

ADDRESS OF SYMPATHY

For Mr. Kruger Adopted By Paris Council.

Paris, June 2.—The municipal council today adopted an address of sympathy with Mr. Kruger "whose people have so valiantly fought by right against might." Gen. Louis Botha telegraphed to his wife, who is at Brussels yesterday that he had signed the peace agreement and would start for Europe next month.

MURDER AND SUICIDE.

Another of Those Dual Tragedies Becoming Common.

Rolling Prairie, Wis., June 2.—William Straus, who recently married a widow named Mrs. Niehke, shot her three times, twice in the lungs and once through the wrist. The wounds will probably result fatally. Straus then shot and killed himself. No cause is known for the act.

Evolution of the Sleeping Car.

In 1856 the first sleeping car was produced by Theodore T. Woodruff. It consisted of simply a flat-top coach provided with mattresses and blankets.

In 1858 Webster Wagner produced an improvement on Woodruff's car, with larger berths and raised roof, giving better ventilation.

In 1864 George M. Pullman built his first sleeping car, the "Pioneer," comprising many new features, and at that time considered a veritable "palace."

Constant improvements and additions have been made to sleeping and parlor cars, day coaches and general railway equipment since 1864 until, in 1898, the C., M. & St. P. Ry. produced the now celebrated Pioneer Limited trains (two) at a cost of $275,000. They run daily between St. Paul, Minneapolis, Milwaukee and Chicago, and are today the famous trains of the world. The berths in the private compartment sleeping cars and sixteen-section sleepers are longer, higher and wider than those in any other cars ever built.

THE RATE IS RAISED

Lumber Freight Traffic to Southwest Raised Two Cents.

Was Brought About By Threats From Southwestern Line.

Yellow Pine Shippers Complained of White Pine Competition.

Lumber freight rates from Duluth to the Southwest are 2 cents higher. The change was effective today.

It is explained that the advance was forced by the threat of Southwestern lines to reduce their tariffs from yellow pine points unless the published tariff rate was restored from Duluth to consuming points to 7-cent proportional, Duluth to Minneapolis, that existed prior to the publication of the injunction process by federal courts. Prior to that time the Duluth-Minneapolis roads were quoting a rate, lumber shippers say, based on a 5-cent proportional. Soon after the maintenance of published tariffs began, the open rate was cut to 5 cents to Minneapolis on through business intended for points in the Southwest.

Yellow pine shippers got after Southern roads. They claimed that Duluth white pine was hutting out yellow pine in what they claimed had been their market up to the time the tariff was reduced. The fact of the matter seems to be that when a secret rate was made out of Duluth, the yellow pine men never knew what was hitting them, and that they never learned until an open tariff at the secret rate was published.

The change leaves Minneapolis on the game basis as it was before, which lumbermen here are inclined to believe doesn't help the yellow pine men very much.

As far as can be learned, there has been no change in the Pacific coast lumber rate to Duluth, though it has been cut 2 cents at least to Chicago by the reduction of the proportional from Minnesota Transfer to Chicago. It is claimed that J. J. Hill forced this reduction against the wishes of the other lines concerned in the tariff to Chicago and Missouri river points.

The rate from the coast to Duluth has always been 40 cents on fir and 50 cents on cedar shingles and lumber.

It is said to be Mr. Hill's plan to make such low rates as to force a reduction in the price of lumber.

Mr. Hill is quoted as saying: "A short time ago, when I visited the lumber districts of Washington and Oregon, I called the lumbermen together and asked them what kind of a rate they wanted in order to get into the markets of the middle West. They told me that a 65-cent rate would be satisfactory. I saw that they were mistaken and told them so, and have offered to haul their lumber to Missouri river common points for 40 cents per hundred pounds on fir and 50 cents on cedar. I made the difference because more fir than cedar is being shipped."

"Since I came back and have given the matter close attention," continued Mr. Hill, "I find I can assure the lumbermen of the Northwest even a lower rate than the one quoted.

"With the connection that we now have, through our arrangements with the Burlington, for getting into this part of the country, we are able to give a rate that will force down the price of lumber at the Missouri river and all points we reach. Lumber is too high, and has been for some time."

A FLOATER

Picked Up In the Lake ---Has Not Been Identified.

The body of a man was seen floating through the ship canal about 1 o'clock this afternoon.

The life saving crew was notified, and a few hours later recovered the body about a mile out in Lake Superior.

The body has been under water all winter. It is so decomposed that recognition by means of the features is impossible. The clothing was apparently new at the time of drowning. The suit is blue. The shirt a checked white flannel. The shoes are new. The man was heavily built and about five feet and ten inches in height.

It was removed to Stewart's undertaking rooms on West First street.

AFTER HIM.

Sheehy Arrested By Some of Those He Made Trouble For.

Joseph Sheehy was arrested again this afternoon. Last week he started out to reform the Bowery by closing all Hebrew clothing stores on Sunday.

It is said that those he had arrested are back of his arrest today. He is charged with conducting an employment agency without a license.

August Otters complains that Mr. Sheehy hired him to go to work when he did not have a right to. Sheehy denies the charge and will have a hearing on June 6.

"Sheehy, what's your occupation?" was asked him when his arrest was booked up on the police blotter.

"Lemme see—I used to be an employment agent, but you'd better just jot down that I'm a reform promoter."

We Want the Man With a Little Money to Consider an Investment in the Stock of

THE CAP SHEAF COPPER & GOLD MINING CO.

It is one of those legitimate propositions that come along occasionally and is entirely free from the speculative or stock jobbing taint. We have the mine; it is paid for; the gold is uncovered and all we need now is to have a few investors join us by taking a portion of our treasury stock at the nominal price of 25c per share. We are capitalized at $2,000,000, par value of shares is $1.00. Shares will be offered for a short time only—just long enough to secure the necessary funds for equipping the mine with machinery and making it a shipping and paying proposition. There is no question about the quantity or quality of the ore. We have fifty tons sacked and ready for the smelter only two miles away and thousands of tons in sight and ready to be taken out. There is nothing lacking in timber, water or transportation—the only unfilled requirement is money to operate with.

Does it Pay to Be a Small Investor?

If you owned 1000 shares in the Quincy or Tamarack mine it would pay you $6,000 per annum. The same number of shares in the Calumet and Hecla would pay you $30,000; in the Boston and Montana $40,000; in the Homestake $6,000. The official reports from 200 mining companies show that $14,657,452 was paid in dividends during 1900. This is $5,000,000 more than was paid by all the railroads in the country during the same year. The small investor can buy a block of stock in the CAP SHEAF COPPER & GOLD CO. just as cheaply as the large investor, and, if an early buyer, at a price which promises him almost a fortune. Shares in the Calumet and Hecla mine once sold for less than one dollar—now they are worth $825.

We Ask You to Investigate Fully

but do it at once. We have facts, figures and samples that will interest the most conservative investor. We are anxious to place them before you in the best shape for intelligent and early consideration. Will you afford us the opportunity for doing so? If you will, write or call at the

GET A MINE.

Capt. McDougall and Others to Work Montana Property.

A dispatch from Helena, Mont., says that Capt. Alexander McDougall, of Duluth, has gone into the placer mining business.

In changing his occupation he still remains nautical, for he is said to intend to do his mining with a dredge. The dispatch is as follows:

"Capt. Alexander McDougall, the originator of the whaleback boats on the great lakes, has taken a bond on the placer mines near old Montana city, from which so many millions were extracted in the early sixties.

"The ground will be mined with a dredge.

"A dredge was built there several years ago but owing to defective machinery was not successful.

"There is no question but what there is an immense amount of gold in the gulch at Montana City. This gulch was never mined owing to the large flow of water. A number of shafts have been sunk to bedrock and the property thoroughly prospected.

Capt. McDougall has associated with him a number of Minnesota capitalists, whose names are not yet disclosed."

Capt. McDougall could not be located this afternoon to verify this story.

MARRIAGE NOT A BAR.

Ruling of Secretary of Interior In Land Case.

The decision of the local land office in the case of Mrs. Mary M. Parks has been affirmed by the secretary of the interior. The decision reverses the decision or the United States land commissioner. Mrs. Parks made a homestead entry in the St. Cloud office on a tract within the second indemnity belt granted to the Northern Pacific company. She lived on the claim more than six months and made the required improvements. When the land was taken away from the settlers and right was given them to file elsewhere, Mrs. Parks filed in certain lands in sections 17, 20 and 21-68-24. She filed on the land in 1899 and her entry was accepted at the local land office, but the land commissioner held it back on the ground that she had married since her first entry and was not entitled to the land.

The decision of the secretary of the interior indicates that the marriage makes no difference so long as Mrs. Parks resided on the first entry six months.

DEATH LIST.

Bainridge, Who Assisted Booth to Escape, Is Dead.

New York, June 2.—Absalom Ruggles Bainbridge, who at one time was under sentence of death for assistance he was charged with having given John Wilkes Booth while the latter was making his escape after assassinating President Lincoln, is dead from apoplexy at his home in this city.

Mr. Bainbridge was born in Virginia in 1845. He entered the confederate army under Col. Mosby when he was 16 years old and at the close of the war held the rank of lieutenant. When Col. Mosby's command was dispersed, Bainbridge and a cousin, Maj. Ruggles, who died in this city two weeks ago, were on their way home when they met Booth, whom they unwittingly assited to cross the river. The young lieutenant and his cousin were arrested and sentenced to death, but subsequently were released.

New York, June 2—Rev. Dr. William A. McAtee, pastor of the First Presbyterian church at Danville, Pa., is dead in this city from the effects of a secret surgical operation. Dr. McAtee was a graduate of Princeton college and seminary. His pastorships had been at Madison, Wis., and Danville, Pa.

MEASURE AMENDED

Additional Safeguards Are Inserted In Philippine Bill.

Important Provision to Present Leasing of Public Lands.

No Corporation Shall Employ Persons Held In Slavery.

Washington, June 2.—General debate on the Philippines government bill having been concluded, the senate convened at 11 a. m. today, the arrangement being that the debate should proceed under the 15-minute rule.

Mr. Lodge, in charge of the bill, offered several amendments, principally of a verbal nature. One of the most important was an amendment striking out the words, "Nor more than 5000 acres, to any association of persons," relating to the disposition of public lands, and inserting a provision "that no such lands shall be leased, let or demised to any corporation until a law regulating the disposition of the public lands shall have been enacted and reproved."

Another amendment provided that hereafter no corporation shall be authorized to engage in agriculture until provision should be made therefor.

An additional amendment provided that all United States laws relating to the entry, clearing and manifests of steamships and other vessels plying between the United States and the Philippines should apply to such vessels.

The provision of the bill relating to franchises was amended so as to prohibit corporations from employing persons held in slavery or involuntary servitude.

A new section was added to the bill providing that the treasury of the Philippine government shall be a depository for such public moneys as the secretary of the treasury may direct.

An amendment also was agreed to making the laws relating to the entry, clearance and manifests of steamships and other vessels arriving from or going to foreign ports, applicable to voyages each way between the Philippines and the United States and its possessions.

Mr. Mason (Ill.) made a speech early in the session in which he took strong grounds against the general policy of the United States in the Philippines. His speech was listened to with interest on both sides of the chamber. He mentioned the great cost of carrying on the war and of the little value it was to the United States. He would not have voted for the peace treaty but for the open and notorious understanding among senators that there was to be a vote on the resolution to give the Filipinos self-government. This would have prevented the war.

"Why not try it?" he asked. He declared no harm could come from the attempt.

IN THE HOUSE.

Washington, June 2.—When the house met today Mr. Burton (O.) presented the conference report on the river and harbor bill and gave notice that he would call it up tomorrow.

Mr. Hitt (Ill.), chairman of the committee on foreign affairs, for his committee, presented a resolution calling on the president, if not incompatible with public interests, for full information concerning the investigation of the British supply camp in Louisiana, made under his authority. The resolution was a substitute for that introduced by Mr. Cockran (Mo.) in substantially the same terms, except that it eliminated the call of the report of the officer who made the investigation. The resolution was adopted. Mr. Grosvenor (O.) moved the passage under suspension of the rules, of a joint resolution extending the thanks of congress to Hon. John Hay for his address on the occasion of the McKinley memorial srvices last Fberuary.

Some time ago Mr. Dearmond (Mo.) objected to the request for unanimous consent for the consideration of the resolution. Today Mr. Richardson, the minority leader, demanded a second upon Mr. Grosvenor's motion, and it was ordered, 92 to 52. When brought to vote on its passage the resolution thanking Secretary Hay for his McKinley address was adopted, 129 to 45. Grosvenor, Richardson, Champ Clark and others speaking.

About half the Democrats applauded Mr. Clark as he concluded, but the demonstration was not enthusiastic.

Mr. Grosvenor then yielded five minutes to Mr. Hooker (Miss.), who made an eloquent defense of Mr. Hay's speech. Gen. Hooker is a one-armed Confederate veteran, who was one of Jefferson Davis' counsel when he was tried for treason. He served in the house in the '80s and '90s, and during his former service was one of the leaders on the Democratic side. Of late years his voice has failed somewhat, but as soon as he arose to speak members from both sides of the house crowded about him. He had been a member of the committee which selected Mr. Hay as orator of the memorial services and had united in the selection. He said he had failed to detect in Mr. Hay's address anything that was in the slightest degree objectionable. He was warmly applauded as he sat down.

Mr. Grosvenor concluded the debate with a few words pointing out that the failure of the house to adopt a resolution of thanks would be construed as a condemnation of Mr. McKinley. He called attention to the universal acclaim with which the Democratic press of the country had received Mr. Hay.s oration, and insisted that it was impossible in eulogizing McKinley to divorce him from his life work and his many partisanships. He had heard many eulogies of Democrats in this hall, those upon Randall, Hendricks, and others, and all of them had boasted of their achievements in behalf of the Democratic party. Mr. Hay's eulogy of McKinley had been freer of that sort of thing than any of those he had heard.

The vote was then taken, and the resolution adopted, 129 to 46.

The conference report upon the senate bill to protect wild game and birds in Alaska was adopted.

Mr. Hull (Iowa) moved the passage under suspension of the rules of the senate bill to permit the retirement of Surgeon Gneral Sternberg with the rank of Major General. Mr. Cannon, chairman of the appropriation bill, vigorously opposed the bill, declaring that the principle at the base of such legislation was vicious. Mr. Underwood (Ala.), Mr. Clayton (Ala.), and Mr. Cochran (Mo.), also antagonized the bill.

A SERIOUS AFFRAY.

Lemberg, June 2.—A serious affray between soldiers and strikers occurred today on the Schnetzen Platz. While a company of infantry was returning from a drill, strikers began stoning the troops; numbers of the soldiers were injured and all the windows in the vicinity were smashed. The infantry then charged and some forty workmen were wounded with sabres, or were shot.

POPE EXPRESSES JOY.

Rome, June 2.—On the receipt of the conclusion of peace in South Africa, the pope expressed his joy, saying: "I hope to close my eyes on world-wide peace."

PRISONERS PLEASED.

Hamilton, Bermuda, June 2.—The Boer prisoners here are reported to be generally pleased with the announcement that peace in South Africa has been concluded though a few of the irreconcilables are sullen. Some of the Boers joined in singing the British national anthem this morning.

BOSSES HELD UP

Miners' Pickets Force Them to Return Home.

Special Officers Kidnaped and Sent Away.

Mahanoy City, Pa., June 3.—Two hundred union pickets guarded the approaches to Tunnel Ridge colliery of the Philadelphia & Reading Coal and Iron company at the western end of the city today and refused to pass James Holloway, Charles Carl, George Oliver and William Dodds, all bosses. They were forced to return home. Maple Hill colliery resumed the hoisting of water this morning, strikers held up the engineers at the Gilbertson water shaft this morning and as a result the hoist is idle.

Hazelton, Pa., June 3.—The five special officers who were kidnaped by strikers at the railroad station here upon their arrival from Philadelphia last night returned home today in charge of J. P. Gallagher, district secretary of the United Mine Workers, who furnished the transportation. The mine workers will make an effort to check the hiring of men in Philadelphia by representatives of the coal companies, and may seek the aid of labor unions of that city in the movement.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., June 3.—The situation in the Wyoming region today as far as it relates to the engineers, firemen and pump runners and the mine workers generally shows no change from that of yesterday. Peace reigns throughout the valley and all the collieries that had not voluntarily closed down their pumps during the last ten days continue to keep their mines free of water. There were a few changes among the men at starting this morning which were generally in favor of the strikers. Some of the companies, however, have a reserve force in readiness to take the place of any man who quits work. Several collieries are said to be working short handed and if many more men leave their posts these operations will be compelled to shut down and the mines allowed to become flooded.

Reports are constantly coming in from the surrounding region of petty violence perpetrated principally by boys, but no one has as yet been seriously hourt. At Miners Mills, a short distance north of here there was a gathering of strikers headed by a fife and drum band last night and this morning, but the men did nothing but march around the town. They kept away from the collieries which are protested by coal and iron police.

ENTIRE FORCE ON DUTY

Chicago, June 3.—Chicago's entire police force is on active or reserve duty today as a result of the serious aspect assumed by the stock yards teamsters' strike yesterday. Every patrolman on a furlough reported for duty today and many of the police on crossing duty in the down-town district were held in readiness for riot calls. Hundreds of officers assembled early in the morning at headquarters and were given definite orders to prevent disturbances such as marked yesterday's deliveries of meat by the packers. The strikers have doubled their picket forces to try to dissuade non-union men from carrying meat from railroad branch houses either to hotels and restaurants or distributing points of the "big eight" packing establishments. All the buildings of the packers are under guard, the police assisting in many instances. The strikers deprecate yesterday's lawlessness and disclaim responsibility for it. They say in all instances the work of the mobs was that of sympathizers only.

Delivery drivers of the big department stores have become more dissatisfied with their positions and threaten to make the teamsters strike still more serious by tying up all delivery. Today the tenster employes of the Boston store struck. The Fair teamsters are already out and other men who were pressed into service on the wagons early today met with constant blockades formed by sympathizing teamsters in other wagons along their routes. The drivers of A. M. Rothschild & Co. held a meeting in the basement of the store and threatened to go out. Police were called to all the stores where men had struck or made demonstrations.

At 10 o'clock the teamsters of all the big State stret department stores struck. The number of men out at the nine big stores is estimated at 550. When the strike order went out many of the wagons of the stores were loaded ready for departure for the suburbs and outlying residence districts. In most cases the men at once left their wagons and the goods were taken back to the stores. Shoppers mingled with the crowd of police at each store, but everything as yet is quiet and orderly. The Fair has not been able to move its wagons.

A train of twenty wagons loaded with meat from the stockyards made its way to the down-town district early under a heavy guard of police.

PRISONERS RELEASED

Leavenworth, Kan., June 3.—Ten prisoners affected by the United States supreme court decision in the case of ex-Capt. Peter C. Deming have been released from the federal penitentiary and furnished with tickets to their homes.

The men are Clifton Bridges, Washington, D. C.; James Dunagan, Philadelphia; Thomas Feastor, Knoxville, Tenn.; Joseph Gennon, Savannah, Ga.; Patsey Haffey, Chicago; Henry Holliday, St. Louis; James Price, Franklin, Ky.; Benjamin Stanley, Raleigh, N. C.; William Wilson, Birmingham, Ala., and James Meadows, Van Buren, Ark. The men boarded trains immediately after their release and are now well on their way home.

These men, like ex-Capt. Deming, were volunteer soldiers, who were convicted by court-martials composed of regular army officers. Wilson, the negro, was convicted of murder in the Philippines and was sentenced to be shot, but President McKinley commuted his sentence to thirty years in prison.

Four other prisoners had been released on bonds pending the Deming decision and are now entirely free. They are ex-Capt. M. J. Spellman, ex-Lieut. Delbert P. Jones, ex-Capt. J. C. Read and Charles Parris.

TAFT MEETS RAMPOLLA

New York, June 3.—The first meeting of Governor Taft and Cardinal Rampolla was extremely cordial, says a Rome dispatch to the Tribune. The cardinal repeated his sympathy because of the indisposition of Governor Taft and his satisfaction at seeing him. They exchanged views as to the disposition of the work to be done for a friendly solution of the different religious questions in the Philippines, instead of having recourse to the courts or other means which create friction and hostility, either toward the church or the United States. Judge Taft added that he had no intention to oppose the Catholic church, and was sure that if the measures he proposed can be, they will be, adopted and prove advantageous also to the church. Cardinal Rampolla expressed the hope that the result of the conference will be profitable and of interest both to the church and the United States.

Governor Taft manifested a desire that the conference be so regulated as to allow him to take the steamer leaving Naples July 10, his passage already having been booked. Cardinal Rampolla answered that he would report immediately to the pope, who will fix an audience. This audience probably will take place on Thursday.

Judge Taft will present to the pontiff a set of President Roosevelt's books, enclosed in a rich case of white morocco with the arms of the pope.

STRENGTH OF NATION

New York, June 3.—Privy Councilor Goldberger, of Berlin, member of the imperial German consultative board for commercial measures, will sail today for Europe, after a stay of eight months in this country. He said:

"The impressions I have received in traveling from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast and visiting all the great centers of manufacturing works and commerce are almost overwhelming. Everywhere I found the giant strength of the nation. Crises, however, will be unavoidable here, as well as in other highly developed countries. The large aggregation of enterprise, the financial foundation of which is often far from being sound, the power of the individual with the danger of such financial monarchies and the labor question in its economical and probable historical aspect—all these are clouds on the horizon of the economical life of the country. But every storm here will pass away very quickly.

"The United States is a country of unlimited possibilities. The world's trade belongs to Germany and the United States. They should not try to either Americanize or Germanize each other. The industrial and commercial people of the two nations should become better acquainted with one another and should come nearer each other. There is no such thing as distance today. One must learn the other through a mutual exchange of working methods and commercial and industrial institutions as far as they can be adapted to the peculiarities of the different nations and the conditions of the manufacturing plants. Each nation has its own excellencies. You excell in some things, we in others. And so I am convinced that German and American interests, far from being conflicting, can become really harmonious."

DIED IN A "BEAUTY MASK"

Chicago, June 3.—The case against "Dr." E. Wesley Johnson, who was arrested in connection with the death of Miss May Thompson, which took place last Tuesday, after being treated by "Dr." Johnson, has been dismissed before Justice Eberhardt. Johnson was charged with involuntary manslaughter. Miss Thompson had worn a "beauty mask," and was undergoing treatment to improve her appearance, when she died. The police did not have witnesses and sought a continuance.

FOUR MEN GARROTED

Porto Ricans Executed at Ponce For Serious Crimes.

They Were All Put to Death Within Fifty Minutes.

Confessed Their Crimes as They Walked to the Scaffold.

Ponce, Porto Rico, June 3.—Bernabe Acevedo, Jose Torres, Ramon Troche, Cadeno and Juan Torres, the four men found guilty of murder, robbery and outrage, committed in October, 1898, at Guayo, a suburb of Adpuntas, were garroted here today. They were all put to death within fifty minutes, and the average time taken to kill each man was two minutes. All the condemned men confessed their crimes as they walked to the scaffold. Two of them aided the executioner to adjust the garrote and forgave him for putting them to death. One of the prisoners resisted the adjustment of the cloth over his face. He said he wanted to die with his face uncovered. Finally, after fifteen minutes' struggle, he was subdued. There were only thirty witnesses of the execution.

The men were executed for the murder of Antonio Delgade del Pino, near Adjuntas, on Sept. 30, 1898. They were part of a band of twenty-five who entered Pino's home and seized Pino and other members of the household. Pino was hung up by his feet and his ears were cut off. He was afterwards hanged. The women of the household were outraged and the place was looted.

OLD SETTLERS

Of Minnesota Hold Annual Reunion at St. Paul.

St. Paul, June 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Minnesota Old Settlers' association held its annual meeting at the state capital yesterday. An hour was spent in reminiscences and electing officers, after which adjournment was taken to the Merchants' hotel, where the annual dinner was held.

The officers elected were: President, B. H. Randall, Winona; first vice president, James McMullen, Minneapolis; second vice president, John L. Hinckley, Mankato; secretary, A. L. Carpenter, St. Paul; treasurer, J. D. Ludden, St. Paul. J. B. Chaney, of the State Historical society, was continued as corresponding secretary.

There were twenty members of the association present. Maj. H. B. Randall, the newly elected president, acted as toastmaster at the banquet, which was purely informal. During the year three members of the association passed away, John Rogers and J. C. Terry, of St. Paul, and Mahlon Black, of Minneapolis.

ODD FELLOWS.

Wisconsin Grand Lodge Meets at La Crosse.

La Crosse, June 3.—The fifty-ninth session of the grand lodge of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, of Wisconsin, opened here this morning with fine weather. One thousand Odd Fellows and Daughters of Rebekah are in attendance. The convention opened at Germania hall at 10 o'clock. The address of welcome was delivered by Mayor Boschert and was responded to by Grand Master Brandt of Sparta. An address was given on "Odd Fellowship" by J. W. Watson, of Fond du Lac. A large procession was also a feature of the day.

TO WEST POINT.

Dr. Harper Goes to Visit the School.

Chicago, June 3.—Dr. H. F. Harper, president of Chicago university, who was recently honored by appointment to the board of visitors of the United States military academy, has left for West Point. Dr. Harper will attend the West Point centennial celebration, and will respond to a toast on "Modern Universities," at one of the banquets. The president was accompanied by his daughter, Miss Davida Harper. After spending the week at West Point Dr. Harper will go to New York and other Eastern cities, returning to Chicago in time for the Alumni day meetings, June 14.

SUEZ CANAL PROFITABLE.

Paris, June 3.—The report of the directors of the Suez Canal company for 1901 shows that the receipts from transit dues have, for the first time, exceeded 100,000,000 francs. A dividend of 133 francs was declared. Shipping aggregating 10,823,860 tons traversed the canal in 1901. The cargoes shipped beyond Suez consisted largely of petroleum and railroad material.

VESSELS FOR ST. VINCENT.

New York, June 3.—The Commercial Cable company this morning issued the following notice: "We are advised that a chartered vessel leaves St. Lucia at 10:45 a. m. and another at 6 p. m. today for St. Vincent.

"The Siberian land lines are now in order. Messages for Japan via Northern can now be accepted without restriction."

RIOTS IN GALICIA.

Vienna, June 3.—There were forther strike riots at Lemberg, Galicia, last night, during which a detachment of Hussars charged a mob. It is reported that several children were killed. A number of the persons wounded during yesterday's riot have died in the hospitals.

CHANTED PSALMS

Great Rejoicing In Boer Concentration Camps.

Burghers Got Practically Everything Asked.

Pretoria, Monday, June 2.—There was great rejoicing in all the concentration camps upon the news that peace had been concluded. The occupants assembled in the open spaces and chanted Psalms, the women weeping with joy. Arrangements are being made to send representatives of each unit of the British army in South Africa to participate in the coronation festivities in London.

New York, June 3.—There is no mistaking that Colonial Secretary Joseph Chamberlain is now the dominant personality in the Unionist party, says a London dispatch to the World. Arthur Balfour could scarcely conceal his chagrin at the significant ovation given the former when the commons listened to the announcement of the Boer surrender.

Still, on calm reflection, the ministerial opinion as expressed in the lobby was that the Boers had got virtually everything they demanded, and that the terms accorded them left little ground for acclaiming a British triumph.

The reason given for the Boer surrender of independence is that they are practically bankrupt, and even if they could prolong the war for two years more, they still would be unable to reconstruct their states from the condition of ruin into which the devastating policy has landed them. Great Britain will now provide the funds for their reconstruction, and the new system must inevitably lead to a federal union of the South African states, in which the Dutch influence must predominate. It is felt, too, that all the rebels will be amnestied, and that even franchise disqualification cannot be maintained for more than two years.

COLONIAL BOERS.

An Effort to Find Homes For Them.

New York, June 3.—As a result of the penalty which the Cape Colony Boers who assisted the Boers of the South African republic and the Orange Free State may be called upon to pay by the terms of the peace agreement, an effort may be made to find homes for some of them in the United States. W. D. Snyman, of Cape Colony, who fought with the Boers, and who has been speaking in the United States for the Boer cause during the past year, said regarding the terms of surrender:

"The colonial Boers are to be punished. I am a colonial Boer, born a British subject, and am liable to imprisonment for from five to ten years of the terms as published are correct. I am acquainted with President Roosevelt and shall see if there is not a way for some of our people to come to this country. I think there is a great opportunity for us here. There are few here now, but in Portugal there are a good many colonials, and they probably will not want to return to South Africa now. They are men well born. If the United States government would open the way they would be glad to settle in some state like New Mexico, Arizona, Texas or Colorado. They would make good citizens; no one would need to be ashamed of them. I shall use every effort to open the way to bring them here."

Mr. Snyman's son, who fought with him in South Africa, has just passed his examinations for admission to Columbia university.

LITTLE CEREMONY

In Signing the Peace Treaty at Pretoria.

Pretoria, Transvaal, Monday, June 2.—The signing of the peace agreement on Saturday night last was carried out with the least possible ceremony. Lord Kitchener and Lord Milner, and Gen. De Wet and others representing the Orange Free State, and Gen. Schalk-Burger and others of the Transvaal government quietly met in the dining room of the residence occupied by the burgher delegates, adjoining Lord Kitchener's house. The document lay on a table ready. Amid profund silence the Boer leaders took a pen, in order of precedence and affixed their signatures, thus surrendering the independence for which they had so gallantly struggled. The document was then entrusted to Col. Hamilton, Lord Kitchener's military secretary and Capt. Marker, an aide-de-camp, who left Pretoria tonight to deliver it to King Edward.

CAPE COLONY.

Suspension of the Constitution Not Contemplated.

Cape Town, June 3.—The premier of Cape Colony, Sir John Gordon Sprigg, during the course of his two hours' speech at a meeting here yesterday, announced that the colonial secretary, Joseph Chamberlain, had informed him that the imperial government did not contemplate the suspension of the constitution of Cape Colony. The premier further declared that the "disfranchisement of the rebels of Cape Colony will defeat our enemies in the house as effectually as they have been beaten in the field."

Discussing the financial situation, the premier said he intended, at the colonial conference to be held in London at the time of the coronation festivities, to uphold free trade within the empire.

Considerable opposition to the premier's views developed among the audience, while the crowd outside the hall was so actively hostile that some of the windows were broken with stones.

JOLIET, ILL., IS FLOODED

Joliet, Ill., June 3.—Joliet is in the grasp of the worst flood in its history. All the lower portion of the city is under water, and it is rumored that several lives have been lost. The police have names of Eddie McGovern, Lizzie McGean, and a little girl named Kennedy, drowned. Several families had narrow escapes, and the police rescued many in boats. Several houses and other buildings were swept away in the floods. Jefferson and other principal streets are under water, and business places are flooded, causing thousands of dollars of damage. The street car lines are all severely damaged and no cars are running. All trains are stalled, water being two feet deep over the railroad tracks. Severe washouts have occurred on the electric lines between here and Chicago. Heavy rains, which continued all night, caused Hickory and Spring creeks to burst their banks, and it is rumored that Hickory creek dam, east of this city, has partially collapsed, sending the flood waters down in a torrent. Scores of homes have from one to three feet of water in the first stories.

Mayor Barr has called a special meeting of the city council for this afternoon to take measures for relief of the homeless. Scores of people were driven from their homes by the flood. The damage was more widespread than at first supposed. The estimated property damage reaching $75,000 to $100,000. Factories and stores all over the city are flooded.

Many streets are ruined, the pavements being all washed away, and hundreds of small buildings are wrecked. There has been no serious trouble as yet from the drainage canal Part of the penitentiary was flooded, but the water did not reach the cell houses or shops.

In addition to Mayor Barr's call for a special meeting o fthe city council this afternoon, he has issued a proclamation for a general meeting of citizens this evening to devise relief measures. Subscriptions for the homeless and needy are being raised, and one merchant has donated $500 worth of provisions. The flood is slowly receding. The railways are in a helpless condition. The Rock Island bridge over the drainage canal has been moved eighteen inches out of line by the flood and no trains can pass.

The tracks of the Chicago & Alton and of the Santa Fe are under water, and a Santa Fe bridge south of the city was washed away. Ten miles of Michign Central transfer trackage is ruined and a bridge leading to the Union elevator was carried away. The Joliet Stove works plant is flooded with four feet of water and the damage amounts to nearly $15,000. The Joliet Warehouse company is damaged to the extent of $10,000, and other losses in the same ratio are reported from al parts of the city.

Business is paralyzed and all the schools are closed. The streets that are not submerged are thronged with sightseers. The police and firemen, assisted by volunteer squads of helpers, are at work all over the city relieving suffering and trying to restore order.

IRELAND IS ANXIOUS

New York, June 3.—Archbishop Ireland who, as a member of the arbitration committee of the Civic Federation, is anxious to settle the strike of the anthracite mine workers, is in this city, and has had a consultation with several other members of the committee. The committee can, however, take no active part unless something happens to give it an opportunity to come forward as a peacemaker. Scarcity of anthracite coal in this city is now more apparent than at any time since the strike began. Big trucks laden with soft coal are to be seen depositing their loads in front of many office buildings, the superintendent being willing to risk fines rather than have their elevators stopped.

Not a single bid for anthracite coal has been received by Dock Commissioner Hawks in response to advertisements.

It is said the Manhattan Elevated railroad has four weeks' supply of antiracite, and will mix it with soft coal in order to make it go further. Other large consumers are using soft coal freely and are willing to let the use of it now be tested in the courts. It is a question of burning soft coal or going out of business, they say.

TORNADO IN WISCONSIN

Louisburg Visited By a Twister---Man Killed.

Furious Storm Wrecked Things In La Crosse.

Platteville, Wis., June 3.—A tornado struck Louisburg, a small town sixteen miles southwest of Platteville, late yesterday, and, according to reports received here, the damage was heavy. Barns, outbuildings, etc., were demolished. Seeing the fury of the storm, Edward Ward, a well-to-do farmer, hurried his team homeward. He was unhitching it when the barn was blown to pieces, a heavy timber striking him on the forehead and crushing his skull. He died instantly. Heavy rains also caused great damage to crops, and it is said that the season's work on many farms has been a total loss. The Sisson dwelling at Jamestown was totally destroyed.

La Crosse, June 3.—A tornado struck this city last night, blowing off roofs, piling pedestrians up on street corners, smashing out plate-glass windows and clearing Main street of signs. A number of people were hurt, but none, it is thought, fatally. A woman was badly lacerated by broken glass, but will live. A strange phenomena was noted during the storm. Black clouds, with vivid lightning, were in the west, but a dead calm prevailed. Then a deafening roar was heard, and in a moment the tornado was in full blast. A funnel-shaped cloud approached, from which a great ball of fire descended, striking in front of a saloon and exploding. Panic seized hundreds of people who were in the street, drawn there by the approach of an Odd Fellows' delegation. Three cars of delegates to the Odd Fellows' convention were just unloading at the corner of Fourth and Main streets when the storm burst. They were picked up, some running, others carried blindly and scattered along the street for a block. For two blocks on Main street every sign and street show case and many awnings were torn off, and the pavement was covered with timbers of unroofed buildings. Farland's big millinery store suffered the most damage. A wild duck descended dead to the postoffice steps. Through the southern portion of the town small buildings were unroofed and large trees uprooted. A portion of the spire of St. Joseph's church was blown down, blocking the street with brick and timbers. Damage on the south side of the street is such as to make the street impassable for blocks, as big trees, roofs and timbers are piled in confusion.

An unconfirmed rumor was received at the police station that a town to the south, Bownsville or De Soto, was completely wiped out, but the telegraph and telephone wire is down. At 10:30 a second dispatch from the south says that one man was killed and a score injured at De Soto.

The damage here will probably reach $10,000.

La Crosse, June 3.—Notwithstanding the reports in circulation that De Soto, a small town on the Burlington road a few miles below here, was wiped from the earth, there is still telegraphic communication with the place and the Burlington reports no trouble with its tracks. The telephone wires there are all down, however, and the town was undoubtedly visited by the tail end of the severe storm which struck La Crosse. The Preston, Minn., branch of the Milwaukee is not running today, that section having been visited by a terrific storm, which washed out the tracks.

St. Paul, June 3.—A Preston, Minn., special to the Dispatch says: A heavy ran fell last night and lower Preston is all under water again. No trains have arrived on the Southern Minnesota or Preston branch, the track being badly washed out.

ELECTION IN OREGON

Portland, Ore., June 3.—Returns from yesterday's election are still incomplete, but partial returns from all but six out of the thirty-three counties in the state give George E. Chamberlain (Dem.) for governor a majority of 1105. Chamberlain is running ahead of his ticket in nearly every county in the state, and from the returns received it is estimated that his majority will reach 2500. The Republican state ticket, with the exception of governor, will have close to 10,000 majority, and both houses of the legislature will be Republican, insuring the election of a Republican United States senator to succeed Joseph Simon.

Thomas H. Tongue (Rep.), congressman from the First district, is reelected by an increased majority, the latest estimate being from 5000 to 6000 majority. William Williamson is elected to congress from the Second district by from 7000 to 10,000 majority. Owing to a factional fight in the Republican party, Chamberlain carried both Multnomah and Marion counties, Republican strongholds. Marion county, the home of Governor T. T. Geer, gave the Republican state ticket, with the exception of governor, about 600 majority, while Chamberlain carried the county by 100. In Multnomah county, Chamberlain will get close to 1000 and the Republican state ticket about 1000 plurality. The returns show that George H. Williams (Rep.) is elected mayor of Portland by from 1000 to 1200 majority.

JOHN H. BARROWS DEAD

Oberlin, Ohio, June 3.—After nine days' illness, with pleuro-pneumonia, John Henry Barrows, president of Oberlin college died at 2:50 o'clock this morning. Mr. Barows was unconscious at the time of hvis death, which came during a sinking spell.

Dr. John Henry Barrows was born in Medina, Mich., July 1, 1847. He was graduated from Olivet college in 1867. His theological training was obtained in Yale, Union and Andover seminaries. He did educational work in Kansas for two and a half years. He preached in Springfield, Ill., and Lawrence and Boston, Mass. He traveled abroad for one year. In 1881 he was called to the First Presbyterian church of Chicago, where he served fifteen years. In 1893, Dr. Barrows was the organizer and president of the World's parliament of religions held during the World's fair. In 1896 he went to India to give the Haskell lecture for the university of Chicago. On his return he lectured for two years. In November, 1898, he was elected president of Oberlin college. During his incumbency as president, the institution has prospered greatly.

A widow, three daughters and a son survive him.

ROLLER KILLS LITTLE GIRL

Eau Claire, June 3.—A steam roller in operation on the North Side, ran over and killed a little gri 3 years old, daughter of H. P. Erickson, an employe of the McDonough Manufacturing company. The child had run out from a yard directly behind the roller, which was backing up.

MRS. STEVENS HAS QUALIFIED

St. Paul, June 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Roxanna M. Stevens, widow of G. Fred Stevens, of Duluth, is now surveyor general of logs and lumber for the district of Duluth, succeeding her husband, who died recently. She was appointed by Governor Van Sant, to fill out the unexpired term of her husband, so that she would receive the emoluments of the office. Her oath of office was filed yesterday with the secretary of state.

PACKERS' AGENTS RUN AWAY

Chicago, June 3.—A special to the Record-Herald from New Orleans says: Four of the representatives of the big packing houses against which the government has instituted criminal proceedings have disappeared, taking with them all their books and records. Officers are on the track of one, but the other three are reported en route to Mexico.

REGARDED AS FINAL

Court of Appeals Decides For Duluth Telephone Company.

Can Occupy Streets Under State Law Without City Franchise.

Not Thought Possible to Carry the Case Any Higher.

The city's long and unsuccessful legal fight to oust the Duluth Telephone company is now ended.

The United States circuit court of appeals—in this case the court of last resort—yesterday decided in favor of the telephone corporation occupying the streets of Duluth even though the occupation is without a franchise from the city.

During the second Truelsen administration from 1891 to 1899 the franchise of the Duluth Telephone company expired. The administration at that time considered the then existing telephone rates too high and advertised for bids offering the telephone franchise to any responsible concern that would meet the city's rates and agree to sell the system to the city at the end of five years for the actual cost of construction.

The franchise was awarded to R. H. Evans, of Detroit, who subsequently organized the Zenith City Telephone company. The city then declared the franchise of the Duluth Telephone company at an end and ordered that concern to remove all poles and wires from the city and cease doing business.

The company disregarded the notice and there was considerable talk for a time of the city becoming strenuously aggressive and cutting down the poles.

This plan of campaign was abandoned and the fight taken up in the courts. The telephone company beat the city at every turn on an old state statute granting the Bell Telephone company rights and privileges on the highways of the state for a period of thirty years.

The courts have held in four different instances that a city street is a highway under the meaning of the state statute and that therefore the company can do business in a city under a state franchise though without a local franchise.

The state franchise still has ten years to run, and now the case of Duluth against the Duluth Telephone company is likely to be unheard of for at least another decade, unless the company should refuse to live up to certain rules and regulations prescribed in the city ordinances.

In such an instance suit would be brought to compel the company to acknowledge the authority of the city and obey certain ordinances governing the transmission of electricity and the erection of poles and wires.

The city officers were considerably disappointed on hearing the decision of the federal court of appeals. They regard it final. Although the fight against the telephone company was begun under Henry Truelsen's administration the change of administration has brought the heaviest legal fighting under Mayor Hugo's regime.

The mayor is out of the city for a few days and could not be seen regarding the effect of the decision. City Attorney Mitchell, however, said that the decision comes from the court of last resort so far as the present cases are concerned.

AT WEST DULUTH

Frank C. Brackett, who went insane while riding on the train that pulled into Albert, Minn., yesterday, and who is being held at the St. Louis county jail pending his examination for insanity, resided at 1231 Fifty-seventh avenue west, where he has a wife and several children. The family came to West Duluth from Stillwater about five months ago, and the house was rented from J. Allyn Scott, the agent. The news of Mr. Brackett's insanity is a sad blow to the home, for there were no indications of a coming mental disorder when he left home, and news of his trouble did not reach his family until this morning. Mr. Brackett is a land explorer by profession, and for some time past has been in the employ of the Boston & Duluth Farm Land company, of this city. He was stationed at Albert, on the Missabe road, and has done considerable work in that vicinity for the land company. He was on his way to Albert yesterday when he became suddenly insane. His disorder seems to be a religious mania. He imagines he is Christ and that Mrs. Brackett is a queen. Last evening he recognized nobody but his brother. He showed unmistakable signs of violence and had to be taken in charge by the train crew. Since he was put in the county jail for safe keeping he stands and shakes the bars of his cell and attempts to get out. His examination will be held at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

MONEY IS SCARCE.

Alderman Kern's resolution appropriating $2200 for the New Duluth-Fond du Lac road will not secure a ready passage by the city council, no matter how urgent, for the reason that the funds that were expected to be used for this appropriation are not available. Last evening the resolution came up and a communication was read from the board of public works stating that the improvement fund is low and that it will require the utmost care to enable it to cover the legitimate expenses of the year. In view of this condition, the resolution went over another week.

A new 6-foot sidewalk was ordered built by the council on the south side of Nicollet street from the alley between Fifty-fourth and Fifty-fifth avenues west to the east side of Central avenue. The report of the engineer regarding the West Duluth water plant did not come up last evening, as the city engineer has just returned from a trip in the East and had not time to prepare his report.

evening for a short trip, and will be at home in West Duluth after June 15.

TEMPORARILY SUSPENDED.

Work on the dock at the blast furnace was suspended temporarily yesterday, owing to a break-down of the engine on the pile driver. The heavy rains also had something to do with the delay in the repair work. J. E. Steever, of Chicago, will have charge of the furnace, and D. G. Camelon, of Duluth, will be general foreman at the dock. Watchman Anderson, who has resided in the office of the plant since it shut down, has removed his effects, and Kenneth Robinson, Jr., will be in temporary charge of the office.

WEST DULUTH BRIEFS.

The Society of Peach Pickers that was recently organized in West Duluth will have a meeting Wednesday evening for the purpose of electing officers. One of the features of the meeting will be a talk on windfalls by a new member from Michigan.

A. H. Donald has returned from Alpena, Mich., where he was called by the sickness of a relative.

James Feehey was down from Carlton Sunday to visit his family.

W. C. Gray and little son have gone to St. Paul for a short visit.

For wall paper go to S. J. Nygren's.

'LONGSHOREMEN.

All members of 'Longshoremen, Local No. 12, are requested to meet at Stewart's hall, West Duluth this evening at 8 o'clock to make arrangements for the funeral of our late brother, George Cameron.

JOSEPH GAUTHIER, Secretary.

CRAWFORD-MORRIS.

The marriage of Miss Susie Crawford, of New Duluth, and Charles Morris, of Winnipeg, was solemnized yesterday at high noon at the home of the bride's parents. Rev. Mr. Knudson performed the ceremony. It was witnessed by the relatives and immediate friends. Miss Grace Crawford, of Minneapolis, a sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, and Roy Hugging, of New Duluth, was best man. Mr. and Mrs. Morris left last

NOT AS YET.

No Lease Made of Eaton-Lonstorf Section Thirty Lands.

George J. Lornstorf, of Milwaukee, arrived at the Spalding last evening on one of his frequent trips to Duluth, and his arrival seems to have given rise to the suspicion that some sort of a deal has been closed for optioning parts of section 30 in which he is a joint owner with Frank Eaton and others.

Investigation shows that there is nothing new in the matter. It has not been denied that for a couple of months past negotiations have been pending for the lease of parts of these holdings. It is contradicted, however, that these negotiations have reached a stage with anybody that makes them of interest to anybody because there is nothing to say. Litigation instituted last week to clear title to the property will probably be completed before a formal transfer of any kind is made.

It is supposed that the parties figuring on the property have ample reason or they would not figure on exploring any part of the Vermilion range because of the costly character of the work.

A FINE INCREASE.

Circulation of Public Library Shows Great Advance.

The library board met last evening and the re-election of officers took place. R. C. Mitchell was chosen president, Frank D. Adams, vice president; and Dr. Codding was re-elected secretary.

A very gratifying increase in the circulation of books was shown in the librarian's report. The total circulation for the month of May was 8821, with a daily average of 340. In May, 1901, the total circulation was 7355, making an average of 283 for each day. This is an increase of over 1400 volumes.

The total circulation in the children's room for May was 2707, a daily average of 104 books, which shows that the little ones are availing themselves of their new privileges. Every Saturday morning during the summer, at 10 o'clock, a story will be told to the children on mythological or other subjects. All the children in the city are cordially invited to attend.

STRIKES.

Three Are In Progress at Des Moines, Iowa.

Des Moines, June 3.—Three strikes are in progress and three in prospect in this city. Union machinists to the number of 100 including boilermakers and blacksmiths are out, and approximately 150 plumbers have quit work. Union steamfitters and gas fitters have acted jointly with the plumbers.

Vice President Campbell of the National Organization of Iron Moulders has arrived and the local union will strike unless its demands are met.

Machinists and members demand a reduction to nine hours without decrease in wages. Plumbers and steamfitters, 60 cents a day increase. Barbers demand a 15-cent scale and waiters demand $10 a week.

MANY PINEAPPLES.

New York, June 3.—A cargo of pineapples on the steamer Havana which has just arrived from Cuba, was the largest ever exported from the island. It consisted of 7000 barrels, and 13,920 crates, or more than 1,225,000 pineapples.

ORE FOR MIXING

Sparta Mine Shipping Considerable to Furnace at Mayville, Wis.

If It Can Be Successfully Used, Shipments May Continue.

Poor Iron Plant That Cannot Do Profitable Business Now.

A trainload of iron ore from the Sparta mine at Sparta passed through the city yesterday afternoon, billed to a charcoal furnace at Mayville, Wis. Mayville is near Fond du Lac and not remote from a deposit of red hematite ore which is situated at Iron Ridge, Wis., a station on the Milwaukee road. The supposition is that the Mesaba ore is bought to mix with the hard ore obtained from this iron ridge which for years has laid idle or has been used only for the basis of a mineral red paint.

It is said that the purchase from the Sparta mine consists of 5000 tons of ore, or about three trainloads. If the ore mixes successfully with that of other formation that is used regularly in the Mayville furnace, it is supposed that further consignments will be made. The old charcoal furnace at Spring Valley, Wis., near Eau Claire, of which Superintendent Kenneth Robertson, of the West Duluth furnace has lately had direction, has been obtaining mixed ore from the Sparta mine for some time.

The reason for the mixing of this soft ore obtained at a distance with the hard ore mined right at the furnace is said to be that mixing results can be obtained as well, and owing to the low price of the Mesaba ore, much more cheaply than as if hard ore had been imported for the purpose.

The starting up of many old charcoal furnaces in interior communities, far from coal supplies and source of cheap Mesaba ore is commented upon freely as indicating that almost any kind of an iron-making plant in almost any location can make money at the present price of pig iron and with the present demand, which far exceeds the supply. In this connection, a well known railroad man said recently that there was no question but that the steel corporation was in a position to put up the cost of steel rails to the railroads to $40 a ton instead of $28, and that the railroads if they had to pay the larger price would be glad to get them at that. Furthermore he remarked that many of the larger systems might be glad if the price were advanced sharply for a time because it would have a tendency to shut small buyers out of the market and give the large roads a chance to get the heavier steel their immense traffic makes such a pressing necessity.

"However," he added, "up to date, as far as the railroads are concerned, this seems to be a very good kind of an octopus, for it not only has neglected to take advantage of an opportunity to reap a quick harvest, but it has actually prevented other producers as well as itself from advancing the price beyond a fair basis, considering other values and labor cost. What it is doing in other lines of steel manufactures, I know not, but the railroads won't have any criticism if it continues its present policy toward them.

On the other hand, the Youngstown Steel Tube company, which recently bought some large properties on the Mesaba ranges, is said to have encountered some opposition from the steel corporation which was responsible for the Youngstown people going into the mining of iron and the making of pigs and ingots. The Youngstown people are said to have found the price of raw material advancing and the market value of their finished products weaker after they got in the field with their new mill.

Richard F. Howe, to whom the Agnew mine lease was transferred last Saturday, is the head and director of the South Chicago Furnace company, which it is supposed will furnish pig iron for the Deering Harvester Works steel plant. Mr. Howe is high official of the Deering company and will, it is supposed, represent it in the iron and steel making plans that are now being developed.

FOR SHERIFF.

Talk of P. R. McDonnell as the Democratic Candidate.

P. R. McDonnell, the contractor, for sheriff, is declared by some Democrats to be the slate that will win for the nomination on their ticket at the primaries this fall. The tip has gone out that the redoubtable contractor has decided to go in for the nomination upon assurance that he will be given the support of a very influential part of the Democratic organization. Mr. McDonnell is claimed by his friends to be so well known and popular among all classes that he would be able to make a rattling campaign from the start without the necessity of first getting acquainted with the workers of his party and the voters. No other name has been mentioned of late in connection with the Democratic nomination for this office.

ST. PAUL'S OFFICERS.

New Officials Qualify and Take Their Positions.

St. Paul, June 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—John W. Finehout was the first of the new civic officers for the city of St. Paul to take his oath of office. Judge Brill administered it to him yesterday. He entered upon his duties today. Judge Orr will retire from the municipal bench.

County Comptroller Betz filed his oath of office and secured his certificate of election, as also did Justice C. S. Hoff and Constable Caines.

The formal ceremonies took place at noon today. The assembly was first sworn in, followed by the aldermen. Then the two bodies organized.

Comptroller McCardy signalized the close of his administration by signing the $99,000 armory bonds.

STATE BOARD

Of Arbitration Will Try to Settle Denver Strike.

Denver, June 3.—The state board of arbitration today begun an investigation of the building trades strike which has kept 5000 men in idleness for more than a week, despite the refusal of the contractors to agree to arbitration. The Bricklayers' union has notified the contractors that its members are willing to work with non-union hod carriers, but the carpenters, painters, building laborers and inside wiremen's unions have reaffirmed their determination to continue the strike until an 8-hour workday is granted to the woodworkers and the planing mills. The contractors say they will not re-employ the strikers unless all their unions leave the Building Trades council, which ordered the strike.

SENTIMENTAL

Side of Americans Seen By the Countess de Rochambeau.

New York, June 3.—After a brief rest in this city, several members of the late Rochambeau mission will go today to Philadelphia, on the way to St. Louis.

In speaking of her impressions of Americans, acquired during her brief visit, Countess De Rochambeau said: "I have been told that Americans are materialists, but for me they have had only a sentimental side. The regard in which every one I have met seemed to hold the name of Rochambeau has impressed me most deeply. Then the memory of what you have done for stricken Martinique will live for all time at home. How splendid your women are, how lavishly they entertain and how genuine they are in their welcome. I should like to remain in the United States until fall."

Chicago, June 3.—Count and Countess Rochambeau will visit the University of Chicago as official guests during their stay in Chicago. They will reach the city on Friday. A telegram has been received by Professor Maxime G. Ingress, director of the Chicago branch of the Alliance Drane Aise, stating that Count Rochambeau and a party of ten would visit the institution. The determination of the French visitors to see the university came after an invitation had been sent them by President Harper to inspect the school, should a stop be made in Chicago.

TRUE REPUBLICANISM.

Governor Cummins' Subject at Roosevelt Club Banquet.

Denver, June 3.—Governor Cummins of Iowa last night was the guest of honor at a banquet given by the Roosevelt club of Denver, where he responded to the toast, "True Republicanism."

Governor Cummins, in the course of his address, touched upon the question of organized capital and organized labor, declaring emphatically that he stood for the union of both when their power is exercised for the welfare of the world, but pointing out that untrammeled authority and absolute power, moved by selfish interests alone, will not be exercised for the good of the people.

Governor Cummins declared that the government must lay its hand upon combinations of capital and restrain them within such limits as will permit the gratification of ambition, the glory of success, the tonic of profit, and on the other side protect the weak against aggressions and impositions from which, save by the mighty hand of the government, they cannot escape.

PRIESTS.

Five Hundred Are In Session In City of Chicago.

Chicago, June 3.—Five hundred Roman Catholic priests of the archdiocese of Chicago, constituting the greatest gathering of priests ever held in Chicago, are in session here today at the Cathedral of the Holy Name, attending the second synod of the archdiocese. The priests came from the northern part of Illinois in answer to the call of Archbishop Feehan and are here for the first time since 1887 to discuss matters of great moment to the Roman Catholic church. Archbishop Feehan was not able to be present at the opening session and Bishop Muldoon presided in his stead. Solemn and brilliant ceremonials marked the opening of the synod. Matters that came up for discussion were the approval of the matters of faith decreed by the last council of Baltimore, allowance to be made to rectors, the question of faith in parochial schools and the compulsory attendance of Catholic children at such institutions. Pope Leo through Cardinal Rampolla sent his blessing to the priests in attendance.

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

Indianapolis, June 3.—Although numbers of delegates to the state Democratic convention which meets tomorrow have put in an appearance, the majority of them will not be in until the late afternoon trains and during the evening. No determination was reached as yet regarding the temporary chairman of the convention, but the present chances are in favor of Chairman O'Brien of the state central committee.

TO CAUCUS.

Delegates to the Labor Convention Will Get Together.

Duluth labor unions will probably send twenty-four delegates to the Rochester convention of the State Federation of Labor, which opens next Monday.

As a number of very important matters are to come before this state convention that are especially important to the wage-earners of this city, a caucus of all the delegates-elect has been called for Thursday evening.

The caucus will be held in the office of the Labor World in the Manhattan block, and it is expected that all local delegates will attend.

Alderman W. E. McEwen, of this city, is a candidate for re-election as secretary and treasurer of the state federation, and will probably win out easily, despite the efforts of a Minneapolis candidate for president of the federation against M. E. Neary to trade off the secretaryship to a St. Paul man.

Duluth's delegation, which bids fair to be the strongest ever sent from this city, will look after the interests of the Duluth candidate, and word received from unions throughout the state indicates that the Duluth man's good work during the past two or three years will not be allowed to go by without suitable recognition.

At a meeting of the Carpenters' union this evening five delegates will be elected to attend the state federation. The retail clerks and painters will also elect delegates tonight. Tomorrow night the cigarmakers will elect their convention representatives.

The Great Medicine for Building Up Weak and Sickly People In Summer.

Paine's Celery Compound

Rescues a Lady From Nervous Breakdown.

The surest and speediest banisher of disease and sickness known to medical men is Paine's Celery Compound.

The peculiar virtues of Paine's Celery Compound enables it to reach all the centers where disease is working; it quickly banishes all pain and trouble.

At this time Paine's Celery Compound is a veritable boon to every nervous, weak and debilitated man and woman. The ailments and disease that have held people in bondage and suffering up to the present can be permanently banished by the use of a few bottles of nature's life-giver and health-builder. Mrs. Mamie Goukler, No. 668 Thirty-ninth street, West Philadelphia, Pa., who has suffered for months from severe nervous afflictions, writes as follows:

"I beg leave to add my testimony to the wonderful good Paine's Celery Compound has done me. Some months ago I was troubled with a general breaking down of the system. I consulted a physician without avail, and upon the suggestion of Mr. John A. Coin, who I believe is a living example of your wonderful curing medicine, I purchased two bottles of your Compound, and I must say that I improved wonderfully since the first dose. My nervousness has left me entirely, and I am now feeling better than I ever did. You can rest assured that I will not hesitate to recommend your wonderful medicine to my friends who may suffer from nervousness in any form."

THEY RETURN

Homing Pigeons Released From Minneapolis Carnival Arrive.

The two pigeons belonging to Frank Frerker and Henry Flynn, sent down to Minneapolis to be loosed at the Elks' fair yesterday afternoon, arrived in the coop during the morning, having made their way home from Minneapolis since 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. They had bands on their legs bearing the inscription "E. P. O. E. 41," the number of the Minneapolis lodge. The night was cloudy and foggy, and when the pigeons did not appear this morning it was feared that they had gone astray. In clear weather they would have made the trip in less than three hours.

Henry Flynn intends to send half a dozen pigeons down to Minneapolis as soon as the weather settles, and take their time in making the trip.

PREPARING FOR CHANGE.

Arrangement of Street Railway Tracks at Oneota.

The street car company is making arrangements to temporarily abandon the tracks on West Superior street, beyond Twenty-sixth avenue, and run the West Duluth cars out the West Third street line to Thirty-ninth avenue and thence over to Oneota street and West Duluth.

This temporary change is made necessary by the construction of the much-talked of Jenswold street subway, on which work will begin just as soon as the street car company gets its temporary track down on Thirty-ninth avenue.

MATRIMONIAL.

Yesterday at high noon the marriage of Miss Maude Armitage and Charles A. Parsons was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Young, Altadena terrace. The ceremony was performed by Rev. S. P. Long, of the First M. E. church, and was witnessed by only the relatives and immediate friends. Miss Ollie Parsons acted as bridesmaid and Percy T. Armitage as best man. Mr. and Mrs. Parsons left on the 1:55 train and will be at home after June 20.

The marriage of Miss Anna Osterloh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Osterloh, of 207 East Superior street, and Joseph Beam, of Erie, Pa., took place yesterday morning at St. Anthony's German Catholic church, Rev. Francis L. Kosmerl officiating. The maid of honor was Miss Lillian Berbig, and best man Henry Berbig, both cousins of the bride. After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, after which Mr. and Mrs. Beam left for a few months' stay in St. Paul and Minneapolis.

Back to Stay.

William Lynch, who resided in this city about five years ago, and who was associated with Mr. Numan, of the West End in the grocery business, has returned from Niagara Falls, N. Y., where he has been engaged in the boot and shoe business. Mr. Lynch has come back to stay, and will probably start in business again. He says Duluth is good enough for him.

Dredging In May.

Dredging operations in the Duluth-Superior harbor for the month of May amounted to 465,000 cubic yards. All the dredges at the head of the lakes are now working, but the total amount of dredging for the month of May was not quite equal to the amount dredged in the same month last year. A number of the dredges were a little later in going into commission this season.

Badly Cut Hand.

Officer Grandmaison noticed him and took him to police headquarters, where his wound was dressed. McKay said he was cut by a West Superior bartender, but investigation failed to substantiate this statement and he was released from custody.

Torrens System Not In Very General Demand.

A. Lofgren has made his first report to the board of county commissioners as registrar of titles under the Torrens system. He reports receipts of $16.55 for the registry of two titles.

As register of deeds he reports receipts of fees duing May amounting to $1132.50, the largest month's business in years. Nothing about $1000 has been reported since Mr. Lofgren came into the office, and no month's receipts so large is known within recent years.

Judge of Probate Bonham reported receipts of $10.75 in his office.

Stole Much Twine.

In the blue room of the municipal court this morning, Martin Chestok, Joseph Taliga and Joseph Winski, all boys under 15 years of age, were found guilty of stealing forty-seven pounds of twine from Johnson & Moe's big department store in the West End. During the trial it was developed that Chestok and Winski recently stole some valuable Belgian hares.

Sentence will not be passed on these boys until June 14 pending an investigation of past records.

ENGLISH FEELING

Col. Hillyer Says Boer War Was Not Popular One.

Americans Should Not Be Too Sure of Industrial Supremacy.

The English Are Waking Up and Modernizing Their Plants.

Col. J. S. Hillyer, of Alice A gold mine fame, is back from England. The colonel has been gone three years, lacking a month. He is hale, hearty and cheerful as of yore.

Col. Hillyer is willing to talk about anything or everything but Alice A. That isn't because he doesn't have his former sublime faith in his gold property, but because he says he isn't ready to talk yet.

From outside sources it is learned that a meeting of the American-Canadian Gold Mining company, which owns the Alice A, will be held at the company's office in Superior next Tuesday. It is intimated that Col. Hillyer has something of interest to report at this meeting and even that he has some sort of a proposition to lay before the meeting. The stock of the Alice A is owned in Duluth, Minneapolis, Chicago, almost everywhere.

"I have no doubt but that the people of England are greatly rejoiced over the close of the war," said Col. Millyer this afternoon. "It was never a popular war in the sense that the Spanish-American war was in this country. The people of England had never yearned for a chance to civilize the Transvaal as Americans had hoped for a chance to civilize Cuba, if need be through bloodshed.

"The English people realized very well that reform should come in the Transvaal republics. Everybody that had any legitimate information on the subject of the wrongs that were inflicted on the residents of these countries by the Boer governments was convinced that a revolution or something of the kind was necessary to compel the granting of equality before the law. To Uitlander could be free from taxation without representation, and most atrocious taxation at that. Nobody but the Boers had any rights that were respected. A foreign resident could carry no firearms except under the most abominably unfair restrictions, even if he wished to go hunting. The Boer could make himself a walking arsenal without comment or reprisal by the authorities.

"Still the English people, until they were plunged into war, were loath to take sides in the matter, even though many of their people were sufferers from the misgovernment of the Boers. Once the war was on, however, the whole people put their hearts into it, and though many times they have wished there had not been hostilities, it has never been with them a policy of peace without honor.

"Do I think that peace will result in the beginning of a new era of prosperity for English commerce and industry? Well, I don't know. It looks to me as if most of the plums, industrially speaking, were coming to this country. Still, you can't make Englishmen believe they have lost the supremacy of the world, even if you were to argue forever.

"Moreover, Americans should not delude themselves into the false security that the English are asleep. They are a sleepy people, comparatively speaking, perhaps, but they are waking up. Though they say little, they are getting very alert and are setting about modernizing their plants very rapidly. The English do not talk as much as we do, which is something to be borne in mind in connection with the future developments in the world of commerce and industry.

"You can't blame England for putting a war tax on our wheat and flour. We have been almost blocking their products out of our country since one can hardly remember. They couldn't be blamed for retaliating, if it were retaliation, but it isn't. It is simply a matter of necessity.

"I'm out of the flour milling business now, and of course I'm not the best authority in the world on this matter, but I can't see that these war taxes raise any particular insuperable obstacle for American millers. It amounts to a matter of only 10 cents a hundred on flour and 6 cents on wheat. That doesn't come anywhere offsetting the disadvantages that the English miller is at in his location. For instance, while one mill of perhaps 2000 barrels' capacity that I am familiar with on the Thames can receive its wheat supplies by vessel, it has to cart its product to the railroad. Other mills that I have in mind are obliged to cart wheat to the mill and flour from the mill to the railway. That means a considerable handicap, that American millers, with railway tracks running right to their elevators and other tracks running from their shipping rooms, have over the English miller with no tracks anywhere near his mill.

"I don't recall any mills there of over 2000 barrels capacity. Moreover, the flour-making capacity of England does not amount to much. There are a couple of mills in London, a couple in Liverpool, two in Cardiff and one or two more that might be considered competitors for general trade, but the rest are largely local mills.

"I don't think the English people are much stirred up over the new steamship trust under American supervision. I understand the English companies can pull out any time they choose, and moreover the opinion seems to be quite general that the bargain may be a very good one any way they look at it. They seem to think that it is a pretty good job to get rid of a lot of old antiquated vessels with their Cousin Jonathan as the buyer. The shipbuilding industry in England shows wonderful activity, and English people believe that so many vessels so largely superior to the old ones emerged into the combine could be built in such a comparatively short time that it would be only for a brief period that England will lose the supremacy of the seas.

"As far as English feeling toward America is concerned, it has never been anything but cordial, except on this side of the Atlantic. I think that much of the antipathy that has existed has been on the part of Anglophobes in American politics, or on the American press."

DO YOU GET UP WITH A LAME BACK?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everybody who reads the newspapers is sure to know of the wonderful cures made by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It is the great medical triumph of the nineteenth century; discovered after years of scientific research by Dr. Kilmer, the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is wonderfully successful in promptly curing lame back, kidney, bladder, uric acid troubles and Bright's Disease, which is the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been tested in so many ways, in hospital work, in private practice, among the helpless too poor to purchase relief and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty cent and dollar sizes are sold by all good druggists.

Don't make a mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

SHIPPING.

Receipts and Shipments at Port of Duluth Last Month.

The report of the custom office for the port of Duluth for the month of May, which was completed today, shows a good increase in the total amount of tonnage receipts and a heavy increase in the total tonnage shipments over the corresponding month last year.

In the month just closed the total tonnage receipts of the port were 178,910 tons as compared with 142,492 tons in May, 1901. The number of vessels entering this port last month were 357 against 245 in May, 1901. The difference in tonnage between the two months was due almost entirely to the heavier coal receipts this year.

Shipments from Duluth for the month of May totalled 728,077 tons against 390,547 tons in May 1901. The number of vessels leaving this port last month were 36, against 27 in May, 1901. The gain in shipments is due largely to the increased ore shipments, the custom house figures showing nearly double the amount of ore shipped this last month than in May 1901. The report also shows a decided falling off in wheat and corn shipments and a gain in lumber shipments.

The ore business at Two Harbors also shows a good increase last month over that of May, 1902.

The figures for the port of Duluth are as follows:

RECEIPTS.

Total tonnage	178,910
Arrivals	357
Coal, tons	136,476
Sugar, bbls	10,442
Salt, bbls	29,689
Stone, tons	7,567
Cement, bbls	3,750
Fresh fish, bbls	50,675
Salt fish, bbls	23,291
Logs, feet	2,000,000

SHIPMENTS.

Total tonnage	728,077
Departures	361
Wheat, bus	790,003
Flax, bus	115,709
Ore, tons	570,962
Lumber, feet	46,355,000

The receipts at Two Harbors for May were as follows: Total tonnage, 38,160; arrivals, 152; coal, 37,500 tons. The shipments were: Total tonnage, 392,685; departures, 149; ore, 679,338 tons; lumber, 5,910,600 feet; wood, 1630 cords.

In Judge Dibell's court the case of James Quinn against Anna M. Willard and Lane McGregor was still on trial, and the defense was putting in testimony.

In the case of William Johnson against J. J. O'Brien and D. B. York the jury returned a verdict of $126.28 for the plaintiff, yesterday forenoon.

There are only three more jury cases to be tried, and court cases will be taken up Thursday. The following call of cases for trial by the court has been made:

Thursday—31.

Friday—2, 24, 29, 5.

Judges Ensign and Dibell will have to handle most of the rest of the term alone, as Judge Cant will be busy all of this week with terms of court at Carlton and Two Harbors and next week with the naturalization sessions on the ranges.

EXCURSIONS.

Eagles Go to Minneapolis ---South Shore Announces One.

Three or four hundred head of the lakes Eagles and their friends went to Minneapolis today. About 100 Duluth Eagles took this afternoon's Lake Superior Limited over the Northern Pacific, accompanied by Flaaten's Third Regiment band. The party marched down Superior street to the Union depot just before train time, many of the Eagles in white shirts and Fedora hats. Quite a number went down on the night or earlier day trains.

The Superior Eagles went down over the Great Northern. A special train was chartered, and 200 people were aboard. It left Superior at 2:20 and running on special schedule of three and a half hours will arrive in Minneapolis at 6 this evening.

Both roads are making a special rate of one fare for the round trip.

The South Shore road has announced a round trip of $6 from Duluth to Marquette for the biennial review of the K. O. T. M. of Michigan, which will be held there June 10 to 13. Continuation tickets to other points than Marquette, for instance the Soo, if they are located on the line of the South Shore road, will also be sold at low rates. Duluth Maccabees say that quite a number of the local members of the order may run over to Marquette for a few days' fraternal visit, but that the Michigan jurisdiction is a supreme one, and it and the Duluth lodges have no connection with each other.

The King's Coronation.

The King's coronation promises to be the most elaborate and costly public function of modern times, and our country is to be represented there by three prominent statesmen, selected by the President, who will represent our state, army and navy. Many other people will also take the ocean voyage principally as a means of improving their health. They will, however, only obtain temporary relief, and their old complaints will surely appear again when least expected. The best way to recover your health is by strengthening and restoring the stomach to its normal condition by the use of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. It is a positive cure for loss of appetite, nervousness, insomnia, indigestion, dyspepsia and malaria. Try it.

Options For State Leases.

An option for the purpose of state mining leases on lands in Itasca county was filed this morning in the office of the register of deeds, running from J. H. Baker and John B. Meagher to J. W. Robinson, of Necedah, Wis., together with an assignment of the option by Robinson to A. F. Gross, of Duluth. The property is the sw¼ of section 36, 58-21, and the option expires July 14. Robinson agrees to pay $25,000 for the leases if he concludes to take them, and Gross agrees to pay that sum to the original lessees and $5000 to Robinson.

Probate Business In Cook County Not Heavy.

J. B. Middlecoff returned this morning from Grand Marais, where he went to oppose the allowance of a claim in probate court for Cook county.

A novel feature of the case is that it is No. 10 on the records of the office since Cook county was organized. Probate Judge Mayhew is not overburdened with the cares of office, and it is taken to be evident that the residents of Grand Marais are guilty of longevity rather than improvidence.

The claim that Mr. Middlecoff opposed had been filed against the estate of William Cranwell, a pioneer and unique character, of Superior. He died some time ago, leaving property in Superior and 180 acres of valuable timber and mineral land, situated in the eastern part of Cook county. The claim in question was preferred by a resident of Missouri, who owned an ancient cabin in Old Superior, which Cranwell had occupied as a home for twenty-six years. Cranwell left his property in trust to James Bardon, also an old resident of Superior and one of its foremost citizens, who was obligated to liquidate his indebtedness and see to the apportionment of the estate. Cranwell realized his indebtedness to the owner of the property he had occupied, to some extent at least, and left him $150 by will. The party referred to is claimed to have quietly filed his claim for $1400 for rent in the probate court of Cook county, with the expectation that it would be allowed without knowledge of the other parties concerned.

Judge Mayhew, in disallowing the claim, said that he was familiar with the property used by Cranwell, and thought that $25 would be ample remuneration for its use for the twenty-six years.

Sign Destroyed.

Some one of the few sneaking and malicious enemies of Dr. T. J. Pierce, not satisfied with the trouble they have already caused him, tore down his gold lettered sign on Sunday night from No. 5 West Superior street, carried it back in the alley and broke it up. The doctor will give five dollars reward for the arrest of the party who did it.

PATENTS ISSUED.

Washington, June 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Patents have been issued to Erick P. Felt, of Alida, assignor of one-half to C. H. Miles, of Bemidji, for a graphophone; to James M. King, of Rochester, a water wheel; to Henry A. Lyddon, of Brainerd, a lubricator.

EXTEND LIMITS

Cement Sidewalk Districts May Be Largely Added To.

Ordinance Introduced By Ald. Mannheim---Action Deferred.

Offer For Waste Paper Street Boxes Not Acted Upon.

The city council last evening.

Passed the pay rolls for the month of May.

Confirmed the mayor's appointment of Dr. J. J. Eklund as member of the board of fire commissioners.

Confirmed the reappointment of R. C. Mitchell, S. T. Harrison and S. M. Stocker on the library board.

Granted one employment agency license and seven saloon licenses.

Appointed Acting Chief of Police Troyer harbormaster.

Referred an amendment to the ordinance extending the limits for cement sidewalk to replace wooden ones.

Passed a resolution to sell the Iron Range road a strip of land in Endion subdivision.

Action on the offer of the Kelly-How Hardware company to provide wastepaper boxes to be placed on the street, free of charge to the city, in return for the exclusive privilege of the company of the advertising space on the boxes, was deferred for one week. This was done at the suggestion of Alderman Neff, who said that while he might not have any objection to the offer, would like a little time to think it over for a resolution passed accepting the offer would mean that other taxpayers who are in the same line of business as the Kelly-How people would be excluded from advertising on the boxes.

This movement for the wastepaper boxes was started by the Women's council and Mrs. M. R. Baldwin, a member, who is also a city health inspector, met with the council committee yesterday and favored the acceptance of the offer of the boxes.

The Kelly-How company makes two propositions. The first is that the company furnish free of cost any number of boxes of standard pattern and style, up to the number of twenty to be emptied regularly by the board of public works and kept in repair by the donors. In return the company is to have exclusive advertising privileges on the boxes, except on such panels as give notice of the use of the box and the ordinances relating to the throwing of refuse in the streets.

The second proposition was that the company sell the boxes outright to the city for $13.50 each, or $14.50 placed in the streets. There would be no advertising matter on the boxes and the city would have to agree that no advertising privileges would be granted any other business concern.

The idea of having the boxes met with much favor in the council and it is likely that some action looking toward placing the receptacles in the street, will be taken at the next meeting. The plan suggested was for the placing of ten boxes on Superior street and Lake avenue, five boxes in the West End and five boxes in West Duluth.

An ordinance was introduced by Alderman Mannheim, adding to the articles in which only stone or cement walks must be built on the southerly side of First street from Sixth avenue east to Sixth avenue west and the northerly side from Seventh avenue east to Eighth avenue west, both sides of Second street and Third streets from Tenth avenue east to Eighth avenue west, southerly side of Fourth street from Sixth avenue east to Fifth avenue west, and northerly side of Fourth street to Sixth avenue west, both sides of Lake avenue from the alley between Superior street and First street to Fourth street, both sides of Second avenue west between the same limits and both sides of Third avenue west to Third street. The ordinance was referred.

Alderman Moore introduced a resolution asking that the street railway company be requested to notify the council when the new track promised for Fourth street would be put down, as the old track is in bad condition. Alderman Wing said that some work had already been done on the West Fourth street track and the company would probably reach East Fourth street as soon as possible. The resolution went over till another meeting.

Permission to use the council chamber for the Democratic county convention June 21 was granted.

Mayor Hugo sent in a communication stating that since the resignation of C. T. Crandall as chief of police, there has been no harbormaster and the shipping interests have made several complaints. His suggestion that Acting Chief Troyer be appointed acting harbormaster, without pay, was acted upon.

On the recommendation of the board of water and light commissioners, a resolution was passed for the sale of a 14-foot strip of land from lots 5, 6, 7 and 8, Endion sub-division to the Duluth & Iron Range Railway company, on which to place additional tracks. The strip is at the foot of Fifteenth avenue east, on which the pumping works are located. The price to be paid is $1000.

The proposition of the Kelly-Springfield Steam Roller company to furnish the city with two steam rollers for $5500 and accept the two old rollers for $1700 in partial payment, was accepted.

The resolution relating to the proposed extension of the Twenty-eighth avenue west sewer and for the city to acquire an easement for the sewer, went over until the next meeting.

A communication was read from Frank Breeze, Tom Keegan and George A. Mason, asking that the auctioneer's license held by Moses Cook be cancelled as the law expressly provides that a license should not be used by any other person than that to whom it is issued and Mr. Cook is alleged to have violated this provision.

David Moir asked permission to erect a two-story structure on lots 13 and 15 West First street, to be 35 by 20 feet in size and of veneered brick and corrugated steel sheeting. The matter was referred.

The invitation of the board of fire commissioners to the council to witness the annual inspection of the fire department on June 11 was read and Alderman Barnes urged that every alderman be on hand to attend.

Several of the East End residents asked for delay in building cement walks in front of their property on account of new buildings to be erected, water pipes to be laid and various other reasons. Congressman Page Morris wished to know why he should construct an eight-foot walk when a six-foot walk would be plenty wide enough. These matters were referred.

BIG SCARE

All Over Senora Caused By Uprising of Yaquis.

Phoenix, Ariz., June 3.—In brief the story of the latest Yaqui disturbances, as furnished from Nogales by a man who talked with Gen. Torres, Friday, at Torres station, is as follows:

"Juan Gomez, Mayor Dowes, Juan Martinez, timekeepers at El Carmen ranch, had trouble Wednesday with Yaqui employes, and were killed. A number of Yaquis took up arms to prevent the arrest of their friends, the murderers. Governo Izabel and 100 soldiers went to El Carmen ranch and found that the Yaquis had retreated up the river, where friends were joining them with arms from various ranches. Thursday afternoon, Izabel's command found 190 fighting men and 300 women and childen and engaged them at Los Tanques, on the Sonora river. Eight Yaquis and two Mexicans were killed. The Yaquis retreated towards Mazatland, and Gen. Torres is in pursuit, hoping to cut off their retreat to the Sierra Madre mountains. Other military officers are working with him, and they have the situation well in hand. There was a big scare all over Sonora, but only twelve men were killed.

RESIGNED.

Formal Resignation of the French Cabinet Is Presented.

Paris, June 3.—At a cabinet council held at the Elysee palace today, and at which President Loubet presided, the premier, M. Waldeck-Rousseau, formally presented the resignation of the cabinet, and in so doing expressed the sentiments of gratitude which his colleagues and himself retained for the constant kindness the president had shown them. President Loubet, in reply, said he regretted the decision of the ministers, and thanked them for the co-operation they had lent him in difficult times.

The cabinet which has just resigned consisted of the following members: President of the council and minister of the interior, M. Waldeck-Rousseau; minister of finance, M. Caillaux; minister of foreign affairs, M. Delcasse; minister of war, Gen. Andre; minister of marine, M. De Lanessan; minister of colonies, M. De Crais; minister of public instruction and worship, M. Georges Leygues; minister of justice, M. Monis; minister of commerce, industry and posts and telegraphs, M. Millerand; minister of agriculture, M. Jean Dupuy; minister of public works, M. Mailing Clerk at Superior Postoffice In Trouble.

Swan Hendrickson, formerly a mailing clerk at the West Superior postoffice, was arraigned before a court commissioner in that city yesterday on the charge of rifling the mails. The complaint against the young man was for taking one letter addressed to a lady in Milwaukee, containing $5 and a letter addressed to a man in Buffalo containing $2.50. Hendrickson has made a written confession and waived an examination. He was bound over to the coming term of United States district court for the Western district of Wisconsin to be held in West Superior this month. Bail was fixed a $1000. The warrant for Hendrickson's arrest was served by Deputy United States Marshal Jonas, of Madison.

IN MICHIGAN.

Isle Royale Miner Falls 500 Feet to His Death.

Calumet—Steve Sink, A miner employed at the Isle Royale mine, was killed by falling from the twelfth to the sixteenth level, a distance of about 500 feet. He was about 40 years old. If is stated he was standing on the dividing piece, waiting for the skip at the twelfth level, when he lost his balance and fell.

A party of sixty miners left here for the Mesaba iron range to work in the mines on that range. Many men in the Lake Superior copper district are out of work and going to other fields. The party for the Minnesota iron country left for Hibbing.

The Houghton Lumber company has been organized with a capital stock of $50,000. The company will conduct a lumber manufacturing business and a sawmill will be erected on Portage lake, near the site of the old Atlantic stamp mill. It is expected the mill will be in operation by next fall.

Einar L'son Nordensten, of Malmberget, Sweden, consulting engineer of the Gellivare company, limited, one of the largest copper mining corporations in Sweden, is in the Lake Superior copper district inspecting the mines in the interests of his company, which expects to expend $500,000 for new machinery and equipment this year.

Iron Mountain—Charles Erickson, a retired saloonkeeper, residing at Norway, left home last Wednesday forenoon and no word has been received from him since. He left with his horse and buckboard. In the evening the horse returned to the barn. A searching party was organized and found the buckboard on the bank of the river three miles distant, but no trace of Erickson could be found. His friends fear he has met with foul play, as he had quite a sum of money on his person.

Florence—The school board at Florence has put a ban on the public school teachers attending dances on nights preceding school days. They say the teachers cannot do their duty when up all night.

Menominee—Gerald, the 11-year-old son of Oscar Lamont, of Talbot, was drwoned while fishing in Little Cedar river, just below the dam of the Little Lumber company. He was missed by his parents and a search instituted and his hat found floating in the river. The gate of the dam was raised and the body recovered.

LAST WINTER.

Weather Bureau Presents Statistics For the Season In Duluth.

A pamphlet just issued by the weather bureau contains some interesting observations on the winter of 1901-2 in Duluth, showing comparisons with several former seasons in the matter of ice.

According to the report from Duluth temperatures during November were normal and December was colder than usual, while January, February and March were warmer than the average, especially March. Harbor ice formed earlier and disappeared earlier than usual, but remained about the average number of days, from Nov. 16 to April 8. In general, the thickness was 2.7 inches less than the average. The maximum, 25 inches, occurred about the middle of February. The lake ice formed Jan. 31, about the usual date, and disappeared March 27, a month earlier than the average. The field at no time reached more than thirty miles lakeward, and the average thickness was from 3 to 10 inches less than during any of the three preceding winters. The maximum thickness was about 14 inches, between Feb. 21 and 25. General navigation closed Dec. 16, but the steamers Hunter and Bon Ami continued operations to Lake Superior ports until Jan. 22 and Feb. 6 respectively, and from Two Harbors they continued until Feb. 26. The departure of the Hunter from Duluth March 29 reopened navigation. Though navigation was opened by the arrival of the steamer Rindl, from Chicago, April 5, the earliest arrival on record, the average being May 1.

The bulletin includes tables comparing the harbor ice of the winter with averages for the past four winters, 1898 to 1902, as follows:

	1898-1902.	1901-1902
	Inches.	Inches.
November	2.6	3.0
December	8.5	8.3
January	16.4	14.6
February	24.6	22.5
March	25.3	19.2
April	15.4	9.3
Means	15.0	13.0

The harbor was partially or entirely covered with ice 146 days during the winter, and the average for the past four winters is 119 days, only one day more. Ice formed Nov. 16, eight days earlier than the average, and disappeared April 8, 13 days earlier than the average. The thickest ice of the season in the harbor was 25 to 26.5 inches Feb. 6 to March 5, and the average thickest ice is 10 inches from Feb. 17 to March 25.

The outside ice formed Jan. 31, three days later than the average, disappeared March 27, while the average date is April 24, and remained solid 55 days, 31 less than the average.

WESTERN END

Explorations Continue Active on Mesaba Near Grand Rapids.

Dr. Russell, of Grand Rapids, was at the Spalding last evening. It is understood that the doctor has options or leases on several pieces of property near Grand Rapids that make a promising showing for iron. It is said that he will at once begin active exploratory work, having done considerable surface work lately.

Five Hibbing people who have taken the Lewis forty under option of purchase of the fee are said to have made a lucky strike. The property is the nw¼ of the ne¼ of 29-56-21, and, though little money has been spent on drill work, it is understood that the drill is in 100 feet of ore at 40 to 50 feet from the surface. The explorers have an option on the purchase of the fee for $25,000, the owner reserving one-eighth interest or something of that kind.

It is claimed that Longyear, who is drilling on the Hartley property, has a drill down in 200 feet of ore after going through 40 or 50 feet of taconite. A diamond drill has been used in these explorations wherever a hard formation was encountered, but for the most part churn drills are being operated on the Western Mesaba.

General exploratory operations on the new end of the range are being carried forward more actively than ever since the weather settled so that drilling outfits could be trained in with more ease. Work is proceeding on the Arcturus, Buckeye, Diamond, the Corrigan-McKinney, Great Northern and other properties that have been undergoing explorations since last fall or longer, while many new locations are being surveyed by smaller people.

It is said that E. J. Longyear now has sixty-seven drills of his own in operation on various parts of the range.

Mahan-McLean.

The marriage of Miss Mary Mahan and John McLean, both of this city, will take place at 8 o'clock this evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Mahan, of 110 West Sixth street. The ceremony will be performed by Dr. S. P. Long, of the First Methodist church, and will be witnessed by the relatives and a few friends. Miss Christie Mahan, sister of the bride, will be bridesmaid and Charles McEwen, will be best man. Mrs. W. E. McEwen will play the wedding march. Mr. and Mrs. McLean will make their home in Duluth.

Further Particulars of the Divorce Case In Chicago.

Dainty Lace Handkerchiefs Among His Effects Aroused Suspicion.

The announcement in last evening's Herald that Mrs. Cora-Dorwin-Aspinwall-Knapp, formerly of this city, but now of Chicago, was seeking a divorce from her husband, Clyde D. Knapp, Jr., excited considerable interest among their friends here. The Chicago Chronicle brings further particulars in this story of domestic unhappiness. It says:

Both plaintiff and defendant have been prominent in the social life of Kenwood for a number of years. Mrs. Knapp has gained distinction through her beauty and as a singer and her husband is known as one of the successful young business men of the neighborhood. No hint of any disagreement between them had reached their friends and the suit instituted by Mrs. Knapp caused much discussion yesterday.

The bill filed by Mrs. Knapp's attorney, A. A. Goodrich of Goodrich, Vincent & Bradley, alleges unfaithfulness on the part of Mr. Knapp and asks for divorce and alimony from him. The woman in the case is named in the bill as "Mary James." She is said to be a young woman of Kingston, N. C., who is now studying music in New York.

Mrs. Knapp also charges that her husband did not give her sufficient funds from his income to manage properly their household, alleging that he profits to the extent of $9,000 a year from his business and that she was forced to get along on $1000. He is also said to have spent the greater part of the last five months in New York and to have refused her importunities to return to his home.

The couple was married Jan. 20, 1896, and they have resided in Kenwood ever since. Mrs. Knapp is the daughter of W. E. Dorwin, 4329 Oakenwald avenue. She is a tall stately woman of great beauty and is the possessor of a soprano voice which is considered of remarkable range.

For many years she was the soprano of the Plymouth Congregational church and she has repeatedly gained distinction in musical circles. Her accomplishments and beauty have made her a great social favorite. She has also taken part in the club life of the South Side and was recently admitted to membership in the Woman's Athletic club.

The present difficulty between husband and wife is said to have begun last December. At that time Mr. Knapp was in New York, but he returned to Chicago for a few days at Christmas time. Among his effects his wife is said to have found a dainty lace handkerchief which did not match any of hers and which was inscribed with the name of "Cora Field."

Her questions received ready response from him and his explanations served to allay her suspicions. Pleading to his wife that business interests demanded his presence in New York, Mr. Knapp returned there shortly after the first of the year and since then Mrs. Knapp says she has only seen him at very infrequent intervals.

Mrs. Knapp did not see her husband in the ensuing five months she at least heard of him. Friends in New York reported to her that he was devoting much of his time to the cultivation of the society of a Miss Cora Field. The reports were supported by the fragments of a letter which are said to have been found on Mr. Knapp's desk and which were sent to his wife.

She pieced them together and found that the paper bore her husband's monogram, that the writing was in his hand and that the letter contained protestations of affection of the most violent kind, all addressed to Miss Field.

Even at this proof of her husband's infidelity to her Mrs. Knapp was still ready to forgive him. She wrote him several appeals to come back home, but received in reply a cold letter, suppelled to her father for aid. He, too, sent an urgent letter to New York and finding these measures in vain informed the father of Miss Field at Kingston, N. C., and asked for assistance from him in inducing Mr. Knapp to return to Chicago. The futility of these measures induced Mr. Knapp to institute the divorce proceedings.

A few weeks ago Mrs. Knapp gave up her house at 4561 Oakenwald avenue and has since been at the home of her parents. When questioned yesterday about the suit she said:

"I was simply forced to sue for divorce. My husband told Attorney Goodrich and me that if I did not get a divorce he would. In self-defense I was compelled to take the course I did."

Mr. Knapp has been in Chicago for the past week, living at the Auditorium Annex. He left town again last night and is said to have returned to New York. It is said that he will not defend the suit for divorce, allowing it to go by default. It is expected that the request of Mrs. Knapp for permanent alimony will be contested.

The young man's father, Clyde D. Knapp, expressed great surprise when told of the suit.

know nothing about it," he said. "As far as I know my son's married life was happy. Are you sure he is the right man? There are a number of the same name or nearly similar names in the city, and this may be another Kirk case."

"Do you know positively that he is guilty?" she was asked.

"My proof is so strong that it cannot be controverted," said Mrs. Knapp. "I was in New York last Easter time and it was then that I learned fully how my husband had been acting. Since then I have been living apart from him."

"Mr. Knapp devotes considerable time to society, does he not?"

"I hold the social position," said Mrs. Knapp significantly.

VERDICT STANDS.

Court of Appeals Decides a Duluth Case.

The United States circuit court of appeals has affirmed the verdict for the plaintiff in the case of the Iron Belt Mining company against the Duluth Furnace company, which was tried in the federal court here last fall. The plaintiff sued to recover for ore which was contracted to be delivered to the furnace of the defendant here and which was not taken. A verdict amounting to about $13,000 was returned. The defendant contended that there was no specified time for delivery in the contract. The court held that the day when the contract expired was the day when all of the ore should be delivered.

Patriotic Address.

Alonzo J. Whiteman, who is now living at Lanesville, N. Y., was, at the time of the announcement a few days ago of a criminal prosecution against him in the state of New York, quietly preparing for the delivery of a patriotic address at the First Methodist church in his home city. This he gave last Friday evening, Memorial day. The Express of that city, in announcing the lecture, said: "To those who have heard Mr. Whiteman speak on political or patriotic subjects it is unnecessary to say that his address will be worth hearing."

LOOKING FOR A MAN

Republicans Anxiously Trying to Get Congressional Candidate.

Leon E. Lum, W. E. Culkin and A. D. Davidson Are Mentioned.

Little Doubt That Bede's Opponents Will Bring One Out.

Rumor is very busy, assisted by certain industrious Republicans of this city, in trying to figure out a candidate to run against J. Adam Bede for the Republican nomination for congress. This has been going on for some time, and in spite of the long list of rumored candidates that have been brought out and then retired again, it is still in progress.

Names now being mentioned are those of W. E. Culkin, register of the United States land office; Leon E. Lum and A. D. Davidson. Mr. Davidson has been mentioned because he seemed to be good congressional timber, because he knows something of the game of politics, because he has a large acquaintance in the lower end of the district, and because he is tied up with no particular clique in the party, but is simply a Republican and a business man of excellent standing. Mr. Davidson will probably not yield to any temptation to run for congress that may be presented to him, however. He is a very busy man, with numerous and extensive business connections that take up most of his attention, and his friends do not consider that it would be an easy matter to get him out.

Mr. Lum is one of the latest subjects of rumor in this connection. It is perhaps a little misleading to speak of him as a candidate, for that implies some initiative on his part. Mr. Lum has been approached by some Duluth business men and asked if he would run for congress. His reply was that he thought that if the business men wanted to bring out a candidate they should get together and form some plan of campaign and then go after their candidate. He did not seem particularly overjoyed with the prospect of becoming a candidate, neither did he say them nay. Mr. Lum also possesses an acquaintanceship out in the district, and it would not be particularly surprising to see him in the lists yet.

Rumor is very persistent with the name of W. E. Culkin, register of the United States land office, and there have been positive statements within a few days that he would be the opposition candidate for the Republican nomination for congress. He had been mentioned before that in a desultory manner, but of late report has been centering about him rather more closely, and it has been positively stated that he had been selected as the candidate. It is true that Mr. Culkin's appointment for four years as register has hardly had time to get cold in his safe, so he has one official position already.

Still, it is said that Mr. Culkin's gaze has been directed toward Washington for some time, in a quiet way, and it is even intimated that one of his objects in removing from his old home in Wright county to Duluth was to be near the headquarters of the old Sixth district in case things should shape themselves so as to make a hopeful prospect for his congressional ambitions.

It is asserted with some confidence that the opposition will have a candidate against Mr. Bede, and that the announcement will be made within a short time. The friends of Mr. Bede welcome this, however. They say that a single-handed campaign, such as Mr. Bede now has in hand does not work up the enthusiasm that a lively scrap will produce. Therefore they hope to see somebody brought out so the boys will get off their coats and hustle.

The News Tribune a couple of days ago interviewed a "prominent Democrat," whose existence is deemed most doubtful, unless he lives in the fumes of the reportorial pipe, on the political situation. Among other things this Democrat promised that Senator C. O. Baldwin will run for the senate again in the Fifty-first district. Senator Baldwin has repeatedly stated that he would not be a candidate for re-election, and since the appearance of the News Tribune's "pipe" article, he has again authorized The Herald to so state.

The state convention is now less than a month away, and when it is done there will probably be a rush of certificates of candidacy. Many prospective candidates are awaiting until the state fight is over before entering the local scramble.

A couple of the Mesaba range editors are busily engaged grooming former Mayor M. C. Palmer, of Virginia, for a county office. They do not seem particular which one, though his name has been connected with the offices of county attorney, register of deeds and clerk of the district court.

THREE DAYS.

Then Postum Saved Him.

It makes rather solid friends of people when they discover a liquid food that will save life in extreme cases of need.

Speaking of Postum Food Coffee, a lady in Toledo, Ohio, says: "For over five years now I have used Postum Coffee entirely in place of the ordinary coffee or tea.

"I used to have stomach trouble and every time I drank a cup of ordinary coffee suffered the greatest distress. My troubles left when I left off coffee and began using Postum.

"The most severe test I know of was when my husband was down with gastric typhoid fever. His stomach would retain nothing; we tried milk and various other drinks. Everything we put into his stomach would come up in less than three minutes. After the third day of this kind of work I concluded to give him some Postum Coffee. He drank it and relished it and retained it, and for four weeks he lived on Postum and nothing else to speak of. You can depend upon it that Postum gained some good friends, for husband would have died if it had not been for the nourishment afforded by Postum Coffee." Name given by Postum company, Battle Creek, Mich.

The three great products of THE N. K. FAIRBANK COMPANY, awarded

Gold Medals

at the Charleston Exposition.

Cottolene

awarded the only Gold Medal granted to such a product. Cottolene is a frying and shortening medium, which contains nothing but pure, sweet and wholesome vegetable oil with just enough selected beef suet added to obtain proper consistency. It is highly endorsed by the best authorities on cooking and household economy and is used by them in preference to any other cooking fat.

It is not only far superior to lard and other cooking butter, but it is more economical and healthful.

Gold Dust

deservedly won the highest possible honor.

Gold Dust is acknowledged to be the best and most economical washing powder on the market.

It will clean anything cleanable—clothes and dishes, pots and pans, floors and doors. Gold Dust lightens labor, lessens care.

"Let the Gold Dust Twins do your work."

Boar's Head
Brand of Refined
Lard Compound

awarded the only Gold Medal in this line at the Exposition. The best known and the best made brand on the market. It is neutral in flavor, odorless, and goes farther in cooking than hog lard. It is superior in quality and has been recognized as the purest and best by experts and housewives the world over, for over 30 years. Beware of imitations represented to be "just as good."

Gold Medals, the highest honor bestowed on any product, have been awarded the articles mentioned above by the special awards jury of the South Carolina Inter-State and West Indian Exposition, at Charleston. These medals were won in open competition with the leading products of the world and the decision merely endorses and emphasizes the judgment of the public in pronouncing these articles at the head of their respective classes.

The judgment of the jury as to the superiority of Gold Dust, Cottolene and Boar's Head Brand of Lard Compound destroys the claims of competitors who manufacture so-called "just as good" products. If you would have the best washing powder, buy Gold Dust; the best lard compound, buy Fairbank's Boar's Head Brand; the best cooking medium, buy Cottolene. All leading grocers sell all three products. Take no others.

Plans For Dining Room Floor of Commercial Club.

The directors of the Commercial club, at their meeting yesterday afternoon, decided to accept with a minor change one set of the plans submitted by Architect John De Waard, who is supervising the erection of the new Frerker building, in which the club rooms will be situated. The plans accepted are those providing for a long narrow main dining room, occupying half of the frontage on Michigan street. It was decided that the arrangement of these plans, aside from the desirability of having the full frontage overlooking the lake for the dining rooms, was so superior in every way that it would be folly to lose the advantages offered, so it was decided to make a minor change in the plans submitted regarding the buffet. A considerable space had been alloted to this department, which the directors thought was unnecessary and unwise. It seemed to be the impression that a sideboard was all that should be maintained. Consequently, the larger part of the space devoted to the buffet will be taken off for a separate room, to be used as a smoking room.

The question of celebrating the Fourth of July came up on receipt of a communication from Mayor Hugo, offering to turn over to any properly-authorized party $300 in city funds that had been appropriated for last year's celebration. The consensus of opinion seemed to be that the matter had been taken up by the club too late for arrangements to be made for a successful celebration this year. It was also suggested that the club might be undertaking too broad functions and too large responsibilities in attempting to raise funds for all public affairs of this character.

The matter was disposed of, for the present at least, by the authorization of President Patrick to confer with Mayor Hugo regarding the matter.

THE NEWSBOY

Will Soon Begin the Excursion Season.

Messrs. Clow & Nicholson, who purchased the Newsboy recently, have brought the boat to Duluth and will put her into the excursion business at once. She is admirably adapted for the purpose. She was built in West Bay City, Mich., in 1889, and is 110 feet long over all and has 22 feet of beam. She can make 13½ miles an hour easily. Her cabin is fifty feet long, and is finished in hardwood and enclosed in glass. The boat is now being fitted with an electric plant. She is licensed to carry 500 people. Messrs. Clow & Nicholson bought her from Capt. King, of Detoroit. She has been running from Detroit to Belle Isle, the beautiful resort a few miles from Detroit.

The Newsboy will start on the St. Louis river route about June 10, making two trips a day. She will also make excursions around the horn on Sunday, leaving several times a day.

The firm has established an office on the Fifth avenue west dock, and has fitted up a waiting room there for the accommodation of patrons.

Wins Good Prize.

Abner C. Pearson, of this city, circulator of The Evening Herald, has just received a check for $50 from the Ladies' Home Journal as first prize for the best suggestion for a "Home made gift that a child between the ages of six and twelve years can make to its parents or any 'grown up,' to cost not more than fifty cents—less if possible." Mr. Pearson's suggestion is a box made by cutting out the center of a bunch of envelopes, to be used as a postage stamp box, jewel box, etc. The Journal will illustrate it in a future number.

DEAL IS OFF.

L. N. Scott Will Not Be Interested In Rebuilding of Temple.

It is understood that the negotiations between L. N. Scott and the owners of the old Temple theater site for the sale or lease of the property have been discontinued for good. The deal never got beyond the point of Mr. Scott's taking an option on the property for a few days. He intended to submit this proposition with preliminary plans for the rebuilding of the burned theater to Jacob Litt. Whatever was the result, and whether Mr. Litt was ever consulted in the matter, is not known, but it is pretty well settled that the deal is at an end, and that Mr. Scott will not, for some years at least, enter the theatrical field here.

It is said that local parties are again flugring on the rebuilding of the property, but have not gone beyond the preliminary stages as yet.

Frederick In American History.

The offer by the German emperor to the American people of a statue of Frederick the Great, to be erected in Washington, has caused much discussion as to the good service Frederick performed to the American republic. The New York Sun a few days ago published a lengthy article claiming that he performed no service whatever to this country. The St. Louis Globe-Democrat takes the opposite view. It claims that in the seven years' war, Frederick the Great did a brilliant service for the Americans. His principal antagonist in that war was France, whose head was Louis XV. That war affected almost every continent in the world, and influenced the destinies of most of the great nations and many of the smaller ones. American extension of that vast conflict is popularly known as the French and Indian war. If France had been beaten Frederick at that time in Europe she would probably have overcome England in the contest on this side of the water. While Frederick was fighting Louis XV in the neighborhood of the Rhine, George III and his American subjects of the thirteen colonies were fighting Louis in Northern New York, Canada and in other places on this continent. A victory over Frederick would have given Louis a chance to send additional soldiers to this side of the Atlantic, where the French military forces were always numerically weak, and the result of the French and Indian war would probably have been different. If France had been free to meet England on the American continent without any diversion of her forces in the Rhine country, there would have been no British capture of Quebec. The chain of events connecting the Prussian king's heroic fight against France and the rest of his enemies in Europe and the declaration of Independence, was a direct sequence of the Quebec of 1759. Quebec was rendered possible by Frederick's overwhelming victory over the French at Rossbach in 1757.

Shutting Out Undesirable Immigrants.

It is said that the railroad companies are very much opposed to the Shattuc immigration bill which provides for the educational test to immigrants and which has recently passed the house. They will make a strong fight in the senate to have this clause removed and are confident of success. Representatives of the railroads have urged that there is a strong demand in all quarters of the country on the railroads and in the mines for unskilled labor, and that the supply cannot well be furnished if the illiterate laborers of Southeastern Europe are to be excluded from this country. Labor organizations are equally anxious to have the bill in its present form adopted by the senate. They insist that the interests of the American workmen demand that he be protected from the unskilled and ignorant workmen from foreign countries. Some interesting statistics have been prepared showing what would have been the effect of the Shattuc law had it been in operation in 1901. In that year 488,000 immigrants obtained admission to this country, of which 117,858 could not read nor write in any language. This was nearly 25 per cent of the total immigration. The illiterates were confined almost entirely to the Italians, Poles, Hebrews, Slavs and Greeks, of whom 108,000 could not read nor write. Most of the other immigrants than those mentioned were Scandinavians or Germans, and the number of illiterates among them was very small. Reports being received by the bureau of labor indicate that the present year will be a record breaker in immigration. Officials of the treasury predict that the total admissions of foreigners by the end of June will reach 650,000, as compared with 488,000 for 1901. The number for March was 77,570 and for April 95,608. May has been an unusually heavy month, and it is estimated that the number of immigrants to land in this country will be nearly 90,000, and booking has been made for June which will equal, if not exceed, the May record. The greatest number of immigrants recorded for any previous year was 569,000, in 1882. That record will certainly be eclipsed this year. As The Herald has remarked before the educational test would be a good thing. Too many undesirable immigrants are coming to this country. They are a menace to our institutions and our workingmen. The house bill should by all means be passed by the senate.

NO TARIFF FOR TRUSTS.

The trend of public sentiment on the tariff question in the Western states is well illustrated by the resolutions adopted at recent Republican congressional conventions. Of course the Democrats are opposed to a high protective tariff which enables trusts to rob the people, and their position is so well known that it is hardly necessary for their conventions to pass resolutions on the subject. In most of the districts, also, they have been in the minority, and consequently have been unable to send to congress representatives entertaining their views. When the Republican conventions, therefore, begin to pass resolutions against the pernicious features of the tariff law, it means something out of the ordinary. It means that sentiment among the rank and file of the Republican party in favor of tariff revision is so strong that the political leaders are forced to recognize its existence and give expression to it in the party platforms.

When Representative Babcock was renominated recently in the Third Wisconsin district, the Republican convention went on record as opposed to a tariff which arms trusts with power to exact $5 from Americans for an article which they are glad to sell to foreigners for $2. Another Wisconsin district, the Tenth, which includes the city of Superior, has also placed itself on record in favor of tariff revision. In renominating Judge Jenkins, the Republican convention adopted a resolution declaring that the industries of the country have outgrown the need of a protective tariff. In proof of this proposition the delegates submit the notorious fact that our manufacturers are competing successfully in the markets of the world. They therefore declare that they "favor a revision of the tariff without unreasonable delay, which will place upon the free list every article and product controlled by any monopoly, and such other articles and products as are beyond the need of protection."

In Minnesota the sentiment among Republicans in favor of tariff revision is also spreading rapidly, and several candidates for the Republican nomination for congressman have pledged themselves on this issue. In the new Sixth district, Mr. Buckman, who is likely to get the nomination, has given a pledge to vote for the repeal of the tariff on lumber, and in the Seventh district, M. J. Dowling, speaker of the last legislature, who aspires to go to congress, has made a similar pledge. No doubt several Republican district conventions will express themselves against the retention of tariff duties that foster monopolies. In Iowa this sentiment is very strong, and Governor Cummins, in his inaugural message last January, expressed the belief that a great many Republicans in that state are not willing to be bled for the purpose of securing foreign markets for the protected classes, after having been bled for forty years to secure for them the home market.

But, as the Chicago Chronicle points out in a recent issue, what these Western constituencies have yet to learn is that Western Republicans are not the Republican party and will not be consulted to any great extent when it comes to deciding what its tariff policy is to be. They have yet to learn that for the last quarter of a century at least the policy of their party has been shaped in all particulars to suit the interest of the classes which are protected by the tariff or other legislative devices in getting possession of a portion of the earnings of others to which they are not justly entitled and for which they render no equivalent. They have yet to learn that if they wish to be delivered out of the hands of robbers they must associate themselves with a party which does not uphold legalized robbery on the plea of necessity or on any other plea whatsoever.

If the West would be freed from the power of the trusts that control the necessaries of life and of the monopolies that charge more to Americans than to foreigners for the articles they produce, it must send to congress Democratic representatives who will enact the legislation that is needed.

GROSS EXTRAVAGANCE.

It has been known for some time that a veritable scandal was being smothered in connection with the repairs which have been made on the transports purchased by the United States during the war with Spain. A special report just made to congress by Secretary Root proves that these rumors are well founded, and shows why the war department was so anxious to abolish this service. As a matter of fact, those in charge of the transports have managed to spend $2,000,000 more than the fleet of twenty-four vessels originally cost the government.

At the outbreak of the war with Spain the war department sent out agents to pick up available steamers to be converted into army transports. In the course of a couple of months a big fleet had been assembled, the government purchasing in all twenty-four vessels. Several of these were not bought until the war was almost ended, but the great majority were purchased during the height of excitement incident to war, and consequently the department was forced to pay considerably more than the ships were worth in certain instances. The sum of $7,770,344 was expended in gathering together the twenty-four vessels. They were placed in charge of officers who knew absolutely nothing about navigation or the handling of ships, but whose duty had previously consisted of buying clothing for the troops, tents, blankets and other materials of this sort.

A perfect epidemic of repair work soon manifested itself in the transport service, and one after another of the big vessels was laid up at some contractor's dock for overhauling and improvement. Soon tales began to be circulated about the sumptuous private apartments that were being arranged in the transports for the use of officers, and it was said that money was being recklessly expended in the purchase of mahogany furniture, cut glass and silver dining services and other luxuries that one is accustomed to find only in the private yachts of millionaires. The stories of willful extravagance seem to be borne out now, for Secretary Root reports to congress that $9,936,001.55 have been expended in repairs and general equipment of the army transports, or over $2,000,000 more than was originally paid for the entire fleet. The bulk of the money was expended during the Spanish war and in the first year following, for Secretary Root began to break up the transport service as soon as he could. He abolished the service altogether on the Atlantic coast and between this country and Cuba and reduced the number of vessels sailing to Manila to the lowest possible number.

Altogether the army transport service has been a very costly institution and a disgrace to the officers in charge. If there is any way possible they should be punished for their willful extravagance, or at least should be publicly reprimanded.

Rev. M. J. Hann did his best for a congregation in Centerville, N. J., but finally concluded that the members were not doing their best for him. Whereupon he called a meeting in the church and took leave of them all in this pungent fashion: "Brothers and sisters, I come to say goodbye. I don't think God loves this church because none of you ever die. I don't think you love each other, because you have not paid my salary. Your donations are mouldy fruit and wormy apples, and by their fruits ye shall know them. Brothers, I am going to a better place. I have been called to be chaplain of a penitentiary. I go to prepare a place for you, and may the Lord have mercy on your souls. Goodbye."

What the Cubans need now are markets and not bouquets. If congress would pass the reciprocity bill, says the Springfield Republican, the unanimous resolutions fencetating the Cuban government on its independence would seem less like Marie Antoinette's famous query concerning the starving French when told that they couldn't get bread. "Why don't they eat cake?" she asked brilliantly.

A notable feature of Senator Spooner's recent speech on the Philippines was his statement that the Republican party is in favor of giving the Filipinos independence as soon as they have demonstrated their capacity for self-government. But the Republican organs are not drawing special attention to this statement. Do they not agree with the senator?

There is an onslaught all along the educational line for a reduction of the college and university terms so that a young man can get out into the world before he is too old to learn anything. The educators should figure more closely as to how precious a young man's life is between 20 and 30.

REPEAL OF LUMBER TARIFF

Minneapolis Journal: M. J. Dowling, of Renville, has stated his position to the voters of the Seventh district on two important issues, which will form a large part of his personal platform and his claim on their support for his congressional nomination.

"I am in favor of the removal of the $2 tariff on lumber," said Mr. Dowling to the Journal. "The people of my district are large consumers of lumber, and the rapidly increasing cost of the product is felt as a heavy burden. The removal of the tariff would lessen the price $2 a thousand to the farmer and business man. It would also be a benefit to the retail lumber dealer. It would add an important item to the field of competition in this market, and would stop the shipment of Northwestern lumber to the Eastern cities. Canadian lumber would supply the Eastern market, and our Northwestern mills would sell their product in the West. The retail dealer would get his lumber at least $2 less on the thousand, he would have no trouble in procuring stock, and could do a larger business on a smaller capital. If I am elected to congress I shall vote and work for a repeal of the $2 lumber tariff."

Minnesota lumbermen may play a part at an early date in the Americanization of Canada by the purchase of timber in the Dominion. The opportunity offered in Canada has caused a division among Minnesota lumbermen on the question of free lumber. A large element of the younger operators in timber are for a total elimination of the duty. These men are well represented in Minneapolis. Lumbermen in other Minnesota towns who have exhausted their opportunity are beginning to look to the Dominion as a good field for operations and are quietly lining up for a removal of the duty. They are finding willing allies among the consumers and retail dealers throughout the state.

In this connection the declaration of M. J. Dowling, speaker of the Minnesota house, and candidate for congress in the Seventh district, is interesting to the local lumbermen. Some of them freely admit that the time has arrived when the attitude of Minnesota on the lumber duty is to change. The timber supply is growing rapidly less and the consuming population at home increasing at a reasonable rate. There was a time when in the interests of the state at large, the entire congressional delegation of the state could be held pat for the lumber duty. The lumbermen admit that time is past. They realize that the consumers are retailers believe that the state in general and the lumber industry are prosperous enough to get along successfully without the duty. The declaration of Dowling, and the fact that C. B. Buckman, candidate for congress in the Sixth district, is registered in favor of free lumber by the newspapers of the district are regarded by the lumbermen as a natural consequence of this change in sentiment. This is pleasing to the element which wants to see the duty removed in order to give American manufacturers in Canada a chance at this market. It has encouraged some of these men in the belief that the time is ripe for acquiring Canadian stumpage.

Many Michigan lumbermen already have made purchases in Canada, but Wisconsin and Minnesota manufacturers have not invaded the Dominion to any extent. Western Canada is developing about the time that Minnesota pine is rapidly disappearing, and most of it is being filed up in a few hands. This forces a large number of the active and younger lumbermen into other fields, and Canada is a growing favorite. Some of the large holders of stumpage in the Northwest have recently said that with business as good as it is now they do not care whether the duty is legislated out or not. Others declare their intention to fight any attempt to reduce it. Nearly all of them concede that public sentiment in Minnesota is overwhelmingly against the duty and that the defense of the lumber duty must be led by the Pacific coast states from now on. In future contests in congress it is probable that the advocates of a lumber duty will rally around Senator Foster of Washington and Senator Mitchell of Oregon, with greatly increased assistance from the yellow pine regions of the Southern states.

Philadelphia Record: "Now, then," said the heavy villain, "having perfected our conspiracy, we must take care that it doesn't leak out."

"Why not let the plot thicken?" suggested the low comedian from his place of concealment.

Folly of Oversensitiveness.

Success: Oversensitive people are usually very fine grained, highly organized and intelligent, and if they could overcome this weakness, would become capable, conscientious workers. This failing—for it is a failing, and a very serious one, too—is an exaggerated form of self-consciousness, which, while entirely different from egotism or conceit, causes self to loom up in such large proportions on the mental retina as to overshadow everything else. The victim of it feels that, wherever he goes, whatever he does, he is the center of observation, and that all eyes, all thoughts are focused upon him. He imagines that people are criticising his movements and his person, and making fun at his expense; when, in reality, they are not thinking of him, and perhaps did not see him.

The World Do Move.

Chicago Chronicle: A Chicago judge not long ago advised women who were beaten by their husbands to protect themselves with firearms, if necessary, and a New York judge has just decided that a lady may with propriety hammer her husband with a poker and not be deemed guilty of cruelty. Thus have we advanced from the time when, under British law, it was declared that a husband was privileged "modicume castikationem adhibere," provided the chastisement was inflicted with a stick of no greater thickness than two thumbs. The world do move.

Preparing For Emergencies.

Philadelphia Record: It has been decided that the house of representatives at Washington shall have a medicine case, with emergency drugs, and a case of instruments for minor surgical operations. Occasionally a member, an employe or a visitor suddenly becomes ill, and while there are physicians among the members, they do not carry medicines. Then, too, the Tillman-McLaurin affair in the senate suggests that the personal collisions of members may become violent enough to require medical or surgical attention.

The Girl and The Ice Yacht

By Frank H. Sweet.

(Copyright, 1902, by W. R. Hearst.)

Howard Wimsy was skimming along leisurely at a 20-mile rate, his sail half reefed on account of the strong wind, and his tiller shifting from side to side to follow the windings of the shore. He had the whole afternoon before him and was in no hurry, and he preferred the variety of the shore to a bee line down the river.

It was an ideal day for a run, the ice smooth and firm and the sky clear, and though the wind was unusually strong, each yachtsman could reef his sail to it according to his individual taste and capacity.

As Howard swept out around a point of land he saw several boats coming up the river toward him, evidently testing each others' speed. They were scarcely a mile away, and while he was speculating on the number of seconds it would take them to arrive opposite, he heard a sudden shout and saw the boats near him swerve hastily in toward shore. He glanced round quickly to discover what had occasioned the alarm, but could see nothing but a large, finely modeled boat rushing toward him under a full speed of canvas. He admired her proportions even while he condemned the risk of carrying so much sail, but was turning away when something of her erratic course made him look more closely. Then, suddenly, he threw his whole weight against the tiller, swerving his boat so that it sped away at almost right angles to its former course.

He was not a moment too soon. Scarcely had he turned when he felt the wind of the great yacht as it rushed by, almost grazing his stern. It was a runaway, tearing on to its own destruction against some rocky shore, and, what was more, threatening the destruction of any craft that might be unable to avoid its course.

Involuntarily he uttered a low exclamation of relief, checked almost instantly, however, and changed to one of dismay. For in the box of the yacht as it rushed by he saw a white, frightened face that brought him to his feet, and then sent the blood surging tumultuously through his veins. Doubtless the helmsman had been thrown out or in some way left behind, and now the young lady was at the mercy of the made thing that was tearing on.

There are some natures which act quickly, and Howard's was one of these. Even as the frightened eyes looked into his he began to lash the tiller in place. Then he unreefed the sail until its entire surface was spread to the wind, doing just what he had condemned a few seconds before.

The sail secured, he unlashed the tiller and seated himself with his feet firmly braced. It would be a hard chase, he knew, and very likely a futile one. The runaway was much the faster yacht, and except for ice craft the course was open. At this point the river was two miles wide, and the runaway was headed straight down, and apparently her tiller was lashed. Except for possible collisions she might run thirty or forty miles without touching either shore. Could he hope to overtake her in that time? It would be his skill against her lack of helmsman, his ability to take advantage of any possible flaw in the wind or defect in the ice.

But the wind was too steady for much display of skill, and the course too straight. At the end of five minutes the runaway had gained half a mile. But now the pursuing yacht was also going at tremendous speed, every inch of her canvas was reaching for its share of the wind, and the mast and timbers bending under the strain. Howard was leaning forward, grasping the tiller with tense hand, his eyes watching keenly for anything which would help him gain a rod, a yard, or even an inch. An express train, speeding along the shore forty miles an hour, was opposite them for a time, then slowly fell behind.

Another five minutes, and the watchful eyes saw the runaway quiver and swerve from her course, and her sail flap loosely for a moment and then regain its taughtness. It was passing over a rough place, where a snow line had been blown out from shore by some sharp flurry of wind and become frozen to the surface. But the delay brought Howard up to within one-fourth of a mile, for when he reached the line of frozen snow he threw his weight suddenly upon the tiller in such a manner that the yacht rose and cleared the snow with scarcely any check of her speed.

The swerving of the runaway from her course gave him, too, another advantage, although it meant that it was necessary to overtake her quickly. As now headed, she would strike the opposite shore near what was known as Ledge Point, six or seven miles down, and her present speed would take her there in twelve or fifteen minutes at the outside. But Howard's keen eyes connected him that in crossing the ridge her tiller had somewhat become changed, for instead of a straight course her direction was now slightly curved, by heading directly for some point near the outer end of the probably curve, he believed that he could intercept her before she struck. But he kept on his course for another thirty seconds, to make sure of her direction, then swung his tiller a little into the wind. Then on and on he flew with the swiftness of a homing bird, so holding his boat that the light steel runners found the least possible friction from the ice. Little by little skill began to tell against chance. Even in their diverging courses he could see that the distance was lessening yard by yard, and rod by rod. At times, when she struck a bit of rough ice or line of snow, the runaway quivered and the tuatness of her sail relaxed; such places, if narrow, he leapen his yacth across, or if wide, met with a skill which scarcely lost him speed. Once he saw a narrow fissure of open water in front of his yacht, but not extending to the course of the runaway. To avoid it would have meant losing the race, losing her whose soul had for one brief instant looked into his; so he kept on, and at the very edge of the fissure swung the tiller so that the yacht rose in a leap, which carried her to the other side. It was taking chances, but it meant her life, and his very promptness and the velocity of the boat made it successful.

After that there was little but watchfulness and skill. He had gained the advantage desired, and now turned his boat in toward the runaway, drawing nearer and nearer, and yet nearer, until they were rushing along side by side. Then he lashed them together and sprang across to the larger yacht, where he grasped the tiller and forced it sharply into the wind.

It was done just in time, for Ledge Point was less than a mile away. As they lost headway and then swung round and curved gracefully back up the river he could count the miles which hung from the frowning brows of the rocks.

Other yachts which had followed the wild race were now approaching, and Howard ran off before the wind for a few lengths to slacken speed, and then luffed sharply, coming to a full stop. One by one the other yachts followed his example, their owners crowding about him with congratulations and encomiums. Presently a yacht swung in beside them and a man sprang to the lee.

"Is she safe?" he gasped.

"Yes," Howards answered coldly.

"Thank God," fervently. "I never expected to see her alive again. Now, see. I was all ready to start, and stepped from my yacht for a moment after something, and she slipped away. I followed as rapidly as I could on another. I am sure I appreciate your—"

But Howard nodded a curt interruption and stepped from the boat. Only the day before this man had said things about him to the girl which he could not forget, did not care to forget.

As his feet touched the ice he felt a soft hand upon his shoulder.

"Mr. Wimsy," the girl said, in a voice that was slightly tremulous, "will you take me back in your yacht?"

Howard turned quickly, and again they looked into each others eyes. Then he held out his hand.

R. P. Taber, of Keokuk, Iowa, is at the Spalding this morning. Mr. Taber is at the head of the Taber Lumber company, whose mills are at Keokuk. The extent to which logging has been driven north is shown by the fact that Mr. Taber is now getting timber for his mill cut eleven miles north of Virginia on the line of the New Duluth, Virginia & Rainy Lake railway. The timber is brought down over the new road and the Great Northern. The Taber people are said to have a 4-year contract for logging this timber.

The craze to use the name stamping machines that have recently been placed in the hotels, as a variation of the nickle-in-the-slot machine, continues, though it prevails now among a different class of travelers than it did at first. When the machines were first installed, everybody had to have a fling at them, and the more swagger-looking the man, the more anxious he was to stamp his name on a thick piece of foil that drops out when you have paid your nickel. The various purposes these travelers have in mind when they step up to the name-machine are wonderful. One happy father thinks of the delight his boy will show when he sends him a slip with his name punched on it. Another thinks it would be a good idea to label his hat in this way. Still others have pet quotations that they carefully figure out to see if they will go in the thirty letters and spaces that the machines coughs up for a nickel. Others send messages to their children that are written on the machine. The old boys seem to take as much delight with it as if they were as young as the newer generation they are bringing up.

"I see," said the traveling man from Denver, "that convicts in the Colorado penitentiary have turned their attention to the citizens of Duluth in connection with the canes they make during odd moments of old newspapers. They have machinery at the prison for making canes of leather, and the convicts simply fold up old newspapers and cut them instead of leather for the purpose. The paper is then glued on a steel rod, pressed and polished in the same manner as it is were leather. This kan of securing side money in this way has been worked all over the country for a number of years, and it is a wonder to me that it hasn't been heard of here before. The names of people to whom letters are sent are obtained though the old papers that find their way to the prison library."

THE DAKOTAS.

Jack Sully Is Wanted For Very Many Crimes.

SOUTH DAKOTA.

Chamberlain—Sheriff Swindler, of Davison county, brought to this city Jack Sully, the much-wanted individual in this section. Sully was arrested at Verdegrie, Neb., upon a charge of having shipped a bunch of estrays to the Omaha market. As soon as word reached here that Sully was under arrest Sheriff Swindler, of Mitchell, who had in his possession a warrant for Sully's arrest on two indictments for cattle rustling in Lyman county, went to Nebraska for the purpose of trying to secure possession of him. In this he succeeded, and at once brought him to this city, where he has since been turned over to Sheriff Van Horn, of Lyman county. Sully was much sought at the February term of court at Oacoma, but although several posses were sent after him he succeeded in evading them. He is also under bonds in Gregory county.

Sturgis—Bert Scofield and Leroy Caldwell, charged with horse stealing, and Frank Baldwin, charged with burglary, three of the five Meade county jail breakers, are still at large. William Frell was captured at Piedmont by Deputy Sheriff Frank Smith. Descriptions have been mailed to every officer in South Dakota, Wyoming and Nebraska.

Friday morning a large number of citizens belonging to the different organizations of the city went to Fort Meade on invitation and took part in the Memorial day exercises there. In the afternoon the entire Thirteenth cavalry and band of that post came up to this city and took part in the exercises here.

Spearfish—Death removed Mrs. Mary Dorsett, one of the pioneer women of the Spearfish valley, at the age of 87 years. She was the mother of D. M. Dorsett, one of the prosperous ranchers and cattle men of this region, with whom she had made her home since 1879. She was born in Carroll county, Ohio, her maiden name being Mary Scott.

How Truly the Great Fame of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Justifies Her Original Signature.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

It will entirely cure the worst forms of Female Complaints, all Ovarian troubles, Inflammation and Ulceration, Falling and Displacement of the Womb, and consequent Spinal Weakness, and is peculiarly adapted to the Change of Life.

It has cured more cases of Backache and Leucorrhœa than any other remedy the world has ever known. It is almost infallible in such cases. It dissolves and expels tumors from the Uterus in an early stage of development, and checks any tendency to cancerous humors.

Irregular, Suppressed or Painful Menstruation, Weakness of the Stomach, Indigestion, Bloating, Flooding, Nervous Prostration, Headache, General Debility quickly yields to it.

Womb troubles, causing pain, weight, and backache, instantly relieved and permanently cured by its use. Under all circumstances it acts in harmony with the laws that govern the female system, and is as harmless as water.

It quickly removes that Bearing-down Feeling, extreme lassitude, "don't care" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feeling, excitability, irritability, nervousness, Dizziness, Faintness, sleeplessness, flatulency, melancholy or the "blues," and backache. These are sure indications of Female Weakness, or some derangement of the Uterus, which this medicine always cures.

Kidney Complaints and Backache of either sex the Vegetable Compound always cures.

No other female medicine in the world has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine has such a record of cures of female troubles.

Those women who refuse to accept anything else are rewarded a hundred thousand times, for they get what they want—a cure. Sold by Druggists everywhere. Refuse all substitutes.

LAURIER ILL.

Canadian Premier Expected to Retire After King's Coronation.

Ottawa, Ont., June 3.—The statement is made, with somewhat startling emphasis, that Sir Wilfrid Laurier has sat in the Dominion parliament, as the prime minister of Canada, for the last time. The report to this effect, which gained considerable currency a few days before the prorogation of the recent parliamentary session at Ottawa, was at the time received with unfeigned surprise by the general public, but not so by the personal friends of the premier. Although the latter ridicule the idea, there is, nevertheless, said to be good ground for the statement which is now being discussed by government supporters throughout the country with mingled incredulity and dismay.

It is even added that the announcement of the final retirement of Sir Wilfrid has been set for a time not later than the coming autumn. The principal reason assigned for the premier's withdrawal from active public life is his persistent ill health, which requires constant care and restfulness. He is from time to time compelled to take long rests at home where, it is said, his physician is summoned to attend him frequently, and he is constantly subjected to severe diet.

Immediately after the close of the parliamentary session, Sir Wilfrid left for a rest in the Adirondacks prior to embarking for England next week to attend the coronation and take part in the imperial conference. To discredit the disquieting reports as to the premier's ill health, his friends point to the fact that during the past session of parliament, he was seldom absent from his seat in the commons chamber and was alert and keenly responsive to the moods of the house as ever. Nevertheless, it is remarked that the nature of his ailment is none the less grave because he was thus able to keep pace with his parliamentary duties.

It is pointed out as apparently confirmatory of the unwelcome reports, that, upon the termination of the coronation ceremonies and conferences, Sir Wilfrid and Lady Laurier, accompanied by some personal friends, will travel on the continent for a season, and it is believed that the premier's final decision t retire from the government will not be taken until it is seen whether his health shows permanent improvement or not by the change.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier is now in his 62d year. He has about reached the zenith of his popularity in the Dominion and the empire as well. He is the idol of his party irrespective of nationality, and is the admiration even of his political opponents. His forced retirement, at the present juncture, is viewed with regret and alarm by the Liberals, since such a step would undoubtedly change the whole situation not only as between the two great political parties in Canada, but also as between the English and French races of the Dominion. His political following is naturally apprehensive that, should he cease to lead his party, history will repeat itself and the present government to go to pieces just as did the conservative administration shortly after the death, in 1891, of its great leader, Sir John A. Macdonald. Sir Wilfrid Laurier's administration is almost sure to live as long as he remains the prime minister of Canada, for nothing short of some great political upheaval could now oust him from power.

The question of Sir Wilfrid's successor to the premiership is naturally being debated quietly in political circles. The man who stands out prominently in the public eye, among the other members of the cabinet, is the minister of finance, Hon. William S. Fielding. He is essentially a self-made man, who began life as a newspaper reporter and rose to the editorial chair. Mr. Fielding became prime minister of Nova Scotia in 1884, which office he held continuously until 1896, when he resigned to enter the federal government as the finance minister of the then new Liberal administration of Canada.

WILFUL

Was Trespass of Logging Company and It Must Settle.

Washington, June 3.—Justice Brown of the United States supreme court yesterday delivered the opinion of that court in the case of the Pine River Logging and Improvement company et al, vs. the United States circuit court of appeals for the eighth circuit. It was against the company.

Worthy Indians on the Chippewa Indian reservation in Minnesota, under the act of congress of 1899, were authorized to cut dead and down timber on their reservation under the supervision of the interior department.

The logging company made a contract with five Indians for the delivery of 2,250,000 feet of logs, "more or less." They received 17,000,000 feet. The supreme court held that this was a too liberal construction of the words, "more or less," and sustained the finding of the court of appeals, holding that the company was responsible to the government for $78,000 on the ground that the trespass was wilful and not accidental.

DECISIONS

Rendered By United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

St. Paul, June 3.—In the decisions filed yesterday in the United States circuit court of appeals by Judges Sanborn, Thayer and Curland, in the case of Greenberg Bros., St. Paul, against the Pabst Brewing company, the ruling of the lower court was reversed. The $2716 judgment awarded the United States against William Sauntry, Albert Thoser and Fred Pennington, for cutting timber on public lands in Douglas county, Wis., was affirmed. The defendants complained of the charge of the circuit court to the jury, the judges having said if the jury had any doubt as to the amount of the damages all doubtful points should rightfully be determined in favor of the United States. The defendants in their application for a writ of error cited the fact that the witnesses all agreed as to the probable amount of timber cut. They therefore object to the charge that all question of doubt should be resolved in favor of the United States.

Married Women

Every woman covets a shapely, pretty figure, and many of them deplore the loss of their girlish forms after marriage. The bearing of children is often destructive to the mother's shapeliness. All of this can be avoided, however, by the use of Mother's Friend before baby comes, as this great liniment always prepares the body for the strain upon it, and preserves the symmetry of her form. Mother's Friend overcomes all the danger of child-birth, and carries the expectant mother safely through this critical period without pain. It is woman's greatest blessing. Thousands gratefully tell of the benefit and relief derived from the use of this wonderful remedy. Sold by all druggists at $1.00 per bottle. Our little book, telling all about this liniment, will be sent free.

FEAST ON LOCUSTS

Baltimore Man's Function Was Not an Entire Success.

Two of the Guests Tackle "Delicacy" But Weaken.

Chef Explains How to Cook "Seventeen-Year Birds."

Baltimore, Md., June 3.—George Brochat's locust feast Sunday would not have been a success but for the beer served with it to wash down the eyes and the wings of "the 17-year birds," as the host pleased to call them.

Brochat invited a dozen of his friends to his house at Hamilton, Baltimore county, for the gastronomic event. It was a test of nerve, palate, and stomach. He had said he was going to serve the locusts in soup, broiled on toast, and in pie, but, although he had eaten them every way himself, he concluded that it would be better to initiate his friends with locust pie only.

The party included Mr. and Mrs. Brochat, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Altland, of Baltimore; Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Miller and William Miller, of Hamilton; Richard A. Graham, of Lauraville, and several small Brocharts. All these, save Mr. Brochat, were rather feverish. Mrs. Altland, who was recently married, vigorously protested that "Paul" should not eat the "hateful things." Mr. Altland assured his wife locust pie was really one of the few truly delightful dishes known, and announced his intention of consuming one whole pie himself.

When the first pie was opened in the center of the table the guests looked upon it with awe, smelling it and handing it around from one to another. It had the appearance of an ordinary pie, except that through the loopholes in the pastry the interior seemed somewhat different, and there were thin, airy particles sticking in the mince which caused general distrust among the Miller family, the members of which, after one look, backed away and sat down.

The dreary whirr of thousands of locusts in the trees outside floated in the windows like a requiem over the remains of their fellows in the pie. Brochat filled glasses with beer and then cut the pie into half-dozen equal slices, commenting upon the juciness thereof and his success in utilizing the locust as a delicacy.

"You see," he said, "I put about fifty locusts in each pie, and was careful to select the young ones that have just come out of the ground. They are almost all white and have pink eeys. I scalded them first and then cut off their heads and wings before chopping them up to make mincemeat. Try this piece, won't you, Mrs. Miller?"

"None for me just now," said Mrs. Miller.

"I am not hungry," said Mr. Miller.

The others also concluded to wait until Brochat had first tasted the feast. As he shot a two-inch bit of the pie into his mouth something like a shudder went through the crowd. Then Mr. Altland and Mr. Graham started in with their host, and for a few seconds the three men ate locust pie quietly, while the rest watched with breathless interest.

"Why, this is all right!" said Mr. Graham.

"It certainly is," said Mr. Altland.

"I told you so, didn't I?" said Mr. Brochat.

Suddenly Mr. Graham gave a convulsive gulp and vigorously pushed back his chair.

"Why the deuce didn't you take the wings off these locusts?" he said, after he had cleared his throat with a glass of beer.

"Why, I thought I did," said Mr. Brochat. "You must have just struck one I overlooked, but that's all right. Try it again."

This encouraged, Mr. Graham took another large mouthful of pie, and immediately afterward was seen to turn pale.

'I guess that will about do me," he said, huskily, as he backed away from the table. "Just give me a glass of beer, please. I don't want any more locusts in mine for seventeen years."

Mr. Altland kept it up bravely until he struck an eye of the bird; then he hurriedly swallowed a big mug of beer and quit. Mr. Brochat finished a whole pie and declared it was great. He explained that the taste for locust pie has to be cultivated.

"The first time I tried it," he said, "I did not like it nearly as well as I do now."

Mr. Brochat proposes to serve locust ice cream to his friends on July 5 and 6.

UNLUCKY

Beginning of the Minneapolis Elks' Fair—Three Accidents.

Minneapolis, June 3.—Thousands of spectators underwent a series of panics at the Elks' fair yesterday in consequence of three accidents, in which one man was fatally inured.

The fair was in progress in the heart of the city in a tract roped off for the occasion. A woman performer was making a spectacular slide along a hundred feet of taut wire when one of the supporting posts broke. A section of the steel bar struck George Sweeny on the head, fracturing his skull. He is dying at the city hospital. The victim is a conductor on the Great Northern railroad.

The woman performer was thrown to the ground, but she escaped without serious injury. A little later, one of the cars in the Ferris wheel became entangled in the surrounding cables and hurled its occupant, J. O. Davis, thirty feet to the ground below. He was seriously bruised and shocked.

The bicyclist, E. J. Kilpatrick, who "loops the loop" in a great wooden wheel, head down, lost the track and was precipitated among the spectators. He was not badly hurt, however. Each mishap occasioned excitement among the spectators, and the incipient panics threatened for a while to result in more casualties.

Mme. Yale's Hair Tonic.

The first and only discovery in the history of chemistry known to turn gray hair back to its natural and original color without dye. It acts on the natural live coloring matter of the hair, increasing and giving it circulation. It tones up the debilitated nerve force and the torpid glands to a healthy reaction, curing all diseases of the scalp. It creates a luxuriant growth, stops hair falling in from twenty-four hours to one week. It softens the hair when harsh or dry; contains no greasy matter, sulphur or lead, or any other injurious or unpleasant substance. Permanently cures dandruff.

MME. YALE'S HAIR TONIC is a perfect Hair Dressing, rendering the hair glossy and fluffy, greatly aiding it to remain in curl.

Manufactured only by Madame M. Yale, 189 Michigan avenue, Chicago.

WATTERSON

Has Characteristic Article on the Testimony of Buencamino.

Louisville, Ky., June 3.—In an editorial entitled "Scalawaggery Redivivus," Henry Waterson reprints the Associated Press dispatch, telling of Gen. Felipo Buencamino's interview with President Roosevelt, and comments on it after this fashion:

"God of the universe, God of heaven and earth, how like this reads to telegrams which fairly choked the columns of the radical newspapers of the North during the reconstruction era. There is not a missing link or line or letter. Of course, the witness is a person of rank and distinction; a veritable 'General' Aguinaldo's own 'secretary of war.'

"It was always thus. 'Judge such-and-such,' or the 'Honorable so-and-so,' a native 'Southerner,' a gentleman of great influence in the community,' formerly a 'rebel' or a 'rebel sympathizer,' now a 'truly loyal supporter of the Union,' has 'just arrived in Washington,' and will testify before the reconstruction committee, having already had interviews with Thaddeus Stevens and Senator Ben Wade, 'his mission to Washington,' so runs the recipe, 'being to correct some of the false reports' put in circulation with the view of discrediting the work of the civil government of 'that great and good man, William G. Brownlow, in Tennessee, or 'of that great and good man Mordecai Moses, of South Carolina,' or 'of that great and good man, Adelbert Ames, of Mississippi,' or 'of that great and good man, William Pitt Kellogg, in Louisiana, and 'of the army,' as directed by 'that grand statesman, philosopher and patriot, Gen. Phil. H. Sheridan, in New Orleans.'"

"And now we are to have it all over again, the fixed Filipino to take the place of the extinct Southern scalawag, the newspapers to be inundated with paid and prepared testimony that all is lovely in Manila; that Taft is one among ten thousand; that Bell's a beauty and that wings are actually sprouting on Smith's shoulderstraps. Who says the secretary of war is not a man of infinite worth and most excellent ingenuity? The root, hog, or die, policy of evasion, suppression and silence having served its turn is to be followed by a policy of open and unadulterated candor. Truthful James, the witness; Senator Dillworthy Lodge, the inquisitor; the only Foraker to wrap the flag around him, march him down to the footlights, fire off the two horse pistols and die; a vicarous brown-bluster for the would-be man on horseback.

"It took time and money to fetch this fixed Filipino all the way from the archipelago to Washington, but the astute, energetic secretary lost not a second after he discovered that the jig was up with the scheme of suppression and denial.

"'If they require witnesses,' says he to himself, 'they shall have them. No sooner conceived than executed. No sooner said than done. And, lo, the first of the new assortment of scalawags appeared in the august person of Maj. Gen. Bombastes Furioso Felipe Buencamino, sometimes field marshal of the Tagal indefinibles, and secretary of war to the imperial republic of Aguinaldo. Why not Aguinaldo himself? Did he come too high, or was it thought best not to rush the growler? Or is Aguinaldo held in reserve as a grand climax, to be trotted to the front when Teddy is ready to do the old, original mustang leap from the diaz saddlte to the dome of the capitol? Tell us, Elihu, inform us, oh, Root. Meantime all hail to this fixed Filipino, this first scalawag of the new regime of reconstruction in the Occident. Taft's delight and Teddy's own, the honorable Maj. Gen. Bombastes Furioso Felipe Buencamino."

MIRACLE OCCURRED

Wonderful Story Told By Member of Catholic Order.

Escape of Morne Rouge From Mount Pelee's Outburst.

Miracle In the Church Before the Congregation's Eyes.

Castries, St. Lucia, June 3.—A sister of the Catholic order of De la Deliverance, twenty-three of whom are among the survivors of the eruption of Pelee, arrived here from Morne Rouge with a wonderful story of the preservation of that, the nearest community to the crater, and the only one within the zone of disaster to escape destruction. They attribute the escape of Morne Rouge to divine intervention and tell of a miracle in the church before the eyes of the congregation assembled for refuge from the death-spouting volcano. This is the amazing story she tells and they subscribe to:

"The members of the election campaign for the house of French deputies on the Socialist side were very strong in St. Pierre, and there were 400 of them in Morne Rouge, who denounced the Catholic clergy and threatened the sisters' lives. Night and day they sang ribald campaign songs.

"St. Pierre was placarded with blasphemous printed proclamations. The blacks threatened to seize the church and turn it into a theater and St. Pierre cathedral into a dancing hall. Sister Marie l'Infant Jesus was the spokeswoman of the holy sisterhood. We were in deadly fear of our lives, and for two days and nights stayed in the church of Notre Dame de la Deliverance, Morne Rouge, praying.

"When the mountain began rumbling and the smoke came on the morning of the catastrophe, Fr. Marie celebrated mass at 6: Fr. Bruno celebrated second mass at 7:30 o'clock. It was hardly over before the people of the town began flocking in terror to the church. Not all the holy wafers were being used in communion, and he began distributing them. Suddenly appeared before the altar a vision of the Savior showing the sacred heart. The members of the congregation, kneeling, cried to each other, 'Vovez vouz le sacred coeur!' The vision was sad-faced and wan.

"We emerged to see a terrible cloud accompanied by thunder and lightning, rolling down Pelee, almost over our heads, upon the city of St. Pierre. The whole place was lighted up by fires. It was the most awful spectacle the human eye ever witnessed. We thought the end of the world had come. We remained at prayer all that day of terror. Fire, steam and boiling mud were all around us, yet Morne Rouge was not touched; not one person lost or harmed.

"Another miracle that occurred during the awful time was this: I gave out from our small supply of paper badges of the Sacred Heart I had to all in the church, yet when I had finished I had as many as when I began.

"Our truly blessed Savior appeared, not only in the vision, but saved our lives in answer to our prayers, and made the wicked suffer by destruction an awful death. We remained with the father, helping people get away over a back road on the windward side to Fort de France. Then we walked all the way ourselves, finally on May 20, the father and the last four sisters left, by order of the French officials. We removed all sacred vessels and sought safety at Grande Anse. We are still ignorant of the deserted town since it was destroyed. Ten of the sisterhood perished at St. Pierre; all of the others are safe here."

I interviewed Mother Superior Anselme and Sisters Flaure, Germaine and Margaret. They all swear they also saw the vision and to the truth of the miracle of the badges. The administrator of the diocese has ordered an inquiry to record the statements of all persons present at the wonderful happening.

The sisters' order was founded thirty-four years ago by the first bishop of Martinique. All the members are Creoles, white, and highly cultured. They taught in and managed the orphanage and have community houses. A curious feature of the event is that several blasphemous cards remain on the dead walls of St. Pierre's ruins, untouched by fire except that the edges are charred.

A SLUMP IN WHEAT

Market Opens Weaker and Rallies But Then Falls Sharply.

Cables Are Lower and the Crop Conditions Favorable.

Bradstreet Reports Large Decrease In Visible--- Flax Steady.

Duluth Board of Trade, June 3.—The wheat market started out at lower prices this morning, the depressing factors being weaker cables and the favorable weather conditions in conjunction with good crop reports. Good buying caused a rally, but the strength was short lived and there was a sharp slump, the market closing nearly a cent below yesterday. The Liverpool market closed 5s@5½d lower. Paris was unchanged to ½c higher and Berlin ¼c higher.

Primary receipts of wheat were 431,-000 bus, last year 499,600 bus. Shipments 315,700 bus, last year 261,300 bus. Clearances of wheat and flour aggregated 551,-000 bus. Bradstreet reported a decrease of 5,400,000 bus, in the world's visible against a decrease of 3,500,000 bus last year.

Corn in the Chicago market had a sharp decline, 1½c. Oats fell ¾@¾c. Primary receipts of corn were 1,011,910 bus, last year 756,387 bus. Shipments were 383,982 bus, last year 726,212 bus. Clearances were 10,101 bus.

Receipts of wheat at Duluth and Minneapolis 128 cars, and at Chicago 32, a total of 158 cars, against 126 last week and 187 last year.

Trading in wheat on the Duluth floor was fairly active. The market opened ¾c to off at 72¾@73c and sold up to 73¼c at 10:12. It settled back to 73-¾c at 10:30, sold at 73¾c at 10:32 and fell to 73c at 10:42. It held fairly steady around that point for nearly an hour and then started downward selling to 72¾-¾c at 12:42 and closing at 72¾c. This was a decline of ¾-¾c. Chicago declined the same and Minneapolis was down ¾c.

Cash sales were 7000 bus. Wheat in store sells at July price for No. 1 northern and to arrive at ½c over. No. 2 northern sells at ½c over. No. 3 bring 1½c under and No. 3 3c under.

Flax trading was fairly active and though the market was weaker most of the morning the closing prices were fairly steady. September flax closed unchanged and October 1½c off. Cash seed was off 1c and to arrive up ½c. September oats declined ¼c.

Following are the closing prices:

Wheat: Cash—No. 1 hard, 75¾c; No. 1 northern, 72¾c; No. 2 northern, 70¾c; No. 3 spring, 68¾c. To arrive—No. 1 hard, 75¾c; No. 1 northern, 72¾c; July, 72¾@¾c; September, 69¾c. Manitoba—No. 1 northern, 73¾c; No. 2 northern, 68¾c. Oats—September, 28¾c. Rye, 56c. Flax—To arrive, $1.44½; cash, $1.45; June, $1.44½; July, $1.40; September, $1.40½; October, $1.41.

Cars inspected: Wheat, 13; last year, 119.

Receipts: Wheat 12,028 bus; flax, 1702.
Shipments: Wheat, 112,412 bus; flax, 52,736.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Favorable Weather Influenced a Decline In Grains.

Chicago, June 3.—Lower cables and favorable weather conditions influenced a decline in grains at the opening today. Support, however, was fair and prices reacted well. July wheat started ¾c to ⅝c lower at 71⅝c to 71¾c. Commission houses were on both sides of the market. The very favorable crop reports made many of the speculators lean toward the bear side, but the support given yesterday, and the possibilities of successfully high prices in July corn, if manipulated by the big bull interest, caused a good buying trade to set in. July wheat sold up to 72⅝@¾c the first hour. Primary receipts were 32 cars, 3 of contract grade. Minneapolis and Duluth reported 128 cars, making a total for the three points of 158 against 126 last week and 187 a year ago.

The near approach of harvest and excellent prospects reassured the crowd in its bearish sentiment and a pressure was put on wheat late that resulted in a slump until July closed weak, ¾@⅞c lower at 71¾-⅞c.

July corn opened ⅜@½c to ⅝@¾c lower at 62c to 62¼c on heavy receipts (524 cars) and good crop prospects. Trade was fair with some selling. The firm cables were offset by the expectations of liberal receipts continuing for some time. July dipped to 61⅞@62c but steadied near 62¼c.

After the early rally in corn the support of the big bull house fell off and the opinion prevailed that more stuff was being sold by that interest than bought. The country movement was fair and the bears again plucked up courage and sold sparingly. The market could not withstand the pressure and July corn fell sharply to 61¾c, closing weak, 1@1⅛c lower at 61¾c.

Oats were dull and uninteresting early. Prices of far options were lower with other grains but there was not much disposition to sell and July which opened unchanged at 29¾c sold at 30⅞c. Receipts, 231 cars.

Provisions after opening lower on rather free offerings of pork met good support in a firm hog market and all the list made good advances. Increases in stocks of pork and lard were slightly bearish influences, but decrease in ribs helped prices. July pork opened 5c to 21½c down at $17.12½ to $17.15 and speedily jumped to $17.30; July lard 2½c lower at $10.22½ and advanced to $10.27½ and July ribs unchanged to 2½c up at $9.82½ to $9.85 and advanced to $9.90.

Close: Wheat—June, 73¾c; July, 71¾@¾c; September, 69¼c; December, 76⅝@¾c. Corn—June, 61c; July, 61⅜c; September, 57¾c; December, 43¾c; May, 42½c. Oats—June, 38c; July, 34½@⅝c; July new, 30⅝c; September, 27¾c; September new, 26⅝c; December, 28c; December new, 29@29c. Pork—June, $17.20; July, $17.30; September $17.30; January, $16.20. Lard—June, $10.20; July, $10.25; September, $10.27½; October, $10.20; December, $9.70; January $9.50. Ribs—June $9.87½; July, $9.87½; September, $9.85; January, $8.52½.

GRAIN GOSSIP.

Logan to Bryan, Chicago: Wheat—The dragging tendency of the market continues. The favorable weather and growing crop prospects seem to discourage everybody. Harvest reports from the extreme Southwest indicate that the movement will be large and receipts are likely to increase. The market gets very little support from professional speculators and outside interest is small.

Corn—There was a further covering of shorts early, but later the market turned heavy. Selling pressure from the bear element. The high price, favorable weather and favorable crop prospects seem at the moment to contrale the situation. Offerings are only moderate. If the holdings of corn were not concentrated the situation would appear to be a weak one, but the short interest is in our judgment very great and if the few strong holders stand still when the market turns they may find it difficult to cover.

• • •

J. R. Willard, Chicago: Within a week the Argentina Plata wheat market has advanced 47½c a bus on unfavorable crop developments. European crops generally report worse conditions than a month ago.

• • •

J. R. Watson, Chicago: English wheat markets are weak because 18 cargoes arrived since yesterday, when 12 were waiting. Eight cargoes have been sold since yesterday, and 18 are remaining. The amount in passage is reduced and causes temporary weakness till cargoes find a market.

• • •

J. R. Willard, Chicago: Bradstreet's figures show a reduction last week in wheat stocks east of the Rockies more than double the decrease in the official visible. It is going out of sight fast, both public and private stocks.

MARKET REPORT.

Received over private wire of B. E. Baker, grain and stock broker, 507 Board of Trade, Duluth, Minn.

Chicago, June 3.—The wheat market after opening lower owing to discouraging advices from abroad later rallied on covering by July shorts. On the advance there was very heavy realizing and later in the day the market became very weak on favorable crop reports. Prices broke 1¢ from the high point of the day, and the market closed heavy. Liverpool reported their market as depressed, with an excessive supply and a poor demand. Their market closed ¼d to ½d lower than yesterday. Continental markets were also lower. Weather abroad continues favorable for the growing crops, and it also has a depressing effect. The cash demand was rather quiet and the seaboard reported only a trifling business done there for export. The general situation looks heavy and as long as the weather continues favorable we look for lower prices. Estimated receipts for tomorrow, 10 cars.

The corn market after opening lower owing to favorable weather and large country acceptances, later rallied on covering by shorts and in sympathy with the early strength in wheat. On the advance there was very heavy realizing and later in the day prices broke sharply. Cash demand was very quiet in fact, there was hardly any demand. Outside markets were all weak and lower, especially the Southwest. The market tonight looks weak and unless the leading bulls come to the rescue prices will certainly go lower. Estimated receipts for tomorrow, 200 cars.

There was a fairly large trade in oats today and the market during the early part of the session ruled firm, but later eased off in sympathy with the closing weakness in wheat and corn. Country offerings light, cash demand was good. The weather generally favorable for the growing crop. The market closed ⅝@¾c lower than last night. Estimated tomorrow, 90 cars.

Provisions opened weak for pork and lard, but strong for ribs on showing of stocks in store. The market had a quick upturn, but was met by selling on the part of a line held by prominent grain operators and declined slowly in spite of the vigorous support by leaders, closing about unchanged from yesterday on lard and pork and slightly higher on ribs. Stocks show increases both on pork and lard where decreases were expected, but ribs decreased materially which does not agree with information received during the month that packers were making ribs freely. Receipts of hogs everywhere large and demand small, but leaders are making a great fight every minute and in order to win we think they will have to take all the long stuff and can only sell by taking and paying for the goods and reletting them out, and this, of course, means death to speculation. Estimated receipts for tomorrow, 34,000 hogs.

CROP CONDITIONS.

Washington, June 3.—The weather bureau's weekly summary of crop conditions is as follows: The week ending June 2 was abnormally cool in the Lower Missouri, Central Mississippi and Ohio valleys and on the Atlantic coast northward of the Carolinas. Frosts, more or less destructive, occurred from the 25th to the 29th in the lake region, Ohio valley, Tennessee, Western North Carolina, over the interior portions of the Middle Atlantic states and generally throughout New England. In nearly all districts east of the Rocky mountains the growth was retarded by low temperatures, and rains have interfered with farm work in Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri and Arkansas. On the Pacific coast the first part of the week was favorable, but the latter part was much too cool, with injurious frosts in the eastern parts of Oregon and Washington.

Corn has made slow growth over most of the corn belt and has suffered injury from frosts in the Ohio valley and lower lake region. In the states of the Lower Missouri valley the crop is much in need of cultivation, warmth and sunshine; in Nebraska, Iowa, and Illinois the condition is generally favorable. Planting is nearing completion in the more northerly sections.

Winter wheat has made favorable progress in the states of the Missouri and Upper Mississippi valleys, and in portions of the Lower Ohio valley. The crop has made splendid growth in Nebraska, and a general improvement is reported from the upper lake region. Some complaints of rust are received from portions of Kansas, Oklahoma and Missouri and of lodging in the last named state. In Tennessee, Kentucky, the Upper Ohio valley, and the Middle Atlantic states the previously reported unfavorable condition continues; thin stands and heading low being general indications. Harvesting is nearly finished in Texas, but its commencement has been delayed in Oklahoma on account of rains. The crop has made good progress on the Pacific coast; is maturing rapidly in California, where harvesting has begun in the San Joaquin valley.

Spring wheat is stooling well and is making splendid growth throughout the spring wheat region, except on lowlands in Wisconsin. In Iowa, dry weather is needed to prevent too rapid growth. The outlook for oats continues unfavorable from the Middle Atlantic states and Ohio valley southward to the East Gulf and the South Atlantic coast, but in the Missouri and Upper Mississippi valleys and lake region the general outlook is encouraging. Harvesting is completed in Texas and continues in the East Gulf and South Atlantic states.

Cool nights have affected the growth of cotton throughout the central and eastern portions of the cotton belt, but the general condition of the crop is promising, the least favorable reports coming from the Carolinas. Over the western districts outside of Texas the unfavorable effects of low temperatures have been less marked. In Texas favorable temperatures prevailed and the crop continues in excellent condition, but in Oklahoma and Arkansas cotton is suffering from lack of cultivation.

Tobacco transplanting has progressed fairly well in the Ohio valley and Middle Atlantic states. Plants are scarce in Eastern and Central Kentucky, insects are causing injury in Kentucky, Virginia and South Carolina and in the last named state the crop is suffering from drouth.

Frosts of the 29th, probably injured fruit in the northern portion of the Middle Atlantic states. The reports in general respecting fruit are not favorable.

In the Middle Atlantic states and Upper Ohio valley, grass made slow growth, but throughout the central valleys, lake region and New England, a general improvement is reported.

STATEMENT BY BROWNE.

Washington, June 3.—H. J. Browne, a newspaper man, a witness before the senate committee on relations with Cuba, today made a statement concerning his observations in the island. He also discussed the ownership of lands and the production of sugar.

EXPENSES IN CUBA.

Washington, June 3.—By a party vote the house military affairs committee today decided to table the resolution asking for information concerning expenditures in Cuba. The Democrats gave notice of making a minority report.

DULLNESS IN STOCKS

Features Were Lacking On the New York Exchange.

For Some Time Important Stocks Were Practically Motionless.

Sugar Had a Slump Early But Partially Recovered.

New York, June 3.—The opening dealings in stocks were mere nominal and price changes were entirely insignificant with the exception of Fuller Construction, which jumped 2 points. The ticker practically came to a standstill within a few minutes after the opening.

Sugar, Colorado Fuel and Canadian Pacific were depressed sharply, the first named losing 1¾, but the general list was steady and hardened in spots, particularly in the coalers. Continental Tobacco preferred was actively dealt in at an improvement of 2½ and Detroit Gas rose 1½. Fuller Construction reacted 1½ and American Telephone and Telegraph lost 3. At 11 o'clock the market was feeling the effect of the selling in Sugar and prices were shaving all around.

Offerings of the general list were scant and a better undertone developed when the local traction were put up 1 to 2. Other stocks, however, moved very narrowly. There were only two transactions in St. Paul in the first two hours. Sugar rallied to 122½, but Union Pacific was rather heavy. Rubber Goods declined 1¼. American Telephone 4 and St. Louis Southwestern preferred a point. Bonds were irregular.

The local tractions rose further, Metropolitan gaining 2¾ in all. Sugar recovered all of its loss and International Silver preferred and St. Louis & San Francisco second preferred advanced about a point. Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie preferred lost 1 and Chicago, Indianapolis & Louisville preferred 1¾. The important stocks were practically idle and motionless. But few of the leading stocks were dealt in and they scarcely fluctuated more than ⅛ either way. Sugar fell off from its early, but the coalers and railroads held firm. Cotton Oil sold 1½ above the opening figure and St. Paul was bid for at 170¼, which was ¾ above the preceding sale two hours earlier.

There was a rise of a point each in Virginia-Carolina Chemical, International Paper preferred and Westinghouse Electric. The general list dropped to a lower level, Continental Tobacco preferred receded 1¾ and Canadian Pacific and Metropolitan Street Railway a point. Northwestern lost 2. The closing was heavy and inanimate.

STOCK GOSSIP.

Ridgley to W. H. Laidley & Co.: The market continues dull and featureless and this is one of the best signs for ultimately higher prices. The longer the bull speculation is postponed the better it will be for future values. When the end of the coal strike is in sight, good crops assured and bank reserves replenished, manipulation is much more likely to be successful than now. The strike news is very contradictory, but usually on Wall street, things look the worst just before a turn for the better. Many usually well informed persons think that the whole affair will collapse within the next ten days. On the other hand, the newspapers assert that serious trouble threatens and vaguely hint at alarming developments to come. I favor a waiting policy for the moment, the opportunity always comes to those who have patience and are not in too big a hurry. If you must trade, buy small lots on a scale. If the market declines a point or two on heavy trading it will probably go lower, so I would be in no hurry to buy on that kind of a reaction.

• • •

Bache to Paine, Webber & Co.: We are informed that the explanation of the good increase in Wisconsin Central earnings is to be found for in gradual improvements in agricultural territory covered by the road. Originally Wisconsin Central was a lumber road and when lumber tailed to some extent, the road passed through several years when its territory was becoming a farming territory, but through farm products yielded large earnings. Conditions are improving yearly and we are told will do better as acreage increases.

• • •

Waldorf to W. H. Laidley & Co.: In financial circles this evening, comment on the market and general outlook is indicative of continued dullness and strength, while the opening of the week brought but a small volume of new buying orders there was no special pressure. Even the war-like aspect developed by the strike, failed to scare investors into selling because of the firm conviction among well informed people that any change in the situation from now on must be for the better. Moreover, the confirmation of recent reports of peace in South Africa appeals most favorably to sentiment, it being generally agreed that it means a large movement of merchandise into the country and a heavy outflow of gold from it. Laying stress on these conditions, leading operators say it is not to be wondered at that securities are closely held and they maintain that, barring accident, when activity returns, peace will rule. Fall prices for grain make for a bullish feeling on the Western stocks. Although it is too early to discuss the corn crop, the enormous acreage of that cereal planted this year is responsible for the marked strength of Atchison and Union Pacific.

• • •

Harris, Gates & Co.—An official of the United States Steel corporation estimates the steel rail consumption for 1903 at 3,000,000 tons and says the rate for the next year will remain unchanged.

• • •

Warrington to W. H. Laidley & Co.—The strike situation remains unchanged, but the outlook for an early settlement is decidedly good. The Boer war is ended and its effect cannot but be helpful toward better prices for securities at home and abroad. Easier money conditions are assured for some time to come. Crop reports are unusually good and there is every promise of an abundant harvest, these features are pointers of no mean value and forecast a bull campaign in the near future. Every line of business has a volume unprecedented. There is only one reliable source to follow for some months to come and that is to buy railway stocks on reactions of a point or two.

• • •

Manson to Paine, Webber & Co.—On any decline we think the traction stocks are safe purchases but for the present it is a trading market. Both bull and bear tips out on Sugar. We are disposed to buy this stock. Copper is well bought on declines. Good authority is inclined to question the possibility of large exports. We think the consumption has increased enormously but any advance in price would probably stimulate production.

• • •

New York News—It is reported that W. K. Vanderbilt, F. W. Vanderbilt, Chauncey M. Depew and H. McK. Twombly will leave New York on a special train this evening for Chicago to attend the annual meeting of the Chicago & Northwestern in that city on Thursday. It is said also that Hughitt has proxies for nearly 70 per cent of the stock and there will be no change in the board unless Vanderbilt interests desire it. It is rumored the dividend on the common and preferred may be increased at the meeting.

• • •

Logan & Bryan to Paine, Webber & Co.—This market is not broad enough to warrant an opinion. If the Lord gives us good crops Alaska and South Africa will give us easy money. Hanna, they say, will settle the coal strike. Morgan, aGtes and the public will give us a further bull speculation. We rather look for a better market if crops should hold their own.

COPPER GOSSIP.

Boston to Paine, Webber & Co.: The Wolverine output for May was 262½ tons; for April, ot was 250 tons. The Atlantic produced in May, 327 tons; in April, 315½ tons.

The Baltic May output compares as follows in tons of mineral: May, 1902, 325; 1901, 130 tons; 1900, 63½ tons.

THE COTTON MARKET.

New York, June 3.—Cotton weak, with prices 5 to 15 points lower, and continued downward. The impression was general that the June government condition report on cotton will show an average of 96 or better, which means nearly a perfect condition and on an acreage of 25,000,000 or thereabouts, a possible output of 12,-500,000 bales. Liverpool was weak and lower, while New Orleans bulls seemed to be selling out in both Liverpool and New York. The first wave of selling carried July off to 8.71 and August to 8.36, After a rally of 3 to 6 points, July broke sharply to 8.67 for July, and to 8.38 for August. Trading was feverishly active.

Cotton spot closed quiet, ¼c lower. Middling upands, 9 15-16c; middling gulf, 9 9-16c; sales, 1000 bales. Cotton futures closed quiet and steady. June, 8.78; July, 8.61; August, 8.38; September, 7.85; October, 7.78; November, 7.68; December, 7.67; January, 7.69; February, 7.70; March, 7.72.

TREASURY BALANCES.

Washington, June 3.—Today's statement of the treasury balances in the general fund exclusive of the $150,000,000 gold reserve in the division of redemption shows: Available cash balance, $156,324,-108; gold, $95,265,954; silver, $22,195,491; U. S. notes, $8,584,557; treasury notes of 1890, $141,968; national bank notes, $9,035,064; total receipts this day, $1,258,165; total receipts this month, $2,750,187; total receipts this year, $376,477,906; total expenditures this day $1,320,009; total expenditures this month, $2,555,000; total expenditures this year, $439,926,797; deposits in national banks, $125,781,799.

NEW YORK MONEY.

New York, June 3.—Close: Money on call, easier, at 3@4 per cent; closed offered at 2½ per cent; prime mercantile paper, 4@4½ per cent; sterling exchange, firm, with actual business in bankers' bills at $4.87¼ for demand, and at $4.84@4.85 for sixty days; posted rates, $4.85½ and $4.88; commercial bills, $4.83@4.83; bar silver, 52c; Mexican dollars, 42c; government bonds, steady; state bonds inactive; railroad bonds, irregular.

CHANGEABLE.

Senor Buencamino Favored All at Times.

Washington, June 3.—Senor Buencamino continued his statement before the house committee on insular affairs today. He was questioned by the minority members with a view of bringing out the fact that he had at times favored the Filipinos and at others favored Spain and the United States. Buencamino insisted that in each case his motives were for the best interests of his people. There was some controversy over the address to congress, written by Buencamino, in which he favored Filipino independence. The committee adjourned in order to give him an opportunity to examine it more closely.

DEATH LIST.

St. Paul, June 3.—A Baldwin, Wis., special to the Dispatch says: John Z. Wiff, aged 74 years and one of the oldest pioneers of Martell, Pierce county, dropped dead at his home yesterday from apoplexy.

New York, June 3.—Peter Ross, LL.D., a thirty-third degree Mason, grand hierarchon of the grand lodge of Masons in this state and the author of many books on Freemasonry and Scottish history, is dead at his home in this city, after a long illness. He was for eighteen years secretary of the North American Association of Caledonian clubs.

To Be Dedicated.

Invitations were issued today for the dedication of Temple Emanuel, Sunday afternoon, June 8, at 3 o'clock. The new temple is located at the corner of Second street and Seventh avenue east and has been building since last year. Sunday a reception will be given from 8 to 10 o'clock in honor of the Rev. Dr. S. N. Deinard.

NEWS OF THE LAKES

Tug Company Loses Another Master, Capt. Taylor Leaving.

This Brings Towing Force Down to One Tug Again.

Mataafa Badly Damaged ---Will Need Thirty-Five New Plates.

The local tug company had another setback last night, when Capt. James Taylor, who had been acting as master of the tug Carrington since it was brought out a few days ago, disappeared. The towing force is now down to one tug again, the Wisconsin.

Capt. Taylor was sent here from Milwaukee by General Manager Sinclair, though his home is in Buffalo. He took command of the Carrington immediately, and has been operating it ever since. Last night was his night off, and up to a late hour this afternoon the last that had been seen of him was when he left the tug to go up town.

About 10 o'clock last night, it is stated at the office of the company, Capt. Taylor called up the office and said that he was at the Spalding, and that there were pickets watching each door for him. He wanted to know how he could get home. The night dispatcher suggested that he call for police protection. That was the last heard of him at the office, and he did not show up for work this morning. The Carrington is therefore out of commission again.

The local officers of the tug company do not understand the case, as they had no idea that it would be possible to induce Capt. Taylor to leave. It is supposed, however, that the strikers must have induced him to quit his position last night.

IS BADLY DAMAGED.

The steamer Mataafa, which went on the rocks at Knife Island yesterday morning in a fog, was released yesterday afternoon by the tug Edna G. of the G. Harbors, and the steamer Nelison. She arrived in port shortly before 5 o'clock, and went direct to the shipyards. She is pretty badly damaged as a result of her contact with the rocks, and fully thirty-five plates will have to be replaced. When she struck, the vessel was so firmly in that a line could be dropped over the stem upon dry land, while there were ten fathoms of water under her stern.

INVESTIGATION BEGINS.

Buffalo, June 3.—An investigation of the charges brought by the Great Lakes Towing company against twenty-five members of the Licensed Tugmen's Protective association at this port was begun by local inspectors Pope and Schumacher yesterday morning.

Frederick Maston, of Cleveland, and Harvey L. Brown, of Buffalo, represented the tug company, and George S. Potter, of counsel, appeared for the employees. The complaint filed by the Great Lakes company sets forth that because certain demands made by President McCarle of the Tugmen's union had been refused by the company a strike was ordered May 8, which is still in force.

As the company, on account of the strike, is able to operate only fifteen tugs out of the hundred comprising its fleet, a conspiracy to the hindrance of commerce is claimed. Attorney Potter asked for a dismissal of the charges on the ground that they do not constitute cause for proceedure under section 4449, of the revised statues; that they are vague, indefinite and frivolous. His request was denied. Today was devoted to the examination of witnesses.

BOYS ARE MISSING

Several Homes In Duluth Are Minus Their Youths.

Half Dozen Youngsters Strike Out For Various Parts.

Some Go to Minneapolis and Some Drift Westward.

Parents of half a dozen Duluth boys are making anxious inquiries regarding them today.

It seems that a delegation of youngsters decided to take in the Elks' fair in Minneapolis and left this city last evening, one party trying to blind baggage their way to the Twin Cities took the wrong train and went west. They have not been heard from.

The names of the boys were not reported to the police today, but the parents have been making many inquiries about town. A report was circulated that the boys had gone to the far West to act a few thrilling Indian fights they were supposed to have read about, but this rumor seems to be unfounded.

If the boys are not located definitely by tomorrow the police may be asked to take the matter in hand and correspond with the Minneapolis officials.

FOR A WEEK.

Frank C. Brackett Probably Insane For Some Days.

Frank C. Brackett, who has been employed as a cruiser by the Boston & Duluth Land company looking over its lands in the town of Alborn, was brought down from Albert, on the Missabe road, and placed in the county jail to await an examination as to his sanity. He is violently insane, and this morning was shouting and talking to himself without taking breath.

While his mania developed itself suddenly, it is supposed that he had been insane for a week before. All of last week he worked his crew hard, and they covered a good deal of ground. They were running lines and taking observations as to timber, topography, etc., and he worked the crew as though nothing was the matter. At the close of the week, after he had gone insane, his field books were examined, and it was found that there was not a stroke of a pen to show for the week's work. The crew had covered a wide area, but in the absence of any notes the work was all wasted. It is therefore supposed that Brackett was insane all the time. He was to be examined this afternoon.

Matt Anderson and John Doe, whose real name is unknown, were locked up by the Hibbing officers, and they were to be brought down this afternoon to be examined for insanity.

SORENSON EXPLAINS.

Says He Was Dropped Because of Politics.

Martin Sorenson, until recently a deputy health inspector, but who was dismissed from the service yesterday at a meeting of the board of health for alleged neglect of duty, gave out the following interview today:

"I was dismissed on account of politics. I am a Democrat and only Republican inspectors were retained."

After the Seminary.

The matter of securing the location in Duluth of the seminary of the Hauge Norwegian Evangelical Lutheran synod, now located at Red Wing, the importance of which was set forth in The Herald a week or more ago, was presented to the Commercial club yesterday. A committee, consisting of W. W. Billson, Giles Gilbert and Dr. Codding was appointed to take the matter up, and they are now looking into the matter.

STARTED TWO TUGS.

Towing Company Tries to Break Strike at Chicago.

Chicago, June 3.—Officials of the Great Lakes Towing company tried to break the strike which is tying up all the tugs on the great lakes, by starting two tugs with non-union men to run them. The tugs will tow only vessels of the steel trust for the present.

BOER PRISONERS.

London, June 3.—Replying to a question in the house of commons today, the war secretary, Mr. Brodrick, said the total number of Boer prisoners in South Africa and elsewhere was 25,565, of which 783 were under 16 and 1025 were over 60 years of age.

WHITE'S STORY.

Says Sutton Was Interested In Clothing Frauds.

Lansing, Mich., June 3.—Testifying this morning in the disbarment proceedings against Attorney Ross, of Kalamazoo, for alleged connection in the state military clothing frauds, Gen. W. L. White, ex-quartermaster general of the Michigan National Guard, who pleaded guilty to connection with the frauds and was pardoned by Governor Pingree, said that Ell Sutton, of Detroit, regent of the State University was also implicated. Sutton was indicted but acquitted of connection with the frauds by the circuit jury of Ingham county. White testified today that he paid to Sutton in Detroit his share of the profits of the fraudulent deal. This is the first time White has told his story of the deal.

WISCONSIN W. C. T. U.

Milwaukee, June 3.—The twenty-ninth annual convention of the Wisconsin W. C. T. U. opened this afternoon. Two hundred delegates are present. The first session was given up to reports.

CABINET

Discusses Findings of the Chicago Investigating Board.

Washington, June 3.—There were but three members of the cabinet present at today's meeting, Secretary Hay, Secretary Moody and Postmaster General Payne. The findings of the court of inquiry which investigated the conduct of officers of the Chicago, in connection with the Venice trouble was discussed. No information has been made public as to the nature of the verdict reached by the court. It is promised, however, that a statement on this subject may be forthcoming about Friday next. It is said that this affair has now no international aspect, so that it is quite certain no representations will be made to the Italian government.

The cabinet discussed the proposed naval maneuvers his fall. The needs of the consular service also were considered.

CONFERENCE

Of Republican Leaders Concerning Questions of Legislation.

Washington, June 3.—The conference held at the White House last night was discussed by senators and members of congress as having an important bearing upon some of the leading questions of legislation. In an authoritative quarter it was stated that the tendencies disclosed at the conference against any revision of tariff schedules applied only to the present session of congress and was due to the belief that it would be inexpedient at this late day in the session to enter upon such an important field as a revision of the tariff schedules. At the same time it is stated there was no determination that the Dingley schedules would stand indefinitely, but rather to await the next session before considering how far new conditions warranted a revision.

As stated by one of the gentlemen present there was no disposition manifested to hold the Dingley rates as sacred and beyond the power of revision. It was brought out in the discussion that the men of strong protective views like Senator Platt, of Connecticut, Hanna, of Ohio, and Dalzell, of Pennsylvania, were not as much disposed toward change as were some of the others present, including the president, Senators Allison, Spooner and Aldrich and Representatives Babcock and Overstreet.

BALLIET

Takes the Witness Stand In His Own Defense.

Des Moines, June 3.—Letson Balliet took the witness stand in his own defense today for the purpose of corroborating certain features of the evidence of other witnesses for the defense. Prof. Iolande of San Francisco, ex-state geologist, testified that the White Swan mine is a paying property.

On cross-examination he admitted that Balliet was to pay him $100 a day and expenses to attend the trial, the total cost approximating $3000.

H. C. King, of Hartford, Iowa, and R. F. Beaster, of Solon, testified that they became stockholders of the company knowing the title was in dispute and that Balliet had not claimed to own the mine.

T. J. Fitzsimmons, editor of the Mining Engineer and Review, testified that certain circulars which other witnesses said were sent out by Balliet, 200,000 at a time, were printed by him and that the number was but a few thousand.

The government has obtained a statement of the record of sales of White Swan stock deposited by Balliet, amounting to $223,293.71.

SHOT HIS FATHER.

A Pittsburg, Pa., Lad Protects His Mother.

Louisville, June 3.—Stetson Oller, aged 15, shot his father, Edward U. Oller, four times at 10 o'clock this morning, at the family residence, 1538 Baldeman avenue. The boy claims his father was drunk and in the act of striking his mother when he fired. The lad rushed from the house and gave himself up. The father is seriously injured.

HEAVY RAINS

Submerge Northern Portions of Manitowoc, Wis., County.

Two Rivers, Wis., June 3.—The northern portion of Manitowoc county is nearly submerged by the heavy rain storm of the past twenty-four hours. The East Twin and West Twin rivers are very high and the water continues to rise.

Michicotee, a village seven miles north, is completely inundated and people are compelled to leave their homes.

Tisch Mills is also cut off, several bridges having been carried away and the mill dam destroyed.

REICHSTAG MEETS.

Sympathy Is Expressed For the Martinique Sufferers.

Berlin, June 3.—On the reassembling of the reichstag today, the president, Count Von Ballestram, referred to the volcanic disaster in the island of Martinique and expressed the hearty sympathy of the reichstag with "The noble French nation on the sad occasion of this fearful calamity, which horrifies all Germany." The ministers and deputies present approved of the speech by standing while the president was speaking.

The sugar committee of the reichstag, by a vote of 12 to 10, fixed the duty on sugar sold for consumption at 12 marks per double hundred weight from September, 1903, and at 10 marks from September, 1905. By a vote of 18 to 8 the same committee fixed a surtax of 4 marks 80 pfennings on refined sugar and 4 marks 40 pfennings on other sugars.

IMPORTANT.

The Mitchell & McClure Decision of Far Reaching Interest.

The decision of the supreme court in the case of the St. Louis county board and Mitchell & McClure against State Auditor Dunn, announced last week, is of great importance, and it will establish several valuable precedents.

Perhaps the most important point settled was that the state auditor's decisions can be appealed from. This had never been denied, and State Auditor Dunn has always taken the autocratic position that his decisions on such matters were final. In this case the same property was assessed in both Carlton and St. Louis counties, and the matter went up to the state auditor for him to decide which county was entitled to the taxes. The firm of Mitchell & McClure have a logging road and a large amount of camp equipments, etc., in Carlton county, but the logs thus produced are sawed in St. Louis county.

The law says that all personal property of manufacturing corporations shall be assessed in the counties in which the manufacturing is done. State Auditor Dunn took the peculiar stand that the business of cutting logs was manufacturing trees into timber and that therefore Carlton county was entitled to everything but the logs, which he conceded should be assessed in this county.

This decision was so obviously bad that it induced the supreme court to allow the appeal. In the past no direct attempt to force the state auditor into court on his decisions has ever been made. He claimed that his decision was an administrative proceeding, and that therefore there could be no appeal. On his theory he could decide the same question several different ways and there could be no recourse. St. Louis county, represented by Associate County Attorney Crosby, maintained that his decision was based on the law and the facts, and that it was a judicial decision and subject to review in the courts.

It is said that State Auditor Dunn has in the past held this rule in favor of Hennepin county, and refused to hold it in favor of St. Louis county.

The decision is very important because it will compel uniformity of holdings in the state auditor's office, and because it settles definitely the question of where logs and logging outfits should be taxed.

There are other logging outfits that should be taxed in this county under the ruling of the supreme court, and the county authorities will now set about seeing that this county gets all it has coming. A considerable amount of additional assessments is likely to result from the decision, adding to the resources of this county.

WILL PASS.

Debate In Senate on Philippine Bill Nearing End.

Washington, June 3.—After a debate on the Philippine government bill continuing seven weeks, the senate late this afternoon will reach a final vote upon the measure. That the bill will be passed is beyond doubt.

When the senate convened at 11 o'clock today, Mr. Hale (Me.) chairman of the committee on naval affairs, reported the naval appropriation bill and gave notice that he would call it up for consideration at the earliest possible time. The bill as reported, increases the appropriation made by the house, $964,942, making a grand total of $78,166,838.

Mr. Foraker (O) called up the house concurrent resolution, extending the thanks of congress to Secretary of State John Hay for his memorial address delivered to the two branches of congress on the life and services of William McKinley.

Mr. Allen moved that the senate concur in the resolution, and the motion was agreed to without comment or division.

Mr. Pettus (Ala.) on account of other duties, withdrew from the committee of the senate, appointed to confer with a like committee of the house with respect to differences as to conference reports and Mr. Teller (Col.) was named in his stead.

Consideration was then resumed, under the fifteen minute rule, of the Philippine government bill. Mr. McLaurin (Miss.) denied that the Democrats had attacked the army and placed the responsibility for the outrages committed in the Philippines upon the policy advocated by the Republicans.

IN THE HOUSE.

Washington, June 3.—When the house met today, Mr. Burton (Ohio) called up the conference report on the river and harbor bill. After some debate the report was adopted. As soon as signed by the presiding officers of each house it will go to the president. Under the order, the house then went into committee of the whole, to consider the bill for the protection of the president of the United States and for other purposes—known as the anti-anarchy bill.

Resolved, by the stockholders of the Sattler Liquor Company, a corporation, that articles numbered I, III, IV and VIII of the Articles of Incorporation of said Sattler Liquor Company be amended to read as follows:

ARTICLE I.

The name of this corporation shall be the "Sattler Liquor Company." The general nature of its business shall be buying, selling and dealing in vinous, spirituous, malt and brewed liquors, tobacco and cigars, at wholesale and retail and loaning money upon security or otherwise, with power to acquire, hold and transfer, all such real and personal property as may be necessary or convenient for the successful carrying on of the business of said corporation.

The principal place of transacting the business of this corporation shall be the city of Duluth, St. Louis County, Minnesota.

ARTICLE III.

The amount of capital stock of said corporation shall be one hundred thousand dollars and shall be paid in at such times and in such amounts as the board of directors shall determine.

ARTICLE IV.

The highest amount of indebtedness to which said corporation shall at any time be subject shall be ten thousand dollars.

ARTICLE VIII.

The number of the shares of the capital stock of this corporation shall be one thousand (1000) shares of one hundred ($100) dollars each, and no shares of stock shall be issued until fully paid for. None of the shares of the stock of said corporation shall be sold or transferred to any persons not a stockholder of this corporation without the unanimous consent of all the other shareholders for the time being of said corporation.

We hereby certify that the foregoing resolution was duly adopted by a unanimous vote of all of the stockholders of the Sattler Liquor Company, at a regular meeting of said stockholders, held at Duluth, Minnesota, May 6th, 1902; that by said amendments the capital stock of said corporation was raised from ten thousand ($10,000.00) dollars to one hundred thousand ($100,000.00) dollars; the number of shares of stock was raised from 100 to 1000; the maximum indebtedness to which said corporation shall be subject was raised from two thousand ($2000.00) dollars to ten thousand ($10,000.00) dollars; there was added to the general nature of the business of said corporation the power to loan money and the restriction upon the alienation of the capital stock of said corporation was removed in so far as it was contrary to said articles to transfer any of said stock to any other stockholder without the unanimous consent of all stockholders.

"FORCE"

Oh, See What?

SEE your doctor first, if you want to, and see if he doesn't tell you that you can't put into your stomach anything better than a proper combination of whole wheat and malt.

SEE your grocer next and buy a package of "FORCE," which is composed of the whole of the wheat and barley malt.

SEE how easy it is to eat a proper food when it comes to you in a sweet, crispy, delicate flake.

SEE how easily the strength, the nourishment, the vitality which Nature puts into thriving wheat and barley slips into your own system. One preacher writes that he gets from "FORCE" all the strength necessary for his hard Sunday work "without knowing that he has a stomach." Take a little "FORCE" just before going to bed and see how soundly you'll sleep.

SEE if you do not eat it right along after you've eaten it once.

ARRANGING SURRENDER

Preparations For Boers to Come Into Pretoria.

Britons and Boers Are Remarkably Friendly.

Pretoria, June 4.—The ballot of the Boers at Vereeniging resulted in fifty-four votes in favor of surrender and six against it.

Preparations are being made here for the surrender of the Boer commandos, which will take place on the race course. All the Boers are allowed perfect freedom.

There will be a thanksgiving service Sunday, June 8, on the church square, in which it is hoped the Boers will participate. The women in the concentration camps are anxious to return to their homes immediately, but this will be impossible until a system of supply depots for the outlying districts is established.

Gen. Baden-Powell is arranging for the distribution of mounted constabulary in various districts. The police, railroads and telegraphs will be handed over to the civil authorities as soon as possible, and the restrictions of martial law will be gradually relaxed.

The Boer delegates who, during the peace negotiations, were stiff, formal and unfriendly, are now extremely cordial. All the commandants are returning to their commandos in order to explain the situation.

Gen. Louis Botha, the Boer commandant general, has written an open letter to the burghers thanking them for their obedience in the past and exhorting them to be equally loyal in their obedience to the new government.

Lord Kitchener's address to the Boer delegates at Vereeniging in which the British commander-in-chief said that if he had been one of them he would have been proud to have done so well in the field as they had done, made the best possible impression and drew forth a hearty response from Gen. Beyers, the chairman of the Boer conference, who expressed the pleasure the Boers experience at meeting Lord Kitchener as a friend, adding that they had fought so long against him that they had acquired full appreciation of his worth.

The departure of the Boer commanders from Vereeniging for their various districts was marked by remarkable scenes of fraternization. The trains conveying the Boers started late and, the night being extremely cold, the sentries along the railroad track lighted huge bonfires, round which groups of Boers and Britons gathered, forming a highly picturesque scene. The late opponents joined in such songs as "Hard Times Come Again No More" and "Old Folks at Home," the British soldiers and the burghers outvieing one another in their demonstrations of joy. In brief, the scenes at the departure of the trains resembled nothing so much as the starting of huge picnic parties.

The same signs of rejoicing were witnessed throughout the Rand. Flags were displayed everywhere and thanksgiving services were held in all the towns.

Chicago, June 4.—"They win a great victory," said Bourke Cockran, when asked last night what he thought of the Boers' surrender.

"They were paid to surrender," he continued, "and the terms, in my opinion, give them practically all the independence they want. When you stop to consider that the Boers were fighting the two most powerful nations on earth, England and the United States, and were able to hold out so long, then get £3,000,000, as well as their practical independence, I certainly regard the outcome as much more of a victory for them than for the English government. It simply shows the power of justice."

FAST TRAIN WRECKED

Double Header on the Southern Pacific Leaves the Rails Near Clear Creek, Cal., Killing Engineer and Fireman of First Engine.

Redding, Cal., June 4.—The southbound Oregon express on the Southern Pacific road, which left Redding at 10:45 last night, was wrecked about fifteen minutes later, near Clear Creek, four miles from this city.

The accident was caused by a half open switch, which evidently had been left in that condition by some unknown person. The train is what is known as a doubleheader, having two engines, and was running at a great rate of speed, as it was on a down grade. Both engines were thrown into the ditch and completely wrecked.

Engineer J. M. White and Fireman Fred Taffel, of the forward engine, were thrown under the wreckage and crushed to death, their bodies being fearfully mangled. The mail car was thrown across the track where it now stands. All of the passenger coaches were ditched. A number of passengers were more or less injured, but so far as can be learned none were killed. The names of the injured passengers have not yet been learned.

PICKED UP THE WAGON

Funnel Shape Cloud Swooped Down on Rig and Carried It Away, Killing Its Two Occupants.

Glendive, Mont., June 4.—Thomas Mccaffee was killed and James Darcy badly injured by a fierce tornado which struck this county near the mouth of Tusler creek Sunday afternoon. Macaffee and Darcy were on their way to Cotter's ranch in a wagon when overtaken. Their destruction was witnessed by Charles McCulloch, who was a mile distant and who saw the cloud form in funnel shape and move southward. The swirling mass struck the wagon and carried it away without leaving a vestige. Macaffee and Darcy were hurled some distance. When McCulloch reached the scene Macaffee was dying under a dead horse, horribly crushed. He died within an hour. About fifteen yards distant was Darcy dying badly bruised. McCulloch took both men to Cotter's ranch where Darcy regained consciousness but was not rational. Macaffee was 45 years old and was formerly clerk at the Yellowstone hotel.

HARD TO RESIST THIS OFFER

New York, June 4.—It is understood the American shipping syndicate has offered the Cunard company $52,500,000 for their fleet, including two big steamers recently ordered, says a Herald dispatch from London.

The Cunard directors are in communication with the government with a view of obtaining such increased subsidies for mails and cruisers as will enable them in the interests of the shareholders to resist the tempting offer of the American syndicate.

SEVERE BLOW AT BEEF TRUST

Albany, N. Y., June 4.—Supreme Court Justice Chester has granted an injunction, restraining certain beef packing companies of the West from carrying on business in this state in violation of the provisions of the Donnelly anti-trust law. The order was served upon the representatives of the concern in this city and Troy today and will be served on others throughout the state as quickly as they can be reached. It was obtained upon the affidavit of D. W. Meredith, a former manager of Swift & Co.

St. Louis, June 4.—The supreme court at Jefferson City today announced that it had overruled the motion of the packing companies to quash the information filed against them by the attorney general.

MINISTER CONFESSES ARSON

Santa Cruz, Cal., June 4.—Rev. James Laurier Rogers, formerly a well-known Baptist minister, who recently embraced Mohammedanism, has confessed himself guilty of arson and is now in custody. He set fire to several buildings at a dairy, where he was working for the benefit of his health, as he explained. His motive for the crime, he says, was revenge on those who had compelled him to do menial service. The fire destroyed his clerical library, three ministerial suits and a gold watch presented to him by his former congregation at Ocala, Fla. While in charge of a church at Jacksonville he taught English to many Cuban refugees. He will be examined as to his sanity.

NEW MOVE EXPECTED

From Conference Between President Mitchell and Chief Sargent.

The Strikers Claim Many Additions to Their Ranks.

Demonstrations Against New Men Occurred at Two Places.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., June 4.—There was much speculation around strike headquarters today over the purpose of President Mitchell's visit to Scranton last night, where he saw some of the national railroad union leaders. Mr. Mitchell returned early today and all attempts to get him to talk about the nature of his conference with Frank P. Sargent, the chief of the locomotive firemen, was futile. All he would say was that his call upon Sargent was merely a social one. It is believed, however, that a new move of some sort in which the railroaders may be involved, is among the possibilities of the near future.

The entire region was reported quiet at starting time today. At only two places in the Wyoming valley were there any signs of a demonstration against the men who are working the pumps.

At Miners Mills a crowd gathered early and met each car as it came into town. As the workmen got off the car under the protection of the cool and iron police they were hooted and called uncomplimentary names. There was no attempt at violence and all the men reached the several collieries located there in safety. At the Exeter mines of the Lehigh Valley company, West Pittston, a small crowd gathered and watched the men go into the collieries. The place is well guarded and no one approached the employes. There were many women in the crowd.

The strikers claim a few more additions to their ranks today, but in most instances the coal companies were able to supply the places of those induced to leave. The operators are reported to be in need of capable men. They can get any number of workmen, but those who are experienced in colliery work are getting scarce. The supply of competent men, such as clerks, teamsters, bosses and other men employed around the mines at odd jobs has been exhausted, and they are now drawing upon the non-union men brought into the region. A systematic boycott of all persons and establishments that in any way supply the wants of non-union men has been inaugurated and is having its effect in bringing men out of the mines. Men of all callings, including bartenders, butchers, grocery clerks, etc., are organized in the coal region. A non-union man in most places cannot be served and if he is the establishment is immediately boycotted.

Families of non-union men are, consequently, having much trouble in buying the necessaries of life in stores.

Hazelton, Pa., June 4.—The eleven imported men, who were kidnapped at Hazelbrook colliery by the striking miners last night, were sent back to Philadelphia today. President Duffy announced that this was the last batch that would be deported at the expense of the union. About 300 men from Philadelphia reached Hazelton on a special train early today. They will be put to work around the mines.

A MERGER.

Steel Spring and Steel Wheel Companies Form Combine.

New York, June 4.—Stockholders of both the Railway Steel Spring company and the Steel Tired Wheel company, at a joint meeting, have ratified the merger plan without opposition.

The action of the stockholders carried with it an increase in the capital of the Railway Steel Spring company from $20,000,000 to $25,000,000, the additional capital stock being divided into 35,000 shares of preferred stock and 35,000 shares of common stock. With this additional $7,000,000 all of the assets of the Steel Tired Wheel company will be taken over through the acquisition of its entire outstanding capital stock.

James C. Beach was elected treasurer of the merged companies. It was decided to make the board of directors fifteen in number instead of eleven, and the following were elected directors: William Silverthorn, James G. Beach, W. H. Fuller, W. C. Barnum, Charles Miller. C. H. Halcomb retired as a director.

TO ECONOMIZE.

Printing of Reports of Minor Officers Abandoned.

Washington, June 4.—The secretary of war has promulgated a general order intended to effect a large economy in government printing. It provides that hereafter there shall be printed only the reports of superior officers in command of military departments and in the field, and chiefs of bureaus of the department. The reports of subordinate officers in the various branches are not to be printed hereafter, but the superior officers are expected to present a resume of their contents when necessary in the body of their own reports.

A FORMAL CEREMONY.

New York, June 4.—The installation of the Duke of Connaught as grand master of Masons, which has just taken place, was a formal ceremony, arranged by a deputy, according to a Tribune dispatch from London.

PITCHED BATTLE

Between Negro Drivers and Chicago Toughs.

Strike Situation Is Growing More Serious.

Chicago, June 4.—Disturbances attendant upon the packing house teamsters' strike broke out afresh early today when a wagon belonging to former Alderman Duddleston, driven by a non-union man, tried to land a load of hams and bacon at the station of the Chicago & Northwestern railroad at Kinzie street. A crowd of toughs and strike sympathizers set on the driver, overturned his wagon and stole his meat. The driver, after belaboring some of his assailants with a club, ran from the scene, and when a patrol wagon full of policemen with a number of officers on foot arrived, the crowd scattered.

A tense feeling prevails over all the city. Downtown street crossings are almost devoid of officers, but the city hall resembles an army barracks, with hundreds of blue-coated men drawn up in squads waiting for repetitions of yesterday's rioting.

A pitched battle occurred between a crowd of negroes, imported from St. Louis to take the places of the striking yard teamsters, and toughs and strikers at Forty-fifth street and Center avenue early today, in which six negroes were badly injured, two possibly mortally. The substitutes were driving wagons when they were assaulted. Many of their assailants were armed with ice pike-poles they had seized from ice wagons. One man had his thigh broken and another was injured internally. The imported negroes number about 50.

At the stock yards attempts are being made to relieve the situation. Early in the morning a caravan of six wagons—two from Armours, two from Swifts and one each from Nelson Morris and Schwarzchild & Sulzberger's plants—started under the escort of a patrol and fifteen policemen toward the downtown districts to supply stores with meat. It is thought that this train is simply a feeler for a bigger caravan which may start later. Every precaution is being taken to prevent disorder. It is feared by city officials that a repetition of yesterday's shooting affrays may result in death.

At 9 o'clock an imposing caravan of thirty-eight loads of beef, interspersed with five busses containing policemen, came out of the stock yards amid hoots and cries of derision from the crowd. It looked not unlike an army wagon train. Of the wagons, sixteen belonged to Swift & Co., three to Schwarzschild & Sulzberger, nine to Armour & Co., five to Nelson Morris & Co., four to Libby, McNeil & Libby, and one to the Anglo-American company.

The large meat caravan reached the Illinois Central depot at Twelfth street at 10 o'clock, accompanied by a constantly increasing crowd. During the unloading of meat at the depot the mob showed its ugly temper by throwing cobblestones and bricks, but the well-armed police guard served to check more serious demonstrations.

STRIKE WAS AVOIDED

Over Eighteen Hundred Job Printers In Chicago Secure an Advance In Wages Without Recourse to a Strike.

Chicago, June 4.—For the first time in twenty years the job printers of Chicago will have their wages raised simultaneously in all the job printing shops in the city. Typographical union No. 16, to which the men belong, always has been averse to a strike, and last night succeeded in getting the raise in wages without one. Over 1800 men will be benefited by the raise.

The printers have been getting $18 a week for their work and demanded $19.50. This was given them. They have had one apprentice to every ten men, and the employers have been anxious to cut this down to one for every five. On this point the two parties could not agree, and the matter will be left to arbitration. The agitation for increased wages and fewer apprentices began three weeks ago, and for the first time in years the word strike was used in the council of the union. This was agreed upon if the demands were not acceded to, and the proprietors were told of the fact.

SOLDIERS AMBUSHED

Yaqui Indians Attacked a Force of Mexican Soldiers and Killed Thirty---Uprising of Reds Is Becoming General.

San Francisco, June 4.—A special from Tucson, Ariz., says: The uprising among the Yaqui Indians is becoming general. A detachment of seventy-three soldiers from the force of Gen. Torres, who is pursuing the Indians in the Matlanzan mountains east of Hermosillo, was ambushed and thirty of the number killed. Captain Celso Gomez and Lieut. Jose Valejo of the Twentieth battalion, were among the slain. Only one escaped unhurt. The Mexicans ran out of ammunition and engaged in a hand to hand battle with the Indians. Fifty of the latter were reported killed, but their great number overwhelmed the Mexicans. The survivors retreated to Hermosillo. Fifteen of them were wounded.

Gen. Torres has retreated and sent out scouts loyal to the government. Refugees arriving at Hermosillo report that everywhere the Indians have taken the war path. Three stations on the Sonora railroad have been abandoned and the telegraph operators have left. Gen. Luis Torres, in command of the Mexican troops, has been reinforced by his brother, Lorenzo Torres, with 200 men. It is estimated that there are 1,000 Yaquis, well armed, assembled in the foothills of the Matlanzan mountains. The Mexican forces are short of ammunition and arms. The Yaquis captured twenty-five stands of arms in the ambuscade Sunday.

As soon as the expected reinforcements arrive Gen. Torres will attack the Yaquis in the mountains and a decisive battle is expected then.

MAD DOG'S AWFUL WORK

One Man Is Dead and Four Others Are Suffering From Hydrophobia With But Little Hope of Their Recovery.

Des Moines, June 4.—A special to the Daily Capital from Webster City states: One death and four others suffering from hydrophobia is the result of a mad dog's work in Ellsworth, a small town in this county. The dog is the property of a farmer named George Pearson. John Olson was the first victim and on Sunday he was taken to Chicago, where he died in a hospital. Last night Edward Severson, Mrs. George Pearson and little daughter, and Al Igon were taken to Chicago, all suffering severely from hydrophobia. Little hope is entertained for their recovery. The town and neighboring country is panic stricken, lest other dogs have been bitten. All dogs are being killed.

RICH MEN FOR JURY DUTY

New York, June 4.—In forming the third panel of the sheriff's jury, to serve during the ensuing three months, Sheriff O'Brien has summoned fourteen men whose aggregate wealth is estimated at more than a billion dollars. Among those called are: John B. McDonald, J. Pierpont Morgan, J. D. Rockefeller, William Rockefeller, Frederick W. Vanderbilt, William K. Vanderbilt and John D. Archibald.

CAPTAIN ABDUCTED

Master of Carrington Carried Off by Strikers.

Took Him to Pike Lake to Reason With Him.

Capt. James Taylor, of the tug Carrington, who disappeared Monday night, took out his tug again this morning. To do it he had to walk in from Pike Lake, a distance of fifteen miles, where he had been taken by the striking tugmen who kidnaped him Monday night.

It was a real case of kidnaping, according to Capt. Taylor's story, but he says he was treated royally, and save that he was detained and was unable to get back to his tug, he has no complaint to make.

Monday night was his night off and he went up town to get a shave. He says the men followed him about, though they said nothing to him, and he took refuge in the Spalding hotel. Finding that there were pickets at each door, he telephoned to the tug office, as stated in The Herald last night, and the night dispatcher told him to get police protection. He called up police headquarters, and was told to get the first policeman he met on the street. He went out and found a policeman, and while he was talking with him one of the tugmen came up and asked the policeman and Capt. Taylor to have a cigar. They went into a saloon, and everything was so friendly that the policeman left. Immediately the place was filled with strikers, and Capt. Taylor found it impossible to get away.

He was placed in a hack and taken out to Pike lake by four husky strikers of good, healthy physique, arriving there during Monday night. There they had a number of heart to heart talks about the tug situation. The strikers wanted to talk to Capt. Taylor about the tug business, and in order that they might do it quietly and uninterruptedly they conveyed him out to Pike lake.

Their arguments were of no avail, however, but at any rate Capt. Taylor found it impossible to get back to Duluth to go to work. His companions gravely informed him that Pike lake was twenty-three miles from Duluth, too far to walk, so he remained there all day yesterday, with his guards keeping very assiduously with him. The hack had gone back early Tuesday morning.

This morning Capt. Taylor woke up early, and found that his captors were asleep. He decided to make his escape, and while the strikers slumbered he was plodding along the road toward Duluth. He made the distance in good time, and his tug is working again today.

AMBASSADOR HERBERT

Secretary of the British Legation at Paris Has Been Chosen to Succeed the Late Lord Pauncefote.

Washington, June 4.—Two important changes in the diplomatic representation in Washington were announced today. The Hon. Michael Herbert succeeds the late ord Pauncefote as British ambassador, and Senor De Ojeda succeeds the duke De Arcos as Spanish minister.

London, June 4.—The determination to select Mr. Herbert as ambassador to the United States was reached after many consultations with those who are best fitted to voice an opinion in the matter. While nominally secretary to the British embassy at Paris, Mr. Herbert was really minister plenipotentiary to France, and as such he frequently acted in most important crises in the absence of Sir Edmund J. Monson, Great Britain's ambassador there.

Mr. Herbert's marriage with Leila, daughter of Richard T. Wilson, of New York, as the result of which he became closely related to the Vanderbilts, the Ogden Goelets and the Astors, will not in any way interfere, according to opinion here, with his usefulness as Great Britain's ambassador at Washington. Mr. Herbert's record at Washington as charge d'affaires from 1888 to 1889, and as secretary to the British legation there from 1892 to 1893, and his work as British agent on the Venezuelan commission, eminently fit him, so official belief inclines, for his proposed new and important duties.

A curious feature connected with all the British diplomats who were considered by the British foreign office as possible candidates to fill the vacancy at Washington is that they all have American wives. Sir Henry Howard, who is now Great Britain's minister at The Hague, and who was for many years attached to the British legation at Washington, married Miss Riggs, of Washington; Sir Francis R. Plunkett, the British ambassador at Vienna, married Miss Morgan, of Philadelphia; Lord Curzon, of Kedlestone, viceroy of India, married Miss Leiter, of Washington; Austin Lee, Great Britain's commercial attache at France, Belgium and Switzerland, married Miss DeWolf Smith, of New York, and Alan Johnstone, the British charge d'affaires at Darmstadt, married Miss Pinchot, of New York.

Before the new ambassador at Washington takes up his duties, the salary attached to the position will probably be put upon a par with the highest paid in Great Britain's diplomatic service, namely, that which is paid the ambassador at Paris, £9,000 a year.

ARDPATRICK WONDERBY

J. Gubbins' Brown Colt, Ridden By an American Jockey Took First Money With Rising Glass Second.

London, June 4.—J. Gubbins' brown colt, Ard Patrick at 7 to 1 against, ridden by J. H. Martin, the American jockey, won the derby. Col. H. McCalmont's Rising Glass was second, and the duke of Portland's Friar Tuck was third. Eighteen horses ran.

The betting was 100 to 14 against Ard Patrick, 50 to 1 against Rising Glass and 100 to 7 against Friar Tuck. R. S. Sievers' Sceptre was fourth and R. Ferrist's Tod "S" was fifth.

Ard Patrick won by three lengths and the same distance separated the second and third horses. Time, 2:42¼.

London, June 4.—The general holiday-making mood of the people and the desire to let off the strain arising from the combination of the announcement of peace in South Africa and the influence of the approaching coronation festivities, was exemplified today by the unprecedented muster of the classes and masses at Epsom Downs for the coronation derby. King Edward and Queen Alexandra, the prince and princess of Wales, the duke and duchess of Connaught, the duke of Cambridge, Prince and Princess Charles of Denmark, and the Indian rajahs and their suites took special trains to the course and received ovations every place from the crowds, which spread over every available spot, in spite of the inclement, showery weather, which prevailed.

A strong contingent of Americans were present. Half a dozen coaches from the leading hotels held numerous trans-Atlantic visitors. Joseph H. Choate, the United States ambassador, and Mrs. Choate took down a coaching party, including Mr. and Mrs. Westinghouse, of Pittsburg, Richard Croker, of New York, wandered about the paddock, evidently extracting great pleasure from his surroundings. He remarked to a reporter of the Associated Press: "These gatherings rid one of so many political and other cares."

HE LOST ALL BUT IS HAPPY

New York, June 4.—Without a cent in the world Edouard Reynal de Saint Michel, formerly one of the wealthiest and most influential men in St. Pierre, has arrived in this city. He was happy despite his impoverished condition, for his wife and son were with him, having escaped the ravages of Mount Pelee by the merest accident. Mme. de Saint Michel, who is a native of Fort de France, was spending the day with her relatives at the time of the disaster, and her husband left St. Pierre to join her an hour before the blast of flame destroyed the city. He traveled in a tug to Fort de France and when he reached the Martinique capital the destruction of his native city was announced.

THREE STRIKERS ARE SHOT

St. Louis, June 4—Three men were shot at Granite City, Ill., today and one of them, named Cunningham, probably will die as the result of his wounds. As twenty-five negroes from St. Louis alighted from a train this morning to go to the works of the steel plant, there to take the places of striking molders, they were met by the strikers and warned to go back. Bell, one of the imported men, who was hit on the head with a rock, pulled a revolver and fired into the crowd, hitting three white men. Two of those wounded were struck in the arm and leg, the third, Cunningham, being shot through the kidneys, and may die. The negroes then made a rush for the works and got inside. A warrant, charging murder, has been sworn out against Bell.

Supt. Vanderslice's Force In Better Quarters.

Superintendent Vanderslice has just got all his division departments concentrated on the second floor of the Union station building. One finds on entering the large room at the eastern end of the second floor that the train dispatcher's large force, the chief clerk's force and other smaller departments have been brought together in close communion in the one room. It is believed that the new arrangement will permit of all departments working together with better effect than before when some of the departments were far removed from the others.

The old division headquarters in the west end of the first floor are now occupied by Chairman James Kelly of the Lake Superior Car Service association.

NORTH SHORE.

The Outlook Is For Heavy Travel This Season.

K. Neutson, of Rock Harbor, who is at the head of the Hay Fever Sufferers' association of Isle Royale enthusiasts, was in the city yesterday. Mr. Neutson was here on business connected with the providing of accommodations at Rock Harbor for members of the association to which he belongs to make their regular summer sojourn on Isle Royale. He is building a number of summer cottages at Rock Harbor, and the number may be increased later. Rock Harbor is on the easterly side of the island, nearest to the copper country.

Capt. W. H. Singer is sending lumber and men to Washington Harbor by every boat just now in order to hurry forward the building of a temporary summer hotel on his island in the harbor. He built a dock on the island last summer, and, having been unable to induce anybody else to go in the summer resort business in time for this season's tourist trade, will himself provide good accommodations. He will make arrangements later with somebody to conduct or manage the hotel.

It is said that there are better accommodations at Grand Marais this season than formerly, and all the way down the north shore the outlook is for a much larger tourist season than ever before.

The copper country boat lines are beginning to get considerable passenger business from the Twin Cities and the St. Paul-Duluth roads. The largest part of the increase is due no doubt to the warmer weather, and the preference of people to travel on the lake, but the volume of tourist business itself is quite appreciable for this time of the year.

A FENCE.

A Paterson Man Charged With Receiving Stolen Goods.

New York, June 4.—Jacob Simon, a justice of the peace in Patterson, N. J., has been arrested on the charge of receiving stolen property. Frederick Kreyer, a silk manufacturer was arrested later as an alleged accomplice. Numerous silk robberies recently from Paterson mills have puzzled the police and the arrests just made are the first moves in an attempt to clear up the affair.

Simon is a barber, whose shop has been the rendezvous of many of the prominent politicians in Paterson. It is alleged Simon was the receiver for the thieves and that he bought the goods, shipped them to Lyndhurst, N. J., whence they were sent to a mill in another place and from there forwarded to New York as the product of that mill. He was released in $2000 bail.

Predicts No Decrease In That State's Grain Yield.

Development of New Territory There Has Been Enormous.

W. J. McCabe has returned from a ten-day trip through the grain-raising region of North Dakota. He ventures the guess that there will be fully as much grain raised in North Dakota this year as last, in spite of reduced acreage. He thinks also that the yield of wheat will not be largely affected by the shrinkage in acreage. The reason for this belief, of course, is that crops of all kinds are looking as fine as Mr. McCabe has even seen them.

Mr. McCabe went out over the Great Northern from Minneapolis. "As far as Ada on the Minnesota side of the line," said he, "and practically as far as Crookston to Grand Forks, twenty miles across the width of the valley, the soil is very wet, though it is drying off now. Seeding is going forward generally, but of course the operations are almost entirely restricted to other grains than wheat. Sowing of coarse grains will continue up to the 20th of June. The result of this late sowing will be that almost the full acreage will be sown to grain of some sort. In this area, however, there has been a decided decrease in wheat acreage, and the same is true for a short distance north of Grand Forks.

"I went from Grand Forks to Glasston on the Great Northern, following the valley north. About 65 per cent of the wheat acreage has been sown this year in that section. At Hamilton our agent estimates the wheat acreage at about 80 per cent of last year's.

"Returning to Grand Forks, I went west on the main line of the Great Northern to Rugby, and thence north over the westerly branch line to Souris. From a short distance west of Grand Forks for the rest of my journey, I never saw finer crop conditions than prevail this spring. One gets out of the troubled district about Larimore. In the Elk River valley the prospect is fine.

"Out in the newer district the great crops will again be flax and barley. I would estimate the increase in the flax acreage of North Dakota this year, as a result of this new soil being sown to it, as about 30 per cent. The barley area will be about 10 per cent greater, and the acreage devoted to oats at least 5 per cent larger. There will be a big increase in corn.

"One can hardly realize the rapid settling up of that country and the wonderful development that is going on. Just as an indication, for instance, they told me out at the little town of Souris that one dealer had sold 100 breaking plows this spring. Each of these plows in that district means the sowing of about twenty-five acres additional to flax, so that this one dealer in that immediate neighborhood sold machinery for adding 2,500 acres to the flax fields.

"Except in the worst parts of the valley, one cannot pass through the grain-raising part of North Dakota without marvelling at the rich promise of the crops. Early sown flax is up a couple of inches with a luxurient growth. Soil and weather conditions seem to be beyond criticism and everywhere the plant presents a most promising appearance.

"Many people perhaps do not realize what chance there is yet for the development of this northern grain country. Most of the Great Northern's branches are forty to fifty miles apart, making it necessary to haul grain from the farthermost points in each direction at least twenty or twenty-five miles. From Souris to the river is fourteen miles and from the river west to the Soo road is over forty miles. That means practically sixty miles wide of good grain country that is not touched by a railroad. It is the general impression out there now that the Great Northern intends to run another spur north from its main line at Granville. It is now building a spur farther east in order to split up one of these great areas."

TIED UP.

Street Car Lines In Rhode Island Cease Running.

New York, June 4.—Every street car line in Rhode Island, barring those in Newpot, Woonsocket, in the Situaten and in Foster, which are independent companies, was tied up at midnight.

A ten-hour bill for street railroad employes was adopted by the general assembly last fall. It was to go into effect last Sunday. On Saturday the United Traction company posted notices saying that the ten-hour act was unconstitutional and that it was the intention to test it in the supreme court.

The union yesterday sent an ultimatum to the United Traction company, demanding a specific observance of the ten-hour law, without reduction of pay. The company refused to grant these demands.

AT WEST DULUTH

"The impression given by the morning paper that the Central avenue paving matter is up to the council," said a West Duluth citizen this morning, "is entirely wrong, for the council can do nothing, under the charter, even if the citizens do want the street paved.

"The matter stands just as it did last year. The responsibility lies with the property owners along the street, and not with the city council. If the property owners wish a pavement there is a way for them to get it, and only one way. The charter provides that a petition must be presented to the council for the pavement, that has been signed by 25 per cent of the owners owning 25 per cent of the frontage benefited.

"With all of this agitation for a new pavement there has not yet been a petition started. Petitions have been talked about, and probably will until the present generation is white-headed, but unless some of the resident property owners get hustling and keep pushing the matter until they can get the required number of property owners into line, the people of West Dulut might just as well make up their minds to look for another location when the streets become impassable here.

"Central avenue never before presented so unsightly an appearance as it does at the present time. The street is full of mudholes, where the old pavement has rotted from under the gravel top put on last year. There is an unsightly space between the curb and new sidewalks; in fact the new walks only serve to make greater the contrast between the conveniences for foot passengers and that for teams.

"It is a deplorable condition, but one for which there seems but little opportunity for the people at large to remedy. The only remedy will be to move into some other part of the city where the owners of property have more pride in keeping up their property. Rents are certainly high enough here to warrant the outlay of the money needed for a new pavement, but it seems to be the policy of the owners to get all they can and keep all they get. That policy may work for a time ,but it will lose in the long run. I am sure that it would require but little inducement to get the business firms renting on Central avenue to transfer their interests to Grand avenue, if that street could be fixed up. When the street railway line on this avenue is extended to Sixty-first avenue west, on West Third street, there may be something doing in the way of building and street improvements to draw the business houses away from Central avenue.

"The board of public works may be appealed, if the citizens here think fit, but all that department can do is to order more gravel hauled here to fill the mudholes. That will not do, for the condition of the street has reached that stage when new paving alone will fill the bill. It is a waste of breath to appeal to the council, for that body is tied down even were it disposed to see the people here get what they deserve."

NOT FORTHCOMING.

New Capital For Box Factory Not Yet Secured.

George Lamphier, manager for the Duluth Box company, who has been residing in the city for the past two years, left today for his former home in Utica, N. Y. Since its plant here in West Duluth was burned out some months ago the company has not succeeded in interesting the capital necessary to start up a new plant. Up to the time of the fire the company was doing an excellent business, and had plenty of orders on hand. Several hundred dollars' worth of new machinery had been placed in position to increase the output of the factory, just a day before the fire occurred. The loss was practically a total one, and hit the company pretty hard. It is understood, however, that the men interested in the enterprise are not yet discouraged, and will make a strong effort to get Eastern capital interested to an amount that will enable them to start a larger factory and employ more men.

A WIFE BEATER.

Dennis Curry, a longshoreman, residing in West Duluth, was arrested last evening and locked up in the station here on the charge of beating his wife. This morning Mrs. Cameron swore out a warrant charging him with assault and battery. She claims that he came home drunk last evening, after attending a meeting, and pounded and kicked her until an officer was summoned. Curry will be given a hearing before Justice Stone today.

EITEL-SMITH.

The marriage of Miss Addie Eitel, daughter of Mrs. E. Flick, and J. J. Smith, of Proctorknott, were united in marriage at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the Murray house. The ceremony was a quiet one and was performed by Rev. Arthur Hoag, of the Baptist church. Directly after the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Smith went to their home at Twenty-first avenue west and Second street, which was prepared to begin housekeeping immediately.

WOODMEN'S INITIATION.

A party of twenty-five Woodmen, belonging to Old Hickory camp, 1555, including Capt. Salter and his famous degree team, drove out to New Duluth last evening to assist in the initiation of a large class of candidates. The party went in H. R. Patterson's big prairie schooner. The initiatory ceremonies were followed by a enjoyable banquet, and the West Duluth contingent arrived home shortly before 4 o'clock this morning.

BOARD OF EDITORS OF HIGH SCHOOL ZENITH.

LOUIS ZALK. FRANK FARRELL. EDWARD CONGDON. PHOEBE COLE.
LETA PHELPS. FRED JOHNSTON. EDNA SCHALLEN. CHARLOTTE PARTRIDGE. ARTHUR RINGSRED
GRACE DUNCAN. SUMNER SMITH. EDITH SEARLE, FRANK LEE.
Editor in Chief.

Through the fact that the Zenith board has been disappointed in getting the material for the covers on the issue of the Zenith which is now due to appear, that interesting high school annual is delayed a few days in its publication.

A few sample copies are in the hands of the Zenith board at the present time, however, and an examination of these quickly discloses the fact that the Zenith board of 1902, a photograph of the members of which is produced herewith, have far exceeded in the excellence of their production any of their predecessors.

This year's Zenith is printed better, written better, edited better, is brighter and more enjoyable than any Zenith that the high school has ever turned out.

There are several new features which will make the book interesting to any one, whether they are acquainted with the high school or not. The class departments are brighter and better than ever before. A larger and better portion of the book is devoted to athletics. Among the special features is a travesty on the fraternal ambitions of the young ladies of the school. It consists of drawings, crowns and other things appertaining to a sorority, and is called "The Mak-a Nu Pie" chapter of the Bug House sorority. Several well-known young ladies are given such titles as "Old Lady Bug," etc.

Another enjoyable feature is an entire page devoted to the foibles of the coy, wily creature, Fred Johnston. A story, prettily illustrated, "Lapham's Thanksgiving Day," by Frank Kane, is very readable.

The book is an unqualified success.

WEST DULUTH BRIEFS.

George Cameron died at the Red Cross hospital yesterday. His death resulted from an abcess. The decedent had no relatives in this country. He was a member of the Longshoremen's union and of the Redmen. The former organization will have charge of the funeral, which will be held Thursday afternoon.

A delightful surprise party was given last evening in honor of the 15th birthday anniversary of Miss Annie Peterson, of 218 Sixty-third avenue west. The evening was spent in games and music. Those present were: Misses Clara Oettel, Maud Manserch, Matilda Erichson, Salma Johnson, Annie Biran, Ethel Brascala, Sadie Peterson, Messrs. Albert Stoutz, William Oettel, John Manserch, John Biran, Arthur Oettel, Charles Zell and Bernard Johnson.

The meeting of the West Duluth branch of the W. C. T. U. will be held Friday afternoon, June 6, at the home of Mrs. Nixon, 223 Fifty-first avenue west. Miss Hollister will be leader. Saturday evening Miss Hollister will lecture in the Congregational church.

VIRULENT CANCER CURED.

Startling proof of a wonderful advance in medicine is given by druggist G. W. Roberts, of Elizabeth, W. Va. An old man there had long suffered with what good doctors pronounced incurable cancer. They believed his case hopeless till he used Electric Bitters and applied Bucklin's Arnica Salve, which treatment completely cured him. When Electric Bitters are used to expel bilious, kidney and microbe poisons at the same time this salve exerts its matchless healing power, blood diseases, skin eruptions, ulcers and sores vanish. NEW TEAM.

English Polo Club Is to Be Reconstructed.

New York, June 4.—The emphatic defeat which the American polo team so cleverly inflicted on the Englishmen last Saturday has caused a reconstruction of the British side, says a London dispatch to the Herald.

A sub-committee of the Hurlingham club has chosen a new team, as follows: Cecil Nickalls, No. 1; F. M. Freake, No. 2; George Miller, No. 3, and Walter Buckmaster, back. Cecil Nickalls is the only man who keeps his place.

CALIFORNIA TEAM

In Chicago to Play With University Team.

Chicago, June 4.—The university of California track team has arrived in Chicago to prepare for the dual games with the university of Chicago Saturday. The men practiced on Marshall field and showed good form in some of the events. Director Stagg thinks the Chicago team will have hard work to beat the California men, and doubts whether the feat can be accomplished.

Ahadie, winner in dashes at the meet with Yale, is now in good trim after his injury at Long Branch, and Stagg thinks he will push Blair hard in the 100-yard dash. Capt. Hussey, the broad jumper; Cadigan, the quarter-miler; Powell, the high jumper; Cheek, the hurdler; Service, the half-miler; Plaw, the big hammer thrower, and Tibbetts and Redwall, the long-distance men, were all out for practice.

Kansas City Swindler Caught As He Left Steamer Monarch.

Pinkerton Detectives Followed Him Thousands of Miles.

Were Slipping Through This Country to Pacific Coast.

After an exciting chase of several weeks, Pinkerton detectives, assisted by Chief Troyer, this morning captured a clever Kansas City grain swindler.

R. S. Abbott, the man under arrest, led the Pinkertons a lively chase from Kansas City to Detroit and thence over into Canada. Thinking they had thrown the detectives off the track, Abbott and his feminine partner started to slip back through the United States to the Pacific coast.

It was while endeavoring to carry out this scheme that they were taken in custody as they came in on the steamer Monarch this morning.

More than a year ago swindlers worked the grain men of Kansas City for a great deal of money. They would follow carloads of wheat from the country towns to the market, then claiming the wheat as their own, would sell the wheat for cash while in transit and get away with the money.

The scheme was worked so cleverly that the swindlers were not captured, but the detectives pressed them so hard that they gave up the game until a few weeks ago, when two car loads of wheat from Rock, Missouri, were sold in transit for $1,200.

As soon as the grain men discovered the swindle they put the detectives to work and then began the chase of R. S. Abbott and his lady friend.

The pair got over to Windsor, Canada, just ahead of the detectives, but one of the Pinkertons has shadowed them successfully ever since. When the pair took passage on the Monarch for Duluth, he did the same.

When the boat came into the dock this morning Chief Troyer and Detective Matt Kenney, of Kansas City, were there as a reception committee, and it was only then that the two became aware of the identity of the stranger who made their acquaintance on the steamer.

Abbott says that he is a gambler by occupation and that his name is Robert Evans. He says that he will return to Kansas City with the detectives and demonstrate to them that they are wrong, though his original intention was to go through to Spokane.

Abbott has the trade mark of all clever persons in his profession. He has nothing in the way of papers or records that would lead to identification. In a rating book of a commercial agency in which Kansas City grain firms were penciled over, found on him, was originally written the name of "R. S. Abbot," but an effort had been made to erase the name.

The woman in the case seems to have the best nerve of the two. She is tall, slender and of the brunette persuasion, not good-looking, as all women fugitives are supposed to be. She claims to be the wife of Abbott, but the Pinkerton men seem inclined to think she is the wife of a gentleman now in Southern Illinois.

The detectives, besides having an exciting chase for Abbott and his partner, also had an anxious wait. The Monarch was due here yesterday morning, but was delayed at Port Arthur so that she did not arrive till shortly before noon today.

CLASS DAY.

Tickets All Gone For High School Graduation Events.

The annual class day exercises of the high school graduating class will be held at the High School Assembly hall this evening at 8 o'clock.

This is perhaps the most entertaining event of the whole school year, and all of those who are interested in the graduating class, or the school in general, are anxious to be present. All of the tickets for the event which were placed on reserve for the public, have been exhausted, and those who have not already secured tickets will be able neither to attend the class or commencement exercises of the class.

The class is a large one, and one which has attained an unusually high average in scholarship during its course. It is famed in high school circles for its originality and wit, and as the aim of the class day exercises is mostly to amuse, the event will be one of the most enjoyable that has been seen in Duluth for some time.

Louis Zaik will deliver the class oration, Edward Congdon the president's address, Charlotte Mondechine the class history, and Ethel Forsyth the class prophecy.

The event will also be a treat for the lovers of light music. "The Dreffle Mon'trous Bogie Man," as sung by Miss Esther Searle and others, is said to be convulsingly funny. The Floradora sextet, which scored such a success at the senior class dramatic and musical entertainment a few weeks ago, will again be on the program, along with several class and school songs, with funny words and catchy music, compiled by the well known high school impressario, Arthur F. M. Custance.

The various classes usually go through some hardly dignified evolutions after class night exercises, and it is rumored among the members of the lower classes that there is something on foot which will furnish any amount of excitement.

A CONTRACT LET.

Another Awarded In Connection With Aerial Bridge.

The Kelly-Atkinson Construction company, of Chicago, has let a contract to Hugo & Tims, of this city, for the pile-driving and false work and materials for the same for the erection of the aerial bridge at the ship canal.

The Duluth Canal Bridge company, otherwise the Minneapolis branch of the American Bridge company, which contracted with the city for building the bridge, had awarded a contract for erecting the bridge to the Kelly-Atkinson company. It is presumed that the American Bridge company will furnish the steel.

The foundations for the bridge are in place and awaiting the completion of the steel, which is not likely to be ready before next October.

SACRED HEART CLOSING.

Commencement Exercises at Association Hall.

The commencement exercises of the Sacred Heart Institute will be held this evening at 8 o'clock at Catholic Association hall, corner of Second avenue west and Fourth street. There will be a fine program of music, essays, recitations, etc., concluding with the presentation of certificates and an address by Bishop McGolrick.

There are two graduates, Miss Leona Monroe and Miss Bertha Grube, and both will read essays.

PACKAGING OF MAIL.

Steps to Push the Matter Are Taken.

The committee appointed by the Commercial club to co-operate with the Hundred Thousand club of Superior regarding the packaging of Chicago mail arriving over the Omaha prior to the arrival of the train here and in readiness for the carriers to start out on their routes, has conferred with Postmaster Fisher in a preliminary way. The committee is composed of A. C. Weiss and J. D. Howard.

Postmaster Fisher says that the matter was referred to the superintendent of the railway mail service at St. Paul some time ago, and it is still in his hands. While there is nothing definite about it, Mr. Fisher believes that with a little agitation the improvement may be brought about. Just now, and until July 1, the railway service will be short of funds to provide an additional messenger on this train, and the time of the one man is said to be so much taken up that it will be impossible for him to route the mail as desired.

CROPS FAVORABLE

According to Reports of Wisconsin Agricultural Board.

St. Paul, June 4.—A Madison, Wis., special to the Dispatch says: Reports to Secretary True of the state board of agriculture from over fifty correspondents in the state, show Wisconsin crops in a very favorable condition. Spring wheat and oats are 5 per cent above the average, winted wheat and rye normal. Small fruits are below the average, rated at 90 per cent. There is an increase of 16 per cent in acreage of tobacco, 5 per cent in potatoes and 4½ per cent in corn.

TO MEET AT EAU CLAIRE.

Wisconsin Odd Fellows and Rebekkahs So Decide.

St. Paul, June 4.—A La Crosse, Wis., special to the Dispatch says: The Odd Fellows and Rebekkahs have decided to hold their next grand lodge meeting at Eau Claire. Milwaukee put in a strong bid to have it in the Cream City permanently, instead of at different points in the state, but the majority were against it. Sheboygan and Madison were out for the next meeting also. Jennie Howe, of River Falls, was elected new trustee of the Rebekkah home.

The officers elected were as follows: Grand master, H. H. Stewart, West Superior; deputy grand master, Col. H. R. Nelson, LaCrosse; grand warden, E. A. Kehr, Milwaukee; grand secretary, R. Hoe, of Milwaukee; grand treasurer, D. Adler, Milwaukee; trustee for three years, T. C. Longwell, Sparta; directors of Odd Fellows' home at Green Bay for three years, David Adler, Milwaukee; H. E. Manuel, Oshkosh.

SOUTH DAKOTA.

Republican State Convention Will Be Harmonious.

Sioux Falls, June 4.—The Republican state convention which convened at 2 o'clock today, is likely to be most harmonious. United States Senator Kittredge will be unanimously indorsed for election to the full term, commencing March 4, 1903.

Congressmen Martin and Burke will be renominated by acclamation as is also the case of Governor Herreid, Lieutenant Governor Snow and Secretary of State Berg. Philo Hall will be nominated by acclamation for attorney general and J. F. Halliday for state auditor. The remainder of the officers are being contested.

STRIKE AT SHEBOYGAN.

Street Car Employes Walk Out In Body.

Milwaukee, June 4.—An Evening Wisconsin special from Sheboygan, Wis., says: The street railroad employes walked out today and not a car is moving in this city. The mail car on the Falls line is carrying the mail, however. The conductors and motormen on the interurban line are now getting $55 per month for 11 hours' work. The motormen on the city line get the same pay, while the city conductors get $50 per month. The men demand 16 cents an hour, save conductors in the city, who ask for 17 cents per hour. The company refused to give it.

CONSUL FOR MARTINIQUE.

John F. Jewell to Accept the Position.

Washington, June 4.—President Roosevelt has found a competent man willing to undergo the dangers of another eruption of Mount Pelee, in the island of Martinique. He is John F. Jewell, of Galena, Ill., who appeared before the board of officers at the state department and was examined to ascertain his fitness to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Consul Prentiss at St. Pierre. His nomination was sent to the senate today. The department is anxious that he shall reach Fort de France as quickly as possibly in order that he may relieve Consul Ayme, whose post is at Guadaloupe, and who has been compelled to attend not only to the consular business of his own island, but to that of Martinique as well.

AMERICAN LABOR UNION.

A New Political Party Organized at Denver.

Denver, June 4.—The organization of a new political labor party has finally been agreed upon by the Western Labor union convention, which adopted a declaration for socialism and independent political action. The convention today adopted the name "The American Labor union" for the organization, and voted to send organizers throughout the East. President Daniel McDonald says the party will not enter the field with nominations for at least another year.

INVESTIGATION

Of Coal Strike Asked By New York Board.

New York, June 4.—At a meeting of the board of trade and transportation today, Oscar S. Strauss, presiding, resolutions were adopted urging President Roosevelt to appoint a commissioner to investigate the situation in the anthracite region and to see if the miners and operators could not be induced to arbitrate their differences. Such power, it was declared, was invested in the chief executive by chapter 103 of the federal laws dealing with difficulties or controversies which may affect interstate commerce.

STATUE FOR STEUBEN.

Washington, June 4.—The house committee on library today ordered favorable report upon a bill appropriating $50,000 for an equestrian statue of Baron Steuben to be erected in Washington.

EXPENSES IN CUBA

Washington, June 4.—When the house met today Mr. Hull (Iowa), chairman of the committee on military affairs, reported back the resolution calling upon the secretary of war for a detailed statement of the expenditures made under the direction of Gen. Leonard Wood during his administration as governor general of Cuba, with the recommendation that it lie upon the table, and moved the adoption of the report. Upon that question Mr. Hay (Va.) demanded the ayes and noes and the roll was called. The report was adopted, 110 to 78.

BISHOP GRANDIN DEAD.

Winnipeg, Man., June 4.—Bishop Grandin, first Roman Catholic bishop of St. Albert, died yesterday at St. Albert after a lengthy illness. His see included the entire territory of Alberta and he was the senior bishop of Canada, having been consecrated in 1859. He came to the Northwest about the year 1851 and has traveled the entire north country, including the Makenzie river district on snow shoes and by dog trains. He was most popular with his people.

FLETCHER

Is Opposed to Passage of the Morris Timber Bill.

Washington June 4.—Representative Fletcher is opposed to the Morris bill because of the attitude of the Minneapolis lumbermen, who are opposed to authorizing the sale of timber by sealed bids. If consideration is asked for it under unanimous consent he will object personally, and in so doing he says he believes he will represent those of his constituents who have an interest in the bill.

"I do not believe," he said, "in a few men getting together in a back office and fixing up a scheme for the sale of Indian pines."

Judge Morris has not asked unanimous consent for the consideration of the bill, because of the hope held out that a day will be assigned by the committee on rules for the consideration of Indian bills. If time is not granted, he will call the bill up under unanimous consent and let Mr. Fletcher or any other member object to its consideration. Judge Morris has known of Mr. Fletcher's and Mr. Eddy's opposition to the scale bid clause and has been working with them to win their consent to have the bill considered. ---er such consent is given, Judge Morris is willing that amendments be offered if either Fletcher or Eddy wants to offer them.

Mr. Warren, of Cass Lake, arrived in Washington to assist in the passage of the Morris timber bill. Mr. Warren says that persons who are attempting to locate on sections 16 and 36 in the reservations under the supreme court decision will be disappointed because he believes that while all the ceded land belongs to the government it can only be disposed of in accordance with the terms of the Nelson law as amended by the Morris bill when the latter passes.

HELPED BY ROGERS.

How Mark Twain Recovered His Ground Financially.

New York, June 4.—Mark Twain, who is now visiting his boynood home in Missouri, has let it be known that he recovered his ground financially, largely through the help of H. H. Rogers, the Standard Oil man. Ever since the Webster failure and the announcement by Mr. Clemens that he would personally pay off all the debts of that firm, Mr. Rogers has been taking all of the earnings of Mr. Clemens outside of the money absolutely needed for his living expenses, and has been investing it to decided advantage for the writer. As a result of these investments, Mr. Clemens has been able to pay off all obligations, amounting to more than $100,000, and to pay $47,000 for Hill Crest, his new home and now, with the income from his investments and the royalties from his books, he has sufficient income to maintain his home and himself in comfort to the end of his days.

MRS. FLAGLER'S DELUSION.

Thinks That She Is Engaged to the Czar.

New York, June 4.—Mrs. Ida M. Flagler, formerly the wife of Henry M. Flagler, has been removed from the sanitarium in Pleasantville, Westchester county, where she has been confined three years, to "The Orchards," the large mansion of Francis Wilson, in New Rochelle. Dr. Carlos F. Macdonald, the insanity expert, paid the actor $9000 for the use of the house while Mr. Wilson and his family are in Europe this summer.

Mrs. Flagler made the journey willingly when told she was being taken to the palace of his imperial majesty, the czar of Russia. Mrs. Flagler has a delusion that she is engaged to be married to the czar, and is constantly talking about details which she has arranged for the wedding. On all other subjects her conversation is rational.

SHE LEFT A COURT

Ran Away to America to Marry Her Heart's Choice.

Mrs. Dalwigk of San Antonio Was of Noble German Birth.

Emperor William and Czar Nicholas Were Her Sponsors.

San Antonio, Tex., June 4.—With the death of Mrs. Elizabeth Hovell Dalwigk in this city, terminated a life replete with romantic and pathetic interest.

Although Mrs. Dalwigk had lived here and in this vicinity for thirty years, only her most intimate friends knew that she was of noble German birth and in her childhood had been the playmate of royalty. The present Prince Henry of Prussia, whose recent visit to the United States made him an interesting figure in American minds, was one of her childhood friends, and to her close friends she related several amusing incidents of his boyhood.

Mrs. Dalwigk was born on the estate of her parents, near Koenigsburg, Prussia, Aug. 17, 1854. Her father was the Baron Von Hovell and her mother the Countess Clara Von Stein. When she was baptized the sponsors were Emperor William I of Germany and Czar Nicholas of Russia. The Grand Field Marshal Oscar Von Wrangel of Prussia was her uncle. She was the pet of the German imperial court, and was given every advantage that nobility can bestow.

At the age of 14 she formed an attachment for a young nobleman, the Baron Von Stein. The union was not looked upon with favor by her parents, who had higher hopes for her. With the impetuosity of youth and love, she consented to an elopement, and the couple came to America, landing at Savannah, Ga., in 1868. They were married there. This runaway marriage cut her off from hope of fortune and from her title, but no one ever heard her repine that she had given them up to follow the dictates of her heart.

With her husband she came by sea to Corpus Christi. While bathing in the surf there she narrowly escaped being eaten by a giant shark. The journey from Corpus Christi to San Antonio was made in an ambulance with a wagon train, then the only safe method of travel because of the hordes of Indians that infested Southwest Texas.

Her first husband died here, and she married again, this time also with one of noble blood, the Baron Von Dalwigk, but he discarded his title when he settled in America. This marriage took place in Boerne, Tex., in 1882.

By the second marriage she had three sons, all living. Up to within a few years of her death she was in affluent circumstances, but in later years was very poor. But she absolutely refused to appeal to her rich and titled German relatives.

She was a woman of rare intellect and many accomplishments. She wrote in verse a description of her trip from Savannah to San Antonio, and illustrated it with pen and ink sketches.

Many incidents of her life in the German court were recalled by her. Among these was one the hero of which was Prince Henry of Prussia. The young prince disliked his bath, and his mother, then the Princess Victoria, determined upon a severe punishment. Henry was a stickler, even in his babyhood, for military etiquette, and demanded that all the soldiers about the place salute him. His mother instructed the sentry at the door not to salute him unless he had bathed. So when Prince Henry ran away from his bath and returned the sentry gave no salute as he passed. Henry complained to his grandfather, the Emperor William. The latter had been informed by Princess Victoria of the punishment she intended to inflict, but he went with the boy to the sentry and asked why the young prince had not been saluted.

'My orders are to salute no personage of whatever rank who has not had his daily bath. Prince Henry has not yet bathed," replied the sentry.

The old emperor turned on the boy sternly.

"Can it be possible that a grandson of mine has so far forgotten his station as to neglect his bath?" he said.

Henry was overcome with confusion, and ran to his nurse for a bath. When it was over he returned and was properly saluted.

DENIED BY GATES.

Not Turned Down By Union League Club.

New York, June 4.—Charles G. Gates son of John W. Gates, received the following telegram from his father in regard to the rumors that the elder Gates had been rejected as a prospective member of the Union League club:

"Was never proposed and never thought of being a member of the Union League club, New York. Story is a lie made out of whole cloth."

Young Mr. Gates said that so far as he was concerned he never had any intention or desire to join the Union League, but if his name was proposed he had absolutely no knowledge of it, and further, it was done without his consent.

ASCENT OF PELEE

George Kennan Tells of Trip to the Crater.

A Huge Chasm or Crevasse With Perpendicular Walls.

The Spectacle on the Mountain Was Truly Appalling.

Fort de France, June 4.—George Keenan, accompanied by Messrs. Jaccacli and Varian, arrived here at 11 o'clock yesterday morning, after an absence of twelve days. Professor Angelo Heilprin, president of the Philadelphia Geographical society, who is in Martinique under the auspices of the National Geographical society, and Mr. Leadbetter, are expected to reach Fort de France soon.

Professor Heilprin, Mr. Keenan and Mr. Varian have ascended Mount Pelee. They stood on the very edge of the crater and looked down on the incandescent mass within. This ascent was made last Sunday, and it was the second time Professor Heilprin climbed the mountain. All the explorers are in perfect health and good spirits. No accidents occurred on the trip up the mountain, although the first explorers were exposed to many hardships and dangers. In an interview with the Associated Press, Mr. Kennan said:

"I must preface all I have to say by paying the highest possible tribute to Professor Heilprin. He is modest and brave, a superb mountaineer, and the nerviest and pluckiest man I ever knew. Professor Heilprin's first ascent of Mount Pelee last Saturday with Mr. Leadbetter was a most awful experience, yet he started a second time undaunted.

"Five of us started for the crater of the volcano last Sunday, and three of us reached our objective. We crossed Lake Palmiste, which is now dry and full of boulders and huge, ragged rocks of trachyte, rhyolite and andesite. We then climbed on up and reached the edge of the crater. We found it to be a huge chasm or crevasse, with perpendicular walls. We could not see down into the crater more than 150 feet; it was like looking into a white-hot furnace. The chasm opens out towards St. Pierre, but the enormous columns of steam cut off the view in that direction. There were hundreds of fumaroles all about us. What was thought to be a cone of cinders in the crater was learned in reality to be a huge pile of granite rocks piled up one upon the other. There were crusts of sulphur everywhere, but we saw no ashes or cinders in or near the crater. The whole vast bed of the old cater and of Lake Palmiste is emitting steam through thousands of orifices.

"The ascent to Lake Palmiste is up a long and sharp incline covered with ashes. These had been soaked by the rain, and as we proceeded there were terrifying gorges full of hot, volcanic debris on each side of us. Every footstep dislodged ashes, and our footing was most insecure. There were also clouds of sulphurous smoke, through which the sunlight swept at intervals. The ascent was the most terrifying experience of my life, yet Professor Heilprin, the previous day, had sat enveloped in darkness on the lip of what was once Lake Palmiste and had descended the horrible arete in a thunderstorm of volcanic clouds and almost complete darkness. Mr. Leadbetter was with him.

"May 23—We went to Vive plantation, the property of Herman Clerc. Vive is on the river Capot, into which flows the river Failaise from the new crater. Vive is in the new volcanic area, and our position there was very dangerous.

"May 24—We went to Basse Pointe.

"May 25—We went to St. Pierre and returned to Basse Pointe by way of Morne Rouge. Our party was the first to make this trip.

"We followed the old road to the point where the volcanic tornado had swept across it, and from there we followed down the track of the tornado. The spectacle here was truly appalling. There were numberless bodies on every side.

"On the night of the 26th occurred the great explosion of he volcano. All that day Mount Pelee had been vomiting masses of yellow, mud-colored vapor. We now know that this presages a serious explosion. We heard fearful detonations during the 26th, and huge columns of black smoke, alive with lightning-like and terrifying flashes, rose from the crater. One column, which rose to the height of a mile and a half, was lit up like fire from the fierce reflection of the incandescent mass within the crater. The population of Vive plantation became panic stricken at the eruption and went to Acier, twenty miles further away. Mr. Jaccacl and I returned to Vive.

"The day had been one of terrifying experiences and of inconceivable grandeur.

"Another enormous explosion occurred the morning of the twenty-eighth, and Vive was declared to be untenable. We all abandoned the plantation and, taking furniture, bedding and provisions, we went to Acier, which from that day was our base. The 30th we started to ascend the crater from this side, along the Cale Basse divide.

"From the crest of the divide we had a wonderful view of the awful failaise valley, which was a trembling, seething gorge of terrible volcanic activity. We were driven back by a severe thunderstorm and very nearly lost each other in the dense volcanic clouds. We planted a record stake at the highest point we reached, on which we inscribed our names. While at Morne Rouge we saw and interrogated the man who was rescued from the dungeon in St. Pierre and who is the only real survivor of the city.

"On Sunday, the first of June, the five members of our party, Prof. Heilprin, Mr. Leadbetter, Mr. Jaccacl, Mr. Varian and myself started to make the ascent. Mr. Jaccacl came down with mountain fever on the Arete and Mr. Leadbetter became exhausted. They did not reach the crater. June 2 we rested and went to La Trinite and today we are here safe and sound.

"I forgot to say we planted another record stake alongside the crater on the summit. Prof. Heilprin is well and will probably come into Fort de France very soon."

EXCHANGED PRESENTS.

Prince Henry Deals With One of His Seamen.

Berlin, June 4.—Admiral Prince Henry of Prussia has exchanged presents with an ordinary seaman of his squadron.

When Prince Henry's grandmother, Queen Louise, was fleeing from Napoleon in 1806, she took shelter one night in the dwelling of a peasant. The next morning the queen gave her peasant host a beautiful watch, together with certain documents, which were preserved in this peasant family as heirlooms.

This watch came eventually to be carried by a sailor on a vessel of Prince Henry's squadron. Prince Henry noticed the sailor's timepiece, examined and admired it, whereupon the owner presented it to the prince. The gift was accepted by Prince Henry with courteous expressions of his thanks. Later the prince made inquiries concerning the sailor's aspirations, and as a result he secured his entrance to the school of navigation at Hamburg and gave him money with which to pay all the expenses of a course there.

Prince Henry is building a second "silver chamber" in Kiel castle to accommodate a large and rare collection of silverware which he has inherited from the late Prince George of Prussia.

$5000 Worth of Rain Damaged Merchandise at Tremendous Sacrifices.

Tomorrow we place on sale all the goods that were damaged by the heavy rains of Sunday afternoon and night, June 1st. The quantities that will be offered are much greater than we anticipated. Thousands will doubtless be on hand bright and early tomorrow morning to take advantage of the many unusual bargains that will be offered at this sale of rain damaged goods. Everything offered has been wet by the rains, more or less, but we do not know of a single article that is injured so as to be worthless. The commercial value of everything has been lessened, but the value to the consumer of nearly every article placed on sale is as great as ever. Therefore it is a time of exceptional economy. The Bargain Counters Will Be Filled With the Rain Damaged Goods. We can not get everything on these counters. Some of the lots are to be sold in the departments.

INDIANA PLATFORM

As Adopted By the Democrats In State Convention.

Denounces the Republicans In No Uncertain Terms.

Chairman Kern Speaks of the Reunited Democracy.

Indianapolis, June 4.—The Democratic state convention was called to order at 10:20 o'clock by W. H. O'Brien, vice chairman of the state central committee. He introduced Rev. John Branstetter, of Indianapolis, who delivered a short prayer. Chairman O'Brien then called for the report of the committee on rules and permanent organization, which recommended that John W. Kern, of Indianapolis, be made permanent chairman. The chairman was greeted with great applause as he came on the platform. After expressing his thanks for the honor given him, he spoke in part as follows:

CHAIRMAN KERN'S SPEECH.

I am deeply grateful for the great honor you have done me in calling upon me to preside over the deliberations of this splendid convention representing the Democracy of the commonwealth which comprises nearly a third of a million of the bravest and truest of men, who ever waged battle in behalf of constitutional government.

I rejoice that today I see before me the reunited forces of the Indiana Democracy. It is the old party of Hendricks and McDonald and Voorhees and Gray, whose representatives are here today assembled. For the first time since 1892 we are without a schism or division and it is known everywhere, by none better than our Republican opponents, that when the Indiana Democracy is united it is invincible. That there have been unfortunate divisions in the recent past, is a matter of history. That there have been bitter formations and recriminations amongst us is equally true. Yet, there has been and is such patriotism in the great Democratic host, that when the constitution is imperilled, the principles of the Declaration of Independence set at naught, the teachings of the fathers repudiated, when monopoly and monopolists seek to gain the citadel of government for the exploitations of schemes and the oppression of the people minor differences are laid aside, the bitter words spoken are forgotten and remembering only duty to country, the great forces of Democracy rally about the flag of the republic, find common ground upon constitution and declaration, and standing together as they did in the days of Hendricks are ready to win an old-time Democratic victory in Indiana.

Let us invoke the spirit of harmony here today. Let this be an occasion for the burial of all the ill feelings of recent years. Let personal ambition be offered up as a sacrifice and let us have such a new baptism of patriotic force, as will send us forth from here, to battle as we have not battled before for the success of those principles upon which the permanent welfare of this government so largely depends.

It is the mission of the Democratic party to see to it that the blessings of modern civilization shall in this free government be enjoyed by all the people rather than by the favored few. In the spirit of progress let us address ourselves to the solution of the new problems which are being so rapidly presented to us, and see to it that they are solved in accordance with the constitution, in the light of the immortal principles of the Declaration of Independence and in the interests of the sovereigns of this land, who, by their labor, physical and mental, earn the wealth of the nation and who in the hour of peril, defend their country's flag.

By "progress," I mean progress in the direction of democracy, rather than plutocracy. I mean a progress that carries us away from the policies of Caesar, Alexander, Xerxes and George III. But moves grandly forward in the pathway blazed out by Jefferson and Patrick Henry and traveled by Lincoln and Douglas.

The battle is on between the forces of progress and retrogression. Our opponents, facing the past, are seeking to commence the work of conquest and subjugation where Caesar and George III left off. The specious and eloquent pleas of Roosevelt, Lodge and Beveridge for the conquest of distant lands are but reproductions of the arguments made in favor of the subjugation of Greece, the partition of Poland, the destruction of Hungary, the spoliation of the Dutch republics in South Africa and the oppression of our own revolutionary fathers. The aims and purposes declared by modern Republican leaders for the uplifting of the people, whose liberty they would destroy are no nobler or higher than the declared purposes of tyrants of a thousand years ago.

Only yesterday the melancholy announcement was made of the deaths of two splendid republics in South Africa after a struggle disgraceful to the conquerors and glorious to the conquered. I believe, as I believe that the Lord liveth that had the Democratic party been in control of the government of this country, the gallant people of those two republics would today be free. There would have been no recruiting or supply stations maintained by a monarchy in the land of Washington and Lincoln had William Jennings Bryan or Grover Cleveland been president of the United States.

Only a few days ago a new republic was born—the republic of Cuba. While the destruction of the Dutch republics is England's shame, the birth of the Cuban republic is America's glory. In Cuba the American flag went up as the emblem of liberty and it came down as proudly as it went up, the emblem of self-government. It went up in honor; it came down in glory. It was because of that resolution, pressed by Democratic statesmen and forced upon an unwilling Republican administration, pledging the honor of this country against the conquest of Cuba, that Cuba is today a free republic.

I think we may indulge the hope that some time in the future another star may be added to the American flag to represent the sovereign state of Cuba in the American union. But she must come into our sisterhood of states as did the republic of Texas with the free will of her people.

The name of W. J. Bryan was greeted with loud cheers when it was mentioned by Mr. Kern.

The report of the committee on credentials was a mere formality, there being no contests.

It was adopted unanimously. Chairman Shively, of South Bend, of the committee on resolutions, then read the platform, which was as follows:

THE PLATFORM.

We, the delegates of the Democratic party of the state of Indiana, in convention assembled, do hereby adopt the following declaration of principles and appeal to our fellow citizens who agree with these principles to co-operate with us in the coming campaign.

We denounce the Republican party for its surrender to, and alliance with, the trusts and we favor such legislation as will suppress and destroy all trusts or combinations to control the production and the price of commodities.

We denounce the Dingley tariff law as the breeder of trusts and demand that tariff duties shall be levied for the purposes of revenue only and limited by the needs of the government honestly and economically administered.

We condemn the Republican party for refusing to give the interstate commerce commission power to enforce its decisions again discriminations in railroad rates which discriminations have been a patent cause of the creation and maintenance of trusts and we demand that the commission be given power to suppress this evil.

We favor the restoration and expansion of our merchant marine. To this end we demand the reformation of our navigation and tariff laws, which are and have been the chief obstacle to our ocean commerce.

We denounce the ship subsidy bill recently passed by the United States senate with the assistance of senators from Indiana, as an iniquitous appropriation of public funds for private purposes and a wasteful, illogical and useless attempt to overcome by subsidy the obstructions raised by Republican legislation to the growth and development of American commerce on the seas.

We are opposed to the Fowler bank bill, endorsed by the Republican leaders, which would give the people a paper currency based on bank assets of unknown value and for which the government is not responsible; we are also opposed to its proposal of bank concentration and formation of a great banking trust and are also opposed to its proposal to destroy the security of depositors in banks.

We recognize as an economical fact the increase of standard money arising from the vast increased production of gold from our own and foreign mines and the prodigious influx of foreign gold into this country, as a result of an exceptional demand for our products arising from foreign and other wars and other causes, and we point to the results consequent upon this increase of circulating medium as a demonstration of the truth of the quantative theory of money.

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their creator with certain inalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. That to secure the rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just power from the consent of the governed. Therefore, we denounce and condemn the Philippine policy of the present administration. It has embroiled the republic in an unnecessary war, sacrificed the lives of many of its noblest sons and placed the United States, previously known and applauded throughout the war as the champion of freedom in the false and un-American position of crushing with military force the efforts of our former allies to achieve liberty and self-government. The Filipinos cannot be citizens without endangering our civilization; they cannot be subjects without imperiling our form of government; and as we are not willing to surrender our civilization to turn the republic into an empire, we favor an immediate declaration of the nation's purpose to assist the Filipinos to establish for themselves an independent government protecting them from outside interference and securing to this country such commercial and naval rights and advantages as would be just and fully and fairly protect American interests.

We hold in reverence the valor, the patriotism and service of the soldiers and sailors of the republic and will at all times and in all places give our support to our army and navy, which have always and everywhere maintained the dignity, power and honor of American people. The beautiful shaft that rises above the capitol of our commonwealth is a worthy monument to the memory of these silent victors of Indiana, who so freely offered their lives to secure the perpetuity of our free institutions.

We favor liberal pensions to the soldiers and sailors of the republic and their dependents.

We congratulate the republic of Cuba upon its entering into the family of nations. We deplore the cruel and wanton destruction of the republics of South Africa.

We favor the construction and control of an isthmian canal.

We favor the election of United States senators by popular vote.

We favor freedom of debate in the legislative bodies of the state and nation. The Republican party has by rules made the popular branch of congress, the house of representatives, subject to the arbitrary control and domination of a few members, thus disfranchising constituencies in matters of vital legislation.

We deplore the death of President McKinley at the hands of a self-confessed anarchist, whose unholy crime was committed against the whole nation.

We denounce anarchy in all its forms and declare that it should not be permitted to find abiding place in this country.

We endorse the course of our Democratic representatives in congress for standing for economy in public expenditures; for just principles of government and for the doctrines of the Democratic party.

We point with pride to the long list of laws enacted by the Democratic legislators of the state in the interest of labor and we favor the enactment of such further legislation as will prevent the sending or transfer of accounts or other obligations to persons out of the state for the purpose of oppressing the laboring man by unjust and expensive proceedings in attachments and garnishments.

We denounce the hypocrisy of the Republican party in assuming to itself credit for the reduction of the state debt, when it is a well known fact that the state debt has been reduced by the operation of the Democratic tax law of 1891, under which railroads and other corporations have been compelled to pay a more just portion of the public burdens.

We are in favor of the principle of local self-government and of leaving the control of local matters in the hands of people of the counties, cities and townships of the state.

We oppose granting to corporations of any other state or states, the power to acquire any railroad operating under laws of this state.

We are in favor of restoring to the citizens of this state, the right to appeal to the supreme and appelate courts in any civil case within the jurisdiction of a justice of the peace, where the amount in controversy exclusive of interest and costs exceeds fifty dollars.

The wisdom, prudence and foresight of the Democracy of Indiana placed the penal and benevolent institutions of the state under humane and non-partisan laws and administered them in harmony with the reformatory and benevolent purposes for which they were founded. The vicious and cruel prostitutions of these institutions to partisan ends by the present administration merits condemnation by the people of the state.

We call attention to the fact that the last Republican legislature was the most reckless and vicious in the abuse of executive power in the history of the state, its deeds of combinations and omissions should serve as a warning to the people of the state against further continuance of the Republican party in this commonwealth.

We condemn the Republican governor of Indiana for his violation of the constitution of laws of the United States and the state of Indiana in his refusal to honor the requisition of the governor of Kentucky upon regularly returned indictments for murder against fugutives from justice and denounce this flagrant violation of his oath to support the constitution of the United States and the state of Indiana as a species or original lawlessness, vicious in itself and subversive of that comity among the states, which is an essential element of the union of the states.

The report was adopted with much enthusiasm. The convention then proceeded to the nomination of a candidate for secretary of state, Alfred Schoenover, of Attica, and O. L. Ballou, of La Grange, being placed in nomination. The result of the first ballot was: Schoenover, 528; Ballou, 719. The former was declared nominated, and upon motion of Mr. Ballou the nomination was declared to be unanimous.

For attorney general but one name was presented, that of William E. Stillwell, of Gibson county. He was nominated by acclamation.

For state auditor, James P. Riggs, of Sullivan, was nominated by acclamation, there being no other names presented. Jerome Herff, of Peru, was nominated for state treasurer by acclamation.

Adam Heimberger was nominated for clerk of the supreme court by acclamation.

The remainder of the ticket chosen is: For superintendent of public instruction, Samuel L. Scott, Jeffersonville; for state statistician, Marion D. King, Marion county; for state geologist, Edward Bassett; judge of the supreme court, T. E. Howard, South Bend.

AN UMBRELLA ROMANCE.

It isn't often that an umbrella is a factor in the course of true love and plays a part that makes its current run smoothly, yet that is what happened a few months ago with the result of a happy consummation that has just followed, according to the story told by the head of one of the big houses in the wholesale district, says the Kansas City Star.

"I was not at all pleased with the attention that my daughter was receiving from a poor young lawyer," he said, in telling the story, "not because he was poor, but I feared that he did not possess qualifications that would ever raise him above poverty. The fact is, I was prejudiced against him and let my daughter know that I did not approve of him; but, as usual, that made no difference, and he came to the house with provoking regularity.

"One night when he was ready to take his deuarture for his home, about half a mile away, he found that it was raining, and my daughter lent him my choice umbrella. I knew from dear experience what a dangerous experiment that was, and when my daughter told me what she had done—as soon as he had gone—I was provoked indeed.

"I went back to the book I had been reading, and the house quieted down for the night. In about thirty minutes the front door bell rang, and as the servants had all retired, I went to see who was there. The rain was pouring hard then, and there at the door stood the young man with my umbrella in his hand and his own over his head. As he handed me mine he thanked me for the loan of it, and raising his hat went away before I could speak, for, to tell the truth, I was a little astonished.

"That episode changed my opinion of the young man, for I made up my mind that if he was so particular about returning an umbrella he possessed qualifications that would make a man of him if he had opportunities. I was right, too. I discouraged his visits no longer, and the result was that he became my son-in-law, and is now the attorney of this bank."

Shortage of Subsidiary Coin.

The shortage of small change dimes, quarters and halves of dollars which has been so annoying to many merchants during the past few year will soon be done away with, as the bill to increase the lawful amount of currency that may be coined will be passed by congress. The law at present limits the total stock of subsidiary coins in this country to $100,000,000. The demand for small silver coins has been so heavy during the past few years that the treasury has been forced to go very slow in order not to exhaust the legal limit of coinage, and thus impose more or less of a currency famine on the business community of the country. It is now proposed by congress to change the big stock of silver bullion which is stored in the treasury into subsidiary coin. At the beginning of the current fiscal year the general stock of money in the United States showed, of standard silver dollars, $559,732,617, and of subsidiary silver $91,975,381. If the United States stops the coinage of silver dollars and limits the output of silver money to subsidiary coins, it will only be following the example of other countries. It is shown by official reports that the United States has not only a larger per capita stock of full legal tender silver, but a smaller per capita of subsidiary coin than most of the principal gold standard countries of the world. Austria, Great Britain, Japan, Russia, Finland, Denmark, Canada and Australia report no full legal tender silver whatever. During the past year Austria has changed $50,000,000 and Germany $12,000,000 into subsidiary coin. France and the Netherlands are the only gold standard nations whose per capita of full legal tender silver exceeds ours, but in the case of France her per capita of gold is very much greater proportionately to the silver which she carries. There is no reason why the demands of the business men for subsidizing coin should not be granted. They call for it because they want it and are annoyed because they cannot get it. The prompt passage of the bill will relieve all of this.

It Would Be Discrimination.

The persistence of the clerks in some of the departments at Washington to further their own ends certainly needs a strong rebuke from the executive, and one that will be heeded. As the result of continued work on the members of congress by certain parties a bill has been prepared "To provide for compensation for certain employes of the treasury, war, navy and executive departments" which appropriates something more than $60,000 to pay certain clerks in the departments named for having worked in excess of their customary six hours and thirty minutes a day during the period of war with Spain. Considering the fact that all the officers and high-grade clerical employes of these departments are continually called upon to work over hours and render the service cheerfully as one of the contingencies of their occupation, it seems as if this proposed legislation were a discrimination in favor of a limited class. If it is to be the rule that clerks are to be paid for overtime, there ought to be some understanding about it, and the distribution ought to be made universal. In the patent office, for instance, eighty or ninety members of the examining corps have been kept at their task for an hour extra every day for two years, excepting during the three months of summer. Yet nobody proposes to pay the patent examiners extra. The proposition to pay a certain class of government clerks for overtime and not all, would be class legislation pure and simple and should not be tolerated for a moment.

A CHANGE NEEDED.

A letter from Former Mayor Lewis, published in another column, draws attention to the manner in which the city is saddled with needless expense by the bringing of trivial personal quarrels before the municipal court. As an example of the character of the cases to which he refers, Mr. Lewis tells the story of a case that was before the court yesterday and cost the city from $50 to $75. These cases are instituted with the permission of the city attorney's office, the assistant city attorney being in direct charge of them. Why he should permit complaints to be filed in trivial, unmeritorious cases, without at least requiring the complainants to guarantee the full amount of the costs in the event of failure to convict the defendants, is not apparent. Even if the costs are guaranteed it is manifestly unfair and unjust to the defendants to subject them to trouble and expense without good cause, while it is outrageous to waste the valuable time of the court and jurors in this manner.

The case cited by Mr. Lewis is not an isolated one. Similar instances have at various times come to the notice of The Herald. It is hoped that the city attorney will direct his assistant to exercise greater judgment in accepting complaints in petty quarrels, and to protect the city from needless expense.

YEAR OF CALAMITIES.

The prophets of evil who predicted that 1902 would be a year of great disasters apparently were correct, though it would be strange if they did not "strike it right" some year, as they have been uttering their dire prophecies for a long time past.

The most terrible death-dealing occurrence, in more ways than one, so far this year, was the Martinique eruption, causing the death of 40,000 people; some 2000 more were similarly killed on St. Vincent, and earlier 6000 were destroyed in Guatemala by an earthquake. A Texas cyclone recently left about 100 souls dead, besides other havoc in its track; a hurricane in British India destroyed hundreds; Japan, by similar means, has lost thousands; a Colorado snowslide crushed the life out of forty, and a naphtha explosion and its consequent flames horribly killed several score at Sheridan, Pa., recently. Then there was the coal mine horror at Coal Creek, Tenn., where 150 men perished in the mine, and later the coal-mine horror at Fernie, British Columbia.

Not to mention all the destructive casualties and calamities, it has been figured up that already this year volcanic eruptions and earthquakes have destroyed nearly 50,000 lives, storms about 700, tornadoes 450, cyclones 220, floods 330, avalanches 230, tidal waves 100, snowslides 40. Add to these those lost in mines, railroad accidents, vessel wrecks, fires in buildings, and the total loss would figure up an appalling number. Perhaps the remainder of the year may not prove so calamitous. Everyone will seriously trust that the epidemic has ended.

A DENIAL OF JUSTICE.

The edict has gone forth from the leaders of legislation in congress that the bill for the admission to the Union of Oklahoma, Arizona and New Mexico must not be passed at this session, and the chances are that the people of these territories will have to wait for some time before they are in a position to enjoy the benefits of statehood. The delegates in the house from Arizona, Oklahoma and New Mexico are not wholly discouraged, however, but are determined to keep quietly working, hoping that a favorable opportunity will come before the end of the session, when they may get their bill out of committee.

The older and most influential senators are against the bill. They agree that to admit these three territories as states would give to the West six additional votes, and would disturb the equilibrium of the senate. Under present conditions the strong New England coterie, with the aid of two or three Middle Western senators, just about control the senate. Young Western senators have of late made heavy inroads on the privileges and heretofore exclusive prerogatives of the New England men, so that the latter are somewhat concerned lest they should entirely lose their grip. They have decided that it would be exceedingly unwise to admit six new senators by giving statehood to New Mexico, Oklahoma and Arizona, so the territories will have to wait. Senator Beveridge, the chairman of the committee on territories, says that there will be no opportunity for discussing the house bill in his committee this session. He explains that aside from the pressure of business before the committee on territories, the heavy work imposed on him and other members of this committee elsewhere renders it impossible to give the time that would be required in a full discussion of the territory bill. Senator Beveridge says that before action is taken on the statehood omnibus bill the members of the committee will want to consider it thoroughly. He believes that there will be no opportunity for this during the present session. Even should the bill be reported from the committee, he says, it could not possibly be given time on the floor for discussion.

Of course, the real reason for the postponement of the admission of the territories is the possible political complexion that the new states would acquire. That is thoroughly understood, and it is not to be expected that the Republican majority would allow the passage of the bill, unless forced to do so.

CHINA'S ONE FRIEND.

On several occasions the United States has shown that she is the one real friend of China among the great powers. This is again apparent in the efforts of Secretary Hay to induce the other powers to permit China to pay the indemnity due on account of the Boxer outrages in accordance with the rates of exchange prevailing in September, 1901, when the Pekin protocol was signed. Thus far none of the powers have agreed to this proposal, which means that China must disburse more than $70,000,000 in addition to the sum of $324,000,000, which she originally agreed to turn over to the Western governments. The increase in China's debt is due to the depreciation of silver. Reports recently received by the state department from Minister Conger show that the value of silver has steadily declined, and the Chinese officials are seriously alarmed over the prospect that the indemnity due the powers will be largely increased as a result. China is on a silver basis, and the Pekin protocol requires that the indemnity shall be paid in gold.

Since the negotiations of the Pekin protocol was begun Secretary Hay has urged upon the powers the advisability of treating China with consideration. He has kept steadily in mind the idea that if China be impoverished by the imposition of exorbitant demands the commercial interests of foreign nations will suffer decided injury. Washington officials believe that if the powers insist that China shall pay according to existing rates of exchange, there will be a renewal of anti-indemnity riots, such as recently occurred near the border of the province of Shantung. In order to prevent any such condition from arising, Secretary Hay instructed Minister Conger, at Pekin, some days ago, to bring to the attention of his colleagues the advisability of authorizing China to pay the indemnity at the gold valuation of the Haikwan tael, in which the indemnity was calculated as fixed by the Pekin protocol. This protocol has a table giving the value of the tael in the currency of different countries.

A copy of the instruction sent to Minister Conger was furnished to the interested powers, but it is doubtful if any good will be accomplished. This friendship of the United States for China should bring results in a commercial way, as China should certainly be disposed to grant concessions to her one friend among the great nations.

After the miserable showing made by the sailors on our warships at target practice last year, it is pleasing to learn that recent reports of practice on the vessels of Admiral Higginson's fleet show a wonderful improvement. The men on the battleship Kearsarge are remarkably proficient. The enormous 13-inch guns were fired and reloaded within the space of one minute, and each time hit the target, which was more than a mile away, the vessel at the time moving at the speed of eight knots. When the intricacies of gunmounts, with their fine sighting and nice handling of the complicated screws and levers, are considered, this exhibition of gunnery on a war vessel is simply wonderful. The shooting of the rest of the fleet was excellent, but that of the Kearsarge surpassed them all. Old time naval men proudly compare the gunnery of the Kearsarge with that of her celebrated namesake for the marksmanship of that famous ship alone won for her the victory over the Alabama, manned as she was with trained experts from the British navy, many of whom were considered crack shots on board the English training ship Excellent, from which they had been drafted. By the regulations the ships of our navy have regular auxiliary target drill with service charges. It costs a great deal of money, but such results as that of the Kearsarge show that it is a wise expenditure.

Connecticut is known as the land of steady habits and perhaps that is the reason why it is averse to radically changing its antiquated constitution. A constitutional amendment is to be submitted to popular vote soon, but it does not make many changes. It affects legislative representation, but the town feature has been retained to some extent. If the amendment prevails each town will have at least one representative, but additional representatives will be allowed to towns with over 50,000 inhabitants, so that a town of 200 will have equal representation in the assembly with one of 49,000. In the senate, however, the rule will be different, and New Haven, for instance, with 100,000 inhabitants, will have five senators and only four representatives.

Mr. Edison announces that he has perfected his "cheap and light" storage battery, with which an automobile can be run for from sixty to 100 miles at one charging. He expects to have it on the market several months hence, "and then," he says, "goodby to the horse for commercial purposes." It may make some difference, however, just what Mr. Edison means by "cheap."

The New York Herald has discharged one of its Washington correspondents because the Russian ambassador has conferred upon him the Order of St. Stanislaus, and takes occasion to read a long editorial homily on the impropriety of the acceptance by Americans of foreign decorations. And the New York paper is right.

"The practical joker," said Mark Twain recently, "is a boy who has never grown up. His head is full of stewed oysters instead of brains." This is certain to be quoted frequently by everybody who has seen much of practical joking. Macaulay thought the practical joker had a bad heart, but perhaps he is only a fool.

Congress still refuses 20 per cent of the aid required by the Cubans, and the Minnesota senators and representatives are among those who have prevented the carrying out of the president's policy in this respect.

"But he is neither handsome nor rich."

"I know that."

"Then how did he turn girls' heads?"

"With his preparations. He manufactures hair bleach."

THE SNOWS OF YESTERDAY.

Justin Huntley McCarthy's translation of Francis Villon's poem, "If I Were King."

I wonder in what Isle of Bliss
Apollo breathes ambrosial air,
In what green valley Artemis
For young Endymion spreads the snare,
Where Venus lingers debonair,
The wind has blown them all away
And Pan flies piping in his lair—
Where are the gods of yesterday?

Say where the great Semiramis
Sleeps in a rose-red tomb, and where
The precious dust of Caesar is,
Or Cleopatra's yellow hair,
Where Alexander Mo and Dare;
The wind has blown them all away,
And Red-beard of the Iron chair,
Where are the dreams of yesterday?

Where does the Queen of Herod kiss,
Or Phryne in her beauty bare;
With Rhodope and Tomyris,
And Sappho and Campaspe fare,
Where Guenevere, the world's despair,
The wind has blown them all away,
And Helm, fairest of the fair,
Where are the girls of yesterday?
Alas! for lovers; pair by pair,
The wind has blown them all away,
In vain we seek them here and there,
Where are the snows of yesterday?

Gramp.

What a man to fish and camp,
What a hand to hunt and tramp,
Up and down the woods, was Gramp!

How he led me, hight and low,
Plunging through the brush and snow!
Boy-like, how I loved to go!

Oh, the sweet days that we spent
In the forest's pure content!
Oh, the long, still miles we went!

Keen-eyed Gramp! how well he knew
Where the biggest berries grew,
Where the witch-like woodcock flew!

Learned was he in all the lore
Of the wood-wise men of yore—
Subtle knowledge taught no more.

Ah, a happy boy was I,
Loving God's free woods and sky,
With dear Gramp to teach me why!

The Belle of San Pedro Springs

By Carrie Elizabeth Logan.

(Copyright, 1902, by W. R. Hearst.)

Dress parade and the review was over. Silently the vast assembly of men stood at parade rest, while the flag floated out in the soft, mesquite-scented breeze. The spell was broken by the sunset gun. Down came the flag. The band played the "Star Spangled Banner," and the men stood with heads uncovered.

Leslie Somers watched from the broad porch of her father's cottage. Suddenly out of the growing dusk a man's face appeared, a proud, clear-cut face, with full, red lips, and large, dark eyes that held her own by a strange magnetism. Black hair, escaping from an unbecoming cap, waved softly on his broad forehead. She gasped and drew back in the shadow of a post until the man, evidently a strayed recruit, had passed. Leslie sighed. How like Tom Howe's had been the face in the dusk! Then she smiled as her eyes caught a gleam of white fire from the ring Lieut. Grayton had placed on her hand.

The mind of Tom Howe was troubled by no doubts. He knew that the fair-haired girl on Col. Somers' porch was his one-time sweetheart, Leslie Somers. She could not recognize, in an enlisted man, the son of a New York merchant and the heir to a large fortune. Alas! his father had died bankrupt and he had hidden himself in the great military machine. A blue uniform is an excellent disguise. Tom had some misfortune-proof friends who were trying to obtain a commission for him in some volunteer regiment, forming for service in the Philippines.

Tom's mind traveled back five years to his last year at the Bayliss Military school. He was then a lad of 18. George Grayton came to the school as drill master. He had spent two years at West Point. Leslie Somers, a beautiful Texas girl, was visiting her uncle, Col. Bayliss, the proprietor of the school. Leslie had been willing to accept the attentions of the young heir, until George Grayton appeared on the scene. He was 21, and his age and experience gave him an advantage over his wealthier rival.

The early maturity of the South made Leslie appear older than 16. She was flattered by the devotion of the older man. He had an eye to his own advantage. Attentions to the pretty daughter of a colonel in the regular army would not be wasted.

Leslie had promised to meet Tom in the moon-lighted glen one May evening, but she met George Grayton instead. After that the "Major," as the drill master was called had an undisputed field and Leslie Somers departed for her Southern home without one word of farewell from Tom.

George Grayton made good use of his time. He enlisted, passed an examination after two years' service, and received a commission as a lieutenant. Then he was transferred to Col. Somers' regiment, where he speedily engaged himself to Leslie.

Every bright morning Leslie had her horse saddled and cantered out to the beautiful San Pedro park and springs. She seemed to prefer a time when her fiancee was on duty and could not accompany her. She was well known as a graceful and fearless rider. People spoke of her with pride as the "Belle of San Pedro Springs." Her beauty was the delicate loveliness of the tea rose.

This lovely May morning the greenness and brightness of the park seemed to enter the soul of Leslie as Black Prince trotted under the stately oaks. Pecan trees and graceful shrubbery caught her nature-loving eye. The freshly-cut green grass framed small mirrors of quiet lakes, reflecting the blue and brilliance of a Texan sky. The sun poured its golden radience on a happy world. Birds sang in the trees or drank and tilted to let the cool draught from clear springs drain their tiny throats.

What was that passing with a roar and a hiss on the gravelled drive? Black Prince had not made the acquaintance of racing automobiles. He shied and began to rear. Leslie could not control the spirited animal. Tearing down the road at record-breaking speed went the frightened horse with the plucky girl clinging to his neck.

"You will be killed!" shouted the crowd but the warning fell unheeded to the ears of Tom Howe. White and desperate he managed to stop the terrified beast. Others tenderly lifted down the almost unconscious girl. They laid her on the cool grass, and presently Tom had his reward. Leslie opened her eyes and said faintly, "Thank you, Tom."

Tom disappeared in the crowd. He was an enlisted man and dared not raise his eyes to his colonel's daughter; besides she was the promised wife of his hated rival.

Leslie kept the secret of her rescuer's identity, believing this to be the best way of showing her gratitude. She knew that she had treated him badly, but pride had stood in the way when she wanted to ask his forgiveness. With her tardy remorse the old love for her boy sweetheart returned. She was strangely changed, more indifferent to her fiance, more affectionate to her father. None guessed these were the fruits of a secret sorrow and a hopeless love.

There was great excitement in Company L when it was learned one morning that Tom Howe would leave the ranks to become a lieutenant in the—volunteer infantry. He had been called the "Pittsburg Avenue" soldier, but his white muscular arm had won him both respect and popularity. This news rivalled the sensation caused by the broken engagement of Leslie Somers and Lieut. Grayton. Rumor said the colonel's daughter had objected to the lieutenant's propensity for gambling.

When the summer moon hung in the sky Leslie gave Tom an interview on her father's porch that should have been his five years before in the "Ramble" of the Bayliss school. The moon smiled on a different scene, and scattered its silver through trailing vines on a happy, golden head.

OVERTURN THE OLIGARCHY

San Francisco Argonaut: Speaker David B. Henderson, of Iowa, John Dalzell, of Pennsylvania, and Charles H. Grosvenor of Iowa, who form the tyrannical triumvirate by which the house of representatives of the United States is ruled, are in danger of being overthrown. Twice now, their ukases have been disobeyed, their authority flouted. The first time, the protection Republicans succeeded in attracting the differential amendment to the Cuban bill, thus rendering its chances of success in the senate more than doubtful. And last week, when the naval bill was up, the triumvirate suffered another defeat. Roberts of Massachusetts, who stood with the "insurgents" on the Cuban measure, led the fight. He offered an amendment in the committee on naval affairs, providing that some of the ships to be constructed should be built in government shipyards. This Henderson and his clique opposed, and Roberts was turned down. Nothing daunted, the Massachusetts member carried the fight into the committee of the whole, and though the chair ruled against the amendment on a point of order, the decision was overruled by a decisive vote of 86 to 109, and the amendment was adopted without division.

This action is significant. It shows a deep-seated determination on the part of many Republicans either to force a radical revision of the house rules, or to overthrow the present oligarchy. It is said that the triumvirate refuse to permit the irrigation bill to be considered. Here is a chance for the revolting Republicans again to assert themselves. They have the president behind them, and they can smash the rules committee's slate and take up the irrigation bill over their heads. It is high time. That three men should control the legislative actions of the 300 representatives (so called) of the people of the United States is unrepublican, undemocratic and un-American. Henry Loomis Nelson, in an article in the current Century, relates a conversation that he had with a correspondent in the press gallery of the house. He had asked the reporter who it was that was speaking. The man replied that he did not know. He asked the names of several other congressmen on the floor, and received the same reply. "Don't you have to know members?" Nelson inquired, to which the correspondent said: "Not at all. This gentleman thinks that he is debating, but he isn't. The fact of the bill is known in advance to the three gentlemen who determined that it should be considered. They permit a little talk on it, but they shut off oratory at the precise minute they have fixed upon, and take the vote. In our day we have to know only those three men, and a few chairmen."

And this is how the laws are made!

EXCELLENT.

Last Week's Weather Fine For the Growing Crops.

Last week was an excellent one for the growing crops both in North Dakota and Minnesota, according to the crop reports for the two states for the week ending Monday. The North Dakota report says:

"The past week has been the most favorable, as well as about the only favorable one so far, of the season. Generally clear sky, with bright, warm sunlight, and light winds have made the air conditions almost perfect, while the soil being almost saturated with moisture, left nothing to be desired.

"Wheat seeding is practically finished, as is that of oats and rye, while considerable barley and millet are yet to be sown. Flax seeding is in progress in all portions, and fully one-half of the crop is now in. Corn planting is in progress, and in the southern portion finished, while in the other portions it is well advanced.

"Early sown grain is up and looks as well as it ever did, while that sown lately is coming up rapidly. Some early sown flax is also up, as are most of the oats. Early planted corn in the southern portion of the state is up, and all vegetation is making a very rapid growth.

A few scattered hail storms are reported, none of which did any damage. Grasshoppers are hatching in great numbers in some portions of the Red river counties, and are reported to have already done some damage to grain.

The Minnesota report is as follows:

"There was very little rain in the state during the week till June 1, when rain was general, except in the southwest, and theer the rain was either very light, or entirely absent. The weather was cool on the 26th, followed by light frosts in exposed places on the morning of the 27th, but with little or no injury; during the rest of the week the temperatures were moderate.

"In the Red River valley advantage has been taken of the favorable weather, and a great deal of work has been done seeding barley, oats, flax, potatoes and some corn, and the seeding of these crops is well advanced, but flax will be seeded on new land for some time yet. The small grains that are up are growing splendidly and stooling well. In some counties rain was beginning to be needed before the rain on the 1st, which will be beneficial. In central and southern portions the small grains are all in excellent condition, an they are stooling satisfactorily.

"Corn and potato planting is about finished, though in the heavy soils of the extreme southeast the ground has been too wet to plant until this week; generally these crops are nicely up, and the earliest are being cultivated. Corn has a good stand, there having been serious trouble with cut worms in only small areas. A great deal of flax is up, and growing well. Rye is in head. Timothy seeded last year is a failure, owing to the heat and dryness of last summer, but the old timothy fields are nearly all in very fine condition."

SAVED FROM AN AWFUL FATE.

"Everybody said I had consumption," writes Mrs. A. M. Shields, of Chambersburg, Pa. "I was so low after six months of severe sickness, caused by hay fever and asthma, that few thought I could get well, but I learned the marvelous merit of Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, used it and was completely cured." For desperate throat and lung diseases it is the safest cure in the world, and is infallible for coughs, colds and bronchial affections. Guaranteed bottles 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at W. A. Abbett's Drug Store.

FOR THE CORONATION.

MAY HAVE SEVERAL

Two or Three Republican Congressional Candidates Possible.

Frank E. Searle Looked Upon as a Strong Probability.

Reports as to Candidates For Sheriff This Fall.

There are indications of a change in the congressional situation, a change that amounts almost to a revolution, if it comes out as expected.

It now looks not at all impossible that instead of a great shyness of Republican candidates to dispute the way with J. Adam Bede, there may be two or three, and the field may be overcrowded.

Yesterday the name of W. E. Culkin, Leon E. Lum and A. D. Davidson were mentioned. Mr. Davidson will probably have to be removed from consideration, for he is a very busy man. W. E. Culkin has also said positively that he would not run. Mr. Lum is not so decided in his statements.

Now the name of Frank E. Searle, chairman of the Republican congressional committee of two years ago, comes back into the ring again. Saturday Mr. Searle, in an interview with the morning paper, said he was not a candidate for congress, but he did not say it with any great display of firmness, and to many ears it did not carry conviction. Now the rumor swells out strongly along the street that he is a candidate, and that his candidacy will be announced very shortly. It comes pretty straight, too, and it is pretty generally believed. There is no manner of doubt that Mr. Searle has had the matter in his mind, and it begins to look very much as though he had never dismissed it.

* * *

Friends of J. Adam Bede say they are not worried over the matter. They say that the only name that has been mentioned that really struck terror to their hearts was that of O. D. Kinney. They recognized in J. B. Cotton another strong man, but they had no idea that he could be induced to run for a couple of years yet anyway. In fact, they welcome opposition, because they think it is needed to spur the energies of the Bede forces, which have not much incentive to hustle when there is but one candidate.

* * *

There have been persistent reports for a couple of weeks that Deputy Sheriff W. J. Bates would be a candidate for sheriff, but Mr. Bates denied it yesterday afternoon, and denied it firmly.

"I am not in the habit of working against the man who employs me," he said. "It is true that some of my friends on the ranges have asked me to become a candidate, but that is all there is to it. I am an employe of Mr. Sargent's, and I shall certainly not work against his interests."

* * *

It is said that in the event that Sheriff Sargent should not enter the contest the choice of that element of the St. Louis county Republicans with which the sheriff is identified, would be Victor A. Dash, at present under sheriff. Mr. Dash has hosts of friends in the party and out of it, and his candidacy would be popular. However, Mr. Sargent is a candidate.

W. W. Butchart is making a fight for the place, and his friends have already opened the campaign. Archie Phillips, formerly of Tower, but now of Duluth, is also an active candidate, and the name of H. C. Kendall, an old war horse of the party, is being mentioned.

* * *

The talk about giving Ely a place on the Republican legislative nominations has ceased. Some of the local Republicans thought they were doing a graceful thing when they conceded a member of the house to Ely, but when the announcement was made the people of Ely seemed to rise up as though they had been offended, and the talk ceased. Two Harbors will probably go, one of the members from the Fifty-first district and Duluth will get the other and the senatorship.

J. L. Jellison, of Cohasset, Itasca county, who is one of the distinguished candidates for the Republican nomination for congress in this district, is a gentleman who has some very practical notions about life and character. A few days ago, a story comes down from Grand Rapids. Mr. Jellison was involved in some litigation in his home county in which a jury had been summoned.

Nothing out of the usual occurred until after the jury had been impannelled. Then Mr. Jellison is reported to have approached the court with a request that the jurymen as a body rise to their feet and face the other way. The court was inclined to be accommodating, though somewhat mystified by the peculiar nature of the request. The jury was put through the requested maneuver, and as its members were seated, Mr. Jellison explained:

"I always want to see a man's legs from behind. If he's got good straight legs, he's pretty likely to be straight himself. But if he's got crooked legs, I'll bet he's crooked all the way up and all the way through."

After which sage remark Mr. Jellison confessed his entire readiness to proceed with the trial.

BEDE DISCUSSES SEARLE.

Says Latter Cannot Carry His Own Precinct.

The St. Paul Globe contained the following in its issue of yesterday: The announcement that Frank Searle, of Duluth, is about to butt into the Eighth district congressional situation and contest J. Adam Bede for the Republican nomination, has not caused J. Adam to turn a hair.

Bede was in St. Paul yesterday on his way to New Paynesville, to deliver a commencement address. He says: "There is nothing in it." The congressional fight, according to Jadam, is all over, and he has now so little to do that he can devote most of his time to the delivery of patriotic addresses for the edification of the benighted and promulgate his political doctrine of "Love one another."

If the birch-bark statesman takes Searle seriously as a possible opponent he is not tipping his mitt. He says he will beat Searle in his own precinct; carry the city of Duluth and the county of St. Louis just as a sort of an incidental accompaniment to his triumphal entrance chorus in the other counties of the district. He further says that since he is not a constitutional lawyer, as a congressman he will be able to devote his entire time to the interests of his constituency and that the people of the district could not think of electing anyone else.

Just in passing Bede said a few kindly words for his friend Odin Halden. He sizes the Eighth district situation up substantially as follows: Halden will carry the delegations of all but two of the counties. Through the good offices of Auditor Dunn, Mille Lacs county is to be delivered to the Iverson forces, and Anoka county will stand behind its own candidate, Henry Lee. In conclusion, Mr. Bede says Halden will be nominated, but in any event Duluth will not secede from the Union.

SENT FREE TO MEN

Free Trial Package of This New Discovery Mailed to Every Man Sending Name and Address—Quickly Restores Strength and Vigor.

Free trial packages of a most remarkable remedy are being mailed to all who will write the State Medical Institute. They cured so many men who had battled for years against the mental and physical suffering of lost manhood that the institute has decided to distribute free trial packages to all who write. It is a home treatment and all men who suffer with any form of sexual weakness resulting from youthful folly premature loss of strength and memory, weak back, varicocele, or emaciation of parts can now cure themselves at home.

A. E. ROBINSON, M.D., C.M. Medical Director.

The remedy has a peculiarly grateful effect of warmth and seems to act direct to the desired location, giving strength and development just where it is needed. It cures all the ills and troubles that come from years of misuse of the natural functions and has been an absolute success in all cases. A request to the State Medical Institute, 586 Elektron building, Ft. Wayne, Ind., stating that you desire one of their free trial packages will be complied with promptly. The Institute is desirous of reaching that great class of men who are unable to leave home to be treated and the free sample will enable them to see how easy it is to be cured of sexual weakness when the proper remedies are employed. The Institute makes no restrictions. Any man who writes will be sent a free sample, carefully sealed in plain package so that its recipient need have no fear of embarrassment or publicity. Readers are requested to write without delay.

New Section 30 Litigation Will Not Affect the Old.

It is explained by the owners of the formerly disputed portions of section 30 that the litigation instituted last week regarding the fee to the property is not regarded as a menace to their title.

"We consider," said L. C. Harris this morning, "that the two decisions of the federal supreme court determined all serious questions that can arise regarding the ownership of the property. The only possible question arising in the litigation begunn last week is the same fundamentally that was determined in the protracted litigation that closed last winter. We begun suit last week merely to quiet title as a matter of formality, and expect that the action will be merely a formality. The published report that we cannot lease the property until this litigation is disposed of is quite erroneous."

PRICE OF RAILS FIXED.

Steel Rail Pool Makes Rate Early In Season.

New York, June 4.—The steel rail pool is reported to have fixed the price of steel rails for 1903 at $28 a ton, the rate now prevailing. A large number of orders for next year already have been placed, among them several from important railroads in both the West and East. Heretofore the pool has not fixed its price until fall, but, owing to the large demand and to the fact that the entire production for 1902 is already sold, it was necessary this year for the manufacturers to take earlier action than usual.

"I suffered from dyspepsia and indigestion for fifteen years," says W. T. Sturdevant, of Merry Oaks, N. C. "After I had tried many doctors and medicines a friend persuaded me to try Kodol. It gave immediate relief. I can eat anything I want now and my digestion is good." Max Wirth.

DEDICATE A CHURCH

First Protestant Church In Cook County Is Built.

At Maple Hill, Not Far From Grand Marais.

The Dedication In July Will Attract Many Visitors.

The dedication of the Swedish Lutheran church, of Maple Hill, the first Protestant church to be established in Cook county, will occur in the second week in July. The formal opening will be in charge of Dr. A. F. Elmquist, of the Bethany Lutheran church, of this city, and the event will be a very interesting one, a number of visitors from the surrounding Northern Minnesota counties planning to be present.

The new church is a fine little structure and its promoters were Charles J. Johnson, treasurer of Cook county, and his father, A. J. Johnson, both of Grand Marais. A number of prominent citizens of Duluth were liberal subscribers to the new building.

Maple Hill is a flourishing little settlement of between 300 and 400 people situated about five miles from Grand Marais. It is in the midst of a strong Swedish settlement, the rest of the inhabitants being mostly Indians. It is located about 200 feet or reaching that great class of men who are unable to leave home to be above and it is wet in Grand Marais, the little town on the hill has pleasant clear weather. There has been a great deal of logging done in the vicinity of the village, Charles J. Johnson doing the most of it. The surrounding country has a good supply of cedar, spruce and considerable white pine. Attention is just beginning to turn to farming and a number of little farms have been cleared. It is said that the agricultural prospects of the country are of the best, that the soil is well fitted for cultivation.

The first regular church services were held in the new church last Sunday. They were conducted by Dr. A. F. Elmquist, of Duluth, and Rev. A. P. Monteen, of Fargo, N. D. Services in Swedish language were held in the morning and in English in the afternoon. Dr. Elmquist, who returned yesterday says that in the afternoon the church was packed, that every person, regardless of nationality, living in Grand Marais, that could find a rig drove to Maple Hill. There was not a conveyance of any description to be found in Grand Marais during the afternoon.

The country about Maple Hill is a fisherman's paradise. There are springs everywhere, and plenty of brooks well stocked with trout. It is said that the country and its resources are just begining to be known to the outsiders and that already there is a good movement of settlers in that direction. The spruce and cedar industry has given employment to many men in the past few years and the supply is good for some time in the future, after which there will be the land to fall back on. Dr. Elmquist says there are numerous rumors of iron ore finds a little further inland from Maple Hill.

DEDICATION.

Program of Exercises at Consecration of Temple Emmanuel.

The dedication next Sunday of the new Temple Emmanuel, which has been recently finished at the corner of Seventh avenue east and Second street, is looked forward to with a great deal of interest in Hebrew circles of the head of the lake. A fine program has been arranged, to begin at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. The dedicatory address will be given by the Reverend Dr. S. N. Deinard, of Minneapolis. Dr. Robert Forbes and Rev. Harry White will also make addresses. The musical selections will be especially fine, Miss Jane Everington will be the soloist. The program follows:

Organ prelude
Anthem—"Lift Up Your Heads" ..... Choir.
Ceremony—Kindling the perpetual light by the oldest member of the congregation.
Presentation of the key of the Temple by the chairman of the building committee to Louis Hammell, president of the congregation.
Acceptance by the president.
Anthem—"How Goodly are Thy Tents, O Jacob" ..... Choir.
Invocation ..... Rev. Dr. Deinard, of Minneapolis.
Anthem—"The Lord is My Light" ..... Miss Jane Everington and the choir.
Dedicatory address ..... Rev. Dr. Deinard.
Anthem—"Fear Ye Not, O Israel" ..... Choir.
Address ..... Dr. Robert Forbes.
Anthem—"Bless the Lord, O My Soul" ..... Choir.
Address ..... Rev. Harry White.
Closing remarks.
Benediction.

IS HEALTHY.

Condition of Mercantile Business of the Country Fine.

"There seemed to be only two clouds in the commercial and industrial sky in the East when I was there," said F. A. Patrick, who has recently returned from a trip to New York, Philadelphia and Washington. "Some apprehension was evinced regarding the possible effect of a protraction of the anthracite colliers' strike, and the possible influence it might have in closing industries that are large consumers of coal.

"Some bankers seemed also to regard some speculative operations with doubt, especially since the pricking of the Webb-Mayer bubble. There is a tendency to restrict loans on speculative securities, and not advance so much per share as has been done.

"General trade seemed to be in as healthy condition as could be wished. As far as I could see, the slight conditions I alluded to before have had no effect on the general mercantile situation, and conditions as a whole are highly satisfactory."

HOW THE MUNICIPAL COURT

Is Used to Settle Petty Private Quarrels.

To the Editor of The Herald:

A case was tried in the municipal court yesterday afternoon which was only one of many wherein the city is put to much unnecessary expense settling difficulties, personal in their nature, between private parties.

It appeared that a laboring man residing near Ninth avenue east and Fifth street occupied his early and late hours erecting a home. About May 15, after supper, he, with two or three friends who were assisting him, was much annoyed by the presence of a number of children playing tag and running around the building and over the lumber and getting in the way of himself and his workmen. Amongst these children were two boys, 10 and 12 years of age, residing in the same block. On being requested to get off a pile of lumber, the eldest boy replied he did not "have to." He was taken by the arm or shoulder and told to clear out and not bother the workmen. This boy, his brother and three others then went off a short distance and amused themselves by calling the party building the house vile names and throwing stones and mud. This they kept up, obliging the men to quit work.

The next morning the person building the house went to the father of the boy, requesting him to keep his son from annoying himself and workmen, and complaining of the abuse he was subjected to the night before. The father knew nothing of the trouble, but asked his sons about it, and took them over to the owner of the house to settle it. The boy then stated that the man, when he took him by the shoulder and requested him to clear out, also accompanied the request with a kick. This was denied, and resulted in the two men calling each other liars, etc., and the usual talk of one whipping the other, the whole business being a neighborly quarrel that amounted to nothing as far as other people were concerned.

Now, this is where the city comes in and is put to much expense to settle the trouble. The father of the boy applies to Assistant City Attorney Holmes, making the complaint that his boy was assaulted and injured by being kicked, and all the rest of it. He is permitted to bring the case to the attention of the municipal court. Twelve business men are summoned as jurors at an expense of $25.44. Ten witnesses were examined, and, I suppose, received the usual witness fees. The builder of the house was obliged to employ an attorney that must have cost him $10 to $25, besides the court used the entire afternoon trying the case. Not knowing all the expense connected with such a case, I suppose the city was put to an expense of $50 to $75.

In my opinion, such a foolish, trivial affair should never have been permitted to take up the attention of the court or put the city to such a needless expense. As far as I am able to judge, the father of the boy took this method to satisfy his ill feelings against the man who drove his son off of his premises. There was actually no merit in the case, and it being taken up by the city, cost the father nothing. From the complainant's own witnesses, before two had testified, the jurors at once saw the object of the complainant and felt disgusted to think they were being obliged to sit there the entire afternoon listening to such a lot of "rot" as the assistant city attorney was trying to bring out to convict the defendant. A look of disgust could also be noticed on the amiable and dignified face of our worthy judge as he sat in silence listening to what he knew to be a case of using the court to settle a trivial quarrel. At 5 p. m. City Attorney Holmes stated to the judge the case could not be finished. It being so late. The judge replied in no mistaken tone that the case must be finished if it took until midnight. The attorney for the defendant in his remarks, mentioned the great expense the city was put to in trying such a trivial matter. The assistant city attorney insisted on the judge instructing the jury that they must not consider the expense, and if he had had his way the case would have been continued to another day, thereby giving the jurors two days' pay instead of one, and also the added expense of the court.

It would seem to me, as a citizen and taxpayer, that cases of this character should never be allowed to be tried at the expense of the city. They should be carefully looked into by the assistant city attorney, and if there is unquestionably no merit or possibility of conviction, he should refuse to allow them to be brought to trial. In this case the jury was out five minutes and brought in a verdict for the defendant.

"A Cure For Thinking."

In an editorial entitled "A Cure for Thinking" the Minneapolis Times of the 19th says: One of the greatest evils the physician has to combat is the habit of worry. There is no medicine in the pharmacopeia that will reaches it, and it taxes his ingenuity to overcome it. It is for this reason that the wise physician often prescribes travel.

Comfortable, safe and pleasant traveling is surely a balm to overtaxed brains and tired brains. Such facilities as are afforded the tired-out business man or woman on the splendid trains of the Milwaukee road, for example, add greatly to the enjoyment and comfort of a journey. No railroad has done more for the comfort and safety of the traveling public than this great company. Its Pioneer Limited trains between the Twin Cities and Milwaukee and Chicago are the famous trains of the world, and carry private compartment sleeping cars and sixteen-section sleepers with berths longer, higher and wider than those in any other cars in America.

Triumph For Civil Service Over Politics In Appointments.

Republican Club Striving Against Democrat Who Won Out.

The fundamental principle of civil service triumphed over political pull at the meeting of the civil service commissioners last evening.

The meeting was called to consider a radical change in the method of certifying names for promotion in the police department.

Under the original regulations of the commission only the candidate attaining the highest rating in competitive examination could be certified to the mayor for appointment.

In the recent competitive examination for promotion to the detective department a Democrat had the presumption to win the right of appointment when it was preordained by certain politicians that the office should only go to a Republican with a pull.

When it was learned that the Democrat had won the examination it was proposed to change the civil service rules, giving the mayor three men to select from instead of certifying but one for promotion.

It was this proposition that the board of civil service commissioners turned down last night by a tie vote. President Greene and C. B. Nunan voted against the proposed change, while E. G. Wallinder and Arthur A. Fider voted in favor of the change. John Coventry, the fifth member of the commission, was absent.

Yesterday a Republican of prominence was discussing the proposed change with a member of the civil service board, and asked him if he did not think it a request of the administration was just.

"No not altogether just," answered the commissioner.

"Don't you think the mayor should select the men for whose work he is entirely responsible?" urged the Republican.

"Well, the mayor hasn't anything to say about it anyway," said the commissioner, "it's a question now as to whether the promotion in dispute shall be made by the Garfield Republican club or the civil service commission. Being a member of the civil service board I naturally think it should have the right to name the man."

Last night's vote was clearly a victory for civil service without regard to the naming of a man for detective. The Democratic candidate who won the examination on merit has been given to understand that he is not wanted by the administration, and while he has not said so, he is regarded as far too sensible a man to accept the appointment under such conditions. This leaves the field clear to the Republican candidate favored by the politicians and administration.

There is a question in the minds of one or two of the commissioners as to whether or not it is necessary for a policeman to take an examination for promotion to the place of detective.

The last word in section 182 of the new charter seemingly exempts detectives from the classified service. The provision reads:

"All persons employed in any office or department of the city, in clerical or office work, excepting the following shall constitute the classified civil service of the city of Duluth.

"Seventh. Election inspectors, clerks of election, special policemen and detectives."

The commission has called upon the city attorney to report whether or not this section exempts applicants for the place of detective.

NEXT WEEK.

Posters Out Advertising First of Northern Pacific Excursions.

The first of the summer excursions over the Northern Pacific road will arrive in Duluth next week Friday at 1:45 p. m., on a special train starting from Morris, Minn., at 5 a. m. The Northern Pacific makes a $2.50 rate for the round trip for this excsion. It has gotten out posters for the points from which the excursion rates will apply urging the people to "Visit Big, Blue, Cool Lake Superior, the Largest body of Fresh Water in the World." The inducements held out to the excursionists are harbor excursions, "great iron and coal docks, largest wheat elevators, whaleback freighters, boulevards and parks, largest flour mills and palatial steamers."

The excursion returning will leave Duluth at 4:15 p. m. a week from Sunday. The points the train will bring excursionists from are Morris, Cyclus, Starbuck, Glenwood, Villard, Westport, Stiles, Sauk Center, Spaulding, Birch Lake, Gren Eagle, Gogel, Burtrum, Swanville, Little Falls, Belle Prairie, Topeka, Ft. Ripley, Lenox, Crow Wing, Brainerd, Jonesville, Deerwood, Cedar Lake, Aitkin and West Superior.

AMUSEMENTS.

"THE CHERRY PICKERS."

Last evening the King Dramatic company again presented "The Cherry Pickers," the play with which the engagement of the company was opened at the Lyceum. The attendance was small, but the play gave satisfaction. It was well played and excellently mounted. Tonight the company will present "A Ward of France."

UNDISTURBED

Rabbi Hirsch Not Alarmed By New York Reports.

Chicago, June 4.—Dr. Emil Hirsch, rabbi of the Temple Israel congregation, is not at all disturbed by a report from New York that the rabbinical association of that city has adopted resolutions declaring him no longer a follower of the faith. Their action is openly ridiculed by Dr. Hirsch and is said by him to be totally without effect.

Dr. Hirsch also said nobody nor any organization had any control over the various congregations of the Jewish church, but that each body of worshipers was independent of all the others and free to conduct its affairs as it might see fit.

"The suggestion that I am about to establish a separate church of my own is ridiculous," said he last night. "The fact that I hold services on Sunday does not make me a Christian, nor does it in the least affect either my belief or that of the thousands of Jews who believe as I do.

"The New York association might have power to refuse me membership in their organization if I should apply for it, and they can keep me from preaching in their pulpits; beyond that they cannot go."

OPPOSED.

Irish Nationalists Object to Reward For Kitchener.

London, June 3.—In the house of commons today, the government leader, A. J. Balfour, presented a message from King Edward, as follows:

"His majesty, taking into consideration the eminent services rendered by Lord Kitchener and being desirous, in recognition of such services, to confer on him some signal mark of his favor, recommends that he, the king, should be enabled to grant Lord Kitchener £50,000."

A resolution giving effect to his majesty's message will be discussed tomorrow.

RELIEF OF JOLIET.

Committee Meets and Arranges to Supply Sufferers.

Joliet, Ill., June 4.—The Joliet relief committee for the relief of flood sufferers, met this morning and organized with Mayor Barr at the head. Sub-committees were appointed, and headquarters established in the sheriff's office, where all applicants are receiving prompt attention. The relief fund amounts to over $10,000 and more is coming. The flood waters still cover a large area and the authorities are considering a plan of cutting a tunnel through the Rock Island railroad embankment to relieve the flooded district. Train service has been only partly re-established. The Rock Island bridge over the drainage canal is still settling and may collapse. Only three persons were drowned in the flood.

VOLCANO AT BOLIVIA.

Two Villages Destroyed and Seventy-Five Killed.

New York, June 4.—A dispatch from La Paz, Bolivia, dated Monday, says, according to a Valparaiso, Chile, correspondent of the Herald, that two villages have been destroyed and seventy-five persons killed by the eruption of a volcano in the territory of Choico. The serious eruption of the volcano continues.

KITCHENER COMING HOME.

Durban, Natal, June 4.—The Times of Natal states that Lord Kitchener has left for England and that Gen. Lyttleton is acting commander-in-chief of the British forces in South Africa.

FOOD AND GIRLS.

Study Don't Hurt If They Are Fed Right.

Some time ago one of the ladies' papers published a long list of extracts from letters from mothers, speaking of broken-down school girls. True, overwork and too much confinement is largely responsible, but, on the other hand, if the girl is fed on the right kind of food to rebuild the daily waste she can stand more work, and the matter of food is the real foundation of the subject.

A 17-year-old girl writes from Caro, Mich., about how a change in food helped her: "I am only a school girl 17 years old, but I am old enough to appreciate what the wonderful brain food Grape-Nuts has done for me. About two years ago my health became very poor and I was unable to study, and finally obliged to leave school.

"I was put on Grape-Nuts Breakfast Food. In about three months I recovered my strength, my mind became much more clear and acute and I was able to resume school work.

"I continued to use Grape-Nuts until I discovered that I was getting too fat. I gained so much in weight that I had to discontinue it. It is the best food I ever heard of for building up a broken-down system.

"I have an aunt who went to India as a missionary and while there she was ill four times with Indian fever and became a mere skeleton. When she returned here her muscles were as flabby as could be. She was put on Grape-Nuts Breakfast food and quickly recovered. Her muscles grew hard and firm and she entirely regained her health, has greatly increased in weight and never knows a sick day now. She is still eating Grape-Nuts and says she would not do without the food for anything.

"I can never say enough in praise of your wonderful food." Name given by Postum company, Battle Creek, Mich.

Ask the cook to show you the recipe book in the package of Grape-Nuts.

TOO LATE TO MOVE

Commercial Club Will Not Take Up Synod Seminary Location.

Time Too Short to Make Vigorous Fight For It.

Will Aid But Not Inaugurate Fourth of July Celebration.

It has been decided by the members of the committee appointed by President Patrick of the Commercial club that it will be impossible for the club to take any active steps looking toward the removal of the seminary of the Hauge Norwegian Lutheran synod from Red Wing to this city in time for appearance before the meeting to be held at Sacred Heart today. It will, however, address a cordial invitation to the synod expressing its appreciation of the importance of its institution.

Dr. Codding, W. W. Billson and Giles Gilbert, who had been named a committee on the subject by Mr. Patrick, seemed to be united in the idea that there would be insufficient time for the club in its present unorganized condition to take the matter up and successfully prosecute it, with Minneapolis already so much in the lead. It also seemed to be the general opinion that Duluth would not feel like contributing a bonus to any school at this time. The feeling seemed to be that with the state normal which will open this fall and the heavy expense this city is under to maintain its public school system—something like $1,000 a day—the people could not be educated in the short time at hand to look at the proposition of bonusing any additional educational institution in a favorable light. There were plenty of expressions of delight the addition of such an institution would give to the people of Duluth.

Secretary Preston has received from E. P. Bacon, of Milwaukee, chairman of the executive committee of the Inter-State Commerce Law convention, a letter thanking the club for endorsing the amendments to the inter-state law proposed by the committee, and announcing that the resolutions of the club would be forwarded to the committee representative in Washington for furthering the movement for amending the law.

Mr. Preston has received the first membership card for the Duluth club. The design is exquisitely lithographed, with the name of the club along the horizon line of a harbor view of Duluth, which shows the canal and the new aerial ferry as well as the dock front. The design will be used on the club letter stationery.

IN MICHIGAN.

Negauneeites In South Africa Send Home For Fireworks.

Negaunee—Some time ago a demand came from the South African mines for diamond drill runners, and fifteen went from Negaunee. The fifteen have just sent home for fireworks and flags, saying they are going to celebrate the Fourth of July, and adding that they are hungry for a sight of the stars and stripes, as the only flag in evidence there is the British jack. They outlined a program and purpose to have a banner celebration. A liberal supply of fireworks and flags will be sent. It is their intention to have the natives take part in the athletic events, offering prizes. The Negauneeites say they are not working hard, the manual labor being performed by negroes. They are on the "Gold Coast" in West Africa, about fifty miles north of the equator, and while the days are very hot, the nights are so cool that blankets are necessary as coverings. Wild animals and large snakes can be killed near the camp, as the only is common occurrence to hear the roar of lions during the night. None of the boys are anxious to hunt them, but they have shot a number of leopards and will bring home many curios. Mahogany is used as fuel under the boilers.

Iron Mountain—Charles Ericson, of Norway, this state, left home last Wednesday with a horse and buggy and has not been seen since. The friends of Ericson are worried over his disappearance, as he had considerable money with him.

Escanaba—The Upper Michigan Undertakers' and Embalmers' association met here Tuesday for a three days' session. About fifty cities and towns are represented.

THE DAKOTAS.

Governor Herreid Denies Nebraska Request For Sheriff Lewison.

SOUTH DAKOTA.

Sious Falls—Arter a hearing lasting several hours, Governor Herreid denied the application of the governor of Nebraska for the delivery to the Nebraska authorities of Sheriff Lewison of Union county. Lewison is wanted in Nebraska for the alleged unlawful shooting of the Turgeon brothers, while attempting to arrest them. The affair occurred on disputed soil, lying on the boundary line between the two states. Governor Herreid decided that Sheriff Lewison did not invade Nebraska, and that the shooting occurred on South Dakota soil.

Spearfish—The announcement of the marriage of G. F. Stebbins and Miss Kate Murrin, of this place, which occurred at Milwaukee, Wis., in May, 1901, has just been made, much to the surprise of their friends. Miss Murrin was for two years superintendent of schools in Lawrence county, and for the last year and a half has been teaching at Streator, Ill., and attending institute at Chicago. Mr. Stebbins is assistant cashier in the Bank of Spearfish. They did not desire to announce the union until Miss Murrin had finished her school term at Streator. She is expected to arrive in Spearfish in a few days, when they will begin housekeeping.

Terry—Dr. Richards was summoned to Cyanide to attend Fred Muscatt, an employe of the Spearfish Mining company, who had fallen from the trestle leading to the top of the tanks in the company's cyanide mill. He dropped thirty feet, sustaining a broken arm and a number of severe contusions.

Deadwood—A heavy hailstorm visited this city while the tornado was in progress at Terraville and Central City. The storm was not accompanied by wind, but hailstones fell of almost incredible size. Some of them were disks of ice, measuring sixteen inches in circumference, seeming to be one large stone, of irregular shape, with a number of smaller stones frozen to it. They fell almost perpendicularly and as they rolled about in the streets resembled baseballs. Had there been a driving wind the damage to property would have been enormous.

Vilas Scroggings, the 16-year-old son of D. Scroggings, Galena, accidentally shot himself with a 44-caliber Winchester rifle, from the effect of which he died in a few hours.

Armour—Mrs. Bussick, living near Geddes, was dangerously hooked by a cow. The horns struck her in the abdominal region. It will be several days before the injury can be fully determined—whether fatal or not.

NORTH DAKOTA.

Grand Forks—While George Wishart, of Stump Lake, was on his way to Grafton to be married he was intercepted at Emerado by a telegram announcing the drowning of a brother.

St. Thomas—William A. Tully, a farmer residing about eight miles northeast of this city, was killed in a well Friday morning by foul gas.

Cando—News has reached here from Bisgee, twelve miles north, that Theodore Gores, a well known farmer, and Roy Boyer, a farm hand, were bitten by a mad dog yesterday. Both men are expected to go to Chicago for Pasteur treatment. Numerous cases of hydrophobia have been reported lately in the vicinity and in one instance several horses, mules, cows and dogs were bitten.

Fargo—A number of Fargoans are interested in a new lignite mine that is to be opened up west of Minto. W. von Steinwehr, the bonanza farmer, is president, and a number of tests have been in progress for several months, which have satisfied the organizers they have a good thing. The coal to be mined is deeper than most of the North Dakota mines, and is therefore of a better quality. Electrical machinery will be installed this summer.

PRISON DOORS TO OPEN

For Seventeen Ex-Volunteer Soldiers at Alcatraz.

San Francisco, June 4.—The prison doors will open today for seventeen ex-volunteer soldiers, who have been undergoing sentence at Alcatraz island. After serving from eighteen months to three years, both in the Philippine islands prison and the local military prison, these men will once more be free. The men will be released under the decision of Judge Sanborn, which the supreme court has sustained, that a volunteer soldier cannot be tried by officers of the regular army or other branches of the service.

Resolved, by the stockholders of the Sattler Liquor Company, a corporation, that articles numbered I, III, IV and VIII of the Articles of Incorporation of said Sattler Liquor Company be amended to read as follows:

ARTICLE I.

The name of this corporation shall be the "Sattler Liquor Company." The general nature of its business shall be buying, selling and dealing in vinous, spirituous, malt and brewed liquors, tobacco and cigars, at wholesale and retail and loaning money upon security or otherwise, with power to acquire, hold and transfer, all such real and personal property as may be necessary or convenient for the successful carrying on of the business of said corporation.

The principal place of transacting the business of this corporation shall be the city of Duluth, St. Louis County, Minnesota.

ARTICLE III.

The amount of capital stock of said corporation shall be one hundred thousand dollars and shall be paid in at such times and in such amounts as the board of directors shall determine.

ARTICLE IV.

The highest amount of indebtedness to which said corporation shall at any time be subject shall be ten thousand dollars.

ARTICLE VIII.

The number of the shares of the capital stock of this corporation shall be one thousand (1000) shares of one hundred ($100) dollars each, and no shares of stock shall be issued until fully paid for. None of the shares of the stock of said corporation shall be sold or transferred to any persons not a stockholder of this corporation without the unanimous consent of all the other shareholders for the time being of said corporation.

We hereby certify that the foregoing resolution was duly adopted by a unanimous vote of all of the stockholders of the Sattler Liquor Company, at a regular meeting of said stockholders, held at Duluth, Minnesota, May 6th, 1902; that by said amendments the capital stock of said corporation was raised from ten thousand ($10,000.00) dollars to one hundred thousand ($100,000.00) dollars; the number of shares of stock was raised from 100 to 1000; the maximum indebtedness to which said corporation shall be subject was raised from two thousand ($2000.00) dollars to ten thousand ($10,000.00) dollars; there was added to the general nature of the business of said corporation the power to loan money, and the restriction upon the alienation of the capital stock of said corporation was removed in so far as it was contrary to said articles to transfer any of said stock to any other stockholder without the unanimous consent of all stockholders.

MISSIONS AT HOME

Seventy-Sixth Annual Report to the Congregational Society.

The Work Is Carried On In Forty-Seven States

Long-Standing Debt Has Been Practically Wiped Out.

Syracuse, N. Y., June 4.—The seventy-sixth annual meeting of the Congregational Home Missionary society began its three days' session here last evening. This afternoon the seventy-sixth annual report was made public. It is a voluminous document, which will be referred to a special committee and reported upon. Its substance is as follows:

The number of missionary laborers in the service of the society last year, together with those engaged in superintending the work, is 1868 (deducting 23 reported in more than one state, 1845). Of these, 1423 were in commission at the date of the last report, and 422 have since been reported.

They have been employed in 47 states and territories, as follows: Maine, 87; New Hampshire, 59; Vermont, 57; Massachusetts, 151; Rhode Island, 15; Connecticut, 75; New York, 57; New Jersey, 9; Pennsylvania, 45; North Carolina, 2; Maryland, 5; Virginia, 1; Louisiana, 4; Georgia, 25; Alabama, 40; Arkansas, 3; Florida, 33; Texas, 12; Oklahoma, 50; Tennessee, 2; Ohio, 37; Indiana, 29; Indian Territory, 1; Kentucky, 2; Illinois, 92; Missouri, 32; Michigan, 85; Wisconsin, 75; Iowa, 95; Minnesota, 106; Kansas, 30; Nebraska, 97; North Dakota, 50; South Dakota, 88; Colorado, 51; Wyoming, 11; Montana, 15; New Mexico, 8; Utah, 7; Nevada, 1; Idaho, 16; Arizona, 4; North California, 45; South California, 12; Oregon, 28; Washington, 79; Alaska, 5; Cuba, 6—in all, 1868.

The number of those who have preached in foreign languages is 218—53 to German congregations, 37 to Scandinavian congregations, 24 to Bohemian congregations, 60 to Polish congregations, 3 to Italian congregations, 8 to Spanish congregations, 6 to congregations of Finns, 2 to congregations of Greeks, and 1 to congregation of Welsh.

The number of Sunday schools and bible class scholars is not far from 133,378. The organization of 166 new schools is reported, and the number under the special care of missionaries is 203.

One hundred and twenty-six make mention of revivals of religion during the year, some of them reporting 140, 90, 70, 63, 60, 59, 50, 42, 41, 35, hopeful conversions.

The additions to the churches, as nearly as can be ascertained, have been 6355, viz: 4321 on confession of faith and 2981 by letters from other churches.

Sixty-five churches have been organized in connection with the labors of the missionaries within the year, and 42 have assumed the entire support of their own gospel ordinances.

Sixty-one houses of worship have been completed and 271 materially repaired or improved, and 84 parsonages have been provided. Forty-two in connection with the missionary churches are reported as in preparation for the gospel ministry.

The society began the year with a net debt of $83,686.18. The receipts of the national society during the year from contributions, legacies and other sources were $346,849.59.

The expenditures of the national society for missionary labor and expenses during the year have been $393,062.90.

The auxiliary societies raised and expended in their own fields during the year $255,612.75. Adding this to the total receipts of the national society, we have a grand total of receipts for home missions for the year of $502,462.34 and a grand total of expenditures of $548,676.65.

The woman's department has completed twenty years of organized activity.

One hundred and sixty-six new Sunday schools have been organized.

There are 2018 schools under the care of missionary pastors, and their enrolled attendants number 133,378. These Sunday schools are everywhere tributaries to the membership of the churches, and from them come the larger part of the accessions which each year records.

Missionary boxes and gifts of clothing and household articles reported for the year were 559 in number, and were valued at $43,706.30, making a total of aid rendered in this form since record has been kept of it, $2,555,983.75.

Three years ago the society closed its seventy-third fiscal year with an indebtedness of $133,869. The present year has nearly extinguished this long-standing indebtedness of the society, the net debt being less than $10,000.

Were it not for unexpected delay in the payment of legacies, as to which there is no certain issue, the society would enter this seventy-seventh year wholly free from these financial burdens that have so long rested upon it.

The receipts of the Massachusetts Home Missionary society of the national society were $140,573. The auxiliary paid into the treasury of the national society, for the national work, within the year ending March 31, $22,247. The auxiliary expended in its own field $20,327.64.

One hundred and fifty-four stations have been occupied during the year by missionaries of this society.

To the 78 "permanent" the total grant was $17,675. Average grant $225. To the 45 "new" the total grant was $13,225. Average grant $294. To the 31 foreign the total grant was $13,765. Average $444. Four stations have been dropped and nine added. One, Southfield, has become self-supporting. Concord, Norwegian, gets on without aid, as does the Chestnut Hill in Worcester, formerly aided by the Worcester City Missionary society, has been passed over by that society to the Massachusetts society.

Home missionary work in Massachusetts does not change much from year to year in character, but it grows more imperative.

The foreign immigration and its results are of constantly increasing importance to Massachusetts and to other New England states. There came to Massachusetts last year 29,474 immigrants, more than to any other states except New York and Pennsylvania.

Last year the Massachusetts society spent on this home-foreign work $19,541 and this year quite as much. The Massachusetts society is now working among the Armenians, Finns, French, Germans, Greeks, Italians, Poles, Norwegians and Swedes.

COCKRAN

Addresses Immense Meeting of Irish Americans at Chicago.

Chicago, June 4.—The meeting of the Irish-Americans of Chicago, at the Auditorium last night, to protest the coercion laws in force in nine counties of Ireland, was perhaps the largest demonstration of its kind ever held in this city.

Bourke Cockran was the principal speaker, and when he began his address about 8000 persons joined in the applause that greeted him. Crowds thronged the avenues outside, disappointed at being unable to gain admission.

Special importance was attacheil to Mr. Cockran's pronouncement, and he has only recently returned from London, where he conferred with John Redmond and other leaders of the Irish movement. As he is a member of the executive committee of the United Irish League of America, his address, it was understood, reflected the views of prominent Irishmen both in this country and at home, who divided since the death of Parnell, but are again united in an effort to secure legislative independence for Ireland.

Col. John F. Finerty, president of the United Irish league, called the meeting to order. Hon. Thomas, A. Moran, former judge of the circuit court, presided.

Judges, clergymen, bankers and men prominent in every department of the city's life occupied places on the platform.

GENERAL MANAGER.

John F. Stevens Appointed By Great Northern.

St. Paul, Minn., June 4.—The office of general manager has been revived by the Great Northern, and John F. Stevens has been elected to fill the position. The office has been vacant since 1895.

Mr. Stevens will have charge of the maintenance and operation of the properties of the Great Northern, the Montana Central, the Willmar & Sioux Falls, an the Duluth, Watertown & Pacific railroad. He will not relinquish the duties of chief engineer, which he holds at the present time, but will divide his time between the two offices.

Mr. Stevens will perform the duties now handled by Vice President J. N. Hill, who has had charge of certain portions of the work falling to the operating department. General Superintendent F. E. Ward will continue to perform the remaining duties of the department.

The directors of the company at the same meeting voted to give W. W. Broughton the title of general freight agent of the Eastern division.

CHANGE IN DIRECTORS.

New York, June 4.—At a meeting today of the directors of the United States Steel corporation, William E. Dodge and Percival Roberts, Jr., offered their resignations as directors. Mr. Dodge resigned because of all health and Mr. Roberts retired from the directorate in accordance with an intention announced some months ago. Mr. Dodge was succeeded by Robert Bacon, of J. P. Margon & Co. James Gayley, first vice president of the steel corporation, and in charge of its mines and railroads, was elected to succeed Mr. Roberts.

A TALE OF DISASTER

Colored Preacher Prophesies Early Destruction of Atlantic City.

Says Also Desolation Will Spread Over the Country.

Terminating Three Years Hence In a Great Famine.

Philadelphia, June 4.—According to the Rev. Andrew Jackson Jones, Philadelphia's colored prophet and champion all-around foreteller of general disaster, Atlantic City is destined to have a hot time this summer. In fact, says the seer, "along about August" the resort will be well done.

"Atlantic City will be destroyed as were Sodom and Gomorrah," quoth the Rev. A. Jackson Jones in his most awe-inspiring, sepulchural tones.

"That was a visitation of God," continued the prophet. "Wickedness led to the destruction of those cities. The Lord did well to sweep them from the west coast of Ireland."

But the Rev. Andrew J. Jones doesn't limit his next disaster to Atlantic City. He says:

"Desolation will spread over the country, terminating three years from now in a great famine."

That seems to be sweeping enough to satisfy the most exacting, besides furnishing a lingering death at the finish. The prophet wouldn't venture to predict just what kind of desolation is to be let loose in the land, but he vowed that it would be sufficiently comprehensive.

"The destruction by the volcano of the large and prosperous city of Martinique on the east coast of Europe was a visitation of God," quoth the Rev. A. J. Jones. "The big strike of the miners is another visitation. I know, for to me is given the power to see hidden things. Other men stumble along blindly. Everything is dark to them, but I see things long before they happen. I see them in visions."

And the prophet looked up Tasker street in a sacred sort of way that made the reporter wish he had his cyclone cellar with him.

"Didn't I prophesy the Johnstown flood three years before it happened? Of course, I did. It was revealed to me in a vision," added the prophet in a stage whisper.

"There was no other way to purify that wicked city in Florida. It was so bad that it just rained, and rained and rained till at last the Erie canal busted, and away went Johnstown, wickedness and all. And in the time of desolation and destruction only the Lord's elect will be spared."

This latter statement concerns several persons in and around Philadelphia. They would all like to get back at the advance proofs of the prophet's list of those elected. He was asked if he had any idea as to the probable number in his list. He said he couldn't be too definite, but shook his head mournfully, as if to hint that the returns would be exceedingly slender.

"Did you predict the Galveston flood?" the prophet was asked." Didn't you have some vision of that tidal visitation?"

"Of course I did," was the ready reply. "Months before that city was destroyed I knew what was coming—saw it in a vision. I was told that a cyclone would come and just wipe up that whole island in a jiffy. It was because the entire state of New Orleans was so wicked that that awful visitation came. And Atlantic City is the next. It will be utterly destroyed, just like all these other places—can't purify its wickedness any other way."

"When will this dread destroyer fall upon the resort?" the reporter inquired.

"I can't tell exactly; but it won't be long now. The exact date hasn't been revealed to me yet, but it will be."

"Will it hold off till August 1, do you think?"

"Well, I don't think it will be later than that. Long about then I think the wicked Delaware city will be devastated."

There are a few cynical persons who are not inclined to take Prophet Jones seriously. They even hint that he is marketing this disaster in advance of the season at Atlantic City to bear real estate prices so that he can buy a few hotels at his own figures. Insurance rates at the resort have not advanced since the foreteller of disasters gave his first warning.

Contagious Blood Poison

DOES POTASH AND MERCURY CURE IT?

Experience says not, and thousands whose health has been ruined by the use of these poisonous minerals, stand ready to testify that, while Mercury and Potash may mask the disease—drive it from the outside for a time, it comes back with renewed virulence as soon as these drugs are left off, and thus the fight between Contagious Blood Poison and Mercury and Potash is protracted for months and even years, resulting in a broken down constitution, spongy and tender gums, excessive salivation, decayed teeth, pains in the stomach, nausea, ruined digestion, nervous dyspepsia, dizziness, and other distressing symptoms which always follow the use of these poisons.

They mask the hideous form of this serpent-like disease, but the deadly virus still hides in the system. There is an antidote for this awful poison; a reliable, certain and permanent cure for Contagious Blood Poison—and that remedy is S. S. S.—the greatest of all blood purifiers, and an experience of fifty years has proven it to be a true specific for this vilest of all human diseases, which not only threatens the life of the one contracting it, but is transmitted to posterity with more certainty than Cancer or Consumption.

Why continue the Mercury and Potash treatment, when by so doing you only complicate the disease, burden the blood with another poison, in time producing Mercurial Rheumatism, Sores, and a long train of evil consequences.

A COMMON EXPERIENCE.

About three years ago I had a severe case of Contagious Blood Poison, and tried doctors without benefit, so I concluded to go to Hot Springs. After remaining there some time the sores and eruptions left and apparently the disease was cured, and I left for home. In about three months after leaving the Springs the trouble came back worse than ever. I had often heard of S. S. S., and wrote for your book. At that time I was unable to work and had lost flesh until I did not look like the same person. I began taking S. S. S. soon after I heard from you, and in a short time found to my great joy that every sign of the disease was gone, and I had gained 32 pounds, I now weigh 10 pounds more than I ever did.

Tiptonville, Tenn. G. F. GLISSON.

S. S. S. being purely vegetable, leaves no bad after-effects, but invigorates the whole system while cleansing the blood of the virus. S. S. S. is the only known antidote for Contagious Blood Poison—the only medicine that is able to unmask this venomous reptile and drive it out of the blood. It has rescued thousands from the clutches of this horrible malady, after Mercury, Potash, Hot Springs and everything else had failed to cure, and it will do as much for you. The idea that Contagious Blood Poison is incurable, or must run its course in spite of all human efforts to stop it, is the veriest nonsense. S. S. S. does cure it radically and permanently, removing all traces of the original disease from the blood and system, as well as the evil effects of the Mercury and Potash. If you are a victim of Contagious Blood Poison, no matter what may be your present condition, whether the disease has just started or has reached a more dangerous stage, begin S. S. S. and a thorough and lasting cure is an absolute certainty.

PASSED.

The Philippine Bill Goes Through Senate Forty-Eight to Thirty.

Washington, June 4.—Shortly after 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon the senate passed the Lodge Philippine government bill by a vote of 48 to 30. Three Republicans, Messrs. Hoar, of Massachusetts; Mason, of Illinois, and Wellington, of Maryland, voted against the measure, and one Democrat, Mr. McLaurin, of South Carolina, voted for it. All amendments offered by the minority were rejected. The debate on the measure has been in progress seven weeks and two days. Mr. Lodge, of Massachusetts, chairman of the Philippines committee, who has been unremitting in his advocacy of the measure, was the recipient of many cordial congratulations on his successful conduct of the bill.

Just at the close of the discussion yesterday a sharp exchange occurred between Mr. Dietrich, of Nebraska, and Mr. Patterson, of Colorado, in the course of which the former reflected caustically upon the Colorado senator. He was called to order, his remarks were read and he was declared to have been out of order in uttering them. He withdrew his statement, thus ending the controversy.

During much of the time yesterday the senate was in recess, no senator caring to discuss the measure.

After the passage of the Philippines bill the Nicaragua canal bill was made the unfinished business, and its consideration will begin today.

MARKET STRONGER

Wheat Is Rather Erratic But Finally Closes Higher.

Crop Report Somewhat Bullish and Receipts Continue Light.

Cables Better Than Expected---Flax Quiet and Fairly Steady.

Duluth Board of Trade, June 4.—The wheat market started out comparatively firm and steady this morning after yesterday's depression, the conditions being rather bullish. The cables were lower, but not as weak as expected, the government crop report told of rust in wheat in the Southwest and the Northwest receipts continued light. The market throughout the morning moved within a rather narrow range. The Liverpool market closed 5@5¼c lower. New York reported 15 loads of wheat worked for export.

Primary receipts of wheat were 271,000 bus; last year, 675,000 bus. Shipments, 529,000 bus; last year, 359,683 bus. Clearances of wheat and flour aggregated, 152,000 bus.

Corn in the Chicago market advanced ¾@¾c, and oats ½@¾c. Primary receipts of corn were 580,000 bus, last year, 841,000 bus. Shipments, 231,000 bus, last year, 582,000 bus. Clearances were 9400 bus.

Receipts of wheat at Duluth and Minneapolis 118 cars, and at Chicago 37, a total of 155 cars, against 146 last week and 189 last year.

Trading in the Duluth market was very quiet. July opening was unchanged at 72¾c and it held up to 72¾c at 9:48, reacting to 72½c at 10:28. It sold back to 72¾c at 1:07 and closed at that price, an advance of 3c. Chicago advanced 8c and Minneapolis, 1½@5c.

Cash prices were unchanged at July price for No. 1 northern in store, ½c over for to arrive, 1½c under for No. 2 and 3½c under for No. 3. No sales were reported.

Flax trading was light. Cash seed was unchanged, to arrive ½c higher, September, ½c lower, and October, 1c lower. September oats advanced ¾c, and rye was off ½c.

Following are the closing prices:

Wheat—Cash No. 1 hard, 75¾c; No. 1 northern, 72¾c; No. 2 northern, 70¾c; No. 2 spring, 69¼c; to arrive, No. 1 hard, 76¼c; No. 1 northern, 73¼c; July, 72¾c; September, 70½c; Manitoba No. 1 northern, cash, 71½c; No. 2 northern, 69¼c. Oats, cash, 41½c; September, 29c. Rye, 55½c. Flax, to arrive, $1.75; June, $1.75; September, $1.45; October, $1.40.

Receipts—Wheat, 5603; flax, 597.

Shipments—Wheat, 367,715.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Grains Have Fair Reaction From Tuesday's Depression.

Chicago, June 4.—Grains started today with a fair reaction from yesterday's depression. Cables, while lower, were not as weak as might be expected. In addition to this the government crop report was somewhat bullish on rust in the wheat in Kansas, Oklahoma and Missouri. Receipts also were bullishly light. July wheat opened a shade to 1@1¼c higher at 71⅜c to 71½c and on heavy buying by elevator interests sold up to 71⅝@72c. At the advanced prices the buying eased off, trade was only fair and July sold back to a steady position around 71⅝c. Receipts 7 cars, 3 contract; Minneapolis and Duluth reported 148, a total for the 3 points of 155, against 146 last week and 489 a year ago.

Buying picked up again in the wheat pit toward the close and July closed firm, ⅝c up at 71⅝@72c.

July corn opened ⅛c higher to ¼c lower at 61½c to 61¼c on lower cables and a bullish crop report. Receipts smaller than estimated at 155 cars. Country offerings also were light and started a good bullish sentiment. Reports indicate a need of cultivation of corn in the Missouri valley. Kansas sent word of much water and weeds in the corn. July sold up to 62@62¼c on fair support, but the crowd was inclined to the belief that the big bull house was changing to September and that some selling at the advance for July indicated letting go by holders. July eased to 61¾c and steadied.

Shorts in corn covered actively much of the session and price held well. July sold to 62¾c again and closed firm ⅜@½c up at 61¾@¾c.

Oats were firm at the opening. The harvest in Texas is over. Late advices from the fields are not as encouraging for the growing crops as of late. Cash demand improved. Receipts were not large, at 92 cars. The strength of other grains influenced July to open ½c up at 30⅜c and to sell to 31¼c.

Early trade in provisions was almost lifeless. The run of hogs was liberal and prices weaker. Support was lacking and because of the teamsters' strike, there was not much inclination to do any trading. July pork opened unchanged at $17.20 and advanced to $17.22½. July lard 5c lower at $10.20, and sold to $10.22½@10.25, and July ribs 2½c up at $9.50.

GRAIN GOSSIP.

Logan & Bryan, Chicago: Wheat—The whole tone of the market was steady. The large clearances and a good export business for the day, together with fair milling demand, were encouraging features. The market was fairly well over sold and a good deal of the buying was in the way of covering shorts. The weekly government report mentions some slight interference with harvesting in the extreme Southwest by rains, but nothing important. Minneapolis reports a further better exporting inquiry for flour. Speculative buying sentiment appears at a low ebb and the market on the whole is dull.

Corn—County offerings were small and there was less pressure from speculative short selling. The weekly report of the government mentions complaints of excessive rains in some sections, interfering with cultivation and modifying to a moderate extent the generally favorable features of the outlook. This is an important factor so far, but if the recent wet weather keeps up it would be likely to become serious in the near future. The market was heavily oversold in our judgment, and the holdings are concentrated.

• • •

W. H. Laidley, Chicago: Capt. Phillips, who has been very bullish, has turned extremely bearish and wrote from Kansas that it looks like 80 per cent of a crop in that state and corn looking fine. While the outlook is very discouraging to the holder, we still believe that wheat should be bought on breaks, although, as stated yesterday, we do not look for any sustained bull movement.

• • •

Fred King, of Toledo, wires: Ohio's wheat condition this month is 77, against 84 last month and 90 last year. Acreage 160,000 less than last year.

• • •

F. P. Frazier, Chicago: Our advices are that winter wheat has improved from 5 to 10 points in all states east of the Missouri river during May and more than hold its own in Kansas. Spring wheat conditions are practically perfect, but the acreage shows a larger decrease than expected in North Dakota and Minnesota.

• • •

W. H. Laidley & Co., Chicago: There has been a loss of 4c in the premium of No. 1 Manitoba northern the past few days, which is offered at 2¾c over Chicago, of July c. i. f. Buffalo and the No. 2 northern is about 2c under.

Curb, July wheat, 72⅝c bid.

MARKET REPORT.

Received over private wire of B. E. Baker, grain and stock broker, 507 Board of Trade, Duluth, Minn.

Chicago, June 4.—The wheat market ruled firm all day on covering by shorts also in Kansas, large clearances from Atlantic seaboard amount to 750,000 bus wheat and flour, small primary receipts 271,000 bus and steadier cables than expected. Liverpool closed ¼d to ⅝d lower for the day. Continental markets were also slightly lower with the exception of Paris, which closed higher on wet weather. The Ohio state report made the condition of the growing crop June 1, 75 against 74 a year ago. The cash demand was very quiet and the seaboard reported only a moderate business done there for export. The weather throughout the spring wheat belt is all that could be expected and prospects for the growing crop are better. The market closed ⅝c higher than last night. For tomorrow 25 cars.

The corn market ruled very nervous and erratic all day within a range of 1@1¾c per bus, and after several ups and downs and finally closed firm, July ⅝@¾c and September 1c higher. During the day the bull crowd was quietly changing their long July to September, which narrowed the difference considerably. Cash demand very quiet, foreign markets weak, closed ⅜c for the day. The weather generally favorable for the growing crop. Tomorrow 225 cars.

There was a large and lively trade in oats today and the market ruled strong also. Very light country accepting offers and cash demand not only for local account, but for shipments. Sales aggregated fully 300,000 bus were made to go East. Cash No. 2 white oats on track sold at 4c which makes the new July option look very cheap. The market closed firm. The weather favorable for the growing crop. Estimated receipts for tomorrow, 90 cars.

Provisions opened easy on weaker hogs and ruled dull for the day, but later under the influence of aggressive bulling, by leaders, advanced and on panicky buying of a few local shorts, the ribs market had a sensational boom, quickly followed by a reaction on orders to realize by smaller packers. Lard was on sale all day from some source and closed steady. It looks certain now that the ribs are practically cornered and out of line with other commodities. We know of no shortage except perhaps by a few Western packers. Trade in January product is gaining every day and it looks as if that option would be the only safe one to trade in. The discounts are heavy, but the price for a new crop is very high. Estimated receipts for tomorrow, 31,000 hogs.

DULLNESS IN STOCKS

Dealings Were Small and Movement of Prices Languid.

St. Paul, Usually an Active Leader, Was Extremely Dull.

Undertone Was Rather Firm But the Close Was Heavy.

New York, June 4.—The opening stock market showed no change from its recent lethargic character. The majority of prices were lower. United States Steel ⅜ and preferred ½. The gains were among the specialties. Hocking Valley and Continental Tobacco preferred rising 1¼ each. Trading became duller and slightly more confused, but the variations in the prominent stocks were small, except in Canadian Pacific which declined a point while St. Louis Southwestern preferred and Kansas & Texas preferred rose as much. Continental Tobacco preferred lost most of its rise and there was a sale of International Power at 55 compared with 70, the previous transaction. Detroit United Railways advanced 1¼.

Stocks were dealt in at slight concessions from earlier prices. Offerings, however continued limited and there was no indication of pressure anywhere. Detroit United Railways increased its advance to 2½ points. Metropolitan rose 1. Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie preferred 1¾ and International Power rallied to 70 again. Illinois Central lost a point. Cleveland, Lorain & Wheeling preferred sold at a decline of 6½. Bonds were irregular at noon.

Leading stocks were neglected and the trading was largely centered in Detroit United Railway, which improved 5 points in all to 80¼. American Snuff also gained a point. The volume of selling orders exhausted somewhat, carrying prices to the lowest. Atchison, Reading and Virginia-Carolina Chemical were about a point under last night and Canadian Pacific, Chicago & St. Louis and Cotton Oil ½. Continental Tobacco preferred lost its gain and Hocking Valley and Detroit United Railway reacted a point.

Declines of 1 to 2 points were recorded during the final hour in Louisville & Nashville, South Shore pfd, Wheeling & Lake Erie first pfd, Kansas City Southern pfd, American Telegraph, Steel Spring and General Electric. The market went back into its stagnant condition. The close was heavy and semi-stagnant.

STOCK GOSSIP.

Ridgley to W. H. Laidley & Co.—I don't think there will be more than fractional recessions from present prices unless the strike situation takes a turn for the worse. Buy if stocks begin to get active. A great many people are waiting for one or two point reaction to buy and insiders are not going to let prices down just far enough for these people to get aboard on an important upward movement. If you see a lot of stock coming out and the market getting weak be prepared to see some important decline. I would not be surprised to see a 25 or 50-point advance in Union Pacific in the next few months. Brooklyn Rapid Transit stands good chance of selling in the 90's during the coming summer. I understand there are big things ahead for the Erie's, but you will have plenty of time to buy them after the strike is over.

• • •

Waldorf to Edwards' Wood & Co.—It would be useless to seek for anything but a negative inference from the operations in today's stock market owing to the smallness of dealings and the languid movement of prices. Variations of as much as a point are rare and must be sought among obscure portions of the list. An example of the market is offered by St. Paul, usually an active leader of the market, but in which there were only three trades made up to 2 p. m. today. It is necessary to go back nearly two years to the period preceding the last presidential election to find any such a showing of stagnant speculative interest. The undertone was rather firm as the immediate news developments were favorable to rising prices.

The question is beginning to be canvassed whether the tax reduction bill which goes into effect July 1 will afford the expected relief to the money market by relaxing the government surplus revenue. The fiscal operations for May show, that, in spite of a decrease of over $4,000,000 in international revenue collections, the government's surplus for the month was fully equal to that of the year before. On the other hand, the reduction in government expenditures more than keeps pace with the decrease in revenue, and the order for reduction in the force of the army will actuate this tendency. The most notable factor in maintaining the surplus of the government, however, is the reduction of bond redemptions which were a continuing source of relief to the money market after July 1, last year.

• • •

New York to B. E. Baker—The Wall Street Daily News says: "The Canadian Pacific manipulators find it impossible to secure a local following. Speculative sentiment is not bearish but it is not sufficiently bullish to stimulate any aggressive buying of stocks."

• • •

Bache to Paine, Webber & Co.—Steel common looks heavy to me. Large holders are unloading whenever they find a good opportunity for doing so, in fact, I understand that some large interests are going short of stock.

• • •

Dow-Jones to W. H. Laidley & Co.—There is talk of a raid in United States Steel with the idea of shaking widely scattered public holdings. Room traders thought prices likely to be advanced by inside interest to help the bond issue and the short interest would help them.

• • •

Warrington to W. H. Laidley & Co.—The market may be termed a waiting one, there is a strong undertone, however, and as soon as the strike situation shows any sign of adjustment there will be a general advance in the better class of stocks. Make no short sales. There are special reasons why you should buy Missouri Pacific. Metropolitan is a purchase around 148 and is good for a 10-point rise during the next thirty days. Sugar and Manhattan should be let alone at present.

COPPER GOSSIP.

Houghton to Paine, Webber & Co.: Mohawk openings continue uniformly good, especially drifts in No. 4. The mine has four months' work ahead. The company recently shipped 174 to 18 Mohawkite, valued at about $75 per ton. No. 3 rock house is being erected. Production will begin from Nos. 1, 2 and 3 shafts.

• • •

Boston to W. H. Laidley & Co.: Regular summer dullness in copper market and no special features to discuss. We advise doing nothing in coppers for some time.

• • •

Boston to Paine, Webber & Co.: At the Quincy stockholders' meeting held today, Don M. Dickinson, of Michigan, was elected a director in place of Thomas B. Dunstan, deceased. The remaining directors were re-elected by unanimous vote of the 79,795 shares represented in person or by proxies. No other business was transacted.

• • •

Boston to Paine, Webber & Co.: Copper had another dull day. There were more sales of small lots of stocks and all offers were well taken. The character of recent buying indicates that there are strong interests in the market who believe in coming higher prices. The metal market is steady. We believe the settlement of coal strike will be favorable. This will bring speculative activity and the best coppers will lead the advance.

THE COTTON MARKET.

New York, June 4.—The cotton market opened steady with prices 1 to 2 points higher. Following the call there was a period of uncertainty. Then came foreign and south buying orders. July advanced up to 8.72 and August to 8.47, this being 12 to 13 points above the low figures of yesterday. The Liverpool cables were better than expected, but prices toward the close of the first hour hte market became dull and heavy with prices well down from top under selling by bear leaders.

Cotton futures closer quiet. June, 8.91; July, 8.72; August, 8.44; September, 7.96; October, 7.80; November, 7.70; December, 7.68; January, 7.69; February, 7.71; March, 7.75.

TREASURY BALANCES.

Washington, June 4.—Today's statement of the treasury balances in the general fund, exclusive of the $150,000,000 gold reserve in the division of redemption, shows: Available cash balance, $195,339,909; gold, $96,488,615; silver, $22,166,194; U. S. notes, $8,055,854; treasury notes of 1890, $188,578; national bank notes, $3,942,341; total receipts this day, $1,917,517; total receipts this month, $5,667,684; total receipts this year, $518,353,413; total expenditures this day, $1,740,000; total expenditures this month, $4,255,609; total expenditures this year, $441,666,797; deposits in national banks, $125,890,620.

NEW YORK MONEY.

New York, June 4.—Close, money on call steady at 2½@3½ per cent; closing bid and asked, 2½@3 per cent; prime mercantile paper, 4@4½ per cent; sterling exchange firm with actual business in bankers' bills at $4.87⅜ for demand and at $4.85@4.85½ for sixty days; posted rates, $4.85½@4.88; commercial bills, $4.84@4.85. Bar silver, 52½c. Mexican dollars, 42c. Government bonds, steady; state bonds and railroad bonds, irregular.

MIDWAY HORSE MARKET.

Minnesota Transfer, St. Paul.—Barrett & Zimmerman report the values on the common and medium grades of all classes of horses on the lowest base of quotations for the last six months. These heavy drafters, however, are holing steady at steady prices, which has its cause from the extreme scarcity of that class. There is a general belief among shippers is that this kind of horses will have a steady increase in value for some time. Values:

Drafters, extra	$165@225
Drafters, choice	145@165
Drafters, common to good	125@145
Farm mares, extra	150@160
Farm mares, choice	100@120
Farm mares, common to good	60@100

DANGER IS PASSED.

Red River Valley Crops Are All Right.

St. Paul, June 4.—The danger of a crop failure in the Red River valley, the richest wheat growing district in the Northwest is past. The Northern Pacific's flash crop bulletin, issued yesterday, states that for the last week every condition has been favorable and that the total acreage of all grains will be only a trifle less than last year. Competent estimates ten days ago were that only 12 per cent of a wheat crop would be sown. During the last week farmers have been working almost night and day to get their seed into the ground and although the wheat acreage will be much less than was expected, it will be far greater than was hoped for two weeks ago. A larger amount of other seeding will make up the difference in acreage.

Floods in the valley since the early spring almost stopped seeding, until the last week. When wheat should have been sown the ground was too wet to work and day after day the farmers waited and hoped for dry, warm weather. Continued showers brought a general feeling of apprehension not only to the farmers, but to the Western lines that annually haul the wheat crop, and it was freely predicted that there would be almost no crop in the fall.

The warm, dry weather came at the end of the wheat planting season and although the seed is going into the ground much later than in previous years, it is not too late for it to mature and yield heavily. Little wheat remains to be sown. About 50 per cent of others grains has been planted.

Throughout Minnesota and the Dakotas the bulletin shows nothing but favorable conditions. Potatoes and corn are advancing splendidly and the grains sown are coming up nicely. Wheat reports are especially favorable. Reports from the states farther West are equally favorable.

Strikers Are Deciding Whether to Man a Leased Trust Tug.

Seamen of Athabasca Are Rewarded For Heroic Work.

The striking tugmen were holding a meeting this afternoon to decide whether it is in accord with the rules of the union to man the trust tug Zenith for the Merrill & Ring Lumber company. The company wants to lease the tug while its own tug is temporarily laid up, and it wants a union crew for it. The question to be decided at the meeting this afternoon was whether or not the tug would still be in the hands of the tug trust when it was leased to another company. It was thought that the men would probably agree to man the tug.

BLEW HIS HEAD OFF

Matt Ferst of Floodwood Ends a Crazy Reign of Terror.

Blew Top of His Head Off With a Rifle.

Believed to Have Murdered a Settler Who Is Missing.

The body was found yesterday on the farm of Felix Raha about two miles north of Floodwood station.

It is believed that, before killing himself, Ferst murdered another settler. This man has been missing for several weeks and his clothing and some other effects were found in Ferst's shack. A diligent search was made for the body, but without result.

Ferst is a Finlander of remarkable physique. He has a claim a few miles north of Floodwood and was known throughout the region as a dangerous man.

Several weeks ago he seemed suddenly to have gone violently crazy and amused himself by skulking through the woods shooting at fellow settlers whenever they showed themselves.

He soon had the entire neighborhood in a state of terror and it is now believed that he deliberately murdered the missing settler whose clothing was found in his shack several days ago.

On May 24 Ferst appeared at the Raha farm and drove all persons about the place to safety. Later in the afternoon he jumped in the St. Louis river three times with the apparent intention of committing suicide.

Each time, however, he seemed to change his mind and would come out on the river bank and make another demonstration against the Raha house. Later he disappeared in the woods and the Rahas heard a shot.

The body was found yesterday in a dense underbrush and had evidently been there for several days. Coroner Boyer was notified and he delegated James Crawford of the undertaking firm of Durkan & Crawford, to make an investigation.

Mr. Crawford returned today, having buried the body in the Floodwood cemetery, it being deemed inadvisable to transport it here owing to the decomposition that had set in.

It was clearly a case of suicide. The man's rifle lay near the body with an empty shell. The head of the big Finlander was entirely blown off above the lower jaw.

The name of the missing settler could not be learned. His claim was twenty miles from Floodwood, and when last seen he had started for that village to get some supplies for himself and a neighbor. That was about three weeks ago.

Searching parties that were organized to look him up only found the few articles of clothing in Ferst's shack, and the supposition is that the crazy man murdered him and then threw the body into the river.

Ferst is said to have secured a divorce from his wife about two months ago. The former wife is now living in Hibbing.

CHICAGO EXCITED

Reckless Rioting Increases In Ferocity and Frequency.

Police Clash Repeatedly With Strikers and Sympathizers.

Broken Bottles, Eggs and Other Missels Are Hurled.

Chicago, June 4.—Disturbances due to the teamsters' strike increased in ferocity and frequency today. Policemen in a number of instances had to draw their revolvers to protect themselves; several of them had their clubs not only taken from them, but used against them. The hospitals began to feel the effect of the battling by the increased number of patients, and the police stations were scarcely able to hold the rioters arrested.

One of the most serious riots broke out at Congress and State and Harrison and State streets. By some maneuver the strikers succeeded in dividing the 30-wagon caravan (the second one to leave the yards today) so that the front of it lay at Congress street on State and the rear at Harrison. While the vanguard battled with a crowd which hurled broken bottles, eggs and other missiles, including spools of thread thrown by women sympathizers in the crowd, the rearguard was called upon to defend itself against a more serious attack.

At this place the mob made a desperate assault on the drivers, but was compelled to turn its attention to the police who came up on the run. Twice the bluecoats hurled themselves against the infuriated mob, and each time they were rebuffed and crowded back. It was the most desperate clash the police have had with citizens in years. In several instances the strikers and their sympathizers wrenched clubs from the policemen and used them against their owners. Meanwhile several men had gained a position of advantage on the elevated loop, from which they fired missiles at the officers. In this way Officer John McGuire was hit in the head with a horseshoe and so seriously injured that he had to be taken to a hospital. Officer John Linencurjal was less seriously hurt. Gus Billings, one of the crowd, was clubbed into insensibility by the police, and he, too, was taken to a hospital in a serious condition. After these two ineffectual rushes at the crowd, the police managed to organize themselves in better shape. The third time they were successful.

A number of heads were broken, but their owners in most cases escaped. It was impossible to obtain anything like a complete list of the injured. The caravan after twenty minutes' delay began to move, but not in peace, for the crowd followed closely. The police, however, walked by the wagons and confined their efforts to pulling from the wagons men who tried to climb into the seats, presumably to pull down the drivers.

The decision of the police to confine their attention strictly to keeping invaders from climbing onto the wagons did not long endure. From windows along the route missiles were flung at them. At every corner newsboys in sympathy with the strikers managed their wagons so as to bring about a blockade. With the continued opposition the bombardment, the blockading and the jeers the police lost their tempers and clubbed with apparent indiscrimination. It was said that several women and boys and a helpless cripple received blows from the police clubs. The streets through which the cavalcade passed by noon had become a maelstrom of excited humanity. The persistent progress of the meat wagons acted as a goad to the temper of the crowd. Patrol wagons were kept busy rushing to the various lockups after prisoners, ambulances hurried to the nearest hospitals where heads could be sewed up, but the strikers and their sympathizers did not lessen their resistance. The sight of the arrests and of bleeding heads stirred them on.

An incident of the fights was the smashing of an automobile in which were seated Charles Gates and a companion. The machine was caught in one of the blockades and smashed to splinters. Another machine, in which were two women, was caught in a similar predicament. The occupants were so frightened by the riot about them that they were at the point of fainting when policemen rescued them.

While passing under the elevated railroad loop, the caravan was endangered by trolley wires which had been cut from their fastenings and hung down to the pavement. No one was hurt however, from this cause.

Business on State street was in a state of barricade several hours. Pickets for the strikers persuaded sympathetic drivers to drive into the thoroughfare in order to check the advance of the meat wagons. At Madison and State streets the volley of eggs, bricks, etc., became so thick and the streets so congested that the police were forced to charge upon the crowd. Sympathizers in wagon loads tried to drive into the squads of police, and many people were slightly injured in the fracas, one old man having his arm broken by a blow from a policeman's club. Women and children were panic stricken and fled, crying into side streets. At Randolph and Clark streets the mob, which was preceding and following the meat caravan grew riotous again. From a coal wagon and from standing produce wagons, the crowd seized missiles and pelted the drivers of the packing house wagons. Here the police charged the crowd again and again, driving them from the streets and doorways into side streets. At Fifth avenue, near Madison, three coal wagons attempted to blockade the streets again. One teamster drew a revolver and threatened to shoot any one who touched his horses. The police pulled his team aside, however, but the driver was not arrested.

The cavalcade had scarcely broken through the coal wagons on Fifth avenue when a more serious blockade followed a few yards further south on Madison street. A number of vehicles driven by men presumably in league with the strikers had blockaded the street and tied up the street car lines running through the intersection. In the jam was a bus loaded with boys. The lads climbed out of their vehicle only to meet the onrushing police, and many of them were clubbed, to a chorus of "shame" from the spectators. Occasionally bottles and stones were thrown from windows, but generally they hit innocent bystanders. One of them struck a horse and knocked it senseless. There was one humorous feature to the otherwise serious situation. A wagon, containing a little calf, was broken into during the absence of the police from that portion of the caravan, and the bewildered animal was taken away amid applause. At 1:30 p. m. the blockade at Fifth avenue and Madison street was broken by a determined rush of the police.

Following is a partial llist of the injured. It is only a small fraction of the total, but the names were all the police had gathered up at 1:30 p. m.:

Edward Schiman, Swift & Co. driver, hit in head with rock, serious; Miss Carrie Schownald, knocked down by horses and trampled, serious; John J. McGuire, policeman, hit on head with a horseshoe and badly hurt; John Linenjugal, policeman, injured at Congress street; Gus Billings, clubbed by police at Harrison street, serious; Nicholas Caulley, driver for a brewing company, struck Policeman Curry and knocked him down, was subsequently beaten and arrested by that officer; Policeman Curry, badly bruised in melee with mob; Chris Eckels, driver for John Miller, injured at Harrison street; Albert Wagner, driver, beaten on head with club and condition serious; C. Ryan, policeman, hit on head with brick; John Monahan, clubbed, and badly hurt at Harrison street; George Scribner, policeman, hit in head with brick; Edward Rohr, policeman, struck in neck with brick; John Johnson, driver, hit by brick, serious; Charles Wright, 15 years old, skull crushed by brick, probably fatally injured.

Behind closed doors representatives of the big local packing houses are holding a conference down town, it is said, which is to determine the settlement or continuation of the strike. This was intimated by several men in the downtown offices of the different packers and the report was sent broadcast in Fulton market and the stock yards. It is the first definite move in the direction of effective settlement of the strike and within twenty-four hours the packers expect to be ready to issue their statement.

On Fifth avenue, between Adams and Monroe streets, the first shot of the day was fired, and it gave rise to a report that the police had fired on the mob. An officer was hit with a pop bottle and drew his revolver and fired two shots. The man who threw the bottle escaped. The incident, however, created great excitement and soon one of the worst of the riots of the day was in progress.

WHY NOT CONNECT?

Feature of Passenger Service That Is Open to Improvement.

Connection at Ashland That Would Give Chicago Service.

Northern Pacific Leaves Just Before Wisconsin Central Arrives.

There is one subject that the Commercial club and the newspapers might well take up," said this morning a well-known business man who does considerable traveling. "That is the failure of the Wisconsin Central and Northern Pacific roads to make connections at Ashland, so that the Wisconsin Central's early morning mail train out of Chicago can in effect run through to Duluth.

"The importance of such a train at this time, when traffic is so heavy between Chicago and Duluth, and additional trains would be a convenience for travelers is obvious. This train leaves Chicago at 2:45 a. m. It carries the morning papers to Northern Wisconsin and the Twin Cities, and might bring much additional mail from the East to Duluth if properly handled. This same train arrives at St. Paul at 5 o'clock in the afternoon, though a fast schedule is maintained all the way. North to Abbotsford the Wisconsin Central applies a local schedule, and the train arrives there at 4:30 p. m.

"But when the passenger that was unable to leave Chicago at 10 o'clock at night, and who has taken this train five hours later, arrives at Ashland, he finds that the Northern Pacific has started its afternoon train from Ashland for Duluth just half an hour before his arrival.

"Now, can anybody with any sense tell me why the only chance for a day train to and from Chicago out of Duluth should be so blunderingly ignored? I am told by officials of the Northern Pacific that the matter of making connections with the Wisconsin Central was considered when the Northern Pacific put on its afternoon train, and that the idea was abandoned because competition for local traffic made it seem best to arrive at Duluth earlier than 7:30. Of course the railroad people know best what time they can make over this line, though three hours for making seventy-six miles seems pretty slow to me.

"But there is no question but that at present a sleeper from Chicago to Duluth, leaving Chicago at 2:45 a. m., and arriving here at 7 or 7:30 p. m. during the summer months will do more business for both roads than any little local business that they might lose by arriving here a few minutes later each evening. If you want to get an idea of how much through Chicago traffic there is just count the passengers that come up on the Omaha's fast mail.

"The service I speak of could be provided very easily, and it seems to me that the through business that would be gained from service with which the roads would have no direct competition would much more than offset the little local business out of Ashland that would be lost by arriving here a few minutes later than at present.

"I have no sympathy with movements representing only a small section of the city that are being made more, it seems to me, to harass the Northern Pacific than with any hope of accomplishing anything of ultimate importance. But it does seem to me that the Northern Pacific and Wisconsin Central could give us better service East, that the travel warrants it and that they should look into the matter with the determination of making improvements rather than of holding back and giving us poorer service than they did ten or fifteen years ago."

"The Pioneer Limited."

This train is the finest ever produced by any railway company. It runs every day in the year between St. Paul, Minneapolis and Chicago, via the Milwaukee road. It carries private compartment sleeping cars and sixteen-section sleepers, with berths longer, higher and wider than those of any other sleepers in America. Its buffet library smoking cars are rich and comfortable, and the dining cars are equal to the best cafes.

The Pioneer Limited is the only perfect train in the world.

LIKES SAN ANTONIO.

J. D. Stryker Delighted With the Texas City.

J. D. Stryker has returned from a 60-days' stop in San Antonio, Texas. He returns charmed with the quaintness of the old town and its climate for a short visit.

"San Antonio," said Mr. Stryker, "is a city of about the same size as Duluth. It is not an industrial city in any way that I could discover, but seemed to be the center for tourists seeking that part of the country, as well as for the ranching industry on the plains. About 20 per cent of the population are Mexicans and 10 per cent negroes.

"In a historical way much interest attaches to San Antonio because it was here that the Alamo fell, after Davy Crockett's heroic battle for the independence of Texas. The stories one hears of the days of that struggle for liberty sound like romances in these prosaic times.

"The Southwest seems to be prosperous and to be developing considerably, but I saw nothing to indicate a prosperity that would seem uncommon to us who are familiar with the great developments at the North.

"About the only well-known Duluthian I saw while South was W. M. Root, who used to be in the real estate business here, and is now traveling through the South."

STORMS HURT ROADS.

County Board Will Be Confronted By Damaged Roads.

The board of county commissioners will meet at the court house tomorrow afternoon, but so far as appeared today, there will be nothing outside of the routine to come up.

The recent rains have created much damage in the country roads, and the board may have considerable extra road work to look over on that account.

A letter received by County Auditor Halden this morning from T. T. Haakenson, of New Independence, says the Cloquet river bridge was blown down by a wind storm at 7 o'clock Monday evening, and the roads were blocked up and destroyed.

J. E. Johnson, clerk of the district court, has filed his report for May with the board, showing earnings of $1071, of which $567.65 was for work done for the county, for which no collection is made.

A petition has been received from the settlers along the Tower and Itasca road, asking the board to inspect that thoroughfare and to repair the bridges and make the road passable. They claim that they are now unable to use the road on account of its poor condition.

VERY CLOSE

Is the Vote For Governor In State of Oregon.

Portland, Ore., June 4.—Practically complete returns from twenty-eight out of the thirty-three counties in the state and estimated majorities in the five remaining, give Chamberlain (Dem.), 258 majority for governor. It now appears that it will require complete returns to decide the governorship and the result may not be known for several days. The entire Republican ticket, with the exception of the governor, is elected by from 7000 to 12,000.

The legislature will probably stand as follows: Senate, Republicans, 20; Democrats, 10. House, Republicans, 49; Democrats, 20. On joint ballot, Republicans, 60; Democrats, 20.

George H. Williams (Rep.) will have at least 500 majority for mayor of Portland.

Practically complete returns from all but five counties an estimated majorities from these five, give Chamberlain (Dem.) for governor 751 majority. Complete returns probably will not change this result materially.

RAN NAKED.

F. C. Brackett Ran Through the Woods Insane and Naked.

Frank C. Brackett, the cruiser who went insane in the woods in Alborn township last Thursday, was examined in probate court yesterday afternoon and committed to the asylum at Fergus Falls. He was violently insane, and he gave the officers who went after him, Deputy Sheriffs Magie and Bates, a good deal of trouble. They had to bring him across a lake in a boat, and they had considerable distance to go to reach the railroad.

Last Thursday night his companions in camp missed him and when they looked for him they found him by a near-by lake frolicking wildly. He escaped from them, and stripped himself stark naked, saying that he was going to meet his God, and that as he came into the world without clothes he intended to go out of it that way. As he came into the world without teeth he also wanted to pull out all his teeth. He roamed the woods naked for a day or two before he was caught.

Roy H. Handy and Matt Anderson were brought down yesterday afternoon from Hibbing, and they were to be examined in probate court this afternoon for insanity.

HE GETS THE BELT.

County Commissioner Patterson Tells a Fish Story.

County Commissioner E. M. Patterson was fishing a few days ago, and he tells a most remarkable experience, that would not be believed if it came from anybody else.

"I would not tell this," he said to a crowd at the court house this morning, "if you were not all people that know me and know that I always tell the truth. We were fishing on a north shore stream, when it began to rain, and we had to get away with only four trout. It rained—well, you know how it has been raining for the past few days. It rained so that everything was soon afloat. The streams rose, and we saw brook trout swimming around in the bushes.

"When we got home we found a good creel-full of trout in the bed of the buggy, that had floated in there while we were hurrying for home."

A SMALL CASE

Court Limits Verdict In Quinn Case to Six Dollars.

The jury in the case of Frank Quinn against Lane McGregor and Anna M. Willard, to recover $99 damages because he was put out of a flat on the Bowery, which was torn down around his ears according to his story, returned a verdict for the defendant this morning.

Under the court's charge the verdict could not have been more than $6, which would be the amount Quinn had paid for three-fifths of a month's rent when he did not have the use of the building. Judge Dibell's charge was very brief, taking only a minute or two to deliver, and it limited the verdict to that amount. The jury was out an hour and a half last night, reaching an agreement too late to have to deliver it into court before morning.

The last jury cases of the May term are on trial today. In Judge Ensign's room the case of Charles F. Blackberg against Hubbard & Vincent is still on trial. The defense was putting in testimony this noon, and it was thought that the case would get to the jury this afternoon or tomorrow morning.

Judge Dibell this morning took up the three cases of the Hudson Produce company against the Russell Creamery company, the Knudsen-Ferguson Fruit company and E. M. Ferguson, all of which will be tried together before a jury. The plaintiff seeks to recover storage charges on eggs stored for the defendants in a storage house at Hudson, Wis. The house burned and the eggs were damaged Aug. 14, 1901, and as the eggs were to be stored until Dec. 31, the plaintiff seeks to recover storage charges until that time. The defendants dispute the claim because the eggs were not kept through the season, and the plaintiff claims that as the fire insurance companies paid the bill it is entitled to its charges. H. B. Fryberger is attorney for the plaintiff and Baldwin & Baldwin appear for the defendants. There will be three separate verdicts.

Thirty Degrees Change.

There was a variance of 30 degrees in the temperature at the head of the lakes for the 24 hours ending at 7 o'clock this morning. The maximum temperature was reached about noon yesterday, when 70 degrees was recorded. The minimum temperature was 40 degrees. Local Forecaster Richardson predicts a continuance tomorrow of the cool weather experienced today, with fresh to brisk northeasterly winds.

LAYS IT TO POLITICS.

Lazarus Silverman Discusses Violence In Chicago.

"You can't tell what will happen in Chicago during the teamsters' strike, or how long the strike will continue," said Lazarus Silverman, of that city, this noon. "The trouble is with the city administration. The Harrison administration is trying to get votes, rather than preserve order or protect men in the orderly and honest pursuit of their livelihood.

"There is the same trouble there in this strike as there has been in many other places at such times. The administration's policy is dictated by politics, rather than by a sense of business or absolute justice. If a vigilant, peace-preserving policy had been adopted in the first place the lawless elements among the strikers and their friends would not now be making trouble for their own people as well as for everybody else."

CATCH ON.

The manufacture of iron and steel at West Duluth is now assured and that means a large growth. I have the greatest bargains in acres adjoining the platted part of West Duluth ever offered—there is 100 per cent profit in the next 12 months—indeed it is worth almost that much more than the price now. Call and inquire about it.
